5G Connectivity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 29.38%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI All Country World Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 11.30%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The economic environment was volatile but resilient given persistent inflation, strong economic data, and reduced expectations for Federal Reserve rate cuts.
- Against this backdrop, the global equity market delivered positive returns driven by big tech companies amid strong corporate earnings and an optimistic outlook for AI.
- Companies exposed to AI outperformed other areas of the market. A strong earnings season for tech companies led to global growth stocks emerging as a top performing asset class.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Overweight to Semiconductors versus the Index
 - Security selection within Technology Hardware & Equipment and Industrials on a sector basis, and selection within Asia on a region basis.
 - Exposure to AI infrastructure winners such as companies within high-performance computing, power/thermal management, and high-speed networking
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Security selection within Software
 - Exposure to companies with weaker near-term growth outlook

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Increased Semiconductor exposure given AI tailwinds and as cyclical bottomed out
- Increased exposure to AI enablers and beneficiaries on strong demand trends and earnings growth
- Reduced Software exposure given weaker sentiment
- Realised profits on outperformers opportunistically on rallies to lock-in returns amid a volatile market environment

While we are at the end of the rate hike cycle, macro uncertainty could persist. As volatility remains, we keep our focus on areas with strong earnings tailwinds while keeping our valuation discipline. Next generation connectivity remains the foundation of current and future technological innovations. We are positive on beneficiaries of the acceleration in AI adoption, a strategic semiconductor industry, and proliferation of industrial Internet of Things (IoT).

China A-Share Equity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the CNY I Accumulating Class was 1.51%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI China A Onshore Index (Total Return, Net, USD) (the Index), returned -3.26%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Chinese equities experienced significant volatility at the beginning of this year. An initial selloff occurred due to skepticism surrounding the adequacy of policy response to struggling economic growth, and concerns over US-China relations. However, China A-shares rebounded, driven by optimism from state fund support and discussions of potential additional stimulus measures. This renewed optimism, however, waned towards the end of the second quarter.
- Economic data began to suggest a stabilisation in growth momentum, supported by the restart of infrastructure projects and the government's backing of the high-tech industry. However monthly consumer data has continued to disappoint investors.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Stock selection delivered most of the Portfolio's excess relative returns, particularly in Industrials and Information Technology.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Sector allocation was a mild detractor for the period. The Portfolio's overweight to Consumer Staples and underweights in Energy and Financials had the largest negative impact.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The team remained focused on domestic growth via high-quality companies across the market cap spectrum
- Our focus remained on Quality Compounds—High quality, high return on equity (ROE) names with steady cash flows and strong corporate governance, mainly concentrated in Consumer and Health Care sectors; and Secular Growth Beneficiaries—companies positioned to benefit from longer-term domestic secular growth, supported by government policies and industry trends. High-quality names in renewables, consumer electronics, AI and robotics are examples.

China appears to have begun a structural economic transition, shifting from infrastructure and real estate driven growth toward growth driven by domestic demand, value-added exports, and advanced technologies. The team believes this could usher in a phase of medium- to long-term stable growth within an ongoing low interest rate environment, with an emphasis on improving productivity.

Our focus during this transition is twofold. We see opportunity in best-in-class companies with stable cash flows and attractive dividends, particularly in the consumer, commodities, and financial sectors; and in high quality, high growth companies benefitting from government policy support—particularly within electric vehicle and artificial intelligence supply chains, and consumer electronics and biopharmaceuticals.

China Bond – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the CNY I Distributing Class was 1.64%. Over the same period, the reference index, the FTSE Chinese Government and Policy Bank Bond 0-1 Year Select Index (Total Return, CNY) (the Index), returned 1.16%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- After a fairly constructive start for the first quarter, we started to see somewhat of a slowdown in economic activity, which could be partly attributed to a pullback in policy support. Housing data remained tepid YTD despite nationwide easing policies, while domestic consumption slowed further.
- The National People's Congress (NPC) kept the growth target unchanged at "around 5%" for 2024. The official budgetary deficit was set at 3% of GDP, along with RMB 1 trillion (c. 0.7% GDP) issuance of Central Government Special Bond (CGSB). Subsequently, the April Politburo Meeting emphasised "digesting inventory" in the property market as national inventories reached all-time highs.
- With the macro backdrop, China rates have rallied significantly amid structural growth concerns while credit spreads remained compressed.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Onshore rates and credit bonds were positive contributors as rates and credit spreads rallied.
 - Offshore credit bonds were positive contributors due to good yield differentials.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Our onshore convertible bonds were the main detractor due to poor investor sentiments and lackluster performance in the equity markets.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We have added duration over the course of the reporting period, mostly in onshore rates, in both the front-end and back-end part of the curve. These were funded out of onshore credit bonds. The tight onshore credit bond spreads have led us to adopt a more cautious stance from a valuation perspective.
- Apart from the tight onshore credit spreads, the rates differentials between CNY and USD stayed significantly wide, which resulted in an attractive relative value proposition for Chinese USD credits.

The Chinese economy is undergoing a fundamental repositioning. Traditional economic drivers, such as the real estate sector, remain challenged, and rising geopolitical tensions further complicate the sluggish growth backdrop. The Government's focus on prioritising growth in its policy agenda is anticipated to mitigate further downside risks to the economy, though we believe it is unlikely to stimulate a robust recovery. We anticipate real GDP growth to be approximately 4-4.5% in 2024 versus the official target at "around 5%".

China Equity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 6.12%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI China All Shares Index (Total Return, Net, USD) (the Index), returned 2.28%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- China's economy had a solid start in 2024 with first quarter 2024 GDP growth of 5.3% year over year led by strong industrial production, exports, and manufacturing investment. Consumption and service activity also recovered steadily with support from Lunar New Year holiday travel and spending.
- Policymakers continue to prioritise economic growth with ongoing support to boost domestic consumption and investment in new economy sectors.
- The additional easing of housing policy also signals policymakers' determination to contain any potential contagion risk.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - The Portfolio's main contributors to performance relative to the Index included Consumer Discretionary (stock selection in hotels restaurants & leisure and household durables), Information Technology (stock selection in electronic equipment instruments & components) and Health Care (stock selection in biotechnology).
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Main detractors from performance relative to the Index included Energy (significant underweight), Utilities (significant underweight), Financials (significant underweight) and Materials (stock selection in materials).

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We continue to identify high quality companies with good earnings visibility. During the reporting period, the Portfolio's exposure to Communication Services had the largest increase from 5.73% to 9.64%. The Portfolio's exposure to Consumer Staples had the largest decrease from 7.59% to 3.82%.
- At the end of the reporting period, the Portfolio's largest sector underweight relative to the Index was Financials (6.05% vs. 18.51%). The Portfolio's largest sector overweight relative to the Index was Materials (13.43% vs. 6.50%).

Looking ahead, we anticipate China's economy to continue to normalise amid gradual and measured policy responses from the government. We also anticipate companies to deliver solid earnings and improve shareholder returns that will serve as an important catalyst for the overall market over the coming quarters. Lastly, valuations remain attractive with the Index trading at a price-to-earnings ratio of 8.8x and CSI 300 Index at 10.6x on a forward-looking basis, versus MSCI World Index at 17.7x and S&P at 20.0x.

Climate Innovation – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 8.35%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI All Country World Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 11.30%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- In the first half of 2024, the US clean energy sector experienced a mix of macroeconomic signals and sector-specific developments. Market dynamics varied, with strong utility-scale solar demand in the US contrasting with challenges in Europe's residential market.
- Regulatory changes continued to play a pivotal role, with new emissions standards and incentives for green investments, alongside a US Senate bill to streamline nuclear reactor permitting. Other notable developments included Google's geothermal power deal and Bloomberg NEF's positive global wind outlook. However, solar energy faces potential disruptions, with US solar PV producers filing an anti-circumvention and countervailing (AC/CVD) petition targeting Southeast Asian producers.
- Overall, the period highlighted the critical intersection of policy intervention, technological advancement, and investment opportunities driving global decarbonisation efforts.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Underweight to Consumer Staples, Healthcare and Real Estate Sectors versus the index
 - Security selection within the Industrials sector
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Overweight to the Industrials and Materials sector versus the index
 - Security selection within the Information Technology sector

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Additions and new positions initiated in companies across various sectors, including renewable energy, industrial, and heavy industries, with a focus on companies delivering technological innovations, as well as those we believe will benefit from the industrial/auto cycles bottoming out and to capture broad-based growth driven by regulatory support.
- Positions were exited in companies where relative risk/reward was deemed less favourable or where specific market or sector challenges persisted.

We continue to see this as a critical flashpoint for global decarbonisation, with the confluence of policy intervention, societal mores, and technological capability driving material investment opportunities. In many industries, successful capturing technologies and commercial differentiation help to determine which companies thrive and which will be left behind. This Portfolio seeks to invest in the global leaders in decarbonisation across the technology maturity curve.

CLO Income – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 10.21%. Over the same period, the ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (the Index), returned 2.69%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Higher quality Collateralised Loan Obligation (CLO) BB debt spreads ended 2023 in the Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) +675 context, having tightened into year-end driven by economic data and statements from the Federal Reserve indicating a lower probability of future rate hikes, with the market increasingly gravitating to a "soft landing" economic scenario.
- Spreads further tightened in January, as investors attributed a higher probability to a pivot in the Federal Reserve's approach on interest rates. CLO BB debt spreads declined into the SOFR +650 area.
- With tighter CLO liability costs on account of the lower CLO debt spreads, CLO new issuance activity accelerated in January and into February, with the significant new issue supply limiting incremental spread tightening in the month of February, with CLO BB debt spreads generally stable month-over-month in the SOFR +650 area.
- In March through June, as U.S. economic data implied a lower probability of near-term interest rate cuts by the Federal Reserve, fixed income investors increasingly gravitated to floating rate products, including CLO debt, which led to additional spread tightening in subsequent months. As of June month-end, CLO BB debt spreads had declined into the SOFR +590 area.
- Year-to-date, USD CLO new issue volumes were $81 billion – a record for the first six months of the year. CLO new issuance was supported by spread tightening in CLO debt spreads in the first half of the year.
- The trailing 12-month par-weighted default rate for the Morningstar LSTA U.S. Leveraged Loan Index as of 30 June was 0.92%, down 61 basis point from year-end 2023 and 325 basis points lower than the September 2020 peak of 4.17%.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Security selection within USD CLO mezzanine debt market
 - Allocation to EUR single B CLO debt
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Allocation to USD high yield market

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Net inflows into CLO Income during the year-to-date period were deployed into a mix of USD CLO BBs and single Bs, as well as EUR CLO BBBs, BBs and single Bs in the primary and secondary market.
- The Portfolio's exposure is balanced with 45% of CLO holdings in USD CLOs and 55% in EUR CLOs.

Notwithstanding the year-to-date tightening in credit markets, CLO BB spreads continue to be historically wide versus high yield OAS. At the end of June, the spread basis was around 585bps versus the longer-term historical average of 400bps. As a result, we believe CLO BB debt may present attractive relative value.

Commodities – Investment Manager's Report

For the six month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 6.11%. Over the same period, the Bloomberg Commodity Index (the Index), returned 5.14%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Markets advanced amid ongoing enthusiasm surrounding secular themes like AI.
- The US final first quarter GDP growth rate was confirmed at 1.4%, the slowest expansion rate since the economic contractions in the first half of 2022. The core PCE price index advanced at its slowest pace in nearly three years, with the disinflationary trend firmly resuming after hotter-than-expected prints in the first quarter of the year.
- Federal Reserve (Fed) kept the federal funds target range unchanged at 5.25 – 5.5%.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

Precious metals, industrial metals, energy, soft commodities, and livestock sectors all experienced gains. However, the agriculture sector was the only one to decline during the period.

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Natural gas: The Portfolio's underweight position in natural gas helped avoid a significant portion of the -24% decline in natural gas prices during the first half, making the most significant contribution to relative performance.
 - Unleaded gasoline: An overweight exposure to unleaded gasoline.
 - Cocoa: The Portfolio gained from its out-of-benchmark position in cocoa, as the commodity soared to record highs, although it has since given back some of its gains.
 - Corn: An underweight position in corn contributed positively to relative performance.
 - Copper: The Portfolio's overweight exposure to copper relative to the Index was also a positive contributor.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - WTI Crude Oil: The Portfolio's underweight position in WTI crude oil within the energy sector negatively impacted relative performance, making it the most significant detractor.
 - Soybean Meal: The Portfolio's overweight exposure to soybean meal within the agricultural sector.
 - Kansas Wheat: Overweight exposure to Kansas wheat within the agricultural sector.
 - Soft Commodities: An underweight exposure to both coffee and sugar.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Temporary Pullback in Commodities: Recent declines seen as temporary, offering potential for improved returns.
- Fed's Hawkish Policies: Current stance seen as transitory; potential rate cuts may stimulate global growth and commodity demand.
- Impact of Inflation Metrics: Lagging indicators like owner's equivalent rent are keeping inflation readings high; real-time data suggests a lower inflation rate, potentially leading to an imminent and unpriced dovish FED pivot.
- Global Rate Cut Dynamics: Early rate cuts in Canada and Europe have strengthened the US Dollar; anticipated US rate cuts may weaken it and boost commodity demand.
- Geopolitical Shifts and Elections: Populist and protectionist policies, along with strategic stockpiling and reduced immigration, are likely to raise commodity prices along with volatility in capital markets.
- Role of Gold: Gold is a crucial hedge against inflation, geopolitical risks, and fiscal instability, making it a cornerstone of our investment portfolio.
- Importance of Platinum and Aluminum: The global energy transition underscores the investment value of platinum and aluminum, driven by decarbonisation efforts and increased demand in green technologies.
- Weather Impact: Transition from El Niño to La Niña and severe weather events can disrupt agricultural output and energy production, presenting investment opportunities in these sectors.

As we look ahead, we believe the current macroeconomic landscape—marked by hawkish Fed policies, impending rate cuts, and geopolitical shifts—emphasises the strategic value of investing in commodities. Populist policies, decarbonisation efforts, and weather-related disruptions further bolster our case for commodities as a robust investment. We anticipate that rate cuts and increased economic activity will drive synchronised global growth, boosting demand for commodities, especially precious metals and industrial materials. Gold, platinum, and aluminium serve as important hedges against inflation, fiscal instability, and supply chain constraints. We believe investors should stay invested in commodities to navigate these turbulent times and capitalise on the opportunities presented by a changing world. Remember, in the realm of investments, "When the winds of change blow, some build walls while others build windmills." Choose to build windmills with commodities.

Corporate Hybrid Bond – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the EUR I Accumulating Class was 3.93%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofA Global Hybrid Non-Financial 5% Constrained Custom Index (Total Return, Hedged, Euro) (the Index), returned 3.74%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Fixed Income markets had mixed returns, as rate markets repriced following their rally at the end of 2023 as a "higher for longer" narrative across key central banks grew and economic data remained resilient, keeping spreads tight.
- Above expectation Consumer Price Index prints in the US were key drivers in rate moves, however as the period progressed, more positive inflation prints and cracks in economic numbers became more apparent and dampened some of the initial sell-off. This was, however, not enough to reverse sentiment entirely. Overall, for the first half of the year, US 2 and 10-year Treasury yields both closed up 7 basis points, and Eurozone 2-year yields closed up.
- In credit markets, spreads across investment grade and high yield markets remained tight. This reflected the robustness of data at both a macro and microeconomic level, with credits across sectors weathering tighter financial conditions and fundamentals remaining intact.
- For hybrid markets, fundamentals remained solid across sectors, with issuers continuing to call their bonds at the first call date and extension risk remaining suppressed, despite an unfavourable broader economic environment. The biggest news to come out for hybrid markets was the change in methodology by Moody's, which we believe could trigger growth in US hybrid issuance, with convergence towards more investor-friendly structures. This, in turn, will mean more scope for diversification and alpha-generating opportunities as our investable universe expands.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Security selection was the primary driver of outperformance, through active, bottom-up credit research, with high-conviction investing into high-quality names best poised for the current market environment. Within this, our Real Estate positions added the most value, with both Telecoms and Energy names also contributing.
 - Whilst the overall Real Estate sector strongly recovered, our preference for higher-quality positions with supportive fundamentals has proven beneficial, with Heimstaden Bostad being the top performer across the whole Portfolio. Heimstaden is a name, which whilst still over levered, has a cleaner path to re-equitisation than other Real Estate names, and in the short-term we remain confident in the position and will reassess towards year end as we get more clarity on recapitalisation and asset disposal.
 - Duration also added value as our short positioning benefitted from the rates sell-off. The reporting period provided a good case study on the benefit of the Portfolio having minimal downside rates exposure, which could otherwise have the potential to disrupt the benefits of our active credit selection.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Asset allocation was the lead detractor in returns primarily due to an overweight to cash and underweight to Real Estate. Our cash position was a strategic choice which allowed us to a) take advantage of market moves that provided good entry points into issuers and b) quickly capitalise on primary market activity.
 - Real Estate remained the most volatile sector within the universe, and we prefer to remain selective in this space, with the names we do hold performing well.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Our most meaningful activity came in March, following a pick-up in new issuance across the hybrids market. The Portfolio participated in new issues from Arkema, Tennet, Orange, BT and Orsted (with the penultimate and latter being fully and partly funded by existing positions, respectively).
- Tennet, a leading European grid operator fully owned by the Netherlands, was a new position for the Portfolio, where we have taken a ~3% position.
- We added a new position in Centrica through the primary market, funding from an existing position in the name. Through our strong relationship with dealers, we were able to get attractive pricing; this issue was a top contributor to performance in the second quarter.

