I Introduction

Fidelity Funds (the "Company") is an open-ended investment company established in Luxembourg as a société d'investissement à capital variable ("SICAV"). It has an umbrella structure and its assets are held in a number of different funds ("sub-funds"). Each sub-fund is a separate portfolio of securities and other assets managed in accordance with specific investment objectives. Separate classes of shares in the Company (the "Shares") are issued in relation to the sub-funds. Each sub-fund provides an investment opportunity in professionally managed pools of securities in different geographical areas and currencies, with the investment objective of capital growth, income or a balance between capital growth and income.

Shares are authorised for sale in a number of jurisdictions and may be listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange's Euro MTF market. However, shares in the Reserved Funds and the Institutional Reserved Funds are not presently listed. Further information on the stock exchange listings can be found on https://www.bourse.lu/official list or may be obtained from the Management Company upon request.

II Financial Statements

The Board of Directors of the Company (the "Board") submits its report and the audited financial statements for the year ended 30 April 2020. The audited financial statements are set out on pages 163 to 878 of this Annual Report, with results for the year appearing in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets on pages 773 to 800. Dividend information for the sub-funds is detailed on pages 844 to 866.

A copy of the Annual Report can be found at the following web address: https://statutory.fidelityinternational.com/fidelity-funds-annual-reports/. A hard copy of the Annual Report may be obtained upon request from either the offices of the companies registered as distributors or from the Registered Office of the Company.

Comparative figures for the previous year can be found in the Annual Report of the Company for the year ended 30 April 2019.

III Activities during the year

During the year, the company followed the normal activities of an open-ended investment company. The Investment Manager's Report that follows gives an overview of performance. As at 30 April 2020, the number of registered Shareholders worldwide totalled in excess of 50,000. However, the total number of investors in the Company is much greater than the number of registered Shareholders due to the fact that certain registered Shareholders may represent the holdings of many underlying clients. Assets under management as at 30 April 2020 exceeded USD 118.9 billion.

The Directors may from time to time close sub-funds as well as launch further sub-funds with different investment objectives, subject to the approval of the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier ("CSSF").

At the year end, the Company consisted of 146 active sub-funds.

Details of changes to the range of sub-funds during the year are provided in the Notes to the Financial Statements on pages 828 to 878.

COVID-19 Pandemic

From January 2020, due to the COVID-19 pandemic situation, global financial markets have experienced significant volatility. This has resulted in severe disruptions in the supply chain, travel and border restrictions, a fall in consumer demand and general market uncertainty. The FIL Limited Group ("FIL", "FIL International" or "Fidelity") business contingency plans have been activated gradually across all FIL International locations since the beginning of 2020. This has included the implementation of remote access to enable FIL Group employees to work from home.

Despite these exceptional circumstances, all Fund-related controls have remained unchanged and continue to run. No significant operational problems or performance issues or system outage have been identified to date.

Fidelity International (including FIMLUX) has been in a heightened phase of liquidity and counterparty monitoring across the Fund's portfolios. Market and transaction data relevant to any and each sub-fund of Fidelity Funds have been considered and analysed on a more frequent basis during this period in order to ensure the calculation of accurate NAVs that are fully representative of prevailing market conditions and to consider potential areas of concern and whether it could be in the best interests of Shareholders of the Fund to invoke additional liquidity management measures.

In accordance with the update to the Swing Pricing FAQs of the CSSF, which were issued on 20 March 2020, certain changes to the swing pricing policy were approved in response to the market situation, as notified to Shareholders via publication on Fidelity's website. A copy can be found at www.fidelity.lu.

The Board of Directors of the Company has been kept duly and appropriately informed of matters relating to the impact of COVID-19 on the Company and the steps being taken to ensure that the interests of shareholders remain a priority.

IV Board of Directors

The Directors of the Company as at 30 April 2020 are listed on page 6. Four of the eleven Directors serving as at 30 April 2020 are considered by the Board to be independent of the Investment Manager and free from any business or other relationship which could materially interfere with the exercise of their independent judgment.

There have been the following changes to the Board of the Company during the year to 30 April 2020:

- Ms Anne Richards was appointed as Director of the Company with effect from 3 October 2019
- Dr Arno Morenz and Mr Barclay Simmons resigned as Directors of the Company with effect from 3 October 2019

There have been the following changes to the Board of the Management Company during the year to 30 April 2020:

Ms Rachel Holmes and Mr Allan Pelvang resigned as Directors of the Management Company with effect from 29 May 2019

V Management of the Company

Directors' Report

FIL Investment Management (Luxembourg) S.A. ("FIMLUX") as the Management Company is responsible for the investment management, administration and distribution functions of the Company. FIMLUX may delegate part or all of such functions to third parties, subject to overall control and supervision. With the consent of the Company, FIMLUX has delegated the investment management function to FIL Fund Management Limited ("FFML") and the distribution function to FIL Distributors ("FID").

FIMLUX provides services to the Company in connection with keeping the Company's accounts, determination of the Net Asset Value of shares in each sub-fund on each Valuation Date and dispatch of dividend payments.

FIMLUX is formally responsible for the production of the Annual Report and Accounts of the Company for each financial year, which are required under general principles to give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Company. In accordance with those same principles, FIMLUX is responsible for:

- selecting suitable accounting policies and applying them consistently;
- preparing the Annual Report and Accounts on a going concern basis;
- maintaining proper accounting records which disclose at any time the financial position of the Company; and
- complying with both the Luxembourg Law of 10 August 1915 on commercial companies, as amended, and the Luxembourg Law of 17 December 2010, as amended, on undertakings for collective investment.

Conducting Officers

As at 30 April 2020 the Conducting Officers (COs) appointed by FIMLUX were as listed on page 6. Mr Philip Hanssens was appointed as a CO with effect from 17 September 2019. Mr Paul Witham was appointed as a CO with effect from 1 January 2020.

Conducting Officers' Responsibilities

The COs have a duty to ensure that the tasks delegated to FFML and to FID as well as the administrative functions carried out by the Management Company are performed in compliance with Luxembourg Law, the Company's Articles of Incorporation and the current Prospectus. Amongst other things, the COs ensure compliance with the investment restrictions of the Company and oversee the implementation of the investment policy of each sub-fund by the appointed Investment Manager.

The Management Company and/or the COs report to the Board on a quarterly basis and the COs inform the Management Company and the Board without delay of any materially adverse matters resulting from the actions of the Investment Manager, the General Distributor or of the Management Company in relation to the administrative functions.

VI Role of Investment Manager and Central Administrative Agent

FFML provides day-to-day investment management to the Company, under the supervision and subject to the control of the Board and FIMLUX. FFML is authorised to act on behalf of the Company and to select agents, brokers and dealers through whom to execute transactions and is required to provide the Board and FIMLUX with any reports it may require.

FFML may receive investment advice from, and act upon the advice of, any company within the holding company FIL Limited ("FIL"), including affiliate companies of FFML, and may execute, transact and otherwise carry out its functions, duties and obligations with or through any of these Fidelity companies. FFML remains responsible for the proper performance by such companies of those responsibilities.

The duties of the Investment Manager include the design, implementation and maintenance of controls and procedures to administer the assets of the Company and to manage its affairs properly. The process extends to operational and compliance controls and risk management. In addition, the Company and FIMLUX have appointed FIL to provide services in relation to the investments of the sub-funds including valuation, statistical, technical, reporting and other assistance.

VII Corporate Governance

The Board applies a clear and transparent corporate governance framework for the management of the Company's affairs.

- The Board has adopted the principles of good governance as set out in the ALFI (Association of the Luxembourg Fund Industry) Code of Conduct issued in June 2013 and considers that the Company has been in compliance with it in all material respects throughout the financial year ended 30 April 2020.
- 2. There are contractual arrangements in place governing the relationships with FIMLUX, FFML, FID and FIL as well as other third party suppliers to the Company.
- 3. The Directors take decisions in the interests of the Company and its Shareholders and refrain from taking part in any deliberation or decision which creates conflict between their personal interests and those of the Company and its Shareholders.
- 4. The Board meets at least four times a year. The Board requests and receives reports from relevant Committees, the COs, FIMLUX, FFML, and FID on the various activities including compliance controls and risk management undertaken by the relevant FIL companies. Senior representatives of FIMLUX, FFML and FID attend meetings by invitation, thus enabling the Board of Directors to question the reports presented to it
- 5. As part of the control framework within FIL, all FIL group employees are subject to the FIL Code of Conduct and its associated policies, which, amongst other things, set out procedures for personal account dealing in securities. The Board receives regular reports from the FIL Ethics Office on Employee Personal Trading to ensure that any conflicts of interest between personal accounts dealing by FIL group staff and the interests of the Company are properly managed.
- 6. The Board has established an Audit and Risk Committee which consists exclusively of independent Directors and which is charged with reviewing the annual accounts, the external audit process, sub-custodian arrangements and the relationship with the external Auditor, including the recommendation to Shareholders of its appointment and level of fees. The Audit and Risk Committee meets at least twice a year and reports to the Board, making recommendations where appropriate. The Audit and Risk Committee meets with the external Auditor in the absence of representatives of the FIL group at least once a year.
- 7. The nomination of new Directors is considered by the Board and is subject to the approval of the CSSF and ultimately the approval of Shareholders at the Annual General Meeting. The level of Directors' fees is put to Shareholders for approval, in accordance with the Articles of Incorporation. Directors who are employed by FIL or its subsidiaries, its holding company FIL, or its subsidiaries have waived their fees for the - year ended 30 April 2020. For those Directors that have not waived their fees, the remuneration earned for the year ended 30 April 2020 was in aggregate USD 597,529 subject to Shareholder approval, as set out on page 839 of this Annual Report. For comparison purposes the EUR equivalent was EUR 538,557.

- 8. The Directors are committed to ensuring that Shareholders are kept informed of matters relevant to their investment and that all Shareholders are treated fairly. The maintenance and integrity of information concerning the Company on the Fidelity website is the responsibility of FIL. FIMLUX is responsible for the accuracy of translations of documents which may be available to investors in languages other than English. The Directors consider and, if thought fit, approve the English form of the financial statements presented to them at the relevant Audit and Risk Committee and Board meetings.

VIII Other Information

Proxy Voting

FFML has a policy of voting on equity securities where it is possible to do so, unless the loss of liquidity as a result of attendant share blocking is deemed to outweigh the expected benefits to be gained. Such voting is undertaken in accordance with written proxy voting guidelines employed by the FIL group, of which FFML is a part, and takes account of prevailing local market best practices. The Board reviews and approves the proxy voting policy, activity and guidelines annually. FIL's Principles of Ownership, which summarises how FIL engages with companies in which the Company's sub-funds have invested, can be accessed from the Corporate Governance section of FIL's website (https://www.fidelityinternational.com).

Commissions and Internal crossing

FFML uses supplemental research in the course of its work for the Company and other clients provided by brokers through whom the Investment Manager executes transactions for the Company and other clients. All dealing commission paid by the Company and other clients on trades with brokers account only for the costs of executing the trade. However for funds where FFML appoints a firm outside of the wholly owned group as a sub-advisor in other jurisdictions such as the United States or Canada, soft commissions may be used to pay for services in line with applicable local regulations. All supplemental research used by the Investment Manager is valued and paid for separately from execution and other relationships with brokers in accordance with inducement regulations.

The Company participates in the Investment Manager's interfunding programme whereby FIL's traders, on occasion, identify situations where an account or sub-fund managed by FIL is buying the same security that another account or sub-fund is selling. If a trader can confirm that it would be in the interests of both accounts to execute a transaction between them rather than in the market then an interfund transaction is executed. These transactions amounted to USD 449,023,715 during the year under review.

Swiss investors

Swiss investors are advised that with the exception of Asian Equity Fund, Asia Pacific Multi Asset Growth & Income Fund, Greater China Fund II, Greater China Multi Asset growth & Income Fund, Institutional US High Yield Fund, Multi Asset Target Income 2024 Fund, UK Special Situations Fund, the Fixed-Term Bond Funds, the Institutional Target Funds, the Reserved Funds, the present sub-funds of the Company have been authorised by the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority for distribution in Switzerland.

IX Business of the Annual General Meeting

The Board of Directors is proposing the following resolutions be put to the Shareholders at the Annual General Meeting of the Company to be held by proxy due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic on 1 October 2020 at noon:

- the presentation of the Report of the Board of Directors;
- the presentation of the Audit Report;
- the approval of the Statement of Net Assets and Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets for the year ended 30 April 2020;
- the discharge of the Board of Directors;
- the election/re-election of the Directors;
- the approval of the payment of Directors' fees;
- the election of the external Auditor:
- the approval of the payment of dividends; and
- consideration of such other business that may properly come before the Annual General Meeting under the Articles of Incorporation.

Investment Manager's Report***

Performance Overview - 12 months ending 30 April 2020

Equity Markets

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Equities were further impacted by an oil price shock after Saudi Arabia and Russia failed to reach an agreement to cut oil production. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, energy companies plummeted, as crude oil prices fell due to weakening demand and a lack of storage capacity. Overall, returns in US dollar terms were undermined by its appreciation against the euro and sterling, but supported by its depreciation against the yen.

European equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. Gains registered in 2019 were more than offset in the first quarter of 2020, particularly in March, as the epicentre of the COVID-19 pandemic moved to Europe. However, markets bounced back in April as slowing COVID-19 cases across Europe saw the introduction of plans to ease lockdown measures in major countries, including Italy, France and Germany. This was coupled with strong stimulus measures announced by central banks. European Central Bank (ECB) President Christine Lagarde said the ECB was "fully prepared" to increase the size of its recently launched €750 billion pandemic emergency purchase programme and to "adjust its composition by as much as necessary and for as long as needed". Most sectors ended the period in negative territory, with energy and financials falling the most. Health care and utilities outperformed the broader market. From a market cap perspective, small-cap companies underperformed larger peers. Meanwhile, growth and quality stocks outperformed value stocks.

UK equites ended significantly lower over the year under review as the COVID-19 outbreak and a weakening global economic outlook pressured stock prices. There were also lingering concerns over the UK's future relationship with the European Union (EU). However, a landslide general election victory by the ruling Conservative Party in December abated some uncertainty. This momentary optimism gave way to concerns over the rapid spread of COVID-19 cases across the world and its impact on economic and corporate activity, company earnings and dividends. At the same time, major oil producing countries could not reach a compromise to curb production, leading to a sharp drop in oil prices that exacerbated market volatility. Against this backdrop, oil & gas stocks were the most notable laggards against the broader market, with falling oil prices factoring in reduced travel and economic activity. Meanwhile, the more defensive sectors such as health care and utilities outperformed, while large-cap stocks underperformed their smaller peers.

US equities posted marginal gains over the review period. Equities received some support from the trade truce between the US and China in late 2019 and early 2020. However, these gains were short-lived as markets plummeted on growing pandemic fears and an oil price crash. Policymakers globally have since announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures in an attempt to contain the negative economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdown measures taken to slow the spread of the virus. Cyclical sectors such as energy, financials and industrials bore the brunt of the losses, while information technology and health care stocks posted positive returns and outperformed the market.

Japanese equities fell over the 12-month period, primarily due to a sharp decline in 2020 owing to the COVID-19 outbreak and rising concerns over its long-term impact on global economic growth. Japan's government was forced to announce emergency measures first in Tokyo and later in the rest of the country. A sharp plunge in oil prices further dampened investor sentiment. The yen's strength against the US dollar also pressured Japanese shares during the period. The Bank of Japan and the government responded by announcing massive monetary and fiscal stimulus as well as economic measures to address the impact of the pandemic. Meanwhile, the Tokyo Olympics was pushed back by one year to the summer of 2021. From a sector perspective, energy, materials and financials were the leading decliners, while health care, communication services and technology recorded positive returns.

Pacific ex Japan equities retreated over the period. A majority of economies across the region came to a standstill after their governments imposed nation-wide lockdowns to control the spread of the virus. Policymakers announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures to cushion the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak. Against this backdrop, the majority of countries and sectors in the region ended the period lower. Energy stocks declined the most due to a sharp correction in crude oil prices.

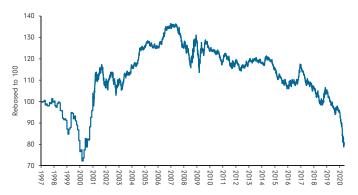

Emerging markets fell during the review period. Risk assets declined significantly following the outbreak of COVID-19 in China and its spread across the world. However, in April, the market staged a rally as new cases appeared to peak in the countries that were hardest hit by the virus, and on positive newsflow around the possible development of a vaccine. Chinese equities declined, but losses were curbed as the country resumed economic activities in March following a stringent and prolonged lockdown. Latin American equities were volatile, but disappointed investors as currencies tumbled in recent months as the virus spread through the region and as fears of a slowdown in the global economy mounted. Risk-off sentiment weighed on metal prices as well. Copper prices fell to their lowest level in more than three years. All sectors posted negative returns, with the exception of information technology and health care. Quality and growth names outstripped value stocks on a relative basis.

