What is this product?

This is a sub-fund of Schroder International Selection Fund, a mutual fund domiciled in Luxembourg and its home regulator is Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier.

Objectives and investment strategy

To provide liquidity and current income, to the extent consistent with the preservation of capital, through investment in high quality short-term fixed income securities that are denominated in Euro, provided that (i) at the time of acquisition, the average initial or residual maturity of all such securities held in the portfolio does not exceed 12 months, taking into account any financial instruments connected therewith, or (ii) the terms and conditions governing those securities provide that the applicable interest rate is adjusted at least annually on the basis of market conditions.

Use of financial derivative instruments (“FDI”)

The fund may use FDI for hedging purposes only.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risk. Please refer to the offering document for details including the risk factors.

1. Debt securities

The fund's investment in debt securities may be subject to interest rate risk and credit risk. The fund may invest in securities which will not be rated by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization or lower rated securities. These instruments are subject to greater market and credit risks than higher rated securities.

2. Interest rates risk

Changes in market interest rates will affect the value of debt securities held by the fund. Generally, the market value decreases when interest rates rise and increases when interest rates fall. Any fluctuations in interest rates may adversely affect the net asset value per share of the fund and investors may as a result suffer losses.

3. Credit risk

Investment in bonds or other debt securities is subject to the credit risk of the issuer. In the event that any issuer of bonds or other debt securities in which the fund invests defaults, becomes insolvent or experiences financial or economic difficulties, this may affect the value of the relevant securities (which may be zero) and may in turn adversely affect the net asset value per share of the fund and investors may suffer losses.

4. Risk of investment in Europe

The fund may invest in securities which may include a substantial investment in European securities. In light of the current fiscal conditions and concerns on sovereign debt of certain European countries, the fund may be subject to an increased amount of volatility, liquidity, price and currency risk should there be any adverse credit events in the European region. Notwithstanding the governments of the European countries have adopted measures to address these problems, it is possible that these measures may not work and may adversely affect the value of the fund's investment in European securities. If these adverse economic or financial events in Europe continue, they could have additional unfavourable effects on the economies and financial markets of other parts of the world thereby affecting the value of the fund's investment.

5. Liquidity and defensive funds

The fund is not a money market fund and is not the same as placing funds on deposit with bank or deposit-taking company. Investors should be aware that this fund does not guarantee principal.

6. FDI

There is no guarantee that the performance of FDI will result in a positive effect for the fund. FDI exposure may lead to a high risk of significant capital loss. Risks associated with FDI include credit risk and counterparty risk, liquidity risk, valuation risk, volatility risk, over-the-counter transaction risks and hedging risk. There is no guarantee that the desired hedging instruments will be available or hedging techniques will achieve their desired result. In adverse situations, the use of hedging instruments may become ineffective in hedging and the fund may suffer significant losses.

7. Risks relating to distributions

- For distribution share classes with a general dividend policy, expenses will be paid out of capital rather than out of gross income. The amount of distributable income therefore increases and the amount so increased may be considered to be dividend paid out of capital; capital growth will be reduced and in periods of low growth capital erosion may occur.
- Distributions from capital may include a premium or discount which is determined by differences in the interest rates of the reference currency of the hedged share class and the fund currency. It is possible that there may be an increase in the amount of the distribution that is paid out of capital and hence a greater erosion of capital than other share classes. The distribution and net asset value of the share class may be positively or adversely affected by the differences in the interest rates of the reference currency of the hedged share class and the fund currency. The distribution and net asset value of the hedged share class may, therefore fluctuate more than, and may significantly differ from, other share classes.
- Distribution share classes with a fixed dividend policy will distribute the dividends based on a fixed amount or fixed percentage of the net asset value per share. This may result in share classes with fixed distributions either paying out both income and capital in distribution payments, or not substantially distributing all the investment income which a share class has earned.
- You should note that in the circumstances where the payment of distributions are paid out of capital, this represents and amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of the amount you originally invested or capital gains attributable to that and may result in an immediate decrease in the net asset value of shares.