We believe the Portfolio is positioned in favour of the market environment within fixed income which continues to favour higher quality areas of the market. New issuers continue to enter the market, and we anticipate continued growth across both European and US markets. We continue to focus on credit selection, as with spread markets continuing to tighten idiosyncratic risk will be a leading driver in our development to deliver strong risk-adjusted total returns and strong relative returns against the Index. In summary, we believe that the combination of elevated yields, increased opportunities from new issuance, and potential for spread tightening should lead, over time, to a positive outcome for the Portfolio both on absolute and relative terms against the Index.

Developed Market FMP – 2027 – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 1.54%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Short-term developed market interest rates moved higher over the period, fueled in part by fiscal concerns, slowing progress on the inflation front and delayed easing by most major central banks.
- Global investment grade and non-investment grade credit spreads compressed over the period, reflecting solid demand for credit assets.
- Fixed income market performance was mixed over the period, with interest rate-sensitive securities generally underperforming on the back of rising interest rates.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
 - Exposure to developed markets investment grade credit
 - Exposure to developed market high yield
- Detractors from absolute returns:
 - There were no material detractors from a sector perspective

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In keeping with the buy-and-maintain nature of the Portfolio, no significant positioning changes were made during the period.
- The Portfolio is invested in a diversified mix of developed market investment grade and high yield credit.

Looking ahead, we anticipate global growth to slow as the impact of higher prices and central bank tightening continues to be felt by consumers and businesses. In credit, while it is fair to say that spreads have been tight and risk fully valued for the corporate market, higher rates for longer have caused stresses for some overstretched issuers and sectors, giving active managers opportunity to add value.

Emerging Market Debt - Hard Currency – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 5.32%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JPM EMBI Global Diversified Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned 2.34%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events were the main driver. Geopolitical developments in the Middle East weighed on sentiment. Defaulted names continued to make progress towards restructuring agreements while the market re-opened for frontier markets.
- US Treasury 10-year yields ended the reporting period at 4.4%, up from 3.93% as the market reduced rate cut expectations.
- Emerging markets (EM) benchmark spreads were roughly flat, moving to 391 basis points (bps) from 389bps, but 53bps was added by the reintroduction of Venezuela into the Index. Ecuador was the best performer with 45.7% return as the government made progress in tackling the security crisis. The worst performer was Jamaica with -1.57%.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Country allocation overall, with overweights to high yield credits such as Argentina and Ecuador, and defaulted countries Sri Lanka, Ghana, Zambia, and Ukraine.
 - Security selection was a net contributor, partly thanks to euro-denominated exposures.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Absence from higher yielding Pakistan, overweights to Colombia and El Salvador, off-benchmark holding in Israel.
 - Top-down positioning was a small net detractor.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio maintained a high yield bias over investment grade (IG) credits. Recent trading activity has been focused on reducing risk, following strong asset class performance. We moved underweight in Indonesia, Panama, and Uzbekistan, and trimmed positions in several HY credits.
- We added to exposures in Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, and Nigeria where we see a positive reform outlook and resilience to global shocks.
- Allocation to EUR-denominated bonds and corporate bonds was 16.7% and 12.1%, respectively, at the end of the reporting period.

The EM debt asset class should benefit from lower global yields but faces increased near-term risks due to US rates uncertainty and geopolitical issues. The risk of sovereign defaults in EM is limited this year as vulnerable sovereigns have secured new funding, and increased International Monetary Fund engagement supports reforms. Valuations are expensive for IG and BB-rated components, in our view, while B- and lower-rated segments still offer value, with scope for spread compression in specific issuers and off-benchmark bonds, particularly in the BB-rated segment. Key risks to this outlook include a potential re-acceleration of global inflation leading to more hawkish central banks and higher rates, or a shift to a more protectionist US stance.

Emerging Market Debt - Local Currency – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was -4.41%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JPMorgan GBI Emerging Markets Global Diversified Index (Total Return, Unhedged, USD) (the Index), returned -3.71%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events were a main driver for financial markets over the reporting period, as market expectations for rate cuts by the Federal Reserve (FED) and European Central Bank (ECB) this year were reduced. A strengthening US Dollar was a headwind for emerging market (EM) local currency bonds.
- The negative benchmark return was driven by a -5.21% return for EM currencies, which was partly offset by a positive +1.58% return from local bonds.
- South Africa was the best performing index country, as markets welcomed the move towards a coalition of the ANC and mostly centrist parties following the elections. Meanwhile Brazil was the worst performing index country, driven by concerns around monetary and fiscal policy.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Frontier market exposures including Egypt, Kenya and Zambia were among the main positive contributors.
 - Sovereign credit exposures in Argentina and an overweight in the Turkish lira.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - FX and duration overweights across Brazil and Mexico were the main detractors.
 - The overweight duration in Indonesia and an overweight in the Korean won detracted as well.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We further increased our overweight local duration, as valuations have become more attractive while inflation has generally continued to decline towards central bank targets, albeit at a slower pace. The largest addition was in India, where we see solid fundamentals and technical support from the benchmark index inclusion.
- We maintained a more modest overweight in EM currencies. We added exposure to the Turkish lira, which we anticipate to benefit from peaking inflation, high implied yields, and more orthodox central bank policy. We also added exposure to the Mexican peso, and to attractive opportunities in frontier currencies over the reporting period such as Egyptian pound and Nigerian naira. We went underweight in low yielding Asian currencies where we see more scope for depreciation, such as Chinese renminbi and Thai baht.

We anticipate that in the remainder of the year, the EM debt asset class should benefit from a backdrop of slower but not recessionary US growth, less hawkish central banks, and a meaningful growth pickup for emerging vs. developed countries. While inflation has substantially declined towards EM Central Bank comfort zones, we anticipate further disinflation from here to be more modest. Still, attractive real yields and monetary policy biased towards easing should support local bond performance. EM currencies should benefit from robust EM macro fundamentals and by high carry, outside Asia, even though uncertainty around the start and the pace of FED easing may create bumps on the road. The key risks to our constructive view are either a re-acceleration of inflation dynamics globally which would result in a more hawkish turn by Central Banks and higher rates, or a return to a more aggressively protectionist stance in the US in the event of a change of government.

Emerging Market Debt Blend – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was -0.36%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, a blend comprised of a 50% weighting to the JPMorgan GBI Emerging Markets Global Diversified Index (Total Return, Unhedged, USD), a 25% weighting to the JPMorgan EMBI Global Diversified Index (Total Return, USD), and a 25% weighting to the JPMorgan CEMBI Diversified Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned -0.39%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events drove markets, as markets reduced their expectations for Federal Reserve (FED) and European Central Bank (ECB) rate cuts. A stronger US dollar hurt EM local currency bonds.
- Middle East geopolitical issues and key market elections weighed on sentiment. Defaulted hard currency sovereigns progressed toward restructuring, while the market re-opened for frontier markets.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Bottom-up positioning in hard currency sovereign countries with overweights to high yield credits such as Argentina and Ecuador, and defaulted countries Sri Lanka, Ghana, and Zambia.
 - Bottom-up positioning in local currency frontier markets including Egypt, Kenya and Zambia.
 - Bottom-up positioning in corporate sectors including TMT and Metals & Mining.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Overweight to local currency relative to hard currency as hard currency markets outperformed.
 - Bottom-up positioning in local currency from the FX and duration overweights across Brazil and Mexico.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Tactically moved the relative exposure to overweight local currency, funded by an underweight to corporates.
- Local currency further increased our duration overweight, as valuations have become more attractive while inflation continued to decline. We maintained a more modest overweight in EM currencies.
- Hard currency maintained a high yield bias over investment grade (IG) sovereign credits. Within corporates, we increased exposure to the commodities and infrastructure sectors.

For the remainder of the year, EM debt should benefit from slower US growth, less hawkish central banks, and a meaningful growth pickup for emerging vs. developed countries. While inflation has declined, further disinflation will be modest. Attractive real yields and easing monetary policy should support local bonds. EM currencies should benefit from robust fundamentals and high carry, despite FED easing uncertainties. Hard currency IG and BB-rated valuations are expensive, but B- and lower-rated segments offer value. Key risks include re-accelerating global inflation, leading to more hawkish central banks, or a protectionist US government shift.

Emerging Market Debt Sustainable Investment Grade Blend – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was -1.52%. Over the same period, the blended benchmark, comprised of a one-third weighting to the JPMorgan GBI Emerging Markets Global Diversified Investment Grade 15% Cap Index (Total Return, Unhedged, USD) and a two-thirds weighting to the JPMorgan EMBI Global Diversified Investment Grade Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned -1.45%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events drove markets, as markets reduced their expectations for Federal Reserve (FED) and European Central Bank (ECB) rate cuts. A stronger US dollar hurt emerging market (EM) local currency bonds.
- Middle East geopolitical issues and key market elections weighed on sentiment.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Bottom up positioning in hard currency sovereign countries including: the Philippines and Kazakhstan, as well as euro-denominated bonds in Romania and Indonesia.
 - Bottom up positioning in local market currencies including the Polish zloty and Indian rupee.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - The overweight to local currency relative to hard currency as hard currency markets outperformed.
 - Bottom up positioning in local currency particularly from the FX and duration overweight in Mexico.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Tactically moved the relative exposure to overweight local currency, funded by an underweight to hard currency.
- Hard currency trading activity focused on reducing risk, increased exposure to the Middle East, reduced exposure to Panama and Indonesia.
- Local currency further increased our duration overweight, as valuations have become more attractive while inflation continued to decline. We maintained a more modest overweight in EM currencies.

For the remainder of the year, EM debt should benefit from slower US growth, less hawkish central banks, and a meaningful growth pickup for emerging vs. developed countries. While inflation has declined, further disinflation will be modest. Attractive real yields and easing monetary policy should support local bonds. EM currencies should benefit from robust fundamentals and high carry, despite FED easing uncertainties. Hard currency investment grade and BB-rated valuations are expensive, but B- and lower-rated segments offer value. Key risks include re-accelerating global inflation, leading to more hawkish central banks, or a protectionist US government shift.

Emerging Markets Equity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 15.42%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 7.49%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Emerging Markets (EM) equities advanced in 2024 outpacing the MSCI World Index during second quarter.
- Headlines, including a delay in an anticipated decline in US interest rates, along with several key worldwide elections, created noise and ongoing volatility.
- Enthusiasm about AI continued to drive the IT sector to new heights, particularly boosting interest in the semiconductors needed to support it. Health Care declined most, on negative policy news.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Stock selection was the most significant contributor to the Portfolio's outperformance, with sector allocation also positive.
 - Consumer Discretionary, IT holdings and an overweight to the top-performing IT segment.
 - By geography, holdings based in India and Korea added most value. Off-benchmark US-listed EM-linked semiconductor exposure was a further benefit.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Financials was the most significant headwind to relative performance due to a variety of policy-related headlines, followed by Energy and Consumer Staples.
 - Geographically, an off-benchmark allocation to a global IT services name domiciled in Argentina and Hong-Kong listed Chinese-driven financials detracted from relative results.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Cyclical Financials became the largest underweight as the previously supportive trend of lower interest rates leading to incremental domestic economic growth is now more uncertain across various countries.
- Locally driven idiosyncratic growth businesses made Consumer Discretionary the largest overweight.
- The largest geographic overweight is India, due to the diverse opportunity set across that country's market cap spectrum. China remains the largest underweight, but at a reduced differential, mainly due to its shrinking weight in the Index.

Looking ahead, the team believes this overall positioning provides the best risk/return tradeoffs given greater uncertainty in the global interest rate cycle and a busy 2024 election calendar.

Euro Bond – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the EUR I Accumulating Class was 0.64%. Over the same period, the Bloomberg Euro Aggregate Bond Index (Total Return, Hedged, EUR) (the Index), returned -1.21%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Fixed Income markets had mixed returns in the first half of 2024, as rate markets repriced following their rally at the end of 2023 as a “higher for longer” narrative across key central banks grew and economic data remained resilient, keeping spreads tight.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Security selection was the lead driver in relative returns for the first half of the year (220 basis points (bps)), specifically within Credit, which added 187bps to total returns and 156bps against the benchmark.
 - Our asset allocation was also positive over the year (18bps) as our overweight to credit (across both Industrials and Financials) performed well as credit spreads remained tight.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - We saw a small detraction from our yield curve positioning (-3bps) where we suffered from our position in steepeners as the curve flattened.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In response to the rates sell-off, we have incrementally added back some duration over the first half of the year. We remain of the belief that European Central Bank rate cuts are slightly underpriced and expect some correction in the second half of the year.
- We continue to add opportunistically to credit markets where valuations are attractive, taking advantage of the primary market and strong relationship with dealers to receive favourable allocations.

On a 1-year, 5-year and since inception basis, the Portfolio remains in the top decile of performers in Morningstar rankings (EAA Fund EUR Diversified Bond category), and we remain confident that over the long-term our investment strategy should continue to deliver attractive returns against both peers and the benchmark in a risk-controlled environment. Our focus on fundamental credit selection, supported by active duration management and primary market activity are all essential aspects of our investment philosophy and process which we believe will continue to play a pivotal role in this ever-changing market backdrop. Overall, we believe a combination of elevated yields and strong fundamentals provide an attractive entry point for investors into the Euro market, with active management providing the platform for weathering periods of volatility.

Euro Bond Absolute Return – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the EUR I Accumulating Class was 3.25%. Over the same period, the ICE BofA 0-1 Year AAA Euro Government Index (Total Return, EUR) (the Index), returned 1.69%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Fixed Income markets had mixed returns in the first half of 2024, as rate markets repriced following their rally at the end of 2023 as a “higher for longer” narrative across key central banks grew and economic data remained resilient, keeping spreads tight.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
 - Our credit exposure continues to be a positive for performance (288 basis points to total returns in the first half of the year), with spreads remaining tight and some idiosyncratic exposures adding returns vs. wider markets. The sector-wide recovery in Real Estate was the lead driver of performance, through names such as Aroundtown, SBB and Heimstaden Bostad. We currently have approximately 35% of the Portfolio invested in credit and continue to prioritise bottom-up analysis to identify superior total return opportunities across the investable universe.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
 - From a curve perspective, our position in steepeners detracted from returns over the first half of the year, whilst our duration adds have also detracted in light of the wider rate markets.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In response to the rates sell-off, we have incrementally added back some duration over the first half of the year. We remain of the belief that European Central Bank rate cuts are slightly underpriced and expect some correction in the second half of the year.
- We continue to add opportunistically to credit markets where valuations are attractive, taking advantage of the primary market and strong relationship with dealers to receive favourable allocations.

Our focus on fundamental credit selection, supported by active duration management and primary market activity which are all essential aspects of our investment philosophy and process which will continue to play a pivotal role in this ever-changing market environment. Overall, we believe a combination of elevated yields and strong fundamentals provide an attractive entry point for investors into the Euro market, with active management providing the platform for weathering periods of volatility.

European High Yield Bond – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the EUR I Accumulating Class was 3.57%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofA European Currency Non-Financial High Yield 3% Constrained Index (Total Return, EUR) (the Index), returned 3.21%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The European high yield bond market finished the reporting period with solid returns driven by encouraging financial results for most issuers, strong technicals, solid economic data despite signs of slowing growth and the view that policy rates could be coming down later in the year.
- Overall, high yield issuers' aggregate fundamentals of Earnings Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation (EBITDA) growth, free cash flow, interest coverage and leverage remained in somewhat favourable ranges. While most issuers reported in line or better than expected earnings in the first half of 2024, some lower rated issuers continued to see some idiosyncratic or industry-specific earnings pressure.
- While the default rate has risen off the lows in 2022, we anticipate default rates in 2024 and 2025 to remain in a range that is around the long-term average. This outlook is based on our bottom-up assessment of issuers and driven by the higher-quality ratings mix in high yield (~63% of issuers with credit ratings of BB), less aggressive new issuance, fewer near-term maturities, as well as an energy sector that is far healthier than the past few cycles.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns: from a sector perspective, positioning in Technology & Electronics, Automotive & Auto Parts and Chemicals contributed the most to performance. From a ratings perspective, positioning in BB, BBB & above and B rated issuers added the most to performance.
- Detractors from relative returns: from a sector perspective, positioning in Energy, Support-Services and Real Estate & Homebuilders detracted the most from performance. From a ratings perspective, overall, only security selection within CCCs and a slight overweight to Not Rated issuers detracted modestly.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our European high yield strategies, we rotated selectively into BB's where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low.
- Positioning in CCC's also went up slightly over the period but remained an underweight. Our positioning in CCCs is where we have a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience to inflationary and labour cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio, where possible, without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to center the Portfolio primarily around BB and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we view as resilient in the current environment.