Value stocks have seen a prolonged underperformance vs growth stocks

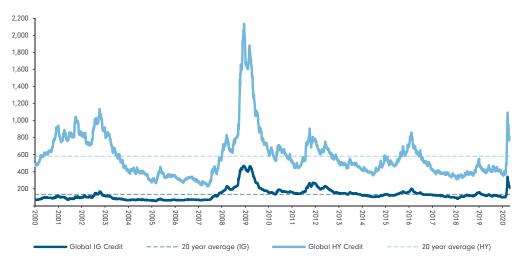

Source: Fidelity International, Thomson Reuters Datastream as at 30.04.2020. Indices: MSCI AC World Value and MSCI AC World Growth.

Value stocks have underperformed growth stocks for more than a decade, and the recent COVID-19 crisis has strengthened this trend. The downturn in the performance of value stocks has been attributed to a variety of factors, including unprecedented changes in global monetary policies and overcrowding from the popularity of systematic strategies used to invest in stocks with value characteristics. However, there are some positive signs that the trend will reverse, and we will see value stocks starting to perform again, but it is difficult to predict turning points. It has been a challenging 10 years for value investing, but with inflation possibly on the cards again, if the trend does reverse, the shift could be substantial.

Bond markets

Global bond markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, though concerns subsided as the year progressed and the US and China signed a phase one trade deal. The ECB also signalled a new round of quantitative easing in Europe, as a result of which sentiment turned decidedly more positive towards the end of 2019. Sentiment remained strong at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic resulted in unprecedented levels of volatility, resulting in a sell-off in risk assets such as equities and corporate bonds. Government bond yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads significantly widened to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. The spread of the pandemic collided with an oil price crash. The entire US Treasury yield curve fell below 1% for the first time amid investors' focus on safe-haven assets. German bund and UK government bond (Gilt) yields followed their US counterparts and ended the period lower. In a coordinated effort to combat a potential global economic crisis, central banks across the world announced new policy responses such as rate cuts and bond-buying programmes. Major G20 economies announced a string of fiscal easing packages in order to allay the financial concerns of people already facing lockdowns and contagion risks.

Investment Manager's Report***

Recent market events have resulted in a number of actions from global central banks. In the US alone, the Federal Reserve (Fed) established a primary and secondary market corporate support facility, which could translate into $200 billion of investment grade corporate bond purchases before the end of the third quarter of 2020. More recently, the Fed announced another $2.3 trillion stimulus programme and said it would start purchasing high yield exchange traded funds and 'fallen angel' cash bonds. Similar actions from its European and UK counterparts meant that both short and long-term interest rates are at their lowest levels in recent history. However, we believe that several companies remain at risk of being downgraded, with the upcoming downgrade cycle likely to be one of the largest on record. Even as credit spreads reach levels that have not been seen in over 10 years (as shown in the chart above), we have already seen the reversal of a large portion of the losses witnessed in March. This environment will be very supportive for high quality "safe-haven" bonds, particularly in light of recent announcements by monetary and fiscal authorities. Over a longer time horizon, however, any names that withstand an issuer downgrade will gain a stronger competitive position post COVID-19 and enjoy better fundamentals, thus attracting demand from investors seeking high quality credit exposure.

Performance notes on Fund Reviews

Cumulative Returns are calculated from published Net Asset Value price to published Net Asset Value price with gross income reinvested on exdividend dates. For sub-funds where the price adjustment policy has been applied as per note 2 on page 830 to 834, the Cumulative Returns are calculated to or from the adjusted Net Asset Value price.

This calculation does not include any initial charge, and represents the true investment performance of the sub-fund.

The performance figures reported under the column "Since Launch" in the tables are calculated from the commencement of operations until 30 April 2020.

Annualised performance is an alternative way of expressing a sub-fund's total return. It assumes a steady compound rate of growth during the period in question and is not the sub-fund's year by year performance, which fluctuated over the periods shown.

Please note that the Manager's Overviews are based on the first Share class disclosed for each sub-fund. Performance data is expressed in the Share class currency of denomination, indicated by the ISO code shown.

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 2,263 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US equities posted marginal gains over the review period. Equities received some support from the trade truce between the US and China in late 2019 and early 2020. However, these gains were short-lived as markets plummeted on growing pandemic fears and an oil price crash. Saudi Arabia and Russia headed for a full-blown oil price war, leading to a supply glut in an already subdued demand environment. Policymakers globally have since announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures in an attempt to contain the negative economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdown measures taken to slow the spread of the virus. Cyclical sectors such as energy, financials and industrials bore the brunt of the losses, while information technology (IT) and health care stocks posted positive returns and outperformed the market.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. Stock selection was detrimental to performance and was particularly weak in the IT and consumer discretionary sectors. Not holding mega-cap names Apple, Amazon.com and Microsoft detracted significantly from relative returns. Travel technology company Sabre was a source of weakness. Investors were concerned over an incremental US$150 million in investment expenses reported in the company's fourth quarter earnings update given a weakening near-term outlook for businesses that are exposed to travel and tourism. The company has since suspended dividends, share buy backs and announced cost saving measures to strengthen its financial position in response to COVID-19. On a positive note, shares in wireless infrastructure owner and operator T-Mobile US gained after a favourable court ruling for its merger with Sprint. The combined entity is now the second-largest wireless carrier in the US. Shares in drug distributor AmerisourceBergen rose. The company's resiliency to tough economic conditions amid improving fundamentals and undemanding valuations is supportive of its outlook.

Valuation spreads between cheap and expensive stocks are at a record high. There are plenty of opportunities in many sectors of the market for stock pickers, in companies that have sufficient balance sheet strength to survive the crisis. The fund managers maintain a disciplined, valuation-conscious investing approach and prefer stable businesses that will be able to come out of this crisis relatively auickly.

Manager's Overview

US equities posted marginal gains over the review period. Equities received some support from the trade truce between the US and China in late 2019 and early 2020. However, these gains were short-lived as markets plummeted on growing pandemic fears and an oil price crash. Cyclical sectors such as energy, financials and industrials bore the brunt of the losses, while information technology (IT) and health care stocks posted positive returns and outperformed the market.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period. Stock selection and sector allocation contributed to returns. Security selection was positive across most sectors, with strong contribution from financials and communication services. However, holdings within health care and materials were a source of weakness. The lack of exposure to Exxon Mobil and Boeing was the biggest contributor to relative performance, as these stocks declined due to headwinds from the virus outbreak and low oil prices. The relatively smaller position in Cisco Systems was a notable contributor to returns. As the largest vendor of networking products (routers and switches), its earnings stream from enterprise customers is more durable than the market believes, because of its massive incumbency advantage. The company is further fortifying its moats by shifting revenues towards recurring subscription models, although this will take time. As far as detractors were concerned, the underweight stance in Apple was by far the biggest source of weakness in a favourable environment for its shares. Energy holdings Chevron and Marathon Petroleum declined.

The portfolio managers leverage Fidelity's analysts best ideas and optimise them systematically to enhance alpha and manage risk. IT is currently a key sector for investment ideas.

American Growth Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 675 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US equities posted marginal gains over the review period. Equities received some support from the trade truce between the US and China in late 2019 and early 2020. However, these gains were short-lived as markets plummeted on growing pandemic fears and an oil price crash. Saudi Arabia and Russia headed for a full-blown oil price war, leading to a supply glut in an already subdued demand environment. Policymakers globally have since announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures in an attempt to contain the negative economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdown measures taken to slow the spread of the virus. Cyclical sectors such as energy, financials and industrials bore the brunt of the losses, while information technology (IT) and health care stocks posted positive returns and outperformed the market.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. While overall stock selection and sector allocation were positive, holdings (or the lack thereof) within IT and consumer discretionary detracted from performance. The lack of exposure to mega-cap names Apple, Amazon.com and Microsoft weighed significantly on returns. On a positive note, the position in Charter Communications rose. The increasing realisation of synergies from its acquisition of Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks supported an improvement in operating margins. Shares in incumbent data centre provider Equinix were supported by relatively defensive demand in light of the current COVID-19 situation.

The portfolio manager believes that markets are driven by long-term cycles and secular themes, and that investing in companies that are exposed to these structural trends will provide sustainable returns. Banking systems and services provider Fiserv remains among the top positions and continues to benefit from banks' efforts to cut costs in order to compensate from the ongoing pressure of low (and now falling again) interest rates. Options and VIX futures exchange business Cboe Global Markets is another major overweight position, which should benefit from market volatility. It has further growth potential from its proprietary business in VIX futures and options and S&P 500 options.

ASEAN Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 542 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Equities in the ASEAN region declined sharply over the review period. A surge in the number of infected people across the globe led to an increased risk of economic disruption and triggered a sharp sell-off in equity markets. Singaporean and Indonesian equities were subdued due to losses in industrials and financials stocks, respectively. Political turmoil following the surprise resignation of the prime minister held back Malaysian equities. Stocks in the Philippines also slid in line with the broader regional trend. Thai markets ended in negative territory, as it is heavily reliant on global demand and tourism, which were hit hard by the pandemic.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period as selected financials and real estate stocks held back gains. Positions in Thai banking stocks, including Kasikornbank and Bangkok Bank detracted from returns. Their shares were weighed down by fears of a rise in non-performing loans as the COVID-19 pandemic impacts companies' cash flows and creates difficulties in repaying debt. Indonesian property developer Pakuwon Jati also fell out of favour amid worries over a decline in footfalls at its malls due to the pandemic. Conversely, automated equipment manufacturer Pentamaster International gained on increased earnings expectations, driven by rising demand for its automated testing equipment. It is also expected to benefit from improvements in the supply chain in South East Asia amid the COVID-19 outbreak, as capacity relocation from China speeds up.

The manager favours businesses that are enduring franchises with sustainable competitive advantages; have a reasonable runway of future growth; attractive valuations with a good risk/reward profile; solid balance sheet; and management with integrity and superior capital management ability. Convenience chain store operator CP All remains a key overweight position in the portfolio. The company is a dominant player in the Thai grocery market and has solid fundamentals. The conviction holding in Bank Tabungan Pensiunan Syariah was maintained for its robust long-term growth prospects and prudent management team.

Asia Focus Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 2,121 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia ex Japan equities retreated over the period. Concerns around US-China trade friction dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019. At the start of 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases raised fears of a global contagion and led to concerns around its potential impact on economic activity. A majority of economies across the region came to a standstill after their governments announced nation-wide lockdowns to control the spread of the virus. Against this backdrop, most countries and sectors in the region ended the period on a subdued note.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Security selection in the communication services and health care sectors added value. India's telecommunications operator Bharti Airtel gained amid encouraging results and on signs of consolidation in the sector, which would improve its competitive environment. Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing gained in light of incremental demand from fifth-generation (5G) deployment, emerging technologies, the internet of things, automation and gaming. Conversely, some disappointment stemmed from Thai position Kasikornbank, which reported subdued financial guidance. The bank, however, expects credit costs to be lower, leading to an improvement in returns on equity.

The fund is focused on its core investment philosophy, which is to invest in high-quality businesses run by strong management teams that benefit from the region's long-term structural growth drivers. The fund is overweight in the financials, information technology and consumer discretionary sectors, due to positions in companies with solid fundamentals. Positions in Indian lenders HDFC Bank and Axis Bank were among the preferred holdings. HDFC Bank is held for its strong management team with a conservative loan underwriting culture, robust deposit franchise, low cost of funds and high asset quality. Axis Bank is focusing on improving its asset quality, has low cost of funds and an attractive returns profile. Galaxy Entertainment Group is the best quality franchise in the Macau gaming space with a strong balance sheet. It is a beneficiary of long-term growth from the broadening of the customer base in China.

Asia Pacific Opportunities Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 643 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia Pacific ex Japan equities fell over the review period. Equities witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases outside China raised fears of a global contagion and concerns around its potential impact on economic activity spurred an indiscriminate sell-off across markets. Against this backdrop, all country indices except Taiwan and New Zealand ended the period in negative territory. Taiwanese equities attracted investor interest amid advances in the information technology (IT) sector, fuelled by an incrementally positive outlook for major technology companies that are exposed to fifth generation (5G) applications. The effective containment of the COVID-19 outbreak and the promise of policy stimulus led to Chinese stocks faring better than their global peers.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, due to rewarding security selection in the materials, consumer staples and IT sectors. Canadian gold royalty company Franco-Nevada advanced amid higher gold prices. Kweichow Moutai (A) also rose on expectations that resilient demand for highend-baiju from rising income and consumption upgrades in China would help the liquor and beverage maker to withstand the impact of the epidemic. The Netherlands-based semiconductor equipment maker ASML Holding gained as an improvement in capacity utilisation and order wins for EUV lithography tools lifted its profitability outlook. Conversely, oil refiner SK Innovation declined amid concerns over weakness in its refining and petrochemical margins due to the COVID-19 outbreak.

The manager focuses on bottom-up stock selection and favours companies that have an understandable business model, above-average earnings growth rate relative to market expectations and trade at attractive valuations. Video surveillance equipment manufacturer Hangzhou HIKVision Digital Technology (A) enjoys robust long-term growth prospects, supported by rising penetration in lower tier cities and product upgrades in major cities. India-based HDFC Bank is a well-managed bank with a best in class retail deposit franchise, dominant position in the mortgage segment, well-diversified revenue mix, strong distribution network, solid execution track record, robust asset quality and consistent financial performance.

Asian Equity Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 883 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia ex Japan equities retreated over the 12-month review period. Concerns around US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019. Starting in 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases raised fears of a global contagion. A majority of economies across the region came to a standstill after their governments imposed nation-wide lockdowns to control the spread of the virus. Against this backdrop, the majority of countries and sectors in the region ended the period on a subdued note.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. In line with the manager's bottom-up approach, security selection, notably in the financials and health care sectors, detracted from returns. Shares in Hong Kong-based Dah Sing Financial Holdings declined as investors remained concerned about ongoing civil unrest in the region. The bank offers a restructuring opportunity, has a robust balance sheet, healthy dividend pay-out and trades at attractive valuations. The position in Korean cosmetics company Cosmax disappointed. However, the company is a well-recognised and leading cosmetics original design manufacturer (ODM) in Korea. Conversely, stronger than expected retail sales boosted sportswear brand Li Ning. While the virus outbreak and weakening consumer confidence will create some uncertainties, the company is more prepared to deal with the crisis than its peers given its clean channel and much-improved distributor strength. and as well as its pricing momentum.

The fund is focused on companies in three categories – restructuring candidates where the manager finds catalysts for an improvement in returns; those that have global technology, scale or cost leadership; and strong franchises that benefit from long-term structural drivers. Galaxy Entertainment Group, the best quality casino operator in Macau, is a preferred position in the portfolio. It is a beneficiary of long-term growth from the broadening of the customer base in China. Among insurers, Hong Kong-based AIA Group is a long-term beneficiary of growth in Asia's underpenetrated insurance markets, given its diversified regional operations.

Asian Smaller Companies Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 633 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Equities in Asian smaller companies slid over the year under review due to concerns around global growth. US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019. At the start of 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility amid the COVID-19 outbreak. The pandemic has caused large scale demand destruction, disruptions in economic activity and restrictions on the movement of people. In response, regional policymakers have announced a series of measures to stimulate domestic demand and revive economic growth.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the review period, mainly because of its value style and bias towards small-caps, which have been out of favour. Growth stocks and large-caps have strongly outperformed value stocks and small-caps. Indian financials came under pressure. Mortgage lender PNB Housing Finance and GIC Housing Finance slid amid persistent liquidity issues in the non-banking financials space. Shiriram City Union Finance was caught in the weak capital market sentiment in India. Media company Shemaroo Entertainment fell out of favour on subdued advertisement revenue. On a positive note, selected Chinese holdings proved rewarding. In particular, Tianneng Power International advanced after it reported encouraging corporate earnings for its fiscal year. Automobile dealers China Yongda Automobile Services and Zhongsheng Group rose on positive growth prospects given the significantly unpenetrated luxury vehicles market in China.

The fund is managed with an absolute returns perspective. The manager invests in companies with strong competitive advantages run by a solid management team, and tries to buy them at a reasonable price. Power Grid Corporation of India is a key position in the portfolio. It is favoured for its highly visible midteens regulated returns on equity, low operational risk due to its criticality in the value chain and reasonable dividend yield. Tianneng Power International is a leading manufacturer of batteries that are primarily used in e-bikes. Management's focus on improving profitability is seen in a positive light.

Asian Special Situations Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 2,889 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia ex Japan equities retreated over the 12-month review period. Concerns around US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019. Starting in 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases raised fears of a global contagion. A majority of economies across the region came to a standstill after their governments imposed nation-wide lockdowns to control the spread of the virus. Against this backdrop, the majority of countries and sectors in the region ended the period on a subdued note.

The fund generated negative returns over the year. In line with the manager's bottom-up approach, security selection, notably in the financials and health care sectors, detracted from returns. Shares in Hong Kong-based Dah Sing Financial Holdings declined as investors remained concerned about ongoing civil unrest in the region. The bank offers a restructuring opportunity, has a robust balance sheet, healthy dividend pay-out and trades at attractive valuations. The position in Korean cosmetics company Cosmax disappointed. However, the company is a well-recognised and leading cosmetics original design manufacturer (ODM) in Korea. Conversely, stronger than expected retail sales boosted sportswear brand Li Ning. While the virus outbreak and weakening consumer confidence will create some uncertainties, the company is more prepared to deal with the crisis than its peers given its clean channel and much-improved distributor strength. and as well as its pricing momentum.