We remain constructive on European high yield, and in our view, valuations and yields are attractive and compensating investors for around the average default outlook. Despite solid economic growth and higher-than-desired inflation, most market participants see rate normalisation coming sometime this year. Our analysts continue to be focused on the specific fundamentals of individual issuers in their coverage, assessing the base and downside cases. Relatively healthy consumer and business balance sheets and nominal GDP growth should continue to provide support for most issuers' fundamentals, in our view. While the incoming macroeconomic data and overall credit cycle dynamics can move the high yield market day-to-day, we remain very focused on industry-specific trends and idiosyncratic risks to individual issuers.

European Sustainable Equity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the EUR I Accumulating Class was 4.70%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI Europe Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, EUR) (the Index), returned 9.05%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market, and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of 2024 saw strong economic momentum in the US and Europe, with positive global economic data suggesting a soft landing.
- Developed market equities delivered positive returns, driven by AI-exposed larger companies and European bank stocks, which benefited from interest rates remaining elevated.
- Fixed-income investors faced challenges due to persistent inflation and recalibrated interest rate cut expectations, leading to negative bond returns; interest rate-sensitive assets, including REITs, declined.
- Political developments in Europe, particularly a snap election in France, introduced market volatility.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period?

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - The result from sector allocation was positive, due to an overweight in Information Technology and underweights in Materials and Utilities which contributed the most.
 - At a stock level, our holdings in 3i Group (Financials), ASML (Information Technologies), Schneider Electric (Industrials), and Novo Nordisk (Health Care) contributed the most to performance.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Stock selection had a significant negative result, with a negative contribution from Health Care as well as consumer related sectors.
 - Our stock holdings in Alfen (Industrials), SolarEdge Technologies (Information Technology), CVS Group, Straumann (Health Care), Kering, and HelloFresh (Consumer) detracted the most from performance.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We added contract catering provider Compass Group for its global scale, high client retention, growth potential from outsourcing trends, resilience against inflation, and investments in digital technologies.
- We added accounting software maker Sage for its strong mid-market software position, successful shift to cloud and subscription models, significant recurring revenue base and growth potential.
- We exited the positions in Alfen and SolarEdge as it became clear that the prolonged downturn in demand for cleantech products was leading to a significant deterioration of their financial position.
- We also exited positions in software maker Teamviewer and meal-kit provider HelloFresh, as both companies are facing difficulties expanding the end markets, and their products are commoditising.

The economic environment remains challenging with uncertainties related to inflation, central bank policies, election results, and geopolitical developments. In this context, we continue to believe that our approach is the right one: managing a focused Portfolio of quality companies with a durable competitive position, strong management of material ESG aspects, and the ability to adapt to change. We believe such companies, which we call transition winners, are well-equipped to thrive in the long run, even more so during uncertain times, as their focus on sustainability continues to reinforce their competitive advantage.

Event Driven – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 3.60%. Over the same period, the S&P 500 Index* (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 15.05%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

Merger activity has picked up in the first half of the year as buyers have become more comfortable with both the regulatory and macro landscape. Buyers and sellers are looking to maximise value to their shareholders and are willing to take undertake both the financial and opportunity costs of pursuing transactions as they believe they will ultimately be able to close. We believe there will be an increasing number of opportunities in the back half of the year especially in Energy, Industrials, and Information Technology.

On the Catalyst side, the opportunity set continues to be robust as companies are pursuing or considering various forms of corporate activity to drive shareholder value. Our ability to hedge our positions is a dynamic process in the current markets and the team is focused on managing the risks of large beta moves and style factor rotations. This is a key part of the process in addition to the fundamental valuation of the event.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute total returns:
 - In the first half of 2024 performance was predominately driven by the Market Neutral Catalyst strategy
 - The top five contributors to performance were FTAI Aviation (Catalyst), Western Digital (Catalyst), Heico (Catalyst), Williams (Catalyst) and nVent Electric (Catalyst)
- Detractors from absolute total returns:
 - The top five detractors were Lamb Weston (Catalyst), Norfolk Southern (Catalyst), DS Smith (Risk Arbitrage), Vestis (Catalyst) and Hess (Risk Arbitrage)

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Deal activity in 2024 has recovered significantly from the lows in 2023 and exposure to the strategy has steadily increased over the first half of the year as we find interesting opportunities and attractive spread levels. Although there was some modest slow down late in the second quarter of 2024, we are still in the early innings of a cyclical recovery and remain far from the recent peaks in 2020/2021. There should be lots of opportunity in front of us even as the current environment remains attractive and has evolved favourably.
- With respect to the market neutral catalyst strategy, we continue to find an increasing number of idiosyncratic opportunities to deploy capital. A number of positions we initiated last year are progressing through the catalyst paths we underwrote and are generating positive performance. We have taken some profits on some larger winners to manage position sizing and continue to introduce new ideas into the Portfolio.

The markets are currently trying to interpret and anticipate a significant number of macro factors. At present, there is an increasing conviction that the Federal Reserve is on the precipice of the long hoped for interest rate cuts and the betting odds for a 2nd Trump administration have climbed as the Republican National Convention kicks off. It appears that there is an awful lot of positioning happening in the markets based on these macro related shifts and it's coming just prior to the beginning of second quarter earnings. It's unclear if the market will react to earnings or simply choose to look forward to a perceived easier regime for stocks and continue the rotation and broad rally. We are not macro investors and are sticking to our knitting despite getting nicked a bit as the macro sands shift. Reacting and trading to these short-term whims is not our game, but we continue to like our book and the outlook for continuing to find idiosyncratic ideas on the long and short side of the book.

* The Portfolio is actively managed and does not intend to track the Index which is included here for performance comparison purposes.

- Global investment grade and non-investment grade credit spreads compressed over the period, reflecting solid demand for credit assets.
- Fixed income market performance was mixed over the period, with interest rate-sensitive securities generally underperforming on the back of rising interest rates.

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Security selection in global investment grade credit and agency mortgage-backed securities.
 - Overweight exposure to securitised credit.
 - Allocation to global high yield.
- Detractors from relative returns:

- Over the period, we increased exposure to developed market sovereign debt and securitised credit.
- We reduced exposure to investment grade credit, emerging market debt and agency mortgage-backed securities.
- As a result of these trades, the Portfolio's duration declined marginally.

Looking ahead, we anticipate global growth to slow as the impact of higher prices and central bank tightening continues to be felt by consumers and businesses. In credit, while it is fair to say that spreads have been tight and risk fully valued for the corporate market, higher rates for longer have caused stresses for some overstretched issuers and sectors, giving active managers opportunity to add value. Meanwhile, other segments of the credit landscape, such as structured products, may offer more opportunity.

- The life cycle of the Portfolio ended 28 June 2024.
- Prior to the end of the Portfolio's life cycle, the Portfolio was invested in a diversified mix of developed market IG and high yield credit and emerging market corporates.

Looking ahead, we anticipate global growth to slow as the impact of higher prices and central bank tightening continues to be felt by consumers and businesses. Global Equity Megatrends – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 13.82%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI World Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 11.75%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Toward the end of the first half of 2024, concerns over sticky inflations eased and global equity markets continued their uneven recovery.
- The US economy remained resilient during the first half of 2024, largely due to firm labour market and growing corporate earnings.
- Europe is showing signs of a gradual recovery, but elections in UK and France should be a source of concern for investors.
- China's government appears committed to keep stimulating.
- While we do not time markets or try to forecast the macro market environment, we anticipate continued volatility associated with macro uncertainty and ongoing geopolitical risks; we identify many "known unknowns."

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Vistra (Energy Infrastructure), Zeta Global (Smart Systems) and Despegar.com (Evolving Global Consumer)
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - ModivCare (Health & Wellbeing), Pets at Home (Humanization of Pets) and Perrigo (Health & Wellbeing)

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- During the past year we initiated a new position in Chart industries (Energy Infrastructure) and allocated incremental capital to NICE (Smart Systems), Perrigo (Health & Wellbeing) and Amdocs (Personalization of Media).
- We funded these trades primarily by exiting our position in TE Connectivity and moderating our exposure to Vistra.

As the US election on 5 November draws closer, we are cognisant it adds another unknown to the list of uncertainties and we appreciate that uncertainty often breeds volatility. Despite this cloudy forecast, we believe the Portfolio is well-positioned and patient investors should do well in the years ahead. Importantly, to remain patient, investing with conviction is key. Our focus on risk management drives this conviction, selectively investing in (i) businesses with visible, predictable growth outlooks because each is supported by, and enabling, powerful megatrends, (ii) businesses with a leadership team that we are excited to partner with, and (iii) businesses that are trading at attractive multi-year valuations.

Global Flexible Credit Income – Investment Manager's Report

(Performance data quoted represents past performance and does not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Developed market interest rates moved higher over the period, fueled in part by fiscal concerns, slowing progress on the inflation front and delayed easing by most major central banks.
- Global investment grade and non-investment grade credit spreads compressed over the period, reflecting solid demand for credit assets.
- Fixed income market performance was mixed over the period, with interest rate-sensitive securities generally underperforming on the back of rising interest rates.

- Contributors to absolute returns:
 - Exposure to global high yield and hard currency emerging markets debt.
 - Exposure to Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLOs) and senior floating rate loans.
 - Exposure to securitised credit
- Detractors from absolute returns:
 - Exposure to US investment grade credit

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We increased exposure to CLOs and securitised credit.
- We reduced exposure to global investment grade credit and high yield.
- We modestly increased the Portfolio's duration over the period as interest rates moved higher.

Looking ahead, we anticipate global growth to slow as the impact of higher prices and central bank tightening continues to be felt by consumers and businesses. In credit, while it is fair to say that spreads have been tight and risk fully valued for the corporate market, higher rates for longer have caused stresses for some overstretched issuers and sectors, giving active managers opportunity to add value. Meanwhile, other segments of the credit landscape, such as structured products, may offer more opportunity.

Global High Yield SDG Engagement – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 3.44%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofA Global High Yield Constrained Index (Total Return, Hedged, USD) (the Index), returned 3.52%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The global high yield bond market finished the reporting period with solid returns driven by encouraging financial results for most issuers, strong technicals, solid economic data despite signs of slowing growth and the view that policy rates could be coming down later in the year.
- Outside of the higher risk Eastern European and China Property sectors, global high yield issuers' aggregate fundamentals of Earnings Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation (EBITDA) growth, free cash flow, interest coverage and leverage remained in somewhat favourable ranges and earnings season overall came in better-than-feared. Also, the outlook for defaults remains relatively benign.
- Default rates in US, Europe and other developed markets are expected to remain around average after having moved up from the all-time lows of 2022. While emerging markets (EM) defaults have risen, we are focused on select opportunities away from the higher risk regions and sectors. Our outlook for around average default risk is based on our bottom-up assessment of issuers, and driven by the higher-quality ratings mix in global high yield (58% of issuers with credit ratings of BB), less aggressive new issuance, fewer near-term maturities, as well as an energy sector that is far healthier than in the past few cycles.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns
 - From a sector perspective, positioning in Media-Broadcast, Banking and Technology & Electronics contributed the most to performance over the period. From a ratings perspective, positioning in BB, B, CCC & below, Not Rated and BBB & above rated issuers added the most to performance over the period.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - From a sector perspective, positioning in Super Retail, Real Estate & Homebuilders and Automotive & Auto Parts detracted the most from performance over the period. From a ratings perspective, overall, there were no detractors from performance; however, the overweight to BBB's and B's as well as security selection within Not Rated issuers did detract slightly.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our global high yield strategies, we rotated selectively into BB's and higher quality B's where prices remained attractive relative to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low.
- Positioning in CCC's is where we have a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience to inflationary and labor cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to centre the Portfolio primarily around BB, higher-quality B and selectively in CCC credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we view as resilient in the current environment.
- We remain underweight in EM high yield and are focused on lower risk issuers and sectors in that part of the global high yield market.

We remain constructive on global high yield as valuations and yields are attractive and compensating investors for the around average default outlook. Despite solid economic growth and higher-than-desired inflation, most market participants anticipate rate normalisation coming sometime this year. Our analysts continue to be focused on the specific fundamentals of individual issuers in their coverage, assessing the base and downside cases. Relatively healthy consumer and business balance sheets and nominal GDP growth should continue to provide support for most issuers' fundamentals, in our view.

Global Investment Grade Credit – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 0.97%. Over the same period, the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Corporate Index (Total Return, Hedged, USD) (the Index), returned 0.30%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Markets entered 2024 with the expectation that the Federal Reserve (Fed) would ease policy via a material reduction in the Federal Funds target range during the year due to ongoing moderation in US inflation data. US consumer price inflation data surprised to the upside during the first quarter resulting in volatility in interest rates and largely pricing out changes to the Fed's policy rate. US inflation data did moderate during the second quarter, which resulted in a more supportive back drop for credit spreads and interest rates however, the amount of expected policy easing still remains below what was expected at the start of the year.
- In the US, growth and the labour market are slowing but still supportive. Outside the US, the macroeconomic outlook remains less favourable than the US but perhaps less concerning than previously feared. The Fed and Bank of England have so far maintained restrictive monetary policy even though they are both expected to ease in the near term. The European Central Bank lowered its policy rate by 25 basis points in its June meeting based on an updated assessment of its inflation outlook.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Senior unsecured bonds from the real estate, banking, insurance, sectors drove outperformance
 - Subordinated Tier 2 debt from financial issuers and corporate hybrid bonds from the utility and real estate sectors
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Communication, capital goods, and technology sectors slightly detracted

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We participated in a number of attractively priced primary new issue deals which generated strong relative outperformance for the Portfolio.
- Portfolio duration position was maintained slightly above benchmark levels largely due to corporate bond holdings in euro and sterling credit.

Heading into the second half of 2024, we remain overweight some of the more defensive sectors like Utilities and Banking while reducing some of our exposure to higher beta and cyclical sectors. We continue to be overweight sectors that have strong fundamentals and are currently in deleveraging mode like Communications which we believe will continue to benefit from a moderating rate backdrop. We have an underweight in sectors like consumer non-cyclicals that we view as being at a higher risk of using debt to finance shareholder returns via stock buybacks and merger and acquisition and trade at relatively tight valuations.

Global Opportunistic Bond – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was -0.17%. Over the same period the benchmark index, the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index (Total Return, Hedged, USD), returned 0.13%. (Performance data quoted represents past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Developed market interest rates moved higher, fueled in part by fiscal concerns, slowing progress on the inflation front and delayed easing by most major central banks.
- Global investment grade and non-investment grade credit spreads compressed, reflecting solid demand for credit assets.
- Fixed income market performance was mixed, with interest rate-sensitive securities generally underperforming on the back of rising interest rates.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Exposure to European high yield and emerging markets debt
 - Security selection in global investment grade credit and securitised credit
 - The Portfolio's active currency overlay
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Overweight exposure to US and Canada interest rates
 - Underweight exposure in covered bonds and commercial mortgage-backed securities
 - Overweight exposure to agency mortgage-backed securities

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We increased exposure to developed market sovereign debt and high yield.
- We reduced exposure to investment grade credit, agency mortgage-backed securities and emerging market debt.
- We modestly increased the Portfolio's duration as interest rates moved higher.

Looking ahead, we anticipate global growth to slow as the impact of higher prices and central bank tightening continues to be felt by consumers and businesses. In credit, while it is fair to say that spreads have been tight and risk fully valued for the corporate market, higher rates for longer have caused stresses for some overstretched issuers and sectors, giving active managers opportunity to add value. Meanwhile, other segments of the credit landscape, such as structured products, may offer more opportunity.

Global Real Estate Securities – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was -6.07%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the FTSE EPRA/Nareit Developed Real Estate Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned -3.66%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The global equity market saw robust performance, largely driven by strong corporate earnings, particularly in the technology and healthcare sectors.
- Geopolitical events, political uncertainty and several key elections across the world contributed to market volatility.
- Inflationary pressures were a key theme with central banks closely monitoring and adjusting their policies.
- All told, MSCI All Country World Index (Net) returned 11.30% during the reporting period. In contrast, the Index returned -3.66%. Real estate securities were negatively impacted by rising interest rates.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Security selection within the Health Care sector
 - Security selection within the Other Specialty REITs sector
 - An overweight in Spain and underweight in Sweden
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Security selection within the Office sector
 - Security selection within the Residential sector
 - Overweight in Canada and underweight in the US

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- While the Portfolio's sector positioning is mainly driven by bottom-up stock selection, at the end of the reporting period its largest overweight allocations versus the Index were in Infrastructure REITs and Residential sectors. In contrast, the Portfolio's largest sector underweights relative to the Index were in Office and Hotel and Lodging REITs.
- The largest country overweights were in Canada and Belgium, and the largest underweights were in the US and Sweden.

While it is hard to determine the timing and scale of rate movements across regions, we remain cautious as higher rates continue to weigh on a weakening consumer, who is seeing reduced savings and slower job growth, slower economic growth, pockets of elevated supply in certain sectors, and increased capital costs and expenses weighing on margins. We believe pressure on growth will result in greater attention to valuations, earnings quality, and strength in business fundamentals. Market rents in the UK and Continental Europe saw moderate growth during the reporting period, driven by lease indexation, the prospect of earlier rate cuts and stable/increasing demand in selected sectors like residential and logistics. Asia's performance in the first half of 2024 was dragged down by Hong Kong and Japan. The Bank of Japan's gradual shift away from its loose monetary policy led to rising yields. Geopolitical tensions, cautious business environment and sluggish China growth contributed to lower demand for commercial properties and negative market returns in Hong Kong. We remain focused on REITs with low leverage, diverse demand drivers, strong management and earnings visibility.