The fund is focused on companies in three categories — restructuring candidates where the manager finds catalysts for an improvement in returns; those that have global technology, scale or cost leadership; and strong franchises that benefit from long-term structural drivers. Galaxy Entertainment Group, the best quality casino operator in Macau, is a preferred position in the portfolio. It is a beneficiary of long-term growth from the broadening of the customer base in China. Among insurers, Hong Kong-based AIA Group is a long-term beneficiary of growth in Asia's underpenetrated insurance markets, given its diversified regional operations.

Australia Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : AUD 442 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Australian equities retreated over the year. Markets started the period on a positive note amid the surprise re-election of the incumbent government. However, investor sentiment was subdued on worries over the Australian bushfires and a weak corporate earnings season. In early 2020, stock markets worldwide were caught in an indiscriminate sell-off as the COVID-19 contagion unfolded. The outbreak resulted in a complete halt in economic activity across regions as governments imposed lockdown measures. The Australian dollar significantly depreciated against the US dollar during this time. Meanwhile, an ill-timed dispute between the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and Russia prompted a steep fall in oil prices towards the end of the review period.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the review period. An overweight stance in the relatively defensive health care and consumer staples sectors contributed to returns. The allocation to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare (AU) and ResMed added value. Both companies develop medical devices to help in respiratory care and are expected to gain from an increase in demand for their products due to the COVID-19 outbreak. Supermarket operator Coles Group advanced as robust sales momentum amid the virus outbreak allowed it to maintain its full-pricing approach. Gold producers Evolution Mining and Northern Star Resources gained amid a surge in gold prices. Conversely, the position in Oil Search came under pressure due to a disappointing earnings update and uncertainty over its P'nyang gas agreement.

The manager believes that underlying business returns drive share prices and favours companies with a sustainable competitive edge, strong free cash flow generation, robust earnings growth and attractive dividend yields. Among key holdings, Fisher and Paykel Healthcare offers a strong runway of growth with its globally diversified operations and strong market position. Coles Group enjoys a clear cost-reduction strategy through supply chain optimisation and improved product offerings. It has a healthy balance sheet, a solid online retail strategy and is likely to be a beneficiary of food inflation.

China Consumer Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 3,050 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Chinese equities declined over a volatile 12-month period. At the start of the review period, trade tensions between the US and China dominated sentiment. Investor confidence improved towards the end of 2019 amid optimism about the signing of a phase one trade deal. In 2020, the focus shifted to the black swan COVID-19 pandemic that emerged in Wuhan, China, and spread across the rest of the world. The ensuing uncertainty spurred steep stock market declines. However, the effective containment of the virus outbreak in China, policy stimulus measures and reports suggesting that the situation appeared to be normalising rapidly, buoyed stocks towards the end of the period. Meanwhile, sentiment towards the Hong Kong stock market weakened on fears of a virusinduced recession.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, as selected communication services stocks held back gains. State-owned telecommunications operator China Unicom fell amid concerns over delays in the adoption of fifth generation (5G) technology and intensifying competitive pressures. Certain financials stocks also ended lower. China Life Insurance (H) declined amid concerns over the impact that the COVID-19 outbreak would have on agent productivity and insurance premiums. Conversely, private educational services provider New Oriental Education & Technology Group ADR added value as it is likely to benefit from industrial consolidation due to the exit of small and medium sized tutorina franchises.

The manager maintains an overweight stance in "New China" sectors as they are less sensitive to macroeconomic cyclicality and short-term policy shifts. These sectors are expected to witness solid growth in coming years due to technology advancements and changes in consumer behaviour. Hong Kongbased insurance services provider AIA Group is likely to benefit from a demographic shift in Asia, as low penetration, rising income and an aging population support demand for long-term savings and protection insurance products. Defensively placed state-owned telecommunications operator China Mobile offers an attractive combination of dividend yields and earnings resilience in the current volatile environment.

China Focus Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 3,068 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Chinese equities were volatile over the 12-month period that was marked by intensifying China-US trade issues in 2019, followed by the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. The contagion, which originated in China and spread worldwide, prompted a massive wave of risk aversion in financial markets. Chinese policymakers implemented proactive lockdown measures to curtail the outbreak, which yielded favourable results. A reasonable level of economic activity resumed towards the end of the review period. However, investor focus was concentrated on a narrow band of stocks, which saw the value style lag substantially.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year given its strong value tilt. A steep fall in oil prices after the production cut dispute between Saudi Arabia and Russia weighed on the holding in oil producer CNOOC amid bleak short-term demand prospects. China Life Insurance (H) slid due to concerns over agency productivity and outreach amid the outbreak. Investors overlooked the strong jumpstart in sales and encouraging growth in new business value margins in its recent results. An underweight stance in the consumer discretionary sector, particularly in leading e-commerce players, hurt relative returns as online retail surged during the pandemic-driven lockdown, leading to substantial valuation premiums. This was partly offset by the exposure to online discount retailer Vipshop Holdings ADR, which reported better-than-expected results, supported by robust apparel sales. The lack of exposure to Trip.com buoyed relative performance amid the steep decline in travel demand in 2020. Meanwhile, the preferred position in the best-in-class cement producer Anhui Conch Cement added value as it reported encouraging sales and profits in 2019.

The manager focuses on opportunities arising from structural changes underway in China. The key holding in China Mobile is a beneficiary of the fifth-generation (5G) rollout in China, as it is likely to enjoy faster 5G subscriber growth with alleviated capital expenditure pressures. China Life Insurance (H) is an attractively valued beneficiary of long-term structural growth in the Chinese insurance industry. It is focused on enhancing agency productivity as well as the profitability of new business. The exposure to high-quality state-owned property firms China Overseas Land & Investment and China Resources Land was also retained.

China Opportunities Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 45 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Chinese equities declined over the 12-month period. At the start of the review period, uncertainty around progress on US-China trade talks dominated sentiment. Investor confidence improved towards the end of 2019 amid optimism about the signing of the phase one trade deal. In 2020, investors focused on the black swan COVID-19 pandemic that emerged in Wuhan, China, affecting thousands of people globally. The ensuing uncertainty spurred steep stock market declines. However, the effective containment of the virus outbreak in China, policy stimulus measures and reports suggesting that the situation appears to be normalising rapidly, buoyed stocks towards the end of the period

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, as selected consumer staples and health care stocks proved rewarding. The allocation to hypermarket operator Sun Art Retail Group added value. TaoXianDa, a fresh food service that offers an integrated solution to retailers to digitise their operations, witnessed a boost in the profitability of its online grocery delivery business. Shares in high-end baiju maker Kweichow Moutai (A) rose amid resilient demand from rising income and consumption upgrades in China, which enabled it to withstand the impact of the pandemic. Biopharmaceutical company Innovent Biologics advanced on expectations that the inclusion of its drug Tyryt on the National Reimbursement Drug List would enhance its profitability. Conversely, state-owned telecommunications operator China Unicom fell amid concerns over delays in the adoption of fifth generation (5G) technology and intensifying competitive pressures.

The manager continues to favour the "New China" theme. These sectors are expected to witness solid growth in the coming years, due to technology advancements, changes in consumer behaviour and flexible business strategies. Furthermore, they are less sensitive to short-term policy shifts. The manager sees a good supply of attractive investment opportunities in diverse sectors such as consumer staples, health care, communication services and energy. The key overweight positions were in Industrial & Commercial Bank of China (H), Kweichow Moutai (A) and China Mengniu Dairy.

Emerging Asia Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 933 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging Asian equities fell over the period due to the extreme uncertainty related to the COVID-19 outbreak in China in January 2020 and the ensuing global contagion. The black swan event dominated stock markets and economic activity as several governments imposed lockdown measures to contain the pandemic. As a result, economic activity was severely curtailed, creating challenges to ascertain near-term demand growth. Policymakers announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures to cushion the impact, which revived investor sentiment towards the end of the review period.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period. Biotechnology holdings WuXi Biologics and Innovent Biologics benefited from expectations that the COVID-19 outbreak would prompt the Chinese government to continue to provide policy support to accelerate innovative drug development. This was seen as a tailwind for these companies, as they have demonstrated encouraging execution skills and have a clear growth strategy. The holding in high-end baijiu producer Kweichow Moutai (A) proved resilient amid consistent corporate earnings and robust pricing power compared to peers. Its strong fundamentals drew investor interest even in volatile periods. Online consumption driven positions in New Oriental Education & Technology, Tencent Holdings and Alibaba Group Holding ADR contributed to returns due to strong demand for online education, entertainment and ecommerce as consumers were restricted in their movements. Conversely, lenders Axis Bank and Kasikornbank were caught in the indiscriminate sell-off in regional equities in 2020.

The manager focuses on high-quality stocks with robust business models and strong management teams that can add considerable value for shareholders over time. At the country level, the fund is overweight in China and Hong Kong, while at the sector level, it has notable exposure to financials, consumer discretionary and information technology stocks. HDFC Bank and AlA Group are the key positions in the portfolio. HDFC Bank is preferred for its strong franchise, quality management team and solid asset quality. AlA Group is favoured as it is the best in class private sector insurer with room to grow as China opens up in 2021 and the addressable market increases three-fold.

Emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 350 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Equities in the emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA) region fell during the review period. Risk assets declined significantly following the outbreak of COVID-19 in China and its spread across the world. However, in April, the market staged a rally as new cases appeared to peak in the countries that were hardest hit by the virus, and on positive newsflow around the possible development of a vaccine. Despite recent production cuts by the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and Russia, oil suffered its biggest decline in history, with the price of West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude oil moving into negative territory. Russian and South African stocks edged lower. All sectors posted negative returns, with the exception of information technology, which was almost flat. Quality and growth names outstripped value stocks on a relative basis.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period due to stock selection in the materials and consumer discretionary sectors. The exposure to integrated energy company Sasol hampered performance. The oil price collapse threw the sector into a tailspin, and Sasol declined during the latter part of the period due to concerns over covenants and liquidity. Despite the challenging environment, Naspers emerged as a key contributor to returns. Its shares were supported by the strong performance of its subsidiary Tencent Holdings, as its gaming and internet services saw soaring demand in an environment of limited mobility due to the spread of the COVID-19 virus in Looking beyond this sell-off, we believe that the EMEA region continues to offer attractive investment opportunities and long-term growth prospects. The bulk of our exposure to the EMEA region is via Naspers. The South African internet company has stakes in high-growth internet and e-commerce businesses in China, Russia and India. Elsewhere, the fund has exposure to Bupa Arabia, the largest health insurer in Saudi Arabia, which benefits from economies of scale and a favourable customer mix.

Emerging Markets Focus Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 228 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging markets fell during the review period. Risk assets declined significantly following the outbreak of COVID-19 in China and its spread across the world. However, in April, the market staged a rally as new cases appeared to peak in the countries that were hardest hit by the virus, and on positive newsflow around the possible development of a vaccine. Despite recent production cuts by the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and Russia, oil suffered its biggest decline in history, with the price of West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude oil moving into negative territory. Chinese equities declined, but losses were curbed as the country resumed economic activities in March following a stringent and prolonged lockdown. Latin American equities were volatile, but disappointed investors as currencies tumbled in recent months as the virus spread through the region and as fears of a slowdown in the global economy mounted. Risk-off sentiment weighed on metal prices as well. Copper prices fell to their lowest level in more than three years.

The fund outperformed the comparative index as a result of strong stock selection, particularly in the financials and consumer discretionary sectors. Within consumer discretionary, the position in China-based sports apparel company Li Ning added value. The company posted exceptionally strong results during the year, while its key financial and operation metrics continued to improve. The position in Zhongsheng Group Holdings, China's biggest automobile dealer, contributed to returns. Its shares rose on expectations of a healthy growth outlook, supported by network expansion.

The vast consumer base in the developing world underpins a multi-year growth opportunity due to rising demand for banking and other financial services. Hong Kong-based insurance services provider AIA Group is expected to benefit from a demographic shift in Asia, as low penetration, rising income and an aging population support demand for long-term savings and protection insurance products. In Indonesia, the fund holds Bank Central Asia. This privately owned bank has a best-in-class deposit franchise and a prudent focus on risk adjusted returns.

Risk-off sentiment weighed on metal prices as well. Copper prices fell to their lowest level in more than three

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period due to stock selection in the consumer discretionary sector and an underweight stance in energy stocks. The position in Zhongsheng Group Holdings, China's biggest automobile dealer, added value. Its shares rose in light of its healthy growth outlook, supported by network expansion. However, some gains were offset due to the COVID-19 outbreak. Within financials, the holding in Brazilian reinsurer IRB Brasil Resseguros weighed on returns. The stock fell sharply as a short-seller report highlighted alleged concerns in its accounting practices.

The fund's sector positioning is a by-product of stock selection and where the most compelling investment opportunities are found. Hong Kong-based insurance services provider AIA Group is expected to benefit from a demographic shift in Asia. The fund has exposure to branded sportwerr company Anta Sports Products. Its business structure, brand portfolio and market leadership position should help it to withstand the pandemic better than

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 308 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period, driven by strong stock selection and sector allocation. Stock picking in communication services, the overweight exposure to the consumer discretionary sector (driven by holdings in internet/online food delivery companies) and the bias towards health care supported performance. Telecommunication infrastructure company Cellnex Telecom was the largest contributor to returns, as its shares rose on the back of organic growth, new customer wins and acquisitions. Grifols ADR and Takeaway.com were among the other key performers. Cyclical holdings in industrials (Atlantia), energy (Royal Dutch Shell) and materials (ArcelorMittal), held back gains.

Amid a risk-off environment, the fund has an increased focus on defensive sectors. Health care remains the largest overweight sector, with key holdings in Grifols ADR and Fresenius Medical Care. Telecommunication services should benefit from increased demand and lower customer churn. Over the last couple of months, the fund moved to an overweight stance in communication services and reduced the underweight position in utilities. In cyclicals, the focus is on companies that have strong balance sheets and can weather the downturn. Selected information technology names should gain from a long-term shift to a remote working culture, while gaming companies are expected to benefit if they can maintain increased user levels over the long term.

Euro STOXX 50® Fund <sup>2</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 150 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse following the breakdown of the OPEC supply discipline. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the fund is managed to provide returns that are as close as possible to that of the index, which is a concentrated index of the 50 largest companies in the eurozone. However, the fund incurs costs and expenses that the index does not incur - although it can benefit from securities lending when the index cannot. This means fund returns should be similar to the index, rather than identical. Over the period, the primary A-EUR class of the fund returned -14.4% in net euro terms, outperforming the index, which returned -14.7%. Taxation was a positive source of tracking difference, where the fund's withholding tax treatment is more favourable versus the net total return index. Over the period, the same class' ex-post tracking error averaged 0.36% (a 3 year annualised figure, based on 36 month-end data points, is used in order to be regarded as more statistically valid). This measure of the variability of fund returns around the index can be influenced by a number of factors, including the aforementioned withholding tax differences, and the fund's partial swing pricing policy, which is designed to manage tracking difference as tightly as possible over time.

Geode Capital Management LLC was appointed as sub-investment manager to the fund on 3 January 2017. The managers endeavour to minimise deviation from the index by using an index tracking technique, which comprises full replication of the companies represented in the index. Please note, the fund's cash position, and investment of cash into a liquidity fund for diversification, does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's holdings weights more closely match the index.

Manager's Overview

European equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period. Favourable positioning in financials (underweight) and health care (overweight), coupled with strong performance from technology holdings contributed strongly to returns. In addition, the lack of exposure to the energy sector added relative value. Within technology, payments business Ingenico Group rose sharply following a takeover bid from Worldline. Nexi was also among the top contributors to performance. Its shares advanced strongly at the start of 2020 on positive full-year earnings, supported by cost cutting measures and sales growth. In health care, Novo Nordisk rose on the back of a positive update on its diabetes treatment drug Victoza. Shares in Grifols and Qiagen also outperformed.

The managers continue to invest in companies with secular growth drivers and quality characteristics. Sector and country positioning are a result of where they find the most attractive investment opportunities based on detailed bottom-up analysis. The fund continues to have significant exposure to the technology, industrials, health care and consumer sectors. All of these sectors show good growth potential over time. The energy, materials and financials sectors remain the main underweights given the difficulty in finding attractive companies where the investment thesis is not dependent on macroeconomic factors or commodity price forecasts. The fund is also underweight in consumer staples, as many of these companies are trading on high valuation multiples versus history.

However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the review period as both stock selection and sector allocation weighed on returns. Against a backdrop of significant volatility in global equity markets, the fund's preference for less expensive quality names, as well as the absence of some highly rated growth stocks hampered performance. Over the year, there was a shift away from valuation names and towards momentum stocks. In the risk-off environment, the overweight exposure to energy, coupled with an underweight allocation to willities hurt relative returns. Energy shares John Wood Group and Royal Dutch Shell (B) were among the key decliners following the dramatic fall in oil prices in March. Selected holdings in communication services (Publicis) and materials (ArcelorMittal) also held back gains. On a positive note, the underweight stance in consumer discretionary (particularly automobile companies) as well as stock selection in industrials added value.

The fund retains its long-term bias towards higher quality companies (with a valuation discipline) that can survive the downturn and outperform their peers over time. The focus remains on owning higher quality companies with strong cash flows, solid returns on investment, robust balance sheets and less volatile earnings, but without paying too high a multiple. The fund remains overweight in quality growth sectors such as industrials, consumer staples, information technology and health care, but with a strong valuation discipline. Conversely, it is underweight in materials, utilities and communication services.

European Larger Companies Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 820 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the review period as both stock selection and sector allocation weighed on returns. Against a backdrop of significant volatility in global equity markets, the fund's preference for less expensive quality names, as well as the absence of some highly rated growth stocks hampered performance. Over the year, there was a shift away from valuation names and towards momentum stocks. In the risk-off environment, the overweight exposure to energy, coupled with an underweight allocation to utilities hurt relative returns. Energy shares John Wood Group and Royal Dutch Shell (B) were among the key decliners following the dramatic fall in oil prices in March. Selected holdings in communication services (Publicis Groupe) and materials (ArcelorMittal) also held back gains. On a positive note, the underweight stance in consumer discretionary (particularly automobile companies) as well as stock selection in industrials added value.

The fund retains its long-term bias towards higher quality companies (with  $\boldsymbol{\alpha}$ valuation discipline) that can survive the downturn and outperform their peers over time. # European Smaller Companies Fund

Manager's Overview

European smaller equities, along with their larger peers, ended a volatile 12month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse following the breakdown of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) supply discipline. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period, with stock selection in the health care sector proving to be the largest detractor from returns. The exposure to the consumer discretionary sector generated mixed returns, as gains from the fund's overweight positioning were offset by negative stock selection. At a stock level, shares in Westwing Group were hurt due to weak earnings growth in the first half of 2019. Holdings in B&S Group and Global Fashion Group were also among the weak performers. Losses were mostly offset by strong performers such as HelloFresh, which benefited from solid earnings progression in 2019. Additionally, positive positioning in financials and strong performers in the communication services sector contributed to returns.

The fund is focused on identifying well-managed, cash generative companies that have clear market leadership, a sustainable competitive advantage, and profits driven by strong sales growth. The fund displays higher growth in sales and earnings, better balance sheet characteristics, and trades at slightly higher multiples than the index, reflecting the bias towards quality growth stocks. The fund has large overweight positions in the consumer discretionary and materials sectors, while it is underweight in the industrials, consumer staples and real estate sectors. Key holdings in materials include Kenmare Resources and Boliden, while core positions in consumer discretionary include Shop Apotheke Europe and Takeaway.com.

FIRST All Country World Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 295 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 panderic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, food, beverage & tobacco companies benefited as investors increasingly focused on defensive businesses with proven track records in a risk-off environment.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong security selection in consumer staples and communication services contributed to performance. However, selected holdings in industrials weighed on returns. The holding in Swedish Match was among the top contributors to performance. The tobacco firm released fourth quarter results that were ahead of consensus expectations, driven by the strong performance of its snus and moist snuff divisions. Data centre operator Equinix also added notable value, supported by the defensive nature of its business as the virus-related disruptions could boost data centre demand over the long term. However, the holding in US petroleum refining company Marathon Petroleum fell due to concerns that an announced sale of assets comes at a very uncertain time and signals a need for the company to raise capital to maintain its debt. However, its long-term fundamentals have not changed.

The portfolio manager continues to focus on the highest conviction and most relevant ideas generated by Fidelity's global analyst base. By mitigating unintended risks, the manager ensures that stock selection is the key driver of risks and returns. Portfolio positioning is therefore a result of bottom-up stock selection.

FIRST Developed World Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 35 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, information technology (IT) service companies declined.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Selected positions in the industrials and IT sectors weighed on returns. However, strong security selection in the real estate sector added value. The allocation to US petroleum refining company Marathon Petroleum fell on concerns that an announced sale of assets comes at a very uncertain time and signals a need for the company to raise capital to maintain its debt. However, its long-term fundamentals have not changed. The holding in Alliance Data Systems, an IT services company, was another notable detractor from performance amid concerns over earnings growth against a weakening economic backdrop. Encouragingly, the holding in Swedish Match was among the top contributors to returns. The tobacco firm released fourth quarter results that were ahead of consensus expectations, driven by the strong performance of its snus and moist snuff divisions.

The manager continues to focus on the highest conviction and most relevant ideas generated by Fidelity's global analyst base. By mitigating unintended risks, the manager ensures that stock selection is the key driver of risks and returns. Portfolio positioning is therefore a result of bottom-up stock selection.

FIRST European Value Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 16 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. Gains registered in 2019 were more than offset in the first quarter of 2020, particularly in March, due to a surge in the number of COVID-19 cases across the globe and the sharp oil price fall after Saudi Arabia and Russia failed to reach an agreement to cut production. Markets recovered partially in April as slowing COVID-19 cases across Europe saw the introduction of plans to ease lockdown measures in major countries, including Italy, France and Germany. This was coupled with strong stimulus measures announced by central banks.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, largely driven by solid stock selection in health care and consumer staples, which proved to be relatively resilient during the market sell-off in the first quarter of 2020. However, an overweight exposure to industrials and stock-specific disappointments in utilities weighed on relative performance. At a stock level, Roche Holdings was among the leading contributors to returns. The company received a short-term boost as a supplier of COVID-19 testing kits, as well as from the ongoing development of its potential coronavirus treatment Actemra. More broadly, the company remains an attractive long-term prospect due to its very strong balance sheet, good momentum in newly launched products and excellent pipeline across a variety of therapeutic areas. Similarly, multinational pharmaceutical players AstraZeneca and Grifols added value. Conversely, the holding in Royal BAM Group detracted from relative performance after it posted weak FY19 results and issued a cautious outlook for 2020. Subsequently, the position in the construction company was sold.

In the current uncertain environment, a bottom-up investment approach, focused on stock level fundamentals, is best suited to deliver returns. The portfolio managers continue to focus on capturing the highest conviction ratings of Fidelity's global analyst base and to create portfolios where stock selection is the key driver of risk and returns.

France Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 48 MILLION

Manager's Overview

French equities, along with the broader European market, ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period as both stock selection and sector allocation disappointed. From a style perspective, the lack of exposure to expensive momentum stocks and the overweight stance in small/mid-cap value stocks weighed on relative returns. The exposure to communication services, particularly holdings in media names Solocal Group and Technicolor, hampered performance. The former's shares declined sharply after the company withheld interest payments to bondholders to preserve injudity during the COVID-19 crisis, while shares in Technicolor fell after it announced a EUR300 million rights issue to strengthen its balance sheet. In consumer discretionary, the position in Renault and the lack of exposure to LVMH Moet Hennessy Louis Vuitton weighed on relative returns. On a positive note, the underweight positioning in financials and real estate added relative value. The lack of exposure to aerospace/defence companies (Airbus Group) and oil exploration companies (Total) also supported relative returns.

The fund currently trades on extremely low valuations compared to both the broader market and its peers. The sell-off induced by the COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in extreme dislocations and disconnects with corporate fundamentals, creating very attractive investment opportunities. Many holdings trade on historically low valuations, while they are implementing turnaround initiatives or/and are at cyclical troughs. The manager is positioning the fund for a rebound, but with a focus on resilient balance sheets. History suggests that small and mid-cap stocks, which are on historically low relative valuation levels, outperform in the recovery phase post a crisis.

Germany Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 759 MILLION

Manager's Overview

German equities, along with the broader European market, ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the review period. After a strong 2019, the fund proved more resilient than the broader market during the sell-off due to its quality growth bias, investment in companies with strong balance sheets and a high share of recurring earnings – characteristics that are particularly suited to navigating downturns. At a sector level, the overweight exposure to health care and selected software holdings contributed to returns. Positions in Fresenius Medical Care and Qiagen added notable value. The former proved resilient in a weak market as it met its FY19 expectations and reiterated its 2020 guidance. Qiagen, a manufacturer of COVID-19 testing kits, benefited from a significant increase in global demand for these kits. Digital portal operator Scout24 and online food ordering company Delivery Hero were among the key performers. In terms of detractors, some cyclical industrials (Siemens and Airbus) and automobile holdings (Continental and Porsche Automobil Holding Perpetutal (Pref'd)) underperformed in the risk-off environment. The holding in Continental was subsequently sold.

Despite the recent sharp market moves and alarming news headlines, the manager continued to focus on corporate fundamentals. The fund took advantage of the volatility and disconnect between fundamentals and valuations to buy new quality holdings and adjust positions when that made sense. The manager focuses on investing in a concentrated, differentiated portfolio of attractively priced, high-conviction, quality companies that are expected to grow well above the market average over the long term.

Global Communications Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 16 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, media & entertainment companies gained.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. The overweight stance in the media & entertainment sector and strong stock selection in the real estate segment contributed to returns. However, the underweight stance in telecommunication services detracted from returns. At a stock level, the holding in video streaming major Netflix advanced on expectations that the COVID-19 outbreak would lead people to spend more time at home, which could benefit its businesses. The holding in Amazon.com benefited from a step-change in e-commerce penetration. Its shares were also supported by an increase in market share in previously underpenetrated e-commerce areas such as groceries. Post the COVID-19 crisis, consumers may well continue to order groceries online and the increased demand for digital entertainment is also likely to be sustained. However, the position in telecommunications company AT&T fell.

The fund invests in enablers, networks and innovators primarily in the communication services and information technology sectors that are driving advances in Future Connectivity. The Future Connectivity universe is benefiting from stronger growth than the broader market, and the fund is investing in companies with even better growth potential than the thematic universe. The fund exploits this theme with a deep understanding of underlying technologies, new business models and a truly global investment perspective. The portfolio's main overweight positions are in the entertainment and media industries.

Global Consumer Industries Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 1,027 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May-December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, entertainment companies gained.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, primarily due to stock selection in the automobiles and entertainment industries. However, selected holdings in the internet & direct marketing retail segment weighed on returns. Positions in video streaming major Netflix and US video game company Activision Blizzard advanced on expectations that the COVID-19 outbreak would lead people to spend more time at home, which could benefit these businesses. However, the holding in Italian luxury goods company Salvatore Ferragamo fell in view of the weakening outlook for the consumer sector.

The portfolio manager looks to invest in themes where consumers spend their time and money. The manager has been watching the COVID-19 outbreak very closely. Most of the companies held in the fund have strong global businesses and China is the key growth market. The virus outbreak was a high-risk event, thus the manager started to reduce the exposure to more risky, lower conviction ideas. After these adjustments, the manager believes the fund is well positioned to give investors exposure to how people spend their time and money. The overweight stance in the textiles, apparel & luxury goods segment was maintained, with a preference towards global brands with greater pricing power, such as LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton. The bias towards the personal products industry was also maintained. The manager is also overweight in entertainment and internet companies.

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May—December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, consumer staples and information technology (IT) stocks underperformed the broader market.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. The lack of exposure to the oil, gas and consumable fuels sector contributed to relative performance as oil prices fell. The underweight stance in banks also added relative value. Conversely, selected IT positions weighed on returns. At a stock level, the allocation to biotechnology company CSL was supported by robust demand for immunoglobulin in a highly concentrated plasma market. Its solid research and development pipeline and prospects for successful product launches also attracted investor interest. The position in life sciences tools & services group Thermo Fisher Scientific contributed to returns. Over the longer term, it stands to benefit from tailwinds such as an expected increase in government funding for infectious disease testing and a greater prioritisation of capital towards critical industries. The holding in aerospace company Airbus detracted from returns as travel-related industries suffered due to the pandemic.

The fund invests in companies whose earnings are driven by predictable and long-term structural drivers related to demographics. Sector positioning is aligned to demographics driven growth to harness benefits from factors such as a growing population, growth of the middle classes and ageing. The manager prefers to hold quality names that trade at reasonable valuations. Consequently, the overweight stance in the health care equipment & supplies industry, which should benefit from an ageing population, was retained.

Global Financial Services Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 798 MILLION

Manager's Overview

The global financials sector posted negative returns over the period, in line with the broader trend in global indices. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period, driven by stock specific opportunities. Financial technology (FinTech) company Ingenico Group was the largest contributor to returns, following a lucrative take-out offer from Worldline. Fidelity National Information Services (FIS), a provider of core banking systems, benefits from banks' efforts to cut costs in order to compensate for the ongoing pressure of low (and now falling again) interest rates. The outsourcing of information technology (IT) infrastructure requirements by banks remains a secular growth story, with FIS and others benefiting from the sale of many ancillary products. Intercontinental Exchange, which operates several exchange franchises along with non-exchange businesses, including Pricing and Analytics (IDC), indices, and listings, also performed well. Conversely, although the fund remains underweight in banks, selected holdings detracted from returns amid increased prospects for loan losses. Positions in China Construction Bank, UniCredit and Societe Generale declined.

Going into 2020, the fund is underweight in banks and interest rate exposure, and overweight in higher quality business models and balance sheet-light companies. This positioning has been supportive of performance, especially in a period when central banks worldwide have been cutting interest rates.

Global Focus Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 536 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, both the consumer staples and information technology (IT) sectors underperformed the broader market.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong stock selection in the real estate, communication services and consumer discretionary sectors supported returns, but industrials were among the notable detractors from performance. At a stock level, leading electric vehicle (EV) manufacturer Tesla was the top contributor to returns. Its shares were supported by its positive earnings outlook, driven by its ability to successfully tackle supply issues, which marked its emergence as a strong, viable competitor in the next-generation automobile space. Within the real estate sector, positive earnings lifted the position in wireless infrastructure operator SBA Communications. However, the holding in aerospace and defence group Rolls-Royce weighed on returns due to concerns over earnings amid a weakening demand outlook following the COVID-19 outbreak.

The portfolio manager believes that stock-specific fundamentals will remain the key driver of equity returns. Consequently, the portfolio continues to focus on companies that demonstrate strong pricing power, are led by talented management teams and are available at reasonable valuations. The fund remains overweight in financials. The exposure to the sector is via a combination of diversified financials and banking names with strong balance sheets, nimble business models, clear earnings drivers and strong management teams with proven track records.

Global Health Care Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 1,120 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, health care equipment companies plummeted, as hospitals have diverted all resources to managing the COVID-19 pandemic and elective procedures are on hold at this time.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Selected positions in the health care equipment & supplies sub-sector weighed on performance. However, strong security selection in the pharmaceuticals sub-sector added value. Positions in medical device companies Boston Scientific and Zimmer Biomet were particularly weak due to the containment measures put in place across the US and Europe to try to prevent the spread of COVID-19. Encouragingly, the allocation to biotechnology company CSL was supported by robust demand for immunoglobulin in a highly concentrated plasma market.

The fund invests in good quality companies that are set to benefit from the long-term structural growth drivers within health care, namely the aging of the population and increased health care needs. The manager's focus is on holding health care businesses across pharmaceuticals, biotech, medical devices and health insurance companies. These companies tend to be defensive in nature, as even in these times of volatility and uncertainty, demand for drugs and medical procedures will not change. As such, the defensive nature of the industry, driven by long-term structural mega trends as well as our quality focus, will drive attractive returns for clients. The fund remains overweight in the health care equipment and supplies sub-sectors, with key active positions in Boston Scientific, ICON and Boxter International.

Global Industrials Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 57 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, industrials and energy companies plummeted, as crude oil prices fell due to weakening demand and a lack of storage capacity.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Selected positions in the aerospace & defence sector weighed on overall performance. However, strong security selection in the information technology (IT) services sector added value. The position in aerospace company Rolls-Royce Holdings detracted the most from returns as travel-related industries suffered due to COVID-19-related headwinds. The exposure to chemicals company DuPont de Nemours declined after it downgraded its 2020 forecast on the back of falling nylon prices. On a positive note, in an increasingly volatile market environment, companies with more defensive businesses and strong balance sheets found favour with investors. SIG Combibloc's aseptic liquid packaging system business is geared for organic growth over the longer term, due to an expected expansion in emerging markets.

The manager continues to purchase companies that match his core investment philosophy of holding good businesses with robust balance sheets run by strong management teams at reasonable valuations. The fund is currently overweight in US defence, industrial software and automation, freight transportation and higher quality materials companies.

Global Infrastructure Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 76 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities posted negative returns over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May—December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, the infrastructure sector declined over the period.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the 12-month period. Weak security selection in the transportation and telecommunication services sectors detracted the most from returns. Shares in airline companies International Consolidated Airlines (IAG) and Air New Zealand came under pressure as news flow around the spread of the virus and its impact on passenger demand worsened. Current travel restrictions will weigh on profits in the short to medium term, but the long-term structural thesis on these stocks remains intact. Both companies have good competitive positions and relatively solid balance sheets.

The fund invests in equities across the world, selected from a universe of infrastructure sectors, including telecommunications, utilities, energy, transportation and social. The fund has a sizeable allocation to the telecommunications sector, with a preference for integrated telecommunication services companies. It is underweight in utilities (bond-proxy stocks) given the downside risk of an increase in interest rates. Elsewhere, the manager remains overweight in the energy sector and prefers oil and gas companies.