Global Sustainable Equity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 6.22%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI World Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 11.75%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market, and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of 2024 saw strong economic momentum in the US and Europe, with positive global economic data suggesting a soft landing.
- Developed market equities delivered positive returns, driven by AI-exposed larger companies and strong US tech earnings.
- Fixed-income investors faced challenges due to persistent inflation and recalibrated interest rate cut expectations, leading to negative bond returns; interest rate-sensitive assets, including REITs, declined.
- Political developments in Europe, particularly a snap election in France, introduced market volatility.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - The result from sector allocation was positive due to the outperformance of an overweight in Communication Services as well as from the underperformance of an underweight in Utilities, Energy, Real Estate, and in particular Materials.
 - At a stock level, our holdings in Netflix, Alphabet (Communication Services), ASML, Applied Materials (Information Technology), and Amazon (Consumer Discretionary) contributed the most to performance.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Stock selection had a significant negative result, with negative contributions from consumer related sectors as well as Industrials and Information Technology.
 - The largest detractors from performance were our stock holdings in Alfen (Industrials), Nike, Estée Lauder (Consumer), SolarEdge Technologies, and an underweight in Nvidia (Information Technology).

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We added Nvidia and Broadcom to the Portfolio due to their crucial roles in AI technologies. Nvidia excels at making general-purpose AI chips, and Broadcom offers task-specific AI chips.
- Within Financials we initiated a position in Kinsale Capital for its efficient, tech-driven insurance operations, and also in CoStar Group for its dominant market position, unrivalled data, high customer retention, and consistent revenue growth in commercial real estate.
- We exited the positions in Alfen and SolarEdge as it became clear that the prolonged downturn in demand for cleantech products was leading to a significant deterioration of their financial position.

The economic environment remains challenging, with uncertainties related to inflation, central bank policies, election results, and geopolitical developments. In this context, we continue to believe that our approach is the right one: managing a focused Portfolio of quality companies with a durable competitive position, strong management of material ESG aspects, and the ability to adapt to change. We believe such companies, which we call transition winners, are well-equipped to thrive in the long run, even more so during uncertain times, as their focus on sustainability continues to reinforce their competitive advantage.

Global Sustainable Value – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 7.08%. Over the same period, the MSCI All Country World Value Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (Primary Index) and the MSCI All Country World Index (ACWI) (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (Secondary Index), returned 6.22% and 11.30%, respectively. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

- The US Federal Reserve (Fed), and Bank of England (BoE) maintained interest rates in the first half of 2024, while the European Central Bank (ECB) cut rates in June.
- Earlier in 2024, the Bank of Japan increased rates for the first time in 17 years, marking an end to the negative interest rate environment.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Overweight in Information Technology compared to the Secondary Index
 - Security selection in Financials and Information Technology
 - Security selection in the US
 - Momentum, Value, and Size factors
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Overweight in Communication Services and underweight to Financials compared to the Secondary Index
 - Security selection in Industrials and Energy
 - Security selection in Asia/Pacific ex. Japan and Europe ex.UK
 - Dividend Yield and Volatility factors

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio maintained its overweight in Information Technology with the majority of that exposure concentrated in Semiconductor and Hardware industries where we find most Value candidates within the sector.
- The Portfolio continues to be positioned toward lower duration, profitable stocks in 2024, while elevated inflation has fallen throughout in the first half of 2024, and rates plateaued.

We believe the Portfolio is well positioned for the market environment throughout 2024. Our stance is that the historic trade-off between interest rates and inflation has returned, and this will help the positioning in our Portfolio that favours attractively priced, profitable companies. In addition, against a backdrop of tightening credit and pressured corporate earnings, we are of the view that the Portfolio's focus on good capital discipline may also accrue benefit.

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The high yield bond market finished the reporting period with solid returns driven by encouraging financial results for most issuers, strong technicals, solid economic data despite signs of slowing growth and the view that policy rates could be coming down later in the year.
- Overall, high yield issuers' aggregate fundamentals of Earnings Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation (EBITDA) growth, free cash flow, interest coverage and leverage remained in somewhat favourable ranges. While most issuers reported in line or better than expected earnings in the first half of 2024, some lower rated issuers continued to see some idiosyncratic or industry-specific earnings pressure.
- While the default rate has risen off the lows in 2022, we anticipate default rates in 2024 and 2025 to remain in a range that is around the long-term average. This outlook is based on our bottom-up assessment of issuers, and driven by the higher-quality ratings mix in high yield (~50% of issuers with credit ratings of BB), less aggressive new issuance, fewer near-term maturities, as well as an energy sector that is far healthier than in the past few cycles.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - From a sector perspective, positioning in Telecommunications, Media-Broadcast and Support-Services contributed the most to performance over the period. From a ratings perspective, positioning in B, BB, CCC & below, BBB & above and Not Rated issuers added the most to performance over the period.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - From a sector perspective, positioning in Super Retail, Technology & Electronics and Healthcare detracted the most from performance over the period. From a ratings perspective, overall, there were no detractors from performance; however, the overweight to BBBs and security selection within Not Rated issuers did detract slightly.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our high yield strategies, we rotated selectively into higher quality BB's where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low.
- Positioning in CCC's is where we have a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience to inflationary and labor cost trends, were they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to center the Portfolio primarily around BB and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we view as resilient in the current environment.

We remain constructive on US high yield. In our view, US high yield valuations and yields are attractive and compensating investors for the around average default outlook. Despite solid economic growth, higher-than-desired inflation and tight labour markets, most market participants see rate normalisation coming sometime this year. Our analysts continue to be focused on the specific fundamentals of individual issuers in their coverage, assessing the base and downside cases. Relatively healthy consumer and business balance sheets and nominal GDP growth should continue to provide support for most issuers' fundamentals, in our view. While the incoming macroeconomic data and overall credit cycle dynamics can move the high yield market day-to-day, we remain very focused on industry-specific trends and idiosyncratic risks to individual issuers.

InnovAsia 5G – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 10.50%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI All Country Asia Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned 8.48%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Asian equity markets delivered strong returns led by optimism in AI which drove up Taiwan's stock market, a continued rally in Japan driven by corporate reform momentum and valuation support, while the Indian stock market reached all-time highs thanks to strong inflows and robust corporate earnings.
- Conversely, Southeast Asian equity markets pulled back with Thailand and Indonesia underperforming the most. The China equity market saw some stabilisation, but consumer sentiment remains cautious.
- The influence of the US on Asian financial markets remains as the robust US dollar and higher for longer interest rates have dragged regional currencies, the most apparent being the weak Japanese yen.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Overweight to Semiconductors and Taiwan versus the Index
 - Security selection in Internet/Software, South Korea, and India
 - Exposure to AI infrastructure winners such as companies in the high bandwidth memory, high speed networking, and AI data center supply chains
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Small-mid cap software in Japan pulled back
 - Security selection within China

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Increased exposure to AI enablers and beneficiaries on strong demand trends and earnings growth
- Increased semiconductor and tech hardware exposure
- Reduced exposure to Southeast Asia and India, shifting to Japan, Taiwan, and South Korea
- Realised profits on outperformers opportunistically on rallies to lock-in returns amid a volatile market environment

While we believe we are at the end of the rate hike cycle, macro uncertainty could persist. We thus continue to emphasise quality but are ready to capture tactical opportunities and position for cyclical growth. We are constructive on the growth opportunity in Asia especially within advanced semiconductors, structural growth in AI, robust data center capex, and digital content & lifestyle proliferation.

Japan Equity Engagement – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the JPY I Accumulating Class was 11.24%. Over the same period, the MSCI Japan Small Cap Index (Net) (Total Return, JPY) (the Index), returned 12.92%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the reporting period, Japanese stocks saw a tale of two halves with the first quarter seeing the Nikkei 225 Index reaching a record high in March buoyed by semiconductor companies while the second quarter saw the market give up most of its gains on higher global interest rates, weak yen, and companies' conservative outlook on 2024 earnings.
- The Bank of Japan raised interest rates for the first time in 17 years in March, which we view as a critical step towards monetary policy normalisation and end to Japan's so-called "Lost Decades" of deflation.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Running shoes maker Asics' stock gained on the back of better-than-expected first quarter results led by strong sales of its high-end Onitsuka Tiger brand.
 - Student condominiums operator JSB shares rose on investors' expectations stemming from strong growth in the number of apartments under management.
 - Discount stores operator Trial Holdings' initial public offering was met with solid investor demand on expectations of margin improvement through higher sales of private-branded goods.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Contact lens maker Menicon's stock fell after revising down its earnings outlook on slowing sales in China.
 - Temporary staffing services company Open Up Group saw its shares drop on tight labour conditions in the construction sector, which resulted in some investors taking profits from the stock.
 - Funeral services provider Kosaido's stock fell on the company's surprise announcement to replace the existing CEO who was known to be spearheading reforms.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio was most overweight in Industrial and Communication services while being most underweight in Materials and Utilities, which is a result of the Team's bottom-up fundamentals-driven process to investment.
- The Team conducted over 250 engagement meetings across capital management, corporate governance and sustainability themes, which we believe can have a material impact on the companies' corporate value over the mid- to long-term.

We believe Japan's equity market rally is gradually expanding to the broader market. In recent months, quality/growth small to mid-cap companies (SMIDs) stocks have begun to recover on investors' expectations of the Japanese economy recovering in the second half as well as improving capital efficiency. We share this view and have been positioning the Portfolio to buy attractively valued high quality companies with pricing power that can protect margins in the face of higher input costs. In addition, we have continued to hold constructive engagement with management teams to address financially material issues such as capital management and corporate governance that we view would be critical for sustainable long-term growth.

 - Short term and tactical trading opportunities led the positive performance for the period.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Longer term factors such as valuation detracted slightly from performance.

- The Portfolio closed on 8 February 2024. We thank you for the opportunity to help you meet your financial needs.

* Portfolio liquidated on 8 February 2024.

Next Generation Mobility – Investment Manager's Report

For the six months ending 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 8.98%. Over the same period, the MSCI All-Country World Index (ACWI) (Total Return, net of tax, USD) (the "Index") returned 11.30%. (Performance data quoted represents past performance and does not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Equity markets exhibited strong performance in the first half of 2024, marking a continuation of the positive trend from the previous year. This positive momentum was supported by a backdrop of easing inflation pressures and diminishing recession concerns.
- Large-cap growth equities significantly outperformed their small and mid-cap counterparts during the reporting period. The favourable market conditions provided a boost to growth-oriented stocks in general, but large-cap growth stocks led the way. In contrast, value stocks lagged, reflecting a broader preference for growth equities over value equities during the first half of 2024.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to total returns:
 - Lack of exposure to Consumer Staples, along with exposure to Information Technology, were the biggest contributors to relative performance.
 - From a security perspective, NVIDIA, Amphenol, and Applied Materials were the largest positive contributors to absolute performance.
- Detractors from total returns:
 - Exposure to the Materials and Consumer Discretionary sectors were the biggest detractors from relative performance.
 - From a security perspective, Tesla, Albemarle, and MP Materials were the largest detractors from absolute performance.
- While the Index captures the global nature of the Portfolio, its scope is broader than the investable universe of the Portfolio and therefore has limitations for comparative performance purposes. Sectors which have little or no thematic relevance such as Consumer Staples, Energy, Healthcare, and Utilities, underperformed during the first half of 2024, positively impacting relative Portfolio performance during the period.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

The largest positions added to the Portfolio during the period:

- Kia was initiated due to their leading position in HEVs and BEVs, with double-digit EBIT margins across all powertrains.
- Ferrari was initiated as they transition to HEVs (~50% of shipments), where the company is benefiting from an ASP uplift (HEVs have higher ASP than ICE).
- Hitachi was initiated due to their leading backlog and capacity runway in their grid transmissions operations, combined with self-help through divestitures and improved corporate governance/capital returns.

The largest positions removed from the Portfolio were Trimble, due to accounting irregularities and continued operational execution slipups. Ansys, due to its pending acquisition by Synopsys, and T-Mobile to redeploy into higher conviction ideas.

We foresee a dynamic macroeconomic environment as central banks continue to react to new data in their efforts to curb inflation. The delayed impacts of tighter monetary policies are expected to slow economic growth. However, it is promising to see inflation rates decelerating in key regions like the United States, suggesting that central banks have likely concluded their interest rate hiking cycles. With the upcoming United States election, equity markets are likely to experience increased volatility. Despite the economic turbulence and political uncertainties, the fundamentals of the Next Generation Mobility theme remain robust. We believe we will see further market penetration and robust growth for autonomous and electric vehicles in the latter half of 2024, supported by favourable regional policies and other factors. Our strategy continues to focus on investing in high-quality, fundamentally strong companies that are pivotal to and benefit from this enduring theme.

Next Generation Space Economy – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 8.42%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the MSCI All Country World Index (ACWI) (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index) returned 11.30%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

The first half of 2024 continued the momentum from 2023, with global equities growing despite high interest rates and a continued focus on the potential of Artificial Intelligence (AI). The Information Technology sector outperformed, with Semiconductors leading. Mega-cap stocks drove year-to-date performance, while Communication Services and Financials also contributed. In contrast, Real Estate and Materials sectors declined.

Central banks globally initiated interest rate cuts, while the U.S. balanced economic data with growth constraints. Future rate cuts could enhance US equities, especially those sensitive to interest rate changes. Conversely, heightened geopolitical tensions added to market volatility. With upcoming global elections, investors are assessing potential policy shifts on corporate fundamentals.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Our overweight exposure to Amazon within Consumer Discretionary sector was additive.
 - Structural underweight to less thematically relevant sectors (e.g., Energy, Health Care, Consumer Staples) which has underperformed year-to-date.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Our exposure to Boeing detracted from stock selection within the Aerospace & Defense industry partially offset by positive stock selection within Machinery and Transportation names.
 - Cash detracted from relative returns as the Portfolio has seen inflows throughout the year.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio continues to take a barbell approach between growth and defensive positions. We have used price dislocations to initiate and scale both fundamentally and thematically relevant positions.
- Increased number of securities within the Portfolio and added additional pure-play investment opportunities addressing the expanding multi-sector opportunity set and helping diversify risk.

The Space Ecosystem has seen significant advancements and announcements impacting various industries and nations. Commercial enterprises are expanding their space-based exposure, highlighted by AST SpaceMobile partnering with AT&T and Verizon, targeting 100% geographic cellular coverage, CNH exploring satellite connectivity for their tractors, and Planet Labs announcing plans to put NVDA chips into their satellites to leverage AI capabilities. Finally, we saw the successful test launch of SpaceX's Starship which is positioned to further improve access to space. Our investment strategy remains focused on strong fundamentals tied to the Space theme, positioning the Portfolio to capitalise on anticipated growth.

Responsible Asian Debt – Hard Currency – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 2.29%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned 2.81%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Over the reporting period, there was a shift in the market's consensus expectations for interest rate cuts. While markets had priced in ~6 cuts in the US at the start of the year, this changed to ~2 cuts being priced by June 2024. Consequently, US Treasury yields experienced volatility which impacted Asian Hard Currency Debt markets as well.
- In China, the National People's Congress (NPC) kept the growth target unchanged at "around 5%" for 2024. Regarding the property market, the April Politburo Meeting emphasised "digesting inventory" in the property market as national inventories reached all-time highs.
- In India, Prime Minister Modi's party was re-elected with a narrower than expected margin but the impact on markets has been relatively limited.
- Primary markets remained active with ample new issuance.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Overweight to India was the top contributor as company results continued to be strong with very limited new issuance. From a sector perspective, our overweight exposure to the India renewable sector and in the metals and mining sector in addition to the overweight in Vedanta bonds, which have outperformed over the period.
 - Overweight to Sri Lanka contributed to performance, as further progress towards restructuring helped the bonds perform well.
 - Security selection within the Indonesia sovereign curve as well as our overweight in Medco Energi contributed to relative returns.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - While bonds rallied recently on news of credit support, the Portfolio had been underweight Pakistan and more recently went tactically overweight on the short-end part of the curve after seeing more positive momentum in reforms and a higher likelihood of an International Monetary Fund package in the near term.
 - Overweight to technology, media, and communications (TMT) marginally detracted year to date. TMT is a more defensive sector which underperformed in a more risk-on market environment over the period.
 - Underweight to Consumer sector which includes Macau gaming names which are excluded due to ESG specific policies.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio has gradually increased exposure to China, Hong Kong, and Pakistan, amongst others.
- Although we have taken some profits in India, we still retain an overall overweight stance with our conviction in Financials, Utilities, and Metals & Mining sectors.
- The Portfolio reduced exposure to Korea, India, and Sri Lanka, amongst others.

We anticipate Asian debt to be supported in an environment of lower global yields and a widening growth differential between emerging markets vs. developed markets in 2024. Fundamentals remain largely intact and we anticipate 2024 to be a year of more stability, aside from a few specific areas of risk which are well-understood by the market. We believe technicals should be very supportive with negative net supply expected in 2024. From a valuations perspective, all-in yields remain attractive in USD terms relative to ratings.