Global Low Volatility Equity Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 27 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell and underperformed bonds over the year under review. Equities performed positively over the May-December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong stock selection in the materials sector was the primary driver of returns, while the lack of exposure to energy stocks added relative value as oil prices fell sharply. Within the materials sector, holdings in gold mining groups Newmont Goldcorp and Barrick Gold gained in line with a rise in gold prices as investors looked to safe haven assets given the increasing market volatility in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Wheaton Precious Metals, one of the world's largest precious metals streaming companies, was another notable contributor to performance. Meanwhile, an acceleration in sales growth and an improvement in profit margins drove earnings growth at value retailer Dollar General, which added notable value.

At the portfolio level, the managers are maintaining the current strategy of high fundamental buy ratings exposure, while seeking to minimise absolute risk. The managers expect to achieve 60–80% of the volatility of the MSCI World Index in the long term.

Global Property Fund <sup>6</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 171 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global property markets ended in negative territory as the spread of COVID-19 cases outside China raised fears of a global economic crisis. At a sector level, hotels were among the worst performers given the direct impact of travel restrictions on the leisure and travel industry. Retail is yet another sector that was significantly impacted by the sell-off as the spread of the virus hit consumer demand and footfalls on the high street globally. At a country level, the real estate market across economies came under pressure as consumer confidence fell due to concerns that the COVID-19 outbreak would lead to a slowdown in the world economy. Meanwhile, some countries announced relief packages for struggling tenants.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong security selection in the US and France contributed the most to returns. At a stock level, real estate investment trust Digital Realty Trust REIT enhanced gains. Its fourth quarter results were ahead of consensus expectations, attributable to its strong funds from operations (FFO) numbers. The company signed a respectable number of new leases during the quarter, which further boosted returns. Shares in Prologis REIT rose as the logistics real estate company reported positive fourth quarter results and issued an encouraging funds from operations guidance for FY2020.

The fund has a sizable allocation to the US, with a preference for residential companies. The portfolio has an overweight stance in Europe, and prefers German residential equities and offices in Spain. The manager remains underweight in the UK amid Brexit-related uncertainties. In Asia, the fund is underweight in Hong Kong, and prefers companies that operate in the residential and offices segments. At the industry level, the portfolio has an overweight exposure to the residential and industrial segments, and a large underweight in retail.

Global Technology Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 6,208 MILLION

Manager's Overview

The global information technology (IT) sector posted positive returns and outperformed the broader market over the review period. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. Stock selection within the entertainment industry was an overwhelmingly positive area as far as absolute performance was concerned, with strong contribution from online gaming and video streaming names. In contrast, stock selection and an underweight position in the software space was a major source of weakness. The fund's bias towards mid and small-cap stocks hurt relative performance. With market sentiment favouring large-cap quality names (particularly in software), the underweight stance in Microsoft was among the top detractors from relative returns. The underweight position in Apple also hampered relative performance. Online gaming, video streaming and e-commerce companies are beneficiaries of the COVID-19 crisis as people spend more time indoors. In this context, Netflix and Amazon.com were notable contributors to returns. Earlier in the review period, positions in Tesla and Uber Technologies contributed strongly to performance, with the success of the Tesla Model 3 far exceeding consensus expectations. The manager had sold the holding in Tesla prior to the sell-off.

The fund's positioning in structural themes, such as rising internet and e-commerce penetration, electric vehicle uptake, artificial intelligence (AI) development and enterprise digitisation has continued. However, the manager is now seeing more investable opportunities related to the fifth-generation (5G) rollout. The fund remains overweight in internet and gaming names and underweight in software and IT services.

Greater China Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 688 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Chinese equities declined over a volatile 12-month period. At the start of the review period, trade tensions between the US and China dominated sentiment. Investor confidence improved towards the end of 2019 amid optimism about the signing of a phase one trade deal. In 2020, the focus shifted to the black swan COVID-19 pandemic that emerged in Wuhan, China, and spread across the rest of the world. However, the effective containment of the virus outbreak in China, policy stimulus measures and reports suggesting that the situation appeared to be normalising rapidly, buoyed stocks towards the end of the period. On a positive note, Taiwanese equities attracted investor interest due to an incrementally positive outlook for major technology companies that are exposed to fifth generation (5G) applications

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the review period, as selected consumer staples positions contributed to returns. The allocation to hypermarket operator Sun Art Retail Group added value. Its fresh food service TaoXianDa, which offers an integrated solution to retailers to digitise their operations, witnessed a boost in the profitability of its online grocery delivery business. Shares in high-end baiju maker Kweichow Moutai (A) rose amid resilient demand from rising income and consumption upgrades in China, which enabled it to withstand the impact of the pandemic. Conversely, state-owned telecommunications operator China Unicom fell amid concerns over delays in the adoption of 5G technology and intensifying competitive pressures.

The manager continues to focus on areas that can deliver sustainable growth over the next three to five years. As a result of the bottom-up stock selection process, the fund has an overweight stance in China and an underweight allocation to Hong Kong and Taiwan. Industrial & Commercial Bank of China (H) is a defensively placed well-managed bank with a leading market share, strong pricing capabilities in loans and deposits, low funding costs, healthy capital position and favourable valuations. Semiconductor manufacturer Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing is likely to benefit from structural growth drivers in artificial intelligence, the Internet of Things, its 5G network technology and high-performance computing.

Iberia Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 261 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Iberian equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse following the breakdown of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) supply discipline. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period, driven by positive sector allocation and strong security selection. Favourable positioning in the financials (underweight), health care and technology (both overweight) sectors contributed strongly to returns. In financials, an underweight position in Banco Santander and the lack of exposure to Banco Bilbao Vizcaya Argentaria added relative value. Within health care, shares in plasma biotherapeutics business Grifols gained in light of sustained earnings growth during 2019. Among technology holdings, payments business Ingenico Group rose sharply after it received a takeover bid from Worldline. Conversely, the underweight allocation to utilities stocks proved to be a headwind to relative performance as the sector outperformed the broader market.

The fund is well diversified, with an emphasis on long-term structural growth businesses, including beneficiaries of health care trends/demographics, renewables companies and attractively valued consumer businesses. The fund has the flexibility to invest outside of Iberia, in companies that offer greater risk-adjusted return potential than those listed in the region. Therefore, the managers have holdings in Takeaway.com and Airbus Group. Given the managers' focus on identifying companies that are undervalued and likely to benefit from structural growth drivers, the fund has positions in Grifols, Industria de Diseno Textil and Amadeus IT Group.

India Focus Fund <sup>7</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,412 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Indian equities declined over the period. Domestic growth concerns amid  $\boldsymbol{\alpha}$ slowdown in India's consumption demand and rising macroeconomic uncertainties weighed on investor sentiment. US-China trade frictions dominated sentiment over most of 2019. At the start of 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases raised fears of a global contagion and led to concerns around its potential impact on economic growth. Consequently, policymakers announced a series of measures to stimulate domestic demand and revive economic growth.

The fund performed in line with the comparative index over the year. Security selection in utilities proved rewarding. Gujarat Gas gained on solid volume growth amid the National Green Tribunal's ban on coal gasifiers in Morbi. In addition, growth prospects are positive amid a structural shift towards industrial alternative fuel. Within health care, Cipla added value. Meanwhile, an underweight stance in Dr Reddys Lab weighed on relative returns. Health care stocks advanced as they are seen as key beneficiaries of COVID-19. Elsewhere, Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation was favoured for its monopoly business, providing online ticket booking, food catering services and the sale of packaged water to Indian railways. Conversely, the underweight allocation to consumer staples companies, particularly Nestle India and Avenue Supermarket hurt relative returns. These stocks benefited from the defensive nature of their businesses.

Starting 28 February 2020, existing portfolio manager Amit Goel assumed sole management responsibility for the fund after portfolio advisor Sandeep Kothari decided to leave the company. Amit continues to focus the portfolio on quality businesses and is exiting lower quality stocks. In financials, the portfolio holds some of the best quality institutions in India. HDFC Bank and Kotak Mahindra Bank remain conviction positions owing to their impeccable execution track record, robust balance sheet, solid asset quality and conservative underwriting culture. The fund is focusing on mid-cap consumer staples and large-cap information technology names.

Indonesia Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 196 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Indonesian equities declined over the 12-month period amid muted global cues. US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019, while at the start of 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility amid the COVID-19 outbreak. The pandemic has caused large scale demand destruction, disruptions in economic activity and restrictions on the movement of people. In response, the Indonesian government announced a series of measures to stimulate domestic demand and revive economic growth. Against this backdrop, all sectors ended in negative territory.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, due to rewarding security selection in the financials sector. The lack of exposure to Bank Danamon and an overweight stance in strong franchise Bank Central Asia contributed to returns. Among communication services, an encouraging growth outlook for Sarana Menara Nusantara on the back of tower acquisitions and organic expansion supported performance. Elsewhere, an underweight stance in Astra International enhanced relative gains. Its shares retreated due to persistent weakness in the automotive sector. Conversely, the bias against Barito Pacific weighed on relative returns as the stock rose amid a positive demand outlook and government reforms in the domestic petrochemical industry. An underweight stance in Unilever Indonesia also hurt relative performance. Its shares benefited as it consistently reported encouraging corporate earnings.

The manager believes there are persistent inefficiencies and mispricing opportunities in the Indonesian market that may be exploited through bottom-up, fundamental analysis to generate outperformance for investors. The manager favours long-term winners such as Bank Rakyat Indonesia Persero for its strong micro lending franchise, digitalisation efforts and superior returns profile. Pakuwon Jati is favoured for its dominant position in the retail mall space, with recurring rentals constituting nearly half of the company's revenue stream

International Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,604 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December 2019 period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Emerging markets fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, energy companies declined significantly, as crude oil prices plummeted on the back of weakening demand and the lack of storage capacity.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to US and European equities. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy detracted from performance as the style remained out of favour. The exposure to a pan European strategy held back gains due to its positioning in the industrials and utilities sectors. The holding in an underlying China consumer strategy added value given its underweight position in the energy sector. The Asia Pacific dividend strategy contributed to performance in light of its favourable positioning in the information technology sector. The allocation to cash also contributed to returns.

The manager remains overweight in emerging Asia given the larger share of energy importers and more attractive long-term themes such as China consumption. The manager also maintained an underweight allocation to the US as markets have rallied despite worrying economic fundamentals.

Italy Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 231 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Italian equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. Gains registered in 2019 were more than erased in the first quarter of 2020, particularly in March, due to growing concerns around the COVID-19 outbreak. This was followed by a partial market recovery in April.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, helped by strong security selection and sector positioning. Stock picking was particularly rewarding in the financials and industrials sectors. An overall underweight positioning in financials and an overweight allocation to information technology (IT) also proved favourable. At a stock level, the holding in payments services group Nexi boosted performance. Its shares advanced on positive full-year 2019 earnings, supported by cost cutting measures and sales growth. Industrial conglomerate Italmobiliare and aerospace business Avio were also among the top contributors to returns. Conversely, a structural underweight stance in electric utility Enel was the largest detractor from relative performance. The company was preferred for its defensive characteristics amid the volatility in the first quarter of 2020.

The fund's largest sector exposure is to financials, where the managers favour diversified financials companies such as Banca Generali and Banca Mediolanum over banks. Italian asset gatherers are benefitting from the shift of assets from smaller local commercial banks to dedicated independent wealth managers that can offer better services without the balance sheet risks of smaller commercial banks. The fund has an overweight exposure to industrials and IT. Payments services group Nexi is a preferred holding given its encouraging growth prospects. Among industrials, infrastructure and transportation services company Atlantia, aerospace business Avio and ancillary equipment company Piovan are the key positions. These companies are preferred for their robust long-term growth potential.

Japan Advantage Fund 8

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : JPY 24,787 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Japanese equities fell over the 12-month period, primarily due to a sharp decline in the first quarter of 2020 owing to the COVID-19 outbreak and rising concerns over its long-term social and economic impact. A strong rally in the second half of 2019 was supported by signs of easing trade tensions between the US and China, and an accommodative monetary policy stance by global central banks. However, share prices suffered a sharp decline in early 2020 as the COVID-19 virus spread globally. Japan's government announced emergency measures first in Tokyo and later across the rest of the country. At the same time, a sharp plunge in oil prices exacerbated the volatility in financial markets. Intermittent periods of yen strength also pressured Japanese shares at times during the period. The Bank of Japan and the Japanese government responded by announcing massive monetary and fiscal stimulus, as well as measures to address the impact of the pandemic. As a result of these developments, the Tokyo Olympics was pushed back by one year to the summer of 2021. From a sector perspective, energy, materials and financials were the leading decliners, while health care, communication services and technology recorded positive

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. A pronounced sell-off in value stocks, particularly in early 2020, generated headwinds for the fund, and undervalued cyclicals were among the most significant detractors from performance. At a stock level, mega bank Sumitomo Mitsui Financial, automotive component maker Denso and plant engineering company JGC Holdings were among the key detractors from returns. Their shares lost ground on concerns over the spread of COVID-19 and the associated economic costs of the pandemic. On a positive note, the holding in semiconductor and medical equipment maker Hitachi High Technologies advanced after parent Hitachi made a tender offer for the company.

The manager continues to focus on stocks with alpha potential via discounted valuations, and support from solid balance sheets and stable cash flows. The fund is positioned to take advantage of low interest rates and a potential pick up in global growth, with overweight positions in the high free cashflow and high dividend yield construction sector, and the economically sensitive electrical appliances industry. Meanwhile, the fund is underweight in the expensive defensive and domestic-oriented industries such as food, retail and services.

Japan Aggressive Fund 8

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : JPY 75,237 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Japanese equities fell over the 12-month period, primarily due to a sharp decline in the first quarter of 2020 owing to the COVID-19 outbreak and rising concerns over its long-term social and economic impact. A strong rally in the second half of 2019 was supported by signs of easing trade tensions between the US and China, and an accommodative monetary policy stance by global central banks. However, share prices suffered a sharp decline in early 2020 as the COVID-19 virus spread globally. Japan's government announced emergency measures first in Tokyo and later across the rest of the country. At the same time, a sharp plunge in oil prices exacerbated the volatility in financial markets. Intermittent periods of yen strength also pressured Japanese shares at times during the period. The Bank of Japan and the Japanese government responded by announcing massive monetary and fiscal stimulus, as well as measures to address the impact of the pandemic. As a result of these developments, the Tokyo Olympics was pushed back by one year to the summer of 2021. From a sector perspective, energy, materials and financials were the leading decliners, while health care, communication services and technology recorded positive

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong stock selection in the information & communication and electric appliances sectors was the primary driver of returns, although selected holdings in the services and chemicals sectors held back gains. In the information/communication sector, the position in Justsystems added value. The company, a provider of tablet-based educational software for school students, continued to take market share owing to the success of its customisable digital offering. The allocation to medical equipment maker Olympus also supported performance. However, the position in UT Group, a leading outsourcing company for the manufacturing industry, detracted from returns. Its shares slid as the spread of COVID-19 reduced demand temporarily in the electronics and automotive sectors.

Overall, the manager maintained the core positions in the fund. The technology overweight remains given the manager's view that selected companies will benefit from strong fifth-generation (5G) and work-from-home cycles ahead. Interesting new opportunities include domestic retailers and services companies that have been sold down and offer potential upside with the easing of the state of emergency in Japan. Meanwhile, the exposure to banks and transportation equipment (automobiles) remains limited.

Manager's Overview

Japanese equities fell over the 12-month period, primarily due to a sharp decline in the first quarter of 2020 owing to the COVID-19 outbreak and rising concerns over its long-term social and economic impact. A strong rally in the second half of 2019 was supported by signs of easing trade tensions between the US and China, and an accommodative monetary policy stance by global central banks. The Bank of Japan and the Japanese government responded by announcing massive monetary and fiscal stimulus, as well as measures to address the impact of the pandemic. As a result of these developments, the Tokyo Olympics was pushed back by one year to the summer of 2021. From a sector perspective, energy, materials and financials were the leading decliners, while health care, communication services and technology recorded positive returns.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong stock selection in the wholesale trade and machinery sectors contributed to returns, although selected electric appliances holdings tied to the automobile and energy industries underperformed. At a stock level, the position in semiconductor and medical equipment maker Hitachi High Technologies advanced after parent Hitachi made a tender offer for the company. Holdings in other semiconductor-related companies, including Tokyo Electron and DISCO, also outperformed. Conversely, the holding in automotive lighting equipment maker Koito Manufacturing fell. The company cut its full-year earnings guidance in view of the deteriorating volume environment and rising costs.

Despite the near-term headwinds, the manager continues to focus on mid-to-long term investment themes. Aging working populations will continue to require productivity improvements, such as factory automation and technology investments. The move to fifth-generation (5G) will increase data consumption and semiconductor demand. The manager is also focusing on steady dividend growers, backed by strong free cashflow, the relative attractiveness of which is increasing in a declining interest rate environment.