Short Duration Emerging Market Debt – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 3.77%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofA 3-Month US Treasury Bill Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index) returned 2.63%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events were a main driver for financial markets over this reporting period, as market expectations for rate cuts by the Federal Reserve (FED) and European Central Bank (ECB) this year were reduced. Geopolitical developments in the Middle East weighed on sentiment.
- Emerging market (EM) spreads tightened across both sovereign and corporate bonds, with the high yield segment posting the strongest returns.
- Defaulted sovereigns continued to make progress towards restructuring agreements while the market re-opened for frontier markets. New issuance by EM corporates picked up from last year, although net issuance remained negative.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Positions in high yield sovereign issuers such as Argentina, Ukraine, Egypt, Ecuador, Sri Lanka and Ivory Coast.
 - On the corporate side, the main positive contributors included holdings in China, with a small exposure in the property sector posting the strongest gains amid new rounds of policy support, followed by exposures to state-owned companies in Mexico.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - The rise in short-end US Treasury yields over the reporting period was a headwind for performance.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio maintained a balanced allocation to EM Corporates and Sovereigns/quasi-sovereigns, a duration slightly above 2 years.
- We added exposure to Turkish bonds, where our outlook improved amid the return to more orthodox economic policies, and to exposures in Argentina and Brazil.
- We reduced exposure to Serbia, Saudi Arabia, China and Qatar, mainly based on less attractive valuations following a tightening in spreads.

The EM debt asset class should benefit from monetary policy easing cycles ahead and a robust growth pickup versus developed markets. The risk of sovereign defaults in EM is limited this year as vulnerable sovereigns have secured new funding and increased International Monetary Fund (IMF) engagement supports reforms, while corporate defaults are also anticipated to decline meaningfully this year. While valuations have become relatively expensive in parts of the asset class, such as in different investment grade credits, we continue to see opportunities for spread compression across various issuers, particularly in the high yield space. Key risks to this outlook include a potential re-acceleration of global inflation leading to more hawkish central banks and higher rates, or a shift to a more protectionist US stance.

Short Duration High Yield SDG Engagement – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 2.66%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The high yield bond market finished the reporting period with solid returns driven by encouraging financial results for most issuers, strong technicals, solid economic data despite signs of slowing growth and the view that policy rates could be coming down later in the year.
- Overall, high yield issuers' aggregate fundamentals of Earnings Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation (EBITDA) growth, free cash flow, interest coverage and leverage remained in somewhat favourable ranges. While most issuers reported in line or better than expected earnings in the first half of 2024, some lower rated issuers continued to see some idiosyncratic or industry-specific earnings pressure.
- While the default rate has risen off the lows in 2022, we anticipate default rates in 2024 and 2025 to remain in a range that is around the long-term average. This outlook is based on our bottom-up assessment of issuers, and driven by the higher-quality ratings mix in high yield (~50% of issuers with credit ratings of BB), less aggressive new issuance, fewer near-term maturities, as well as an energy sector that is far healthier than in the past few cycles.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
 - From a sector perspective, positioning in Healthcare, Support-Services and Gas Distribution.
 - From a ratings perspective, positioning in B, BB and CCC rated issuers.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
 - From a sector perspective, positioning in Media-Cable, Media-Broadcast and Restaurants.
 - From a ratings perspective, there were no detractors, although Not Rated issuers were neutral to performance over the reporting period.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our short duration high yield strategies, we rotated selectively into higher quality Bs and BBs where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low.
- Positioning in CCCs is where we have a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience to inflationary and labor cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to center the Portfolio primarily around BB and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we view as resilient in the current environment.

We believe short duration high yield valuations are providing more-than-adequate compensation for the around average default outlook, will continue to provide durable income and are attractive compared to other fixed income alternatives. As credit dispersion has risen, our analysts remain keenly focused on the specific fundamentals of individual issuers in their coverage, assessing the base and downside cases in the event of a soft-landing or recession. Despite the potential for short-term volatility resulting from uncertainty on economic growth, we believe our bottom-up, fundamental credit research that focuses on security selection, avoiding credit deterioration, and putting only our "best ideas" into Portfolios, will position us well to take advantage of any volatility.

Strategic Income – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 0.82%. Over the same period the benchmark index, the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned -0.71%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Developed market interest rates moved higher over the period, fueled in part by fiscal concerns, slowing progress on the inflation front and delayed easing by most major central banks.
- Global investment grade (IG) and non-investment grade credit spreads compressed over the period, reflecting solid demand for credit assets.
- Fixed income market performance was mixed over the period, with interest rate-sensitive securities generally underperforming on the back of rising interest rates.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Interest rate positioning.
 - Allocation to high yield, collateralised loan obligation (CLOs), senior floating rate loans, and securitised credit.
 - Security selection in IG corporate credit, agency mortgage-backed securities and securitised credit.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Allocation to local currency emerging market debt.
 - Underweight in IG credit.
 - Overweight in agency mortgage-backed securities.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Over the period, we increased exposure to securitised credit.
- We reduced exposure to high yield and IG corporate credit.
- We gradually increased the Portfolio's duration over the period as interest rates moved higher.

Looking ahead, we anticipate global growth to slow as the impact of higher prices and central bank tightening continues to be felt by consumers and businesses. In credit, while it is fair to say that spreads have been tight and risk fully valued for the corporate market, higher rates for longer have caused stresses for some overstretched issuers and sectors, giving active managers opportunity to add value. Meanwhile, other segments of the credit landscape, such as structured products, may offer more opportunity.

Sustainable Asia High Yield – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 7.76%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JP Morgan ESG Asia Credit (JSEC JACI) – High Yield Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned 9.71%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Over the period, there was a shift in the market's consensus expectations for interest rate cuts. While markets had priced in ~6 cuts in the US at the start of the year, this changed to ~2 cuts being priced by June 2024. Consequently, US Treasury yields experienced volatility which impacted Asian high yield (HY) markets as well.
- In China, the National People's Congress (NPC) kept the growth target unchanged at "around 5%" for 2024. Regarding the property market, the April Politburo Meeting emphasised "digesting inventory" in the property market as national inventories reached all-time highs.
- In India, Prime Minister Modi's party was re-elected with a narrower than expected margin but the impact on markets has been relatively limited.
- Primary markets remained active with ample new issuance.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Our Hong Kong security selection overweights in both Standard Chartered and FWD bonds performed well over the period.
 - Our overweights in India renewable sector as well as Vedanta contributed to relative returns.
 - Overweight to Sri Lanka contributed to performance, as further progress towards restructuring helped the bonds perform well.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Allocation and selection in China, primarily within the Real Estate sector detracted from relative returns.
 - Our defensive investment grade exposure in Sands Macau underperformed relative to the Macau HY sector.
 - Overweight to technology, media, and telecommunications, which underperformed amidst a broader risk-on market.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Over the reporting period, the Portfolio gradually increased exposure to China, Hong Kong, and India, amongst others.
- In China, we have covered our underweight in China Real Estate in the second quarter, given the positive signals from the April Politburo Meeting.
- The Portfolio reduced exposure to Korea, Sri Lanka, and Philippines, amongst others.

We anticipate Asian debt to be supported in an environment of lower global yields and a widening growth differential between emerging markets vs. developed markets in 2024. In our view, fundamentals remain largely intact and we anticipate 2024 to be a year of more stability, aside from a few specific areas of risk which are well-understood by the market. We believe technicals should be very supportive with negative net supply expected in 2024. From a valuations perspective, all-in yields remain attractive in USD terms relative to ratings.

Sustainable Emerging Market Corporate Debt – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 3.79%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JPMorgan JESG CEMBI Broad Diversified Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned 3.89%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events were the main driver. Geopolitical developments in the Middle East weighed on sentiment, while elections in emerging markets (EM) countries created some volatility.
- Treasury 5-year yields ended the period at 4.38%, up from 3.85% as the market reduced rate cut expectations.
- EM corporate benchmark spreads tightened, moving to 259 basis points (bps) from 299bps. Moldova was the best performer with 29.78% return. The worst performer was Tanzania with -16.84%.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Key performance came from security selection in Chile, India, and overweight to Argentina.
 - By sector, security selection in TMT and Industrials contributed to performance.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - By country, the main detractors were security selection in Singapore, Colombia, and China.
 - By sector, positioning in Real Estate, Oil & Gas and Consumer names detracted.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We increased the overweight in commodities sectors on the back of strong prices in Oil & Gas and Copper. We moved further underweight in Financials and Utilities.
- By country, key changes included adding exposure to Argentina, Brazil, and Turkey while also reducing our underweights to South Africa and Colombia. We moved an underweight position in Thailand and Qatar. In China we further trimmed exposure moving from an overweight to neutral position.

The EM debt asset class should benefit from lower global yields, but it faces increased near-term risks due to US rates uncertainty and geopolitical issues. While valuations have become relatively expensive in parts of the asset class, such as in different investment grade credits, we continue to see opportunities for spread compression across various issuers, particularly in the high yield space. Overall carry levels remain relatively elevated versus history, providing a buffer in case of renewed widening of spread and rates. Deeply negative net issuance should also remain a positive technical for EM corporates. The key risk to our constructive view relates to the upcoming US elections, and the potential for a return to more protectionist policies in the event of a change of government, alongside higher rates and a stronger US dollar.

Sustainable Emerging Market Debt - Hard Currency – Investment Manager's Report

For the six months ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 3.21%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the JPMorgan ESG EMBI Global Diversified (Total Return, USD) (the Index), returned 2.54%. (Performance data quoted represents past performance and does not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation and monetary policy events were the main driver. Geopolitical developments in the Middle East weighed on sentiment. Defaulted names continued to make progress towards a restructuring agreement while the market re-opened for frontier markets.
- Treasury 10-year yields ended the period at 4.40%, up from 3.88% as the market reduced rate cut expectations.
- Emerging markets ESG benchmark spreads dropped to 297 basis points (bps) from 339bps. Ecuador was the best performer in the broad market index with 45.7% return as the government made progress in tackling the security crisis. The worst performer was Jamaica with -1.57%.

How the Portfolio performed independently and against its benchmark (if any). What affected its performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Country allocation overall, with overweights to high yield or defaulted credits such as Argentina, Sri Lanka, and Ghana
 - Security selection was a net contributor, with euro-denominated exposures adding
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Absence from higher yielding Egypt and Ecuador (due to ESG policies), and overweight to Colombia.
 - Top-down positioning was a small net detractor

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio maintained a high yield bias over investment grade credits. Recent trading activity has been focused on reducing risk, following strong asset class performance. We sold out from Uzbekistan due to higher twin deficits and funding needs, and trimmed positions in Argentina, Sri Lanka, Serbia, and Ukraine. We also reduced exposures in Mexico and The Philippines.
- We added to exposures in Colombia, Dominican Republic, and Ivory Coast, where we see a positive reform outlook and resilience to global shocks.
- Allocation to EUR-denominated bonds and corporate bonds was 33.3% and 6.5% respectively at the end of the reporting period.

The emerging markets debt asset class should benefit from lower global yields, but faces increased near-term risks due to US rates uncertainty and geopolitical issues. The risk of sovereign defaults in emerging markets is limited this year as vulnerable sovereigns have secured new funding, and increased IMF engagement supports reforms. Valuations are expensive for investment grade and BB-rated components, in our view, while B- and lower-rated segments still offer value, with scope for spread compression in specific issuers and off-benchmark bonds, particularly in the BB-rated segment. Key risks to this outlook include a potential re-acceleration of global inflation leading to more hawkish central banks and higher rates, or a shift to a more protectionist U.S. stance.

Tactical Macro – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 1.86%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market, and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Global stocks delivered strong performance, as investors navigated a complex economic landscape characterised by shifting central bank posture and mixed economic indicators.
- US economic growth slowed in the first quarter while activity in the Eurozone and the UK showed signs of recovery, alongside a stronger-than-expected economic expansion in China.
- Inflation continued to moderate during the second quarter after a series of hotter-than-expected prints earlier in the year. Major central banks began taking diverging paths with the European Central Bank initiating interest rate cuts, while the Federal Reserve and Bank of England remained on hold and the Bank of Japan increased rates as the economy moved out of a persistent period of deflation.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
 - The largest contributors to the total Portfolio return excluding cash during the period were Long US 2-Year Short Bund and Long Copper.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
 - The largest detractors from total Portfolio return during the period were long US 5 Year Treasury and Long SONIA.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio maintained a dynamic and adaptive positioning strategy, reflecting shifts in macroeconomic conditions and market sentiment.
- The Portfolio consistently emphasised a positive outlook on Japanese equities, holding a structural long in TOPIX, and maintained significant exposure to commodities, particularly copper, to capitalise on cyclical growth outside the US. Key positions included long US two-year futures relative to German bunds and various tactical trades in Nasdaq, Russell 2000, and FTSE indices.
- The Portfolio also navigated currency markets with positions in USD/CNH and long Euro option structures.
- Throughout this period, the strategy was marked by a focus on non-US growth, a recalibration of rate expectations, and a cautious stance on US rate-sensitive equities. The Portfolio frequently adjusted its risk levels, reducing exposure during periods of increased volatility and reassessing positions to align with evolving macro themes, such as potential stagflation and divergences in global growth and inflation trajectories.

Going forward, the general outlook is cautious yet adaptive, with a focus on navigating a volatile macro environment. The strategy anticipates continued sensitivity to inflation and growth data, expecting choppy market conditions for the remainder of the year. The Portfolio remains positioned for potential stagflation and divergences in global growth, maintaining a bias towards non-US equities and commodities while being vigilant about adjusting risk levels in response to evolving economic indicators and central bank policies.

Ultra Short Term Euro Bond – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the EUR I Accumulating Class was 3.15%. Over the same period, the Bloomberg Euro Aggregate 1-3 Year (Total Return, EUR) (the Index) returned 0.71%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Fixed Income markets had mixed returns in the first half of 2024, as rate markets repriced following their rally at the end of 2023 as a "higher for longer" narrative across key central banks grew and economic data remained resilient, keeping spreads tight.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Credit, sector selection, and selection of individual issuers – Security selection was the leading driver in our outperformance, adding 159 basis points (bps) against the benchmark. We saw a diversified contribution across sectors, with issuers across Financials, Corporates and Government/Government-Related sectors all performing well, however the lead driver from a security selection (and total return contribution) perspective came from our Real Estate names, particularly Aroundtown, SBB and Heimstaden Bostad, who continue to perform well in what is a sector-wide recovery YTD.
 - Dynamic Duration Management – our duration positioning contributed positively to returns by 33bps, as our short position helped notably in the first quarter as rates sold off in response to positive data and hawkish central bank rhetoric.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - There were no major detractors in relative returns, with positive contribution across credit, rates, and curve risk factors.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In response to the rates sell-off, we have incrementally added back some duration over the first half of the year. We remain of the belief that European Central Bank rate cuts are slightly underpriced and anticipate some correction in the second half of the year.
- We continue to add opportunistically to credit markets where valuations are attractive, taking advantage of the primary market and strong relationship with dealers to receive favourable allocations.

The Portfolio performed very favourably against both peers and the benchmark, ranking in the top 1% of performers YTD within the Morningstar peer group (EAA Fund EUR Diversified Bond – Short Term). Active management across our Core and Tactical buckets remains a key focus for the Portfolio, as we have continued to find opportunities across our universe to add value to performance from both a total return and risk management perspective. Overall, we believe a combination of elevated yields and strong fundamentals provide an attractive entry point for investors into the Euro market, with active management providing the platform for weathering periods of volatility.

Uncorrelated Strategies – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was -2.84%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index) returned 2.69%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of the year has again been a risk on period, in spite of noise around projections for interest rate cuts, US and European elections, and conflict in the Middle East. Despite narrowing leadership of equity markets both in the US and Europe, equity indices have performed extremely strongly, as continued AI enthusiasm has powered stocks higher. Bond markets have been more rangebound as market participants have discounted varying degrees of interest rate cuts subject to inflation data releases.
- The MSCI World Index finished the reporting period up +11.75%, while the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index was down -3.16%. The US dollar (as proxied by the DXY Index) was stronger in the year to date, up +4.4%, as the six interest rate cuts that were priced in at the start of the year have been reduced to 1-2.
- As has been the case for some time now, volatility remained low across asset classes, particularly in the US equity space, with the volatility index (VIX) dropping even further to 12.4 in June and remaining around the lowest levels witnessed since pre-pandemic.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
 - Equity Market Neutral (+0.83%), Trend Following (+0.63%), Insurance-Linked Securities (+0.45%)
- Detractors from absolute returns:
 - Volatility Relative Value (-2.03%), Statistical Arbitrage (-1.17%), Short Term Trading (-0.91%), Global Macro (-0.63%)

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The risk within the G10/Manteio allocation was scaled back up in January and diversifying strategies have been added to the account.
- The smaller allocation within Statistical Arbitrage relating to Cipher (around 4.6% of Portfolio risk) was closed in May due to a re-orientation of Cipher's overall business model.
- Within discretionary macro, exposure was added to DG Partners towards the end of the first quarter, complementing the existing systematic strategy run by DG Partners (BH-DG) within the Trend Following sleeve. Offsetting this, risk in the Soloda account was reduced in March.

The Portfolio has historically performed best when investors most needed diversification (for example: Dec 2018, Feb/March 2020 and June 2022). During the 18 months of recent under-performance, the MSCI World Index has appreciated by 37% and equity volatility, as measured by the VIX, has almost halved. The environment for the Portfolio's strategies recently, and to some extent since inception of the Portfolio in 2017, has been sub-optimal in that it has been characterised by below average volatility and above average equity performance (MSCI World Total Return +110.5%), except for some short, sharp bouts where the Portfolio has generally made money but seen the "Fed put" quickly rescue markets. The team would be surprised if the next few years see a continuation of that pattern, with the re-emergence of inflation demanding an exit from a period of unprecedented liquidity provision of the accumulation of unsustainable levels of debt on sovereign balance sheets and deficits in sovereign accounts. As ever, the team believes that holding diversifiers in any Portfolio makes sense and never more so than after a period of exceptional returns for risk assets.

US Equity – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 14.09%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the S&P 500 Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index) returned 15.05%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- US economic growth remained resilient, despite high interest rates. Investors remained focus on inflation data and the potential for rates to remain "higher for longer" continued to be a headwind for debt laden small-cap companies. Large-cap companies outperformed, aided by strong results from technology stocks—especially those with ties to AI.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Stock selection in the Consumer Discretionary, Communication Services and Utilities sectors contributed the most to relative results.
 - Sector allocation, overall, contributed to performance. In particular, overweight allocations to Information Technology and Communication Services, along with an underweight to Real Estate, were the most additive for relative returns.
 - Individual stocks that contributed to performance included Nvidia Corp., Amazon.com, Inc., Microsoft Corp., Meta Platforms, Inc.-Class A and Alphabet, Inc.-Class A.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Stock selection, overall, detracted from relative performance. Holdings in the Information Technology, Financials and Industrials sectors detracted the most from relative returns.
 - In terms of sector allocation, an overweight to Consumer Discretionary was the only meaningful detractor from relative results.
 - Individual stocks that were negative for the Portfolio's performance included Workday, Inc.-Class A, Nike, Inc.-Class B, Adobe, Inc., Dollar Tree, Inc. and McDonald's Corp.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We made a number of adjustments on margin throughout the reporting period. At the end of the reporting period our largest overweight allocations relative to the benchmark were Information Technology and Communication Services. In contrast, the largest sector underweights were Industrials and Energy.

While the economy is decelerating, it has been more resilient than many expected. At the same time, progress has been made by the Federal Reserve (Fed) to tame inflation. Yet, declines in existing home sales, weak manufacturing, and signs of a softening job market indicate that the Fed's tightening cycle is impacting the broader economy. Until we have more clarity on the path of the economy versus inflation and how that translates into rate cuts, we anticipate continued market volatility. Furthermore, geopolitical tensions remain ever-present, while political uncertainty may escalate with the presidential campaign in the US. We believe the divergence in underlying companies' operating performance will be ever more apparent going forward. We continue our efforts to best understand company and portfolio-specific factors, as we believe this environment is flush with a confluence of fiscal policy considerations, monetary policy stimulus, geopolitical uncertainty, commodity price volatility and inflation. As market dynamics change, this can cause company market values to dislocate from their long-term potential values, creating a volatile environment with potential opportunities.

US Equity Index PutWrite – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 7.46%. Over the same period, the blended benchmark comprised of 50% Cboe S&P One-Week PutWrite Index and 50% Cboe S&P 500 PutWrite Index (collectively, the Index) returned 7.87%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- In the second quarter of 2024, equity markets sustained positive returns, bolstered by economic resilience in the US and Europe, moderating inflation, and central bank policies, despite sector-specific challenges and political events. Year-to-date the S&P 500 Index returned 15.05%.
- Despite expectations of Federal Reserve (Fed) rate cuts, fixed income markets saw minimal returns year-to-date, with the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index down -0.71% and the Bloomberg US Corporate High-Yield 2% Issuer Capped Index up 2.58%. Short-term rates stayed steady while 10-year US Treasuries rose by 52 basis points.
- The Cboe S&P 500 Volatility Index (VIX) averaged 13.8 year-to-date, remaining essentially unchanged from the previous year-end. Positive implied volatility premiums persisted, with US markets recording an average implied volatility premium of 2.8.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Year-to-date, the S&P 500 options sleeve has added an impressive 6.42%, and the collateral Portfolio has contributed 1.44%.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - There were no detractors from relative returns during the reporting period.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio's average option notional exposure over the period remained consistent with strategic target of 100% S&P 500 Index.

Future market volatility is poised to be shaped by a confluence of central bank maneuvers, economic signals, and geopolitical undercurrents. The Fed's anticipated rate cuts have been deferred until at least September, hinging on inflation and employment data. Meanwhile, central banks like the European Central Bank, Bank of Canada, and Swiss National Bank have already embarked on easing cycles, setting the stage for potential market volatility. Persistent core inflation in developed markets and stable US unemployment around 4% as of June may further delay rate cuts and contribute to market turbulence.

Geopolitical risks, particularly the looming US elections, are expected to inject additional volatility into the markets, a sentiment already reflected in VIX index futures markets. The November elections will be pivotal, determining the fate of significant fiscal policies, including the $3.5 trillion personal income tax cuts set to expire in 2025. Beyond the US, political uncertainty in Europe, evidenced by the snap election in France, is sure to send ripples through the developed markets.

US Large Cap Value – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 5.99%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the Russell 1000 Value Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index) returned 6.28%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The overall equity market rallied sharply during the reporting period. However, the market's ascent was largely driven by a small handful of technology/growth stocks. As a result, large-cap growth stocks significantly outperformed large-cap value stocks.
- Economic growth in the US moderated but remained resilient. Inflation eased lower but continued to exceed the Federal Reserve's (Fed) 2% target and the central bank scaled back its expectations for rate cuts in 2024.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Stock selection, overall, contributed to relative performance. Holdings in Materials, IT and Consumer Staples were the largest contributors to returns.
 - Individual stocks that contributed the most to relative performance included not owning shares of Intel Corp. and overweight positions in Walmart, Inc. and Qualcomm, Inc.
 - From a sector positioning perspective, underweights to Real Estate and Consumer Discretionary were the largest contributors to relative performance.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Sector allocation, overall, detracted from relative performance. In particular, overweights to Health Care and Materials were the largest detractors.
 - Holdings in the Utilities, Consumer Discretionary and Industrials were the largest detractors.
 - Individual stocks that detracted the most from relative performance included Rio Tinto Plc., an overweight position in Mondelez International, Inc. and not owning shares of GE Aerospace.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- While the Portfolio's sector positioning is driven by bottom-up stock selection, at the end of the reporting period its largest overweight allocations versus the Index were Utilities and Materials.
- In contrast, the Portfolio's largest sector underweights relative to the Index were Industrials and IT.

Looking ahead, the economic outlook remains uncertain and mixed. While the rebound in equity markets and themes like AI have buoyed sentiment, broader challenges, such as a cooling labour market and declining consumer confidence are potential headwinds. While affluent households may have benefited from the market's rally, many US households possess significantly less exposure to the market and are experiencing increased financial stress. The key question for the economy is how much longer higher earners can offset the intensifying stresses faced by middle- and lower-income households. The leading economic indicators as well as bottom-up company research is still pointing towards a more conservative outlook as the year progresses. As we move forward, closely monitoring these indicators will be essential to understanding the trajectory of economic growth and stability.

(Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

Large-cap companies outperformed, aided by strong results from technology stocks—especially those with ties to AI.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

 - Equity long positions that contributed to performance included positions in the Materials and Consumer Discretionary sectors.
 - Individual equity long positions that contributed to performance included Nvidia, Meta Platforms and Amazon.com. Equity short positions that contributed to performance included Opendoor Technologies, Shutterstock and Tesla.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Equity longs generated a positive contribution to the Portfolio's returns but underperformed the broader market. Long positions in the Information Technology, Real Estate and Consumer Staples sectors detracted from returns.
 - In terms of equity shorts, detractors included positions in the Industrials and Communication Services sectors.
 - Individual equity long positions that detracted from performance included Dollar Tree, Paycor HCM and McDonald's. Equity short positions that detracted from performance included Palantir Technologies, CAVA Group and Trade Desk.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We made a number of adjustments on margin throughout the reporting period.

While the economy is decelerating, it has been more resilient than many expected. At the same time, progress has been made by the Federal Reserve (Fed) to tame inflation. We continue our efforts to best understand company and portfolio-specific factors, as we believe this environment is flush with a confluence of fiscal policy considerations, monetary policy stimulus, geopolitical uncertainty, commodity price volatility and inflation. As market dynamics change, this can cause company market values to dislocate from their long-term potential values, creating a volatile environment with potential opportunities, both long and short.

US Multi Cap Opportunities – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was 10.82%. Over the same period, the S&P 500 Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) ("the Index") returned 15.05%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- US equities generated strong returns.
- US equities continued to be supported by economic and corporate earnings growth.
- Equity markets were driven by select Large Cap Growth and technology-oriented stocks. To highlight the concentrated nature of the year-to-date return composition, the return difference between the S&P 500 Index and the Equal-Weight S&P 500 Index is over 1,000 basis points.
- The Portfolio remains well-positioned to benefit from an improvement in market breadth.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- The Portfolio generated strong performance on an absolute basis, driven by broad-based positive performance across sectors. While the Portfolio is underweight the Information Technology sector, the Portfolio is benefitted from secular growth drivers related to artificial intelligence (AI) trends. This includes companies such as Alphabet, Amazon, Microsoft, Oracle, and Qualcomm, amongst others.
- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Strong stock selection within the Consumer Discretionary, Financials, and Materials sectors positively benefitted relative performance. The Portfolio also benefitted from an underweight to Health Care and by having zero exposure to the Real Estate sector.
 - Many of the top contributors to the Portfolio's relative performance are companies that are either not held or have low weights in the Index. Examples include Aramark, Apollo Global Management, BJ's Wholesale, Motorola Solutions, and Westinghouse Air Brake Technologies.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - The Portfolio's relative performance was primarily impacted by the outperformance of select Large-Cap Growth and technology-oriented companies that are not held in the Portfolio.
 - Stock selection within the Industrials sector also detracted from relative performance.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- At the end of the period, the Portfolio was fully invested with approximately 1.0% transactional cash.
- The Portfolio finished the period with an overweight in Financials, Industrials, and Materials. The Portfolio completed the period with an underweight in Health Care and Information Technology and had no exposure to Real Estate.

The core of our investment process is an unwavering focus on a company's generation of free cash flow and its use by management. We believe free cash flow is a cleaner measure of value creation than income statement earnings, which may be obfuscated by various accounting methods. Our analysis considers the stability and sources of free cash flow generation, as well as the potential uses of this capital. This investment focus enables us to look across sectors, market capitalisations, and risk profiles to find opportunities.

We believe the combination of continued economic and earnings growth is creating an attractive environment for US equities. Both real GDP and corporate earnings are expected to grow in 2024. Developments related to monetary policy, consumer strength, and AI, are likely to influence equity markets in the near-term. While Index returns were concentrated in the second quarter, a potential improvement in market breadth may create opportunity for our active, bottom-up investment strategy. We believe our flexible and disciplined approach is poised to capitalise on idiosyncratic investment opportunities. A market in which price movements are driven by company fundamentals is favourable for our Portfolio. As we evaluate both potential new positions and current portfolio holdings, we will continue to do so with a long-term investment perspective in mind. As always, our focus is to grow our clients' assets through the disciplined application of our investment philosophy and process.

US Real Estate Securities – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return of the USD I Accumulating Class was -3.95%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the FTSE NAREIT All Equity REITs Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index), returned -2.78%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance, and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Strong consumer trends, stable labour market and corporate earnings exceeding expectations drove the rally in the first quarter. Higher than expected inflation readings in April sent stocks and bonds lower at the start of the second quarter, only to pick back up in May as the outlook for inflation started to look more favourable.
- Investor sentiment turned negative toward the end of the reporting period as investors questioned timing and scale of interest rate cuts and if the economy can grow at a moderate pace without dipping into recessionary territory.
- All told, the large-cap S&P 500 Index returned 15.05% during the reporting period. In contrast, the FTSE NAREIT All Equity REITs Index returned -2.78%. Real estate securities were negatively impacted by rising interest rates.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Security selection within Health Care
 - Security selection within Apartments
 - Underweight to Industrial and overweight to Apartments
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Security selection within Office
 - Security selection within Shopping Centers
 - Overweight to Telecommunication REITs and an underweight to Data Centers

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- While the Portfolio's sector positioning is mainly driven by bottom-up stock selection, at the end of the reporting period its largest overweight allocations versus the benchmark were to Manufactured Homes and Self-Storage. In contrast, the Portfolio's largest sector underweights relative to the benchmark were to the Industrial and Lodging/Resorts sectors.

The 10 Year Treasury rose 82 basis points (bps) through late April to hit 4.7 largely on stronger economic data year to date, subsequently dropping 31bps by end of the second quarter on better inflation readings. Expectations remain that high inflation is connected with lagged increases related to housing, healthcare, and insurance vs. 'reheating' inflation. While it's hard to determine the timing and scale of rate cuts, we remain cautious as higher rates continue to weigh on a weakening consumer, who is seeing reduced savings and slower job growth, slower economic growth, pockets of elevated supply in certain sectors, and increased capital costs and expenses weighing on margins. We anticipate continued volatility driven by the macro-economic environment, rate environment, geopolitical risks, and the upcoming US presidential election. While lower rates are an absolute positive for REITs, we believe that the lack of interest rate stability is currently a greater hindrance on deal activity. This should benefit transaction markets and provide opportunities for well capitalised REITs, given liquidity and leverage levels. We remain focused on REITs with low leverage, diverse demand drivers, better fundamentals and visibility into earnings profiles. Experienced REITs with good performance and robust balance sheets should be able to cement their market leadership positions.

US Small Cap – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 2.82%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the Russell 2000 Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index) returned 1.53%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- US economic growth remained resilient during the period, despite high interest rates. Investors remained focus on inflation data and the potential for rates to remain "higher for longer" continued to be a headwind for debt laden small-cap companies. Large-cap companies outperformed, aided by strong results from technology stocks—especially those with ties to AI.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
 - Stock selection in the Industrials and Energy sectors. Within Industrials, our Professional Services names added the most value. Within Energy, many of our names outperformed.
 - An overweight to Technology and lack of Real Estate Investment Trust names was rewarded.
 - Individual stocks that contributed to absolute performance included Kirby Corp., Fair Isaac Corp. and Texas Roadhouse, Inc.
- Detractors from relative returns:
 - Stock selection in the Technology and Health Care sectors. Within Technology, our names in the Semiconductor & Semiconductor Equipment industry were headwinds for returns. Our lack of exposure to AI-related Super Micro Computer hurt relative performance. The company had an unusually large position in the Index (1.6%) at the end of June and was up over 180% in the first six months of the year. Super Micro was removed from the Index during its yearly reconstitution at the end of June. Within Health Care, the Portfolio's pharmaceutical supply names underperformed.
 - The Portfolio's lack of exposure to the Biotechnology industry within the Health Care sector was a modest drag on relative performance.
 - Individual stocks that were negative for the Portfolio's absolute performance included Qualys, Inc., Pool Corp. and Lattice Semiconductor Corp.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- At the end of the reporting period our largest sector overweights were Industrials and IT and the largest underweights relative to the benchmark were Health Care and Financials.

The Federal Reserve (Fed) has been focused on restoring price stability with the goal of suppressing demand to bring inflation under control. Despite high rates, overall economic activity has remained fairly stable, although some indicators suggest a moderation of economic momentum. Equity markets have remained highly sensitive to Fed commentary, inflation-related data points, and other economic indicators. While higher interest rates have made financing more challenging, there has been optimism for potential rate cuts later in the year, which has contributed to some easing in financial conditions and encouraged more risk-taking. We remain confident that our high-quality Portfolio of businesses with attractive financial characteristics, differentiated and durable business models, and sustainable earnings growth is well positioned to weather these uncertain times and deliver above-average risk-adjusted returns.

US Small Cap Intrinsic Value – Investment Manager's Report

For the six-month reporting period ended 30 June 2024, the total return for the USD I Accumulating Class was 1.88%. Over the same period, the benchmark index, the Russell 2000 Value Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD) (the Index) returned -1.16%. (Performance data quoted represent past performance and do not indicate future results. Total returns shown are net of all fees and expenses and include the reinvestment of income dividends and other distributions, if any).