Latin America Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 472 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Latin American equities were volatile, as currencies tumbled in recent months due to the spread of the COIVD-19 pandemic and mounting fears of an associated slowdown in the global economy. Risk-off sentiment weighed on metal prices as well. Copper prices fell to their lowest level in more than three years. At the sector level, defensives were the best performers on a relative basis (although no sector posted positive returns), while cyclicals trended much lower. Quality and growth names outstripped value stocks.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the 12-month period ending April 2020. Performance was supported by strong security selection in the financials sector and the positioning in consumer discretionary stocks. However, stock picking in industrials hurt returns. From a country perspective, Brazil and Chile added value, while Mexico detracted from performance. The underweight stance in Brazilian bank Banco Bradesco added relative value. Its shares were sold-off in the first quarter of 2020 as the COVID-19 pandemic hit the country. The holding in Brazilian reinsurer IRB Brasil Resseguros weighed on returns. The stock fell sharply as a short-seller report highlighted alleged concerns over its accounting practices. However, after conducting extensive due diligence, including an external study on its accounts and management meetings, we felt comfortable with its earnings and profitability outlook.

The managers have an overweight stance in the consumer discretionary and industrials sectors; and maintain an underweight allocation to Brazil and Mexico. In Brazil, the fund has limited exposure to the domestic banking sector, as profitability levels are being pressured by lower interest rates and regulation. Within financials, the managers hold stock exchange operator B3 SA - Brasil Bolsa Balcao, reinsurer IRB Brasil Resseguros, and brokerage and investment platform XP. Grupo Financiero Banorte remains the largest holding in Mexico. In industrials, Brazilian car rental company Cia de Locacao das Americas is a key active holding. Low penetration in the car rental market provides the potential for rapid growth. The company is also slated to gain share from much smaller players in the fragmented market.

Malaysia Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 51 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Malaysian equities ended in negative territory, mainly due to losses in materials and consumer discretionary stocks. In particular, materials stocks fell in line with iron-ore and base metal prices. Political turmoil following the surprise resignation of the prime minister also held back Malaysian equities. Sentiment further derailed as the spread of COVID-19 cases across the world unnerved investors. In key developments, the government unveiled two stimulus packages worth $59.6 billion to support the economy. The packages included direct cash payouts to affected citizens, discounted rates for basic necessities, subsidies and incentives, tax cuts, loan facilities, grants to companies and support to small and medium-sized enterprises. It also provided additional allocation for critical sectors such as health care.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, as selected industrials and real estate stocks held back gains. Cambodia airport concession owner Muhibbah Engineering slid amid worries over the potential impact of COVID-19 containment measures on its airport concessions. However, the company is preferred as it is a quality asset that trades at attractive valuations. Real estate developer Mah Sing Group also retreated in view of a challenging outlook for the Malaysian property market. Conversely, automated equipment manufacturer Pentamaster International gained as it is expected to be a beneficiary of improvements in the supply chain in South East Asia amid the COVID-19 outbreak as capacity relocation from China speeds up.

The manager favours businesses that are enduring franchises with sustainable competitive advantages; a reasonable runway of future growth; attractive valuations with a good risk/reward profile; solid balance sheet; and management with integrity and superior capital management ability. Core compounder Hartalega Holdings is favoured as it is a global leader in the glove manufacturing space. It is also likely to benefit from higher structural demand, driven by hygiene awareness and stricter health care requirements. The conviction position in Riverstone Holdings, a manufacturer of health care products, was also retained for its healthy growth prospects driven by capacity expansion and stabilising margins.

Nordic Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : SEK 2,891 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Nordic equities, along with the broader European markets, ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. While small and mid-cap value stocks (where the fund has an overweight position) have been out of favour since the end of 2018, the bulk of the underperformance came in the first quarter of 2020. The COVID-19 induced sell-off led to a sharp correction in the small/mid-cap value space. Additionally, the overweight stance in energy services companies hampered performance. The sector came under pressure as oil prices collapsed to record lows in March 2020, reflecting COVID-19 induced demand weakness as well as the failure of oil producing countries to agree to production quotas. Conversely, not holding expensive health care stocks such as Novo-Nordisk (B) weighed on relative returns. On a positive note, the underweight positioning in financials and strong stock picking in information technology added relative value.

The fund currently trades on extremely low valuations compared to both the broader market and its peers. The sell-off induced by the COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in extreme dislocations and disconnects with corporate fundamentals, creating very attractive investment opportunities. Many holdings trade on historically low valuations, while they are implementing turnaround initiatives or/and are at cyclical troughs. The manager is positioning the fund for a rebound, but with a focus on resilient balance sheets. History suggests that small and mid-cap stocks, which are on historically low relative valuation levels, outperform in the recovery phase post a crisis.

Pacific Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,486 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asian equities declined over the year. Sentiment weakened as a rapid rise in virus cases globally raised recessionary concerns and prompted a sharp sell-off in markets. Amid a period of risk aversion, the large-cap segment outperformed the small and mid-cap segment. The sharp valuation premium for regional large-caps has in turn weighed on performance owing to its small to mid-cap tilt. Against this backdrop, all regions except Taiwan and New Zealand ended in negative territory. Taiwanese equities attracted investor interest in view of an incrementally positive outlook for major technology companies that are exposed to fifth-generation (5G) applications. The effective containment of the COVID-19 outbreak and policy stimulus measures led to Chinese stocks faring better than their global peers. Japanese equities also outperformed as a relatively low number of virus infections and a combination of expanded monetary stimulus and anticipated fiscal measures offered some relief.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Short-term disappointments and heightened risk-aversion held back some holdings. Casino operator Universal Entertainment fell as investors feared the possibility of a hazardous eruption at the Taal volcano, which could impact footfalls at Okada Manila. The announcement of travel restrictions by the Philippines government due to the virus outbreak is likely to impact its casino business. Mobile big data solutions platform Aurora Mobile Series Perpetual (Pref'd) fell after it reported losses in all quarters on a year-on-year basis. On a positive note, biotechnology holding PolyNovo advanced due to strong sales momentum for its specialised wound healing product.

The manager focuses on companies with good long-term growth prospects that are cash generative and have strong management teams. Vietnam-based technology conglomerate FPT is likely to be a beneficiary of growth expectations in software outsourcing and broadband. Leading carrier-neutral internet data centre services provider 21Vianet Group ADR is expected to benefit from an increase in demand for internet data centres, driven by higher internet usage on mobile devices by consumers and growing demand for cloud and information technology services by companies.

Singapore Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 44 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Singaporean equities slid over the period, mainly due to a decline in the energy and industrials sectors. In particular, energy stocks plunged in line with a fall in crude oil prices. Sentiment towards Singaporean equities also derailed as the spread of COVID-19 cases across the world unnerved investors. In key developments, the city-state announced three fiscal packages to support the economy, which has been slammed by the pandemic. The packages include a job support scheme, wage subsidies, corporate income tax rebates, rebates on foreign worker levies and increased fiscal incentives for Singaporeans. Against this backdrop, the Monetary Authority of Singapore aggressively eased its monetary policy as the economy braced for a deflation and a recession due to the global pandemic.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year as certain consumer staples positions held back gains. Palm oil plantation companies Bumitama Agri and First Resources undermined returns in light of weak fresh fruit bunch production and a decline in the average selling price for crude palm oil. Nonetheless, the stocks are retained in light of their attractive valuations. A slowdown in crude palm oil supply growth should also prove supportive for both companies as they are lower cost producers. These gains were partially offset by supermarket operator Sheng Siong, which held up well on expectations of rising grocery consumption as people are increasingly inclined to stay indoors due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The manager favours businesses that are enduring franchises with sustainable competitive advantages; a reasonable runway for future growth; attractive valuations with a good risk/reward profile; solid balance sheet; and management with integrity and superior capital management ability. The bias towards pure-play grocery retailer Sheng Siong was retained on optimism towards its earnings outlook, supported by an expansion of its store footprint, gross margin upside due to greater fresh produce market share, an improvement in revenue as stores mature, and operating leverage as sales build up. The conviction position in Riverstone Holdings is maintained for its robust long-term growth prospects due to capacity expansion and stabilising margins, as well as attractive valuations.

Sustainable Eurozone Equity Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 233 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. Gains registered in 2019 were more than erased in the first quarter of 2020 (particularly in March) due to growing concerns around the COVID-19 outbreak, which was followed by a partial recovery in April.

With effect from 30 October 2019, FF European Fund was repurposed to FF Sustainable Eurozone Equity Fund. Vincent Durel took over from Victoire de Trogoff as the portfolio manager. The fund's reference index changed from the MSCI Europe Index to the MSCI EMU Index. The fund outperformed the comparative index over Vincent's tenure, supported by both strong security selection and sector positioning. The outperformance highlights the capacity of companies that have the best economic sustainable models to navigate through highly uncertain environments. At a sector level, stock picking in utilities and materials added value, while an underweight stance in industrials and financials supported relative performance. At a stock level, the position in renewable electricity producer Solaria Energia was a notable contributor to performance. The company is benefiting from higher capacity estimates as it secured additional permits for renewable projects. Shares in renewable energy company Neoen also rose. Additionally, the position in life sciences tools and services provider Sartorius Stedim Biotech was buoyed by encouraging FY 2019 results and a positive outlook for 2020.

While the fund's core objective is to outperform the reference index, it has an additional focus on sustainability, and aims to deliver sustainable positive societal impacts. The manager primarily holds quality companies that generate high sustainable returns on invested capital (ROIC). Sustainable characteristics may include, but are not limited to, governance and superior management of environmental and social issues (ESG). As a result of stock picking, the fund has an overweight allocation to the information technology and consumer discretionary sectors. No opportunities were found that match the investment criteria in the energy sector.

Sustainable Global Equity Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 122 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities posted negative returns over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong security selection in industrials and financials, two of the largest sector weightings in the fund, added value, as did the underweight stance in energy. The strong performance of Roche Holding and Wolters Kluwer supported returns. Alongside a general preference for more defensive sectors, pharmaceuticals major Roche Holding gained momentum after US health regulators approved its highly automated COVID-19 testing kits, which are 10 times faster than the current afternative.

The fund focusses on sustainable businesses with strong environmental, social and governance (ESG) characteristics. The portfolio remains defensively positioned and higher quality stocks within financials and stable and incomegenerating stocks in the technology space are well represented. Meanwhile, the fund is underweight in the more cyclical areas of the market such as materials and energy. The manager focusses on identifying a margin of safety, capital preservation and maintaining a strict valuation discipline.

Sustainable Water & Waste Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,512 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell in US dollar terms over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets.

The fund (ACC-USD) underperformed the comparative index over the year. Selected positions in the industrials sector weighed on overall performance. However, the lack of exposure to financials and energy names added relative value as the COVID-19 outbreak weighed on these sectors. The holding in waste management company Covanta Holding fell after it withdrew its 2020 guidance in light of macroeconomic uncertainties due to the pandemic. The position in China Everbright International, which specialises in environmental resource management, also fell in line with weakness in the broader Chinese market. However, shares in Pennon Group, a UK water and waste company, rose.

The manager employs a distinctive, replicable bottom-up investment process, focusing on quality and growth, with an overarching emphasis on sustainable investments. This is a thematic environmental, social and governance (ESG) fund that seeks to deliver long-term capital growth over the market cycle by investing globally in companies that are involved in the water and waste management sectors. The managers believe that water and waste management related investments are driven by long-term mega trends and should potentially generate long-term investment returns. The strategy has a supportive environment that is backed by global mega-trends, including population growth, environmental constraints, supportive regulations, urbanisation rate and global wealth creation.

Switzerland Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : CHF 227 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Swiss equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. Gains registered in 2019 were more than erased in the first quarter of 2020, particularly in March, due to growing concerns around the COVID-19 outbreak. This was followed by a partial market recovery in April.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. Early in 2020 concerns grew around the rapid spread of COVID-19 and investors preferred sectors with defensive characteristics. Against this backdrop, an overweight stance in industrials, coupled with structural underweights in consumer staples and health care were the most significant detractors from returns. At a stock level, the structural underweight in large-cap companies, including pharmaceutical giant Roche Holding and food producer Nestle hampered relative performance. The structural underweight is due to UCITS rules, which do not permit more than 10% of the fund's assets to be held in a single stock. The rapid expansion of the COVID-19 pandemic resulted in almost a third of the worldwide population staying at home. Against this backdrop, holdings in machinery company Sulzer (subsequently sold) and semiconductor equipment manufacturer AMS declined. On a positive note, positions in life sciences and diagnostics company Tecan Group and biotechnology company Lonza Group were among the top contributors to performance.

The fund maintains a sizable allocation to the health care, industrials, financials and materials sectors in absolute terms. It retains an underweight stance in consumer staples and health care (resulting from the structural underweights in Nestle and Roche Holding), and an overweight exposure to the materials and industrials sectors. Life science tool firm Tecan Group is a key holding given its exposure to high-growth areas, strong internal research and development capabilities, and its healthy balance sheet. The managers made early changes to the fund and sold operationally/financially levered businesses and more cyclical firms when they saw the number of COVID-19 cases rapidly increasing in Italy. Overall, they continue to focus on companies with high quality business models and management teams with solid track records.

Taiwan Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 55 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Taiwanese equities advanced over the year under review due to the strong performance of the information technology (IT) sector. The technology rally was fueled by robust gains in Apple supply chain companies, and an incrementally positive outlook for major technology companies that are exposed to fifth generation (5G) applications. Meanwhile, trade tensions between the US and China, Taiwan's key trading partners, in 2019 and the COVID-19 outbreak in 2020 weighed on investor sentiment. The economic damage inflicted by the COVID-19 pandemic has been relatively muted in Taiwan, largely due to the country's quick and organized response to contain the outbreak. However, plunging global demand prospects indicate that Taiwan will not remain immune from the wider economic slowdown.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period, due to rewarding security selection in the IT sector. MediaTek buoyed returns amid encouraging demand prospects in light of the rollout of 5G technology. Analogue integrated circuits (IC) design company Silergy is seen as a key beneficiary of increasing localisation of technological components. In the financials space, the exposure to E.Sun Financial proved rewarding as it was a key beneficiary of capital repatriation and a benign domestic economy. Elsewhere, the exposure to internet platform Sea added value as investors recognised its consistent earnings growth and the encouraging prospects of its Taiwanese e-commerce business. Conversely, bakery and coffee shops operator Gourmet Master slid in light of its lackluster near-term growth outlook, undermined by muted sales in both the US and China. Engineering and construction services company CTCI fell out of favour as the COVID-19 outbreak hampered construction schedules.

The manager favours companies with a high return profile and strong growth execution capability. For instance, the manager has a preference for semiconductor holdings within the IT sector. Of note, MediaTek, Largan Precision and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing are held for their strong growth prospects. Their market leadership position is supported by their emphasis on technological expertise in their respective industries. Elsewhere, E-Sun Financial Holding is preferred for its strong consumer franchise, solid execution capability and robust profitability. The bank is well-positioned to benefit from the emerging trend of Taiwanese capital repatriation from overseas.

Thailand Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 215 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Thai equities declined over the 12-month period amid weak domestic activity and global macroeconomic uncertainties. US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019, while at the start of 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility amid the COVID-19 outbreak. The pandemic has caused large scale demand destruction, disruptions in economic activity and restrictions on the movement of people. This weighed heavily on exports and tourism, which are the key growth engines of the Thai economy. In response, the Thai government announced a series of measures to stimulate domestic demand and revive economic growth. Against this backdrop, all sectors, except utilities, ended in negative territory.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Selected communication services stocks added value. Of note, mobile phone operator Advanced Info Service benefited from an improvement in its average revenue per unit, subscriber base and cost efficiencies. Retailers CP All and Siam Makro contributed to performance on strong sales in their cash and carry business due to panic buying amid the COVID-19 outbreak. Elsewhere, Electricity Generating was favoured for its solid financial position, which supports its expansion into domestic and overseas markets. Conversely, Kasikornbank (F) and Bangkok Bank fell out of favour amid the COVID-19 led slowdown in business activity.

The manager believes there are persistent inefficiencies and mispriced opportunities in the Thai market, which may be exploited through bottom-up, fundamental analysis to generate outperformance for investors. The manager favours long-term performers such as convenience chain store operator CP All for the robust growth prospects of its 7-11 business. Property developer Land and Houses is held for its solid history of capital allocation, exposure to resilient landed home sales and attractive dividend yields.

UK Special Situations Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : GBP 15 MILLION

Manager's Overview

UK equities ended significantly lower over the year under review, as the COVID-19 outbreak and a resulting weakening global economic outlook dented investor confidence. Market participants worried about its impact on economic and corporate activity, company earnings and dividends. At the same time, major oil producing countries could not reach a compromise to curb production, leading to a sharp drop in oil prices, which exacerbated market volatility. Against this backdrop, oil & gas stocks were the most notable laggards, with falling oil prices factoring in reduced travel and economic activity. Meanwhile, more defensive sectors such as health care and utilities outperformed.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Its value bias and small and mid-cap exposure were clear headwinds, particularly in the virus induced sell-off, as investors favoured what they perceived were safer investments. A number of stock-specific disappointments also detracted from returns. The position in educational publisher Pearson was weighed down by earnings concerns due to weaker trading in its US higher education courseware business in 2019. Meanwhile, some normally resilient key holdings, where internal turnarounds were working, were disproportionately impacted by the virus containment measures. Aerospace equipment supplier Meggitt was among the notable casualties as its shares were weighed down by the slump in air travel. On a positive note, an underweight allocation to oil & gas and the exposure to some defensive businesses supported returns. In particular, pharmaceuticals major Roche Holding was the largest contributor to performance. It posted solid results for the first quarter of 2020 that serve to highlight the diversified and resilient nature of its business.