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- We believe the market advance is narrowing. For many companies and most indices, we have robust historical performance data through periods of economic growth, contraction, financial shocks and various interest rate regimes. We also have detailed stock specific data sets on company earnings during these cycles. Many believe they can compile a reasonably accurate set of indicators when a company or its asset class should be bought or sold. Fundamental knowledge of a company's products and its management remains critically important over the very long term, but short-term performance is increasingly driven by where investors believe we are headed in the interest rate and economic cycle.
- The direction of these two cycles is debatable and as a result most stock indexes are trading in a narrow range. Amid the uncertainty of where rates and the economy are headed, the one widely held belief is that the dawn of AI driven disruption is here, and a handful of large cap companies seem uniquely positioned to profit enormously from new innovative products. In our view, these stocks are hard to price simply because we just don't have enough data.
- Without sufficient financial history, bullish analysts and momentum investors can and will extrapolate potential earnings growth from extremely small data sets (one year of NVIDIA sales and earnings growth). One data point seems relevant. Compare Cisco in the dot-com bubble era with NVIDIA today. There are many common threads. Back in 2000 investors and analysts believed that the internet was going to revolutionise business, create untold new opportunities and reshape our personal lives. They were right and Cisco, the leading provider of IP products, played a significant role and continues to contribute significantly to its evolution. Today the same argument for disruption and opportunity is being made for AI and its leading building block company – NVIDIA. AI adherents believe the technology will redefine business processes and create hosts of new products and services. Is Cisco a harbinger for what lies ahead for NVIDIA investors? The meteoric growth in sales, profitability and market value looks eerily similar. Is one data point enough for a reliable correlation? With most companies and small cap stocks, years of data together with correlations to the interest rate and economic cycle are setting the valuation parameters. With NVIDIA it's largely based on one year of performance that earnings and profits will continue robust growth.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to total returns:
 - AI will surely impact many businesses positively and perhaps some adversely. Several portfolio companies are already benefiting from the robust level of capital spending made by cloud providers as they invest in AI servers, several citing growing demand for their products.
 - More significantly electric power prices are up as data centers will require more baseload power, benefiting some portfolio holdings in Utilities.
- Detractors from total returns:
 - Uncertainty about financing and future strategic direction have hurt several portfolio companies in various sectors.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We eliminated lower conviction positions and trimmed some of our winners. Proceeds were redeployed into the Utilities sector as well as other attractively valued existing names.
- We remain hesitant to buy regional banks and are conservative with our introduction of new ideas.

Headed into this year's election, our analysis suggests the Portfolio is evenly exposed to the policy priorities of both parties and not tilted to any one agenda. Inflation and its impact on rates is perhaps the relevant issue and both Democrats and Republicans show little willingness to tackle entitlements. In our opinion spending at 24% of GDP is historically high and narrowing the gap with revenues will require significant anti-growth tax policies. With no one willing to address the issue one wonders if credit markets force them. Should we experience a rate tantrum, the outlook for equities over the short term is not promising.

NOTES TO THE UNAUDITED ABRIDGED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 2024

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies adopted by Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc (the "Company") are as follows:

Basis of Preparation of Financial Statements

The financial statements presented are unaudited abridged financial statements for the six month period ended 30 June 2024. They have been prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard ("FRS") 104: 'Interim Financial Reporting' issued by the Financial Reporting Council ("FRC"). The unaudited abridged financial statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2023 which were prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland, Irish Statute comprising the Companies Act 2014 (as amended), the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 as amended and the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2019 (the "Central Bank UCITS Regulations"). They have been prepared in accordance with FRS 102: 'The financial reporting standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland'. Accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland in preparing financial statements giving a true and fair view are those published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and issued by the FRC.

The financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of the financial assets and financial liabilities held at fair value through profit and loss. Valuation time is market close on the relevant dealing day. The dealing day is each business day or such other day as the Directors may determine and notify to the administrator and to the shareholders in advance. The Directors have made an assessment of the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and are satisfied that the Company has the resources to continue in business for the foreseeable future and at least 12 months from the date these financial statements were approved. Furthermore, the Directors are not aware of any material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt upon the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Therefore, the financial statements are prepared on the going concern basis.

The format and certain wordings of the financial statements have been adapted from those contained in the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) and FRS 102 so that, in the opinion of the Directors, they more appropriately reflect the nature of the Company's business as an investment fund. The Company meets the criteria to avail of the exemption available to certain open-ended investment funds under FRS 102 not to prepare a cash flow statement.

Distribution Policy

The Directors have determined to accumulate all net investment income and net realised capital gains attributable to the Accumulating Classes and therefore do not intend to declare dividends in respect of shares in such classes.

Source of Distributions

Pursuant to the Articles, the Directors may declare dividends, in respect of any shares out of net income (including dividend and interest income) and/or the excess of realised and unrealised capital gains over realised and unrealised losses in respect of investments of the Company (collectively "Net Income") and also out of capital. Dividends paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of a shareholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such dividends may result in an immediate decrease in the NAV of the relevant shares.

It is the current intention of the Directors, subject to any de minimis threshold, to declare and pay as a dividend at least 85% of the Net Income attributable to each of the Distributing Classes, other than (i) the (Weekly) Distributing Classes; (ii) the (Monthly) Distributing Classes; (iii) the (CG) Distributing Classes and (iv) such other Distributing Classes in a Portfolio which are specified in the relevant Supplement to pay dividends out of capital and Net Income. However, shareholders should note that the Directors may, in their discretion, decide not to make such declaration and payment in respect of a Distributing Class.

In respect of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes and the (CG) Distributing Classes, the Directors intend to declare and pay a weekly, monthly or semi-annual dividend, respectively, attributable to the shares of each such class out of a combination of Net Income and capital, so that where Net Income during the relevant period is less than the amount declared, the balance will be paid of the capital represented by the relevant shares, which will enable the classes to distribute regular, set dividends. In the event that the Net Income attributable to the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes or the (CG) Distributing Classes exceeds the amount declared during the relevant period, the excess of Net Income over this amount will be retained in a distribution account in respect of the relevant shares and will form part of the dividend payable in respect of the succeeding distribution period. While the foregoing represents the Directors' current intention in respect of the declaration and payment of dividends in respect of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes and the (CG) Distributing Classes, the Directors may in their discretion decide not to make such declaration and payment and there is no guarantee that any such dividends will be paid.

The Directors are empowered to issue up to 500,000,000,000 shares of no par value in the Company on such terms as they think fit.

The Company is an investment company with variable capital due to its ability to issue and redeem shares on demand. The share capital of the Company is divided into different series of shares with each series of shares representing a separate investment portfolio of assets. The Portfolios manage capital in accordance with the UCITS Regulations and the investment objectives and policies applicable to such Portfolio as specified in this Prospectus and the relevant Supplement. The Portfolios are not subject to externally imposed capital requirements. While the Portfolios invest in transferable securities and other liquid financial assets, the Manager also employs an appropriate liquidity risk oversight process, which takes into account efficient portfolio management transactions employed by the Portfolios, in order that each Portfolio is able to comply with its stated redemption terms and conditions.

In order to mitigate potential liquidity risks, the Manager tailors its controls to different investment strategies, liquidity terms and historic client behaviour. As part of its risk oversight, the Manager may employ various liquidity tests, the results of which may lead to a variety of possible solutions, including adjusting asset composition, drawing on applicable overdraft or credit facilities or taking other appropriate actions that would maintain an acceptable level of liquidity. Any Portfolio specific arrangements will be reviewed by the Manager’s risk function, portfolio managers of the relevant Portfolio, Chief Investment Officer of the Manager as well as the board of directors of the Manager and the Directors. The Manager’s risk team stress-tests each Portfolio on a regular basis in the context of portfolio composition and current/potential market conditions. Stress scenarios are run at different hypothetical redemption levels and the ability of the Portfolios to meet redemption requests in an orderly fashion at these levels are evaluated. Should analysis reveal that any of the Portfolios have low liquidity coverage ratios, conversation and steps are taken by the Manager’s risk team and the portfolio team to evaluate these risks and the best way to mitigate them. In addition, daily liquidity buffer reports are monitored to gauge the liquidity risk of each Portfolio. Furthermore, market liquidity factors are monitored in order to capture potential anomalies in market liquidity.

There were 2 Subscriber Shares in issue at 30 June 2024 and 31 December 2023. The Subscriber Shares entitle the holders to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company but do not entitle the holders to participate in the profits or assets of the Company except for a return of capital on a winding-up. Where applicable, a discount may be applied to the above fees.

The Manager may waive all or part of its fees in order to cap the Portfolios' Total Expense Ratios ("TERs"). These fee waivers are voluntary and may be discontinued by the Manager at any time without prior notice. Fees voluntarily waived are not subject to recovery by the Manager. A breakdown of the Portfolios' TERs is provided in Appendix I.

In respect of each Class of Uncorrelated Strategies, the Sub-Investment Manager will be entitled to receive a fee (the "Supplementary Adviser Fee") of up to 0.75% of the Net Asset Value of the Portfolio in respect of the services provided to the Portfolio by the Advisers. The Supplementary Adviser Fee shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of the calendar month.

The Company will pay Administration Fees which shall not exceed 0.20% per annum of the NAV of the relevant Portfolio. The Administration Fee shall comprise of a fee payable to the Administrator in respect of the administration services which it provides for each Portfolio and a fee payable to the Manager in respect of the administrative support services which it provides for each Portfolio and will accrue monthly and be payable monthly in arrears.

The Company pays/paid administration fees to the Administrator based on the value of month-end net assets of Uncorrelated Strategies and Uncorrelated Trading at the following rates:

Assets from US$ 0 - US$ 500 million	0.055%
Between US$ 500 - US$ 2,000 million	0.05%
Above US$ 2,000 million	0.04%

Effective 1 January 2024, the Company pays administration fees to the Administrator based on the value of month-end net assets of each of the remaining Portfolios administered by the Administrator at the following rates:

Assets from US$ 0 - US$ 25,000 million	0.0055%
Above US$ 25,000 million	0.0025%

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 20245. MANAGEMENT, ADMINISTRATION, DISTRIBUTION AND DEPOSITARY FEES (CONTINUED)

The above fees are subject to a minimum monthly fee of US$ 1,900 per Portfolio and inclusive of five share classes per Portfolio. Any Portfolio which has in excess of five share classes will be charged a monthly fee of US$ 100 per each additional share class.

For the year ended 31 December 2023, the Company paid administration fees to the Administrator based on the value of month-end net assets of each of the Portfolios administered by the Administrator at the following rates:

Assets from US$ 0 - US$ 25,000 million	0.008%
Above US$ 25,000 million	0.005%

The above fees were subject to a minimum monthly fee of US$ 4,000 per Portfolio and inclusive of four share classes per Portfolio. Any Portfolio which had in excess of four share classes was charged a monthly fee of US$ 150 per each additional share class.

In addition, the Administrator is entitled to a further fee in respect of transfer agency services provided to the Portfolios.

In respect of the B Shares, C Shares, E Shares, C1 Shares and C2 Shares in each Portfolio, the Manager and/or the relevant Distributor shall be entitled to a distribution fee at the annual rate of 1.00% of the NAV of the relevant Classes in respect of the distribution services provided to such Classes, which shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears at the end of each calendar month. In respect of the M Shares in each Portfolio, the Manager and/or the relevant Distributor shall be entitled to a distribution fee at an annual rate expressed as a percentage of the NAV of the relevant Classes in respect of the distribution services provided to such Classes, which shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears at the end of each calendar month. The rate of such distribution fee varies between Portfolios and is disclosed in the Supplement for each Portfolio. In respect of all other Classes, the Manager may pay the Distributor a fee (which shall be at normal commercial rates), in respect of its distribution services, which shall also be payable out of the Management Fee.

Non-Affiliated Sub-Adviser fees

The fees paid to the Non-Affiliated Sub-Advisers appointed by the Manager and/or the Sub-Investment Manager, with the exception of Green Court Capital Management Limited and the sub-advisers on Uncorrelated Strategies, will be paid out of the assets of the Portfolio. The aggregate fees paid to all advisers were between 0.65% and 1.50% of the NAV of the Portfolio. The aggregate adviser fee for the six month period ended 30 June 2024 was US$ Nil (30 June 2023: US$ 1,145,544).

Performance Fees

For the period ended 30 June 2024 a performance fee is being calculated on US Long Short Equity, Global High Yield SDG Engagement, Event Driven, Tactical Macro and Uncorrelated Strategies.

Performance Fee paid to the Manager and a Sub-Investment Manager

The Manager and a Sub-Investment Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee (the "Performance Fee") payable out of the Portfolio's assets in respect of each PF Class in the relevant Portfolio. The Depositary shall verify the calculation of the Performance Fee. The Directors may, with the consent of the Manager, reduce the Performance Fee payable by any Class of Shares. Performance fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period defined below for each applicable Portfolio. Consequently, performance fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the NAV of their Shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of the Calculation Period.

If the Management Agreement or a Sub-Investment Manager is terminated before the end of a Calculation Period in any year the performance fee in respect of the then current Calculation Period will be calculated and paid as though the date of termination were the end of the relevant Calculation Period.

The performance fee will be accrued in the NAV on each Dealing Day and will normally be payable to the Manager or a Sub-Investment Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of each Calculation Period. However, in the case of Shares redeemed during a Calculation Period, the accrued performance fee in respect of those Shares will be payable to the Manager or a Sub-Investment Manager within 30 Business Days of the date of redemption. Crystallised performance fees shall remain in the relevant Class (but shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the relevant Class) until paid to the Manager or a Sub-Investment Manager and shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the relevant Class.

The methodology used to calculate the Performance Fee for each applicable Portfolio is as follows:

US Long Short Equity

The Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee payable out of the Portfolio’s assets in respect of each PF Class in the Portfolio.

Definitions

Calculation Period	The Calculation Period shall normally run from 1 January to 31 December in each year except that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • in the case of the initial issue of Shares in each PF Class, the first Calculation Period will run from the date of issue to 31 December; • in the case of the termination of a PF Class, the Calculation Period will terminate on the date of the termination; and • in the case of the termination of the Management Agreement in any year, the Calculation Period will terminate on the date of the termination. The first value used in determining the first Performance Fee for a PF Class shall be the Initial Offer Price.
Crystallisation	The point at which any Performance Fee becomes payable to the Manager. Crystallisation will occur either at the end of the Calculation Period or on a Dealing Day on which a Shareholder redeems or exchanges all or part of its Shareholding.
High Water Mark	The greater of: (i) the initial offer price per Share; and (ii) the NAV per share at the end of any previous Calculation Period in respect of which a Performance Fee was paid.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each PF Class in issue becomes due in the event that the NAV per share at the end of the Calculation Period exceeds the High Water Mark for that particular PF Class.

The Performance Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be equal to 15% of the amount by which the percentage growth in the NAV per share over the Calculation Period exceeds that of the High Water Mark. The Performance Fee will be accrued on each Dealing Day and will form part of the NAV per share for each PF Class where applicable. Any Performance Fee accrual on a Dealing Day will be superseded by any accrual made on the following Dealing Day up to the last Dealing Day of the Calculation Period.

In all cases the NAV per share used in the calculation of the Performance Fee is unswung, i.e. it does not include any adjustment for swing pricing.

No Performance Fee will be paid until the NAV per share exceeds the High Water Mark and such fee is only payable on the outperformance of the NAV per share over the Hurdle Rate as described above.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the NAV of their shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of the Calculation Period.

The Performance Fee will be accrued in the NAV on each Dealing Day and will normally be payable to the Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of each Calculation Period. However, in the case of Shares redeemed during a Calculation Period, the accrued performance fee in respect of those Shares will be payable to the Manager within 30 Business Days of the date of redemption.

Crystallised Performance Fees shall remain in the relevant PF Class (but shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the relevant Class) until paid to the Manager and shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the relevant PF Class.

The Depositary shall verify the calculation of the Performance Fee.

The Directors may, with the consent of the Manager, reduce the Performance Fee payable by any PF Class. Performance Fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains, which for the avoidance of doubt includes investment income, taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period. Consequently, Performance Fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

For the period ended 30 June 2024, the Manager earned a performance fee of US$ 138,911 (30 June 2023: Nil).

Global High Yield SDG Engagement

The Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee payable out of the Portfolio's assets in respect of each PF Class in the Portfolio.

Outperformance	The excess performance of the NAV per share over the performance of the Benchmark during the Calculation Period.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each PF Class in issue becomes due in respect of any Outperformance, i.e. the excess performance of the NAV per share over the performance of the Benchmark applicable to that particular PF Class during the Calculation Period. The Percentage Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be equal to 20% of the Outperformance applicable to that particular PF Class over the same period.

In all cases the NAV per share used in the calculation of the Performance Fee is unswung, i.e. it does not include any adjustment for swing pricing.

In the event that the performance of a PF Class over a Calculation Period is less than that of the Benchmark, no Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that PF Class until such cumulative underperformance relative to its Benchmark has been recovered.

In the event that the PF Class has achieved Outperformance over a Calculation Period, a Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that PF Class. Upon payment the Benchmark will be reset, this process ensures the NAV per share and the Benchmark start from the same place at the start of the calculation period. Accordingly for the next Calculation Period the commencing Benchmark value will equal the NAV in respect of the PF Class on which the Performance Fee was paid i.e. if the NAV were to equal 110 the commencing Benchmark Value would also equal 110.

The Benchmark is a widely used benchmark for short-term interest rates, providing an indication of the average rates at which banks could obtain wholesale, unsecured funding for set periods in particular currencies.

For Classes denominated in currencies other than those provided for above, the Benchmark will be the ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return, USD) hedged to the relevant class currency, as this better reflects an appropriate comparator for investors in those Classes.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each Class in issue becomes due in respect of any Outperformance, i.e. the excess performance of the Net Asset Value per Share (net of all costs before the deduction of any accrued Performance Fee, provided that in doing so it is in the Shareholder's best interest) over the performance of the Benchmark applicable to that particular Class during the Calculation Period. The Performance Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be up to 20% of the Outperformance applicable to that particular Class over the same period.