Most new additions were resilient businesses that were unaffected by the virus containment measures, such as telecommunications operator Vodafone Group, whose de-rating did not reflect fundamentals. At the end of the period, the fund's holdings were very attractively valued, and offered significant upside potential.

World Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 3,263 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, both the consumer staples and information technology (IT) sectors underperformed the broader market.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong stock selection in the IT and communication services sectors contributed to returns, but selected industrials and energy holdings held back gains. The position in French aircraft major Airbus declined as markets pivoted towards pricing in a deep and extended negative impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the aerospace sector. Within the energy sector, Diamondback Energy and Royal Dutch Shell (B) were the among the leading detractors from performance as oil prices fell sharply in 2020. Leading electric vehicle (EV) manufacturer Tesla was the top contributor to returns. Its shares were supported by its positive earnings outlook, driven by its ability to successfully tackle supply issues, which marked its emergence as a strong, viable competitor in the next-generation automobile space.

The portfolio managers continue to review all holdings on a case to case basis, looking at the performance of individual names and how earnings are likely to progress over the next three years compared to previous expectations. As a result, they have been adding positions where valuations are cheaper but three-year earnings prospects may be better than previously expected (mostly growth names). They are also adding holdings in stocks that have performed poorly, but where the market has been unduly short sighted. Specifically, the managers have been adding to US health care, US refining, utilities (US and Europe), and Asian insurance companies.

Asia Pacific Dividend Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 319 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia Pacific ex Japan equities retreated over the 12-month review period. Concerns around US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019. In early 2020, stock markets worldwide were caught in an indiscriminate sell-off as the COVID-19 contagion unfolded worldwide. The outbreak resulted in a complete halt in economic activity across regions as governments imposed lockdown measures to control the pandemic. Against this backdrop, the majority of countries and sectors in the region ended the period lower.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year under review. The fund's performance was relatively resilient during the sell-off in Asia Pacific equities. The manger's well-established investment approach to focus on companies with robust balance sheets and free cash flows proved rewarding. Positions in biotherapeutics company CSL and sleep treatment focused medical device company Fisher & Paykel Healthcare gained. The former is driven by robust demand for its flu vaccines amid the pandemic and maintains its competitive advantages in plasma sourcing. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare upgrade in its full-year guidance, supported by a surge in demand for respiratory humidifiers and consumables due to COVID-19. Conversely, oil and gas exploration and production company Oil Search slid amid weakness in oil prices and uncertainty over its P'nyang gas agreement.

The fund is focused on identifying stocks that can offer good dividend growth potential and long-term secular growth. The manager favours high-quality health care, real estate and information technology (IT) stocks. The fund maintains notable exposure to Australian plasma-therapeutics company CSL, which remains a long-term earnings compounder with a high cash generating business. Its flu vaccines operations have provided it with a tailwind amid the current pandemic. The allocation to high-quality state-owned property developer China Resources Land is retained as it is likely to benefit from its good operational track record, low-cost financing capability and focus on operational efficiency.

European Dividend Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 87 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equites ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. Gains registered in 2019 were more than offset in the first quarter of 2020, particularly in March, due to a surge in the number of COVID-19 cases across the globe and the sharp oil price fall after Saudi Arabia and Russia failed to reach an agreement to cut production. This was followed by a partial market recovery in April as slowing COVID-19 cases across Europe saw the introduction of plans to ease lockdown measures in major countries, including Italy, France and Germany. This was coupled with strong stimulus measures announced by central banks.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. European markets declined sharply, and the fund's defensive and quality bias helped to limit the drawdown. Strong stock selection in the industrials and financials sectors contributed the most to performance. At a stock level, shares in tobacco business Swedish Match rose on strong fourth quarter results. Management expects continued growth in smoke free nicotine products in global markets in 2020, which has resulted in its decision to expand its US capacity through a third phase. Sanofi reiterated its full-year guidance and reported strong first quarter results, which beat both sales and earnings expectations. The pharmaceuticals major benefited from the solid performance of its drug Dupixent and received a stockpiling boost from COVID-19. Conversely, the lack of exposure to Nestle hurt relative performance.

The fund is defensively positioned and continues to invest in businesses that have strong balance sheets, attractive valuations and solid growth prospects. The manager focuses on companies with resilient returns, as a result of which the fund is expected to have a more defensive dividend profile than the market. The manager prefers quality and income-generating stocks within the financials and industrials sectors, and is underrepresented in the more cyclical areas of the market such as materials and technology.

Global Dividend Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 7,610 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities posted negative returns over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May-December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. In a falling market, the fund's defensive positioning supported overall performance and helped to limit the drawdown. Strong security selection in financials and industrials, two of the largest sector weightings in the fund, contributed to returns, while the underweight stance in energy enhanced gains. The strong performance of key positions, including Roche Holding and Deutsche Boerse, added value. Alongside a general preference for more defensive sectors, pharmaceuticals major Roche Holding gained momentum after US health regulators approved its highly automated COVID-19 testing kits, which are 10 times faster than the current alternative.

The portfolio remains defensively positioned. Higher quality stocks within financials and stable and income-generating stocks in the technology space are well represented. The fund is underweight in the more cyclical areas of the market such as materials and energy. The manager's emphasis on owning financially sound businesses with strong balance sheets, dividend growth prospects and attractive valuations should help the fund to achieve longer term cross-cycle outperformance with lower volatility and avoid the worst outcomes elsewhere in the market.

Global Equity Income Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 136 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities posted negative returns over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. In a falling market, the fund's defensive positioning supported overall returns and helped to limit the drawdown. Strong security selection in industrials and financials, two of the largest sector weightings in the fund, added value, while the underweight stance in energy enhanced relative gains. The strong performance of key positions, including Roche Holding and Deutsche Boerse, supported returns. Alongside a general preference for more defensive sectors, pharmaceuticals major Roche Holding gained momentum after US health regulators approved its highly automated COVID-19 testing kits, which are 10 times faster than the current alternative.

The portfolio remains defensively positioned. Higher quality stocks within financials and stable and income-generating stocks in the technology space are well represented. Meanwhile, the fund is underweight in the more cyclical areas of the market such as materials and energy. The strategy emphasises a total return approach by identifying companies with strong balance sheets and attractive valuations. Protecting and growing the fund's capital base is key to delivering stable and visible income growth as well as outperforming the market across a business cycle.

Fidelity Sélection Internationale <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 125 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December 2019 period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Emerging markets fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, energy companies declined significantly, as crude oil prices plummeted on the back of weakening demand and the lack of storage capacity.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to strategy selection in US and European equities. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy detracted from performance as the style remained out of favour. A US core strategy that leverages Fidelity's stock picking expertise supported returns due to favourable positioning in the financials and industrials sectors. Within European equities, underlying value strategies struggled. In particular, the contrarian value strategies in France and the Nordic underperformed. Security selection in the UK was also disappointing, with stock picking in consumer goods and services and financials weighing on returns. However, an all-cap Japanese strategy contributed to performance due to an overweight allocation to the information technology sector.

The manager remains overweight in emerging markets and Asia given attractive valuations, the larger share of energy importers and more attractive long-term themes such as China consumption. The manager also maintained an underweight allocation to Europe due to a slowdown in economic activity.

Asia Pacific Multi Asset Growth & Income Fund 1,3,4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020: USD 49 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia Pacific ex Japan equities fell over the review period, as the outbreak of COVID-19 pandemic weighed on global economic prospects. Authorities in the region announced large scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and announced policy measures to mitigate the economic impact of the pandemic. Against this backdrop, equities in Australia, India, China, South Korea and ASEAN ended lower. Within fixed income, US dollar denominated Asian high yield bond markets fell as the pandemic led to an indiscriminate sell-off in risk assets. Meanwhile, Asian investment grade bonds generated positive returns, supported by stable coupon income and lower government bond yields.

The fund delivered negative returns over the period. Equities weighed significantly on performance, led by the allocation to Asian smaller companies and Asian defensive equities strategies. The exposure to Asian high yield bonds and emerging market local currency debt strategies also detracted from returns. This was partially offset by the holding in an Asian investment grade bonds strategy, which enhanced gains. The exposure to Chinese government bonds also contributed to performance as yields on the asset class edged lower.

The managers maintained a cautious stance while continuing to find opportunities arising from market volatility and dislocations. Although COVID-19 is adversely impacting the global economy and corporate earnings in the near term, the positive long-term view on Asian equities and bond markets remains intact. Overall, Asian defensive equities and Asian smaller companies equity strategies are among the key equity holdings. The fund also retained significant positions in Asian investment grade bonds and Asian high yield bonds. Meanwhile, the position in a Chinese investment grade corporate bonds strategy was sold, and the allocation to Chinese government bonds was raised for their attractive yields and upside prospects. Additionally, several alternative strategies such as infrastructure and real estate are held for their diversification benefits.

European Multi Asset Income Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 604 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. European bonds posted mixed returns, with core government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. In 2019, the performance of risk assets was driven by an accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse following the breakdown of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) supply discipline. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund was repurposed into a multi asset income strategy in October 2019. It delivered negative returns over the year. In the period prior to the repurposing, both fixed income and equity holdings supported returns. Post the repurpose, equities were the largest detractors from absolute performance, mainly as a result of an indiscriminate sell-off in markets in the first quarter of 2020. Infrastructure assets, particularly energy infrastructure, declined sharply in early 2020 against a backdrop of falling crude oil prices, the result of an oil price war and lower demand for oil due to widespread lockdowns. High yield bonds and emerging market debt also weighed on returns. In contrast, investment grade corporate bonds supported performance.

The managers remain cautious and are taking limited directional risk given the uncertain outlook for markets. The focus is on asset classes that are higher up in the capital structure to provide more security of income and to manage risk in the portfolio. Towards the end of the period, the managers trimmed equity risk. Instead, positions were purchased in investment grade bonds, hybrid bonds and high yield bonds. Holdings in energy infrastructure were sold due to the sharp drop in oil prices.

Fidelity Patrimoine <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 159 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the period. Equities performed positively over the May-December period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. The biggest drag on relative returns was the lack of exposure to European investment grade bonds. Within European equities, the allocation to value strategies in France and the UK detracted significantly from returns. The underlying position in energy stocks held back gains as it was the worst performing sector over the period, amid falling crude oil prices due to weakening demand and storage concerns. Within fixed income, emerging market local currency bonds hampered performance, as risk assets were sold-off and the US dollar strengthened towards the end of the period. However, holdings in European high yield bonds provided support. The exposure to gold and gold mining companies was also rewarding. Alternatives weighed on returns amid the indiscriminate sell-off across asset classes and liquidity concerns in 2020.

From a fundamental and valuations point of view, the managers retain their risk exposure to developing Asia and China relative to the US. A short position was introduced in US equities through the Russell 2000 index as smaller companies are likely to be less equipped to deal with the crisis. Within fixed income, the managers added exposure to European high yield bonds on the belief that they can offer investors attractive upside while having less downside than other riskon areas of the market. The allocation to gold was increased amid a focus on the defensiveness of the fund.

Global Multi Asset Income Fund 6

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 9,430 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equity markets fell, underperforming investment grade bonds over the period. Equities performed positively over the May–December period, supported by accommodative policies from major central banks. However, financial markets witnessed unprecedented levels of volatility in the first quarter of 2020 due to the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic, which led to a sell-off in risk assets such as equities and high yield bonds. Government bond yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads widened significantly to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and also unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Markets pared some losses towards the end of the period, as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

The fund delivered negative returns over the year, but distributed natural income in line with its objective. Equities were the largest detractors from absolute returns, followed by infrastructure assets. Energy infrastructure was lower as crude oil prices declined sharply in early 2020 as a result of an oil price war and lower demand for oil due to the widespread lockdowns. High yield bonds and emerging market debt also weighed on returns. In contrast, investment grade corporate and government bonds supported performance.

The managers remain cautious and are taking limited directional risk as the prospects for markets remain uncertain. They remain focussed on asset classes that are higher up in the capital structure to provide more security of income and to manage risk in the portfolio. Towards the end of the period, the managers trimmed equity risk via positions in global financials and European equity. Instead, they added to positions in investment grade bonds, hybrid bonds and selected high yield bonds. Energy infrastructure holdings were also sold due to the sharp decline in oil prices.

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the period. Equities performed positively over the May-December period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

The fund generated negative absolute returns over the year. Equities were the largest detractors from performance. The underlying exposure to energy stocks weighed on returns as it was the worst performing sector over the period anid a fall in crude oil prices due to weakening demand and lack of storage capacity. The underlying holdings in Pacific ex-Japan held back gains. Within fixed income, the emerging market local currency bond strategy hampered performance, as risk assets were sold-off and the US dollar strengthened towards the end of the period. However, this was offset by holdings in US Treasuries and US investment grade bonds. The exposure to gold and gold mining companies was rewarding. Non-directional strategies had an overall negative impact on performance. Alternatives weighed on returns amid the indiscriminate sell-off across asset classes and liquidity concerns in 2020. Within thematic positions, the 10-year US Treasuries versus German bunds position supported returns.

Over the year, the managers increased the exposure to gold to raise the defensiveness of the fund. Within fixed income, the position in UK government bonds (Gilts) was sold as it appeared that a no-deal Brexit scenario would be avoided. Within equities, the managers introduced short positions in the US through the Russell 2000 and selected sectors. Within thematic positions, the short semiconductor position was sold as technicals deteriorated.

Greater China Multi Asset Growth & Income Fund 1,3

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020: USD 9 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Greater China equities declined over the review period. Markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as economic concerns arising from the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic outweighed optimism around a phase one US-China trade deal. Markets recovered some of the losses towards the end of the period amid policy measures unveiled globally to mitigate the pandemic's economic impact and the apparent effectiveness of lockdown measures in containing the outbreak in the Greater China region. Against this backdrop, Chinese and Hong Kong stocks ended lower, while the Taiwanese market gained. Within fixed income, US dollar denominated Chinese investment grade bonds performed positively, supported by stable coupon income and lower government bond yields. Chinese high yield bond markets gained, largely as risk assets rebounded in April.

The fund delivered negative returns over the period, largely due to the allocation to equities. The China-focused equity strategy, driven by its value and contrarian investment approach, and Chinese consumer-oriented equity strategy hurt performance amid weakness in the country's market. The allocation to Chinese and Asian high yield bonds also weighed on returns. On a positive note, the exposure to Chinese government bonds supported returns as yields for the asset class edged lower.

The managers maintain a cautious stance while continuing to uncover pockets of opportunity arising from market volatility. Notwithstanding the near-term economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, the positive long-term view for the region remains intact. Overall, a China-focused equity strategy and a Chinese consumer-oriented equity strategy remain among the key equity holdings. Chinese high yield bonds remain a significant part of the fund given its attractive yields and an accommodative domestic funding environment. Meanwhile, the allocation to Chinese government bonds was raised for their attractive yields and upside prospects. Additionally, several alternative strategies such as infrastructure and real estate are held for their diversification benefits.

Growth & Income Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 98 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equity markets fell, underperforming investment grade bonds over the period. Equities performed positively over the May—December period, supported by accommodative policies from major central banks. However, financial markets witnessed unprecedented levels of volatility in the first quarter of 2020 due to the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic, which led to a sell-off in risk assets such as equities and high yield bonds. Government bond yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads widened significantly to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and also unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Markets pared some losses towards the end of the period, as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Although an underweight allocation to equities supported relative performance, this was offset by high conviction positions in high yield bonds, emerging market debt and alternatives. In terms of absolute returns, equities and alternatives detracted from performance. Financial stocks and positions in European and Asian equity strategies undermined gains, as did energy and social infrastructure holdings. In contrast, the allocation to investment grade bonds added value.

The managers remain cautious and are taking limited directional risk as the prospects for markets remain uncertain. They remain focussed on asset classes that are higher up in the capital structure to provide more security of income and to manage risk in the portfolio. Towards the end of the period, the managers trimmed equity risk via positions in global financials and European equity. Instead, they added to positions in investment grade bonds, hybrid bonds and selected high yield bonds. Energy infrastructure holdings were also sold due to the sharp decline in oil prices.

SMART Global Defensive Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 311 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic weighed on global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy measures to mitigate the pandemic's economic impact. Against this backdrop, all key markets except the US ended lower. Global bond markets generated mixed returns, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Corporate credit spreads widened significantly amid a sell-off in risk assets. Government bond yields fell to record lows due to investors' demand for safer assets. Towards the end of the period, risk assets recovered some losses and credit spreads narrowed as policy measures provided support.

The fund delivered negative returns over the year, due to both its Beta and Alpha components. Within the Beta component, the allocation to equities, high yield bonds, emerging market debt and real estate securities weighed on performance. Meanwhile, the exposure to global government bonds and investment grade corporate bonds supported returns. In the Alpha component, the allocation to alternatives, a selection of infrastructure, loans and real estate holdings, was the key detractor from performance.