In the event that the performance of a Class over a Calculation Period is less than that of the Benchmark, no Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that Class until such cumulative underperformance relative to its Benchmark has been recovered.

In the event that the Class has achieved Outperformance over a Calculation Period, a Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that Class. Upon payment the Benchmark will be reset, this process ensures the Net Asset Value per Share and the Benchmark start from the same place at the start of the calculation period. Accordingly for the next Calculation Period, the commencing Benchmark value will equal the Net Asset Value in respect of the Class on which the performance fee was paid i.e. if the Net Asset Value were to equal 110 at the end of a Calculation Period in which a Performance Fee was paid, the Benchmark value at the start of the following Calculation Period would also equal 110.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is payable on the outperformance over the Benchmark, they may be charged a Performance Fee where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has declined but to a lesser extent than the Benchmark.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level and as no series accounting is applied in respect of the Performance Fee, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of a Calculation Period.

The Performance Fee will be calculated and accrued daily as at each Valuation Point. The Performance Fee is calculated on the unswung Net Asset Value per Share, i.e. before any adjustment for swing pricing (for more information on "swing pricing" please see the "Determination of Net Asset Value – Adjustments of Valuations and Swing Pricing" section of the Prospectus).

The Performance Fee will normally be payable to the Sub-Investment Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of 31 December each year. However, in the event of the Crystallisation of the Performance Fee during a Calculation Period, the accrued Performance Fee in respect of such amounts will be payable within 30 Business Days of the end of the calendar quarter during which the Crystallisation occurred.

Crystallised Performance Fees shall remain in the Portfolio until paid to the Sub-Investment Manager and shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the Portfolio. Crystallised Performance Fees shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the Portfolio or the Company (other than Performance Fees payable to the Sub-Investment Manager).

The Depositary shall verify the calculation of any Performance Fee and ensure that it is not open to the possibility of manipulation.

Performance Fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains, which for the avoidance of doubt includes investment income, taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period. Consequently, Performance Fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

There were no performance fees paid to the Sub-Investment Manager by the Portfolio for the period ended 30 June 2024 and 30 June 2023.

Uncorrelated Strategies

The Sub-Investment Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee payable out of the Portfolio’s assets in respect of each PF Class in the Portfolio. All Classes in the Portfolio are PF Classes.

Benchmark Indices

Classes	Index
USD Classes	ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return, USD)
EUR Hedged Classes	ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return - EUR Hedged)
GBP Hedged Classes	ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return - GBP Hedged)
CHF Hedged Classes	ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return - CHF Hedged)
JPY Hedged Classes	ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return - JPY Hedged)

The Benchmark is a widely used benchmark for short-term interest rates, providing an indication of the average rates at which banks could obtain wholesale, unsecured funding for set periods in particular currencies.

For Classes denominated in currencies other than those provided for above, the Benchmark will be the ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return, USD) hedged to the relevant class currency.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each Class in issue becomes due in respect of any Outperformance, i.e. the excess performance of the Net Asset Value per Share (net of all costs before the deduction of any accrued Performance Fee, provided that in doing so it is in the Shareholder's best interest) over the performance of the Benchmark applicable to that particular Class during the Calculation Period. The Performance Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be up to 20% of the Outperformance applicable to that particular Class over the same period.

In the event that the performance of a Class over a Calculation Period is less than that of the Benchmark, no Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that Class until such cumulative underperformance relative to its Benchmark has been recovered.

In the event that the Class has achieved Outperformance over a Calculation Period, a Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that Class. Upon payment the Benchmark will be reset; this process ensures the Net Asset Value per Share and the Benchmark start from the same place at the start of the calculation period. Accordingly for the next Calculation Period, the commencing Benchmark value will equal the Net Asset Value in respect of the Class on which the performance fee was paid i.e. if the Net Asset Value were to equal 110 at the end of a Calculation Period in which a Performance Fee was paid, the Benchmark value at the start of the following Calculation Period would also equal 110.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is payable on the outperformance over the Benchmark, they may be charged a Performance Fee where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has declined but to a lesser extent than the Benchmark.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of a Calculation Period.

The Performance Fee will normally be payable to the Sub-Investment Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of 31 December each year. However, in the event of the Crystallisation of the Performance Fee during a Calculation Period, the accrued Performance Fee in respect of such amounts will be payable within 30 Business Days of the end of the calendar quarter during which the Crystallisation occurred.

The Depositary shall verify the calculation of any Performance Fee and ensure that it is not open to the possibility of manipulation.

FRS 102 Section 11.27 on "Fair Value: Disclosure" requires disclosure relating to the fair value hierarchy in which fair value measurements are categorised for assets and liabilities. The disclosures are based on a three-level fair value hierarchy for the inputs used in valuation techniques to measure fair value.

The Company has classified fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under FRS 102 are described below:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical unrestricted assets or liabilities;

Level 2 – Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (as prices) or indirectly (derived from prices);

Level 3 – Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs). Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment and include situations where there is little, if any market activity for the instrument. The inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management, judgement or estimation. As observable prices are not available for these securities, the Portfolios would have used valuation techniques to derive the fair value if applicable.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. For example, if a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measure is a Level 3 measurement.

Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement in considering the factors specific to the asset or liability.

Determining what constitutes "observable" requires judgment and is considered by the Manager's valuation committee.

The value of the Portfolios' investments in equity securities, exchange-traded funds, warrants, exchange-traded options purchased and written, for which market quotations are readily available, is generally determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on the latest sale price quoted on a principal exchange or market for that security (Level 1 inputs). Securities traded primarily on the NASDAQ Stock Market are normally valued at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price ("NOCP") provided by NASDAQ each business day. The NOCP is the most recently reported price as of 4:00:02 p.m., Eastern Time, unless that price is outside the range of the "inside" bid and asked prices (i.e., the bid and asked prices that dealers quote to each other when trading for their own accounts); in that case, NASDAQ will adjust the price to equal the inside bid or asked price, whichever is closer. Because of delays in reporting trades, the NOCP may not be based on the price of the last trade to occur before the market closes. If there is no sale of a security on a particular day, the independent pricing services may value the security based on market quotations.

The value of participatory notes is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on the underlying equity security and applicable exchange rate (Level 1 inputs).

The value of the Portfolios' investments in debt securities is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on readily available mid quotations, or if quotations are not available, by methods which include various considerations based on security type (generally Level 2 inputs). If there is more than one quote security available, security is classified as Level 2. In addition to the consideration of yields or prices of securities of comparable quality, coupon, maturity and type, indications as to values from dealers, and general market conditions, the following is a description of other Level 2 inputs and related valuation techniques used by independent pricing services to value certain types of debt securities held by the Portfolios:

Corporate Bonds. Inputs used to value corporate debt securities generally include relevant credit information, observed market movements, sector news, US Treasury yield curve or relevant benchmark curve, and other market information, which may include benchmark yield curves, reported trades, broker-dealer quotes, issuer spreads, comparable securities, and reference data, such as market research publications, when available ("Other Market Information").

Convertible Bonds. Inputs used to value convertible bonds (including CoCos) generally include underlying stock data, conversion premiums, listed bond and preferred stock prices and Other Market Information, which may include benchmark curves, trade execution data, and sensitivity analysis, when available.

U.S. Treasury Obligations. Inputs used to value U.S. Treasury securities generally include quotes from several inter-dealer brokers and Other Market Information.

U.S. Government Agency Securities. Inputs used to value U.S. Government Agency securities generally include obtaining benchmark quotes and Other Market Information.

Asset-Backed Securities and Mortgage-Backed Securities. Inputs used to value asset-backed securities and mortgage-backed securities generally include models that consider a number of factors, which may include the following: prepayment speeds, cash flows, spread adjustments and Other Market Information.

Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLOs): The value of collateralised loan obligations is primarily determined by cash flow data, relevant loan pricing data and market color, and research from market participants and trading desks (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

High Yield Securities. Inputs used to value high yield securities generally include a number of observations of equity and credit default swap curves related to the issuer and Other Market Information.

Emerging Markets Debt and Foreign Government Securities. Inputs used to value emerging markets debt and foreign government securities generally include dealer quotes, bond market activity, discounted cash flow models, and other relevant information such as credit spreads, benchmark curves and Other Market Information.

The value of term loans is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on broker quotes (generally Level 2 or Level 3 inputs depending on the number of quotes available).

The value of futures contracts is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services at the settlement price at the market close (Level 1 inputs).

The value of forward foreign currency contracts is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on actual traded currency rates on independent pricing services' networks, along with other traded and quoted currency rates provided to the pricing services by leading market participants (Level 2 inputs).

The value of credit default swaps is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services using a model that considers a number of factors, which may include default probabilities, credit curves, recovery rates and cash flows (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of inflation swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on references to the underlying inflation rates including forward inflation expectation rate and the respective interbank offered forward rate to produce the daily price. The present value is calculated based off of expected cash flows based on swap parameters along with reference to the underlying forward inflation curve and reference rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of interest rate swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on references to the underlying rates including the local overnight index swap rate and the respective interbank offered forward rate to produce the daily price. The present value is calculated based off of expected cash flows based on swap parameters along with reference to the underlying yield curve and reference rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of total return swaps is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services using the underlying asset and stated benchmark interest rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of cross currency swaps is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on present value of expected cash flows based on swap parameters along with reference to the underlying yield curve and reference rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of volatility swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services and is based on a predetermined volatility level versus the actual amount of volatility realised over a period data of the reference asset (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of variance swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services and is based on the historical realised and expected future variance (or fair variance) of the reference asset (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 202410. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT DISCLOSURES (CONTINUED)*Fair Value of Investments (continued)

The value of correlation swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services and is based on the difference in the realised correlation and a fixed correlation value (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of swaptions is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services or counterparty pricing source (Level 2 inputs).

Option contracts that are traded over-the-counter are generally valued on the basis of quotations provided by broker dealers or prices provided by independent pricing services who use a series of techniques including simulated pricing models and/or curve fitting (bootstrapping), which aids in determining the present value of the contracts. The pricing models use inputs that are observed from actively quoted markets such as issuer details, indices, spreads, interest rates, yield curves, credit curves, volatility surfaces, and exchange rates (Level 2 inputs).

Certificates of deposit are valued at amortised cost (Level 2 inputs).

Repurchase agreements are evaluated at par, by pricing services (Level 2 inputs).

The Manager has appointed a valuation committee, which reviews independent pricing service providers across all relevant types of securities.

Investments in non-exchange traded investment funds are valued using the respective fund's daily calculated net asset value ("NAV") per share (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

If a valuation is not available from an independent pricing service, or if the Manager has reason to believe that the valuation received does not represent the amount a Portfolio might reasonably expect to receive on a current sale in an orderly transaction, the Manager seeks to obtain quotations from brokers or dealers (generally considered Level 2 or Level 3 inputs depending on the number of quotes available). If such quotations are not available, the security is valued using methods the Board of Directors has approved in the good-faith belief that the resulting valuation will reflect the fair value of the security.

Inputs and assumptions considered in determining the fair value of a security based on Level 2 or Level 3 inputs may include, but are not limited to, the type of the security; the initial cost of the security; the existence of any contractual restrictions on the security's disposition; the price and extent of public trading in similar securities of the issuer or of comparable companies; quotations or evaluated prices from broker-dealers and/or pricing services; information obtained from the issuer and/or analysts; an analysis of the company's or issuer's financial statements; an evaluation of the inputs that influence the issuer and the market(s) in which the security is purchased and sold.

The value of the Portfolios' investments in foreign securities is generally determined using the same valuation methods and inputs as other Portfolio investments, as discussed above. Foreign security prices expressed in local currency values are normally translated from the local currency into US dollars using the exchange rates as of 4:00 p.m., Eastern Time on days the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") is open for business. The Board of Directors has approved the use of ICE Data Pricing & Reference Data LLC ("ICE") to assist in determining the fair value of foreign equity securities when changes in the value of a certain index suggest that the closing prices on the foreign exchanges may no longer represent the amount that a Portfolio could expect to receive for those securities or on days when foreign markets are closed and US markets are open. In each of these events, ICE will provide adjusted prices for certain foreign equity securities using a statistical analysis of historical correlations of multiple factors (Level 2 inputs). The Board of Directors has also approved the use of ICE to evaluate the prices of foreign debt securities as of the time as of which a Portfolio's share price is calculated. ICE utilizes benchmark spread and yield curves and evaluates available market activity from the local close to the time as of which a Portfolio's share price is calculated (Level 2 inputs) to assist in determining prices for certain foreign debt securities.

In the case of both foreign equity and foreign debt securities, in the absence of precise information about the market values of these foreign securities as of the time as of which a Portfolio's share price is calculated, the Board of Directors has determined on the basis of available data that prices adjusted or evaluated in this way are likely to be closer to the prices a Portfolio could realise on a current sale than are the prices of those securities established at the close of the foreign markets in which the securities primarily trade.

Fair value prices are necessarily estimates, and there is no assurance that such a price will be at or close to the price at which the security is next quoted or next trades.

GLOSSARY OF INDICES

Bloomberg Commodity Index

The index is a rolling index composed of exchange-traded futures contracts on physical commodities. The index relies primarily on liquidity data of futures contracts, along with US dollar-adjusted production data, in determining the relative quantities of included commodities. The index is designed to be a highly liquid and diversified benchmark for commodities investments. The version of the index that is calculated on a total return basis reflects the returns on a fully collateralised investment in the underlying commodity futures contracts, combined with the returns on cash collateral invested in US Treasury Bills.

Bloomberg Euro Aggregate Bond Index (Total Return, Hedged, EUR)

The index includes fixed-rate, investment-grade euro denominated bonds. Inclusion is based on the currency of the issue, and not the domicile of the issuer. The principal sectors in the index are the Treasury, corporate, government-related and securitised.

Bloomberg Global Aggregate Corporate Index (Total Return, Hedged, USD)

The index is a flagship measure of global investment grade, fixed-rate corporate debt. This multicurrency benchmark includes bonds from developed and emerging markets issuers within the industrial, utility and financial sectors. The index is a component of the Global Aggregate and Multiverse Indices.

Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index (Total Return, Hedged, USD)

The index measures global investment grade debt from twenty-four different local currency markets and includes fixed-rate treasury, government-related, corporate and securitised bonds from both developed and emerging markets issuers. The index is largely comprised of three major regional aggregate components: the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index, the Bloomberg Pan-European Aggregate Bond Index, and the Bloomberg Asian-Pacific Aggregate Index. In addition to securities from these three indices, the index also includes investment grade Eurodollar, Euro-Yen, Canadian, and 144A index-eligible securities not already in these three indices. The index is fully hedged back to USD.

Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index (Total Return, Unhedged, USD)

The index measures global investment grade debt from twenty-four different local currency markets and includes fixed-rate treasury, government-related, corporate and securitised bonds from both developed and emerging markets issuers. The index is largely comprised of three major regional aggregate components: the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index, the Bloomberg Pan-European Aggregate Bond Index, and the Bloomberg Asian-Pacific Aggregate Index. In addition to securities from these three indices, the index also includes investment grade Eurodollar, Euro-Yen, Canadian, and 144A index-eligible securities not already in these three indices.

Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index (Total Return, USD)

The index measures the investment grade, US dollar-denominated, fixed-rate, taxable bond market and includes Treasuries, government-related and corporate securities, mortgage-backed securities (agency fixed-rate and hybrid adjustable rate mortgage pass-throughs), asset-backed securities, and commercial mortgage-backed securities (agency and nonagency). The index is a broad-based benchmark that measures the investment grade, US dollar denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market. This includes Treasuries, government-related and corporate securities, mortgage-backed securities, asset-backed securities and collateralised mortgage-backed securities.

Fixed income securities are subject to the risk of an issuer's ability to meet principal and interest payments on the obligation (credit risk) and may also be subject to price volatility due to such factors as interest rate sensitivity, market perception of the creditworthiness of the issuer and general market liquidity (market risk). Fixed income securities are also exposed to the risk that their or their issuers' credit ratings may be downgraded, which can cause a significant drop in the value of such securities.

Lower rated or unrated (i.e. non-investment grade or high yield) securities are more likely to react to developments affecting market and credit risk than are more highly rated securities, which primarily react to movements in the general level of interest rates. Investors should carefully consider the relative risks of investing in high yield securities and understand that such securities generally are not meant for short-term investing. Investors who subscribe in a currency other than the base currency of the Company are exposed to currency risk. Fluctuations in these exchange rates may affect the return on investment.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. For details of the investment risks, which may include but are not limited to liquidity, interest rate, credit and currency risk, see the current prospectus. Please note that any dividends/interest which the Company may receive may be subject to withholding tax. The benchmark does not take into account the effects of tax and the deduction is therefore not reflected in the benchmark return illustrated herein. The investment objective and performance benchmark is a target only and not a guarantee of the Company performance. The index is unmanaged and cannot be invested in directly. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses. Adverse movements in currency exchange rates can result in a decrease in return and a loss of capital. The investments of each Portfolio may be fully hedged into the Portfolio's base currency: this may reduce currency risks but may also expose the Portfolio to other risks such as the default of a counterparty. As noted above for further information relating to risks specific to this strategy please see the current prospectus.