The fund focuses on delivering capital growth while targeting a specific volatility range. The fund gains broad market exposure via the Beta component, where asset allocation is determined systematically by a proprietary volatility management model on the basis of risk. Increased volatility in 2020 led to a shift in the Beta component's allocation, as the fund moved out of Growth and Yield assets in favour of Defensive assets to reduce risk. In the Alpha component, the fund maintains holdings that are expected to add value independent of the broad market direction. For instance, the allocation to gold was increased as a defensive position against market volatility. The short position in global high yield was sold following recent weakness in the asset

SMART Global Moderate Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 217 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic weighed on global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy measures to mitigate the pandemic's economic impact. Against this backdrop, all key markets except the US ended lower. Global bond markets generated mixed returns, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Corporate credit spreads widened significantly amid a sell-off in risk assets. Government bond yields fell to record lows due to investors' demand for safer assets. Towards the end of the period, risk assets recovered some losses and credit spreads narrowed as policy measures provided support.

The fund delivered negative returns over the year, due to both its Beta and Alpha components. Within the Beta component, the allocation to equities, high yield bonds, emerging market debt and real estate securities weighed on performance. Meanwhile, the exposure to global government bonds and investment grade corporate bonds supported returns. In the Alpha component, the allocation to alternatives, a selection of infrastructure, loans and real estate holdings, was the key detractor from performance.

The fund focuses on delivering capital growth while targeting a specific volatility range. The fund gains broad market exposure via the Beta component, where asset allocation is determined systematically by a proprietary volatility management model on the basis of risk. Increased volatility in 2020 led to a shift in the Beta component's allocation, as the fund moved out of Growth assets in favour of Defensive assets to reduce risk. In the Alpha component, the fund maintains holdings that are expected to add value independent of the broad market direction. For instance, the allocation to gold was increased as a defensive position against market volatility. The short position in global high yield was sold following recent weakness in the asset class.

Asia Pacific Strategic Income Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 28 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US dollar denominated Asian investment grade bonds posted positive returns, while Asian high yield bonds generated negative returns over the review period. Lower US Treasury yields and stable coupon income supported Asian bonds and helped offset, to a large extent, the negative impact from spread widening as a result of the indiscriminate sell-off in March 2020. The year 2019 ended with an agreement on a phase one trade deal between the US and China, easing tensions over an 18-month long trade war that unnerved financial markets and hurt global economic sentiment. However, risk sentiment deteriorated during the first quarter of 2020 amid the rapid spread of the COVID-19 pandemic across the globe. Coming into March 2020, global markets experienced one of the most volatile periods in history, which also impacted Asian bonds as credit spreads widened to decade-highs. At the country level, China's economy shrank for the first time in decades, contracting 6.8% in the first quarter of 2020.

The fund generated positive total returns over the period. Stable coupon income and term structure positioning supported performance, while credit selection weighed on returns. The fund's US dollar duration added value due to a fall in the US Treasury yield curve. The allocation to US dollar Asian investment grade bonds proved rewarding, while the exposure to US dollar Asian high yield bonds impacted performance as credit spreads widened during the period. At a sector level, property added value. On the ratings front, the allocation to BBB rated credits contributed the most to returns.

The fund continues to focus on credit quality and liquidity through fundamental analysis and careful credit selection. The managers remain committed to delivering a diversified portfolio with attractive income. The fund's US dollar duration exposure is 3.1 years. It currently holds more than 30% of the market weight in short dated (<3 year) bonds to ensure a robust liquidity profile and maintain high natural income. This also keeps the fund's overall volatility relatively low.

Asian Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,388 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US dollar denominated Asian investment grade bonds generated positive returns over the period. Lower US Treasury yields and stable coupon income supported performance and helped offset the negative impact from spread widening as a result of the indiscriminate sell-off in March 2020. The year 2019 ended with an agreement on a phase one trade deal between the US and China, easing tensions over an 18-month long trade war that unnerved financial markets and hurt global economic sentiment. However, risk sentiment deteriorated during the first quarter of 2020 amid the rapid spread of the COVID-19 pandemic across the globe. Coming into March 2020, global markets experienced one of the most volatile periods in history, which also impacted Asian investment grade bonds as credit spreads widened to decade-highs. At the country level, China's economy shrank for the first time in decades, contracting 6.8% in the first quarter of 2020.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. Higher coupon income supported relative returns, while credit selection and term structure positioning weighed on relative performance. At a sector level, the overweight stance in property, in particular, the exposure to Vanke Real Estate and Longfor Properties added value. Conversely, the underweight allocation to quasi sovereigns hurt relative performance. From a ratings perspective, the exposure to BBB rated bonds contributed the most to returns, while the underweight position in A rated bonds held back relative gains. The position in US dollar duration supported performance given a fall in the US Treasury yield

The fund is overweight credit beta, particularly in China and Indonesia, in view of a faster recovery in Asia. Coming into April, the fund partially trimmed its exposure to India due to its higher downgrade risk and rotated into Indonesia, where fundamentals are stronger and valuations are equally attractive. The fund has a neutral duration position and continues to seek value opportunities, while actively focusing on liquidity and risk management.

Asian High Yield Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 3,861 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US dollar denominated Asian high yield bonds posted negative returns over the period as credit spreads widened. Trade tensions between the US and China dominated sentiment over the first half of the review period. Both countries signed a phase one trade deal in January 2020, but the resulting uplift in investor sentiment was short-lived as markets were rocked by the COVID-19 outbreak, which presented a significant headwind to economic growth in China and the rest of the Asian region. As the outbreak turned into a global pandemic, markets witnessed a sharp sell-off in March, with investors shunning risk assets amid increasing concerns over global economic growth and liquidity. Credit spreads widened the most since 2011 and weighed heavily on performance. Primary market activity came to a halt in March, given the high volatility in secondary markets. Following the sell-off, attractive valuations captured investor interest in April. Stimulus measures unveiled by regional governments and central banks also supported investor confidence.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year under review as credit selection weighed on returns. Encouragingly, higher coupon income and term structure positioning supported performance. At a sector level, the underweight stance in basic industry contributed to relative returns. Conversely, the overweight stance in property, in particular the exposure to Yuzhou Properties, detracted from performance. The US dollar duration position enhanced gains as the US Treasury yield curve fell.

In light of the market risks, the fund is moderately overweight credit beta as current valuations justify this positioning. The fund has a strong focus on income and offers attractive capital gain prospects over the next 12–15 months. The managers look to selectively and passively add risk while managing overall liquidity. The fund has 15-20% market weight in short dated (<1year)/near-term callable bonds and cash to ensure a robust liquidity profile and maintain high natural income. The fund maintains an overweight duration position.

China High Yield Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,108 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US dollar denominated Chinese high yield bonds posted negative returns over the period as credit spreads widened. Trade tensions between the US and China dominated sentiment over the first half of the review period. Both countries signed a phase one trade deal in January 2020, but the resulting uplift in investor sentiment was short-lived as markets were rocked by the COVID-19 outbreak, which presented a significant headwind to economic growth in China and the rest of the Asian region. As the outbreak turned into a global pandemic, markets witnessed a sharp sell-off in March, with investors shunning risk assets amid increasing concerns over global economic growth and liquidity. Credit spreads widened the most since 2011 and weighed heavily on performance. Primary market activity came to a halt in March, given the high volatility in secondary markets. Following the sell-off, attractive valuations captured investor interest in April. Stimulus measures unveiled by regional governments and central banks also supported investor confidence.

The fund generated negative returns over the period. Credit allocation weighed on returns, while high coupon income and term structure positioning supported performance. The exposure to banks and brokers enhanced gains. Conversely, the allocation to basic industry, particularly the position in Mongolian Mining detracted from returns. The fund's US dollar duration position added value as US Treasury yields fell. From a ratings perspective, the exposure to B and below rated bonds weighed on performance.

In light of market risks, the fund is moderately overweight credit beta as current valuations justify this positioning. The fund has a strong focus on income and offers attractive capital gain prospects over the next 12–15 months. The managers look to selectively and passively add risk while managing overall iquidity. The fund's US dollar duration exposure is 2.7 years. It has 18–22% market weight in short dated (<1/pean)/near-term callable bonds and cash to ensure a robust liquidity profile and maintain high natural income.

China RMB Bond Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 250 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Offshore renminbi investment grade bonds (Dim Sum) generated positive returns, supported by high coupon income. US dollar denominated Chinese bonds also posted positive returns, aided by a fall in US Treasury yields. Trade tensions between the US and China dominated sentiment over the first half of the review period. Both countries signed a phase one trade deal in January 2020, but the resulting uplift in investor sentiment was short-lived as markets were rocked by the COVID-19 outbreak. As the outbreak turned into a global pandemic, markets witnessed a sharp sell-off in March, with investors shunning risk assets amid increasing concerns over global economic growth and liquidity. The onshore Chinese sovereign yield curve steepened during the review period, with short-term rates falling significantly. Liquidity was the major driver of the rally at the short end of the curve, supported by reductions in the reserve requirement ratio and open market operations rate cut.

The fund generated negative returns over the year, as credit spread widening, particularly for US dollar denominated Chinese bonds weighed on performance. However, the high coupon income and term structure positioning supported performance. At a sector level, the allocation to banks and brokers and quasi sovereigns supported returns, while industrial bonds held back gains. The allocation to US dollar denominated bonds and onshore Chinese bonds added value, supported by the decline in their respective sovereign yields. From a ratings perspective, holdings in BBB and A rated bonds proved rewarding.

The fund continues to focus on credit quality and liquidity through fundamental analysis and careful credit selection. The managers remain committed to delivering a diversified portfolio with an attractive income and low credit risk and volatility. The fund has exposure to longer dated onshore bonds in light of their attractive valuations and low correlation to developed market bonds. Additionally, selected high-conviction China and China-related US dollar denominated bonds are held for their attractive valuations.

Emerging Market Corporate Debt Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 146 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging market bonds posted negative returns over the review period. The asset class performed well in 2019, with lower US Treasury yields and tighter spreads supporting hard currency returns. The shift towards accommodative monetary policies by most major central banks and policy stimulus measures in China were the key drivers for the asset class. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 amid two 'black swan' events. The World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and oil prices crashed as Saudi Arabai's talks with Russia to cut production collapsed. Spreads widened significantly in March, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the review period, largely due to its credit positioning, while coupon income supported returns. Credit spreads widened significantly during the second half of the period. Overweight positions in Ecuador and Argentina's sovereign bonds weighed on returns. Meanwhile, the overweight exposure to Turkcell Iletisim Hizmetleri and Saudi Arabian Oil Company supported performance. The fund's US dollar duration position held back gains. Across the rating spectrum, the underweight positions in BBB and above rated bonds detracted the most from returns.

The fund maintains a flexible approach to its credit spread positioning and has an overweight credit beta position versus the index. From a ratings perspective, the fund is overweight in B rated names and is underweight in A rated bonds. The fund currently has an in line US dollar duration position relative to the index and is biased towards the 5–10 years maturity period.

Emerging Market Debt Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 2,183 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging market bonds posted mixed returns over the review period. The asset class performed well in 2019, with lower US Treasury yields and tighter spreads supporting hard currency returns. The shift towards accommodative monetary policies by most major central banks and policy stimulus measures in China were the key drivers for the asset class. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 amid two 'black swan' events. The World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and oil prices crashed as Saudi Arabia's talks with Russia to cut production collapsed. Spreads widened significantly in March, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to its credit positioning, while coupon income supported returns. Credit spreads widened in emerging market debt during the second half of the review period. In an uncertain market environment, individual country selection became less relevant, but the bias towards high yielding sovereigns detracted from performance as this segment of the market underperformed investment grade bonds. Overweight positions in Ecuador and Argentina's sovereign bonds weighed on returns. Meanwhile, the overweight exposure to Comisión Federal de Electricidad and Saudi Arabian Oil Company supported performance. Within currency positioning, long positions in the Brazilian real and Russian ruble detracted the most from returns, while a short position in the South African rand added value. The fund's US dollar duration position hampered performance.

The fund maintains a flexible approach to its credit beta positioning and has an overweight allocation to credit risk versus the index. The portfolio is underweight in emerging market sovereigns and has a bias towards emerging market corporates. The fund currently has an in line US dollar duration position relative to the index. A modest allocation to emerging market currencies was also maintained.

Emerging Market Local Currency Debt Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 372 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging market bonds posted mixed returns over the review period. The asset class performed well in 2019, with lower US Treasury yields and tighter spreads supporting hard currency returns. The shift towards accommodative monetary policies by most major central banks and policy stimulus measures in China were the key drivers for the asset class. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 amid two 'black swan' events. The World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and oil prices crashed as Saudi Arabia's talks with Russia to cut production collapsed. Spreads widened significantly in March, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to its duration position. Here, an overweight duration position in South Africa weighed on returns, while the allocation to Serbian local duration added value. Within the active currency strategy, long positions in the Russian ruble, Brazilian real and Mexican peso detracted from returns. However, short positions in the South African rand and Indian rupee supported performance.

The fund's key overweight local duration positions are in South Africa and Russia, along with long positions in Korea and Serbia and short duration positions in Singapore and Israel. Within emerging market currencies, the fund has an overweight holding in the Malaysian ringgit; long positions in the Korean won and Serbian dinar; an underweight allocation to the Thai baht; and a short position in the Taiwanese dollar.

Emerging Market Total Return Debt Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 894 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging market bonds posted negative returns over the review period. The asset class performed well in 2019, with lower US Treasury yields and tighter spreads supporting hard currency returns. The shift towards accommodative monetary policies by most major central banks and policy stimulus measures in China were the key drivers for the asset class. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 amid two 'black swan' events. The World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and oil prices crashed as Saudi Arabia's talks with Russia to cut production collapsed. Spreads widened significantly in March, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund posted negative total returns, largely due to its credit and currency positioning, while the duration position supported performance. Credit spreads widened in emerging market debt during the second half of the review period. In an uncertain market environment, individual country selection became less relevant, but the bias towards high yielding sovereigns detracted from performance as this segment of the market underperformed investment grade bonds. The allocation to Ecuador and Argentina's sovereign bonds were the key detractors from returns. Within local duration, the exposure to South Africa hampered performance, while the allocation to Hong Kong and Korea enhanced gains. Long positions in the Brazilian real and Mexican peso detracted the most from returns, while a short position in the Indian rupee added value. The fund's US dollar duration position enhanced gains as yields fell to multi-year lows.

The fund's strategic allocation guides overall beta decisions, with tactical allocation driving alpha generation. Hard currency sovereign debt is the preferred part of the emerging market debt universe at current valuations. The managers believe that there is now good value in many local currency duration markets, with high yields and steep curves in some markets. The fund remains cautious on emerging market currencies.

Emerging Markets Inflation-linked Bond Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 49 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging market bonds posted mixed returns over the review period. The asset class performed well in 2019, with lower US Treasury yields and tighter spreads supporting hard currency returns. The shift towards accommodative monetary policies by most major central banks and policy stimulus measures in China were the key drivers for the asset class. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 amid two 'black swan' events. The World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and oil prices crashed as Saudi Arabia's talks with Russia to cut production collapsed. Spreads widened significantly in March, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. The exposure to real duration was reduced during the period and the allocation to local nominal duration was increased. The managers believe there is good value in many local currency duration markets, with high yields and steep curves in some markets. The outlook from here is one of lower growth, lower inflation and continued central bank cuts, which should benefit local rates. Consequently, the fund has exposure to nominal duration positions. However, a meaningful rebound in growth could push inflation expectations higher. Within nominal duration, the fund's exposure to South African duration weighed on returns. The weakening of emerging market currencies also held back gains.

The fund remains focused on country and security selection and continues to deploy relative value investment strategies based on bottom-up research. The fund has an overweight real duration position in Korea and key nominal duration positions in Russia, South Africa and Korea.

Euro Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 924 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European bonds posted mixed returns over the period, with core government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Credit spreads tightened significantly towards the end of 2019, supported by the cautious stance of global central banks, including the European Central Bank, whose corporate sector purchase programme was delivered at a much faster pace than expected. Fading geopolitical risks also contributed to the positive backdrop for risky assets in the second half of 2019. However, the turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and as the oil price crashed as Saudi Arabia's talks with Russia collapsed. In March, corporate spreads widened significantly, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. At a sector level, security selection in consumer non-cyclicals names, notably the allocation to Diageo and bias against Anheuser Busch, enhanced gains. The underweight stance in Verizon Communications also buoyed performance. Conversely, the exposure to ZF Europe and ArcelorMittal declined amid a slump in demand. The fund's underweight position in euro duration (sensitivity to interest rate changes) also supported returns.

Despite the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, we are still positive on credit for three main reasons. Firstly, the asset class will be the main beneficiary of the sheer amount of support deployed by central banks globally. Secondly, on the fiscal side, traditional constraints on debt and deficits are being put aside by governments to fight the COVID-19 crisis. Finally, while corporates are being forced to de-lever and take credit-friendly measures, governments will see their deficits and issuance requirements rise significantly in the months ahead, making credit relatively more attractive.

European High Yield Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 2,434 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European high yield bonds experienced strong returns over most part of the period under review. The asset class was buoyed by supportive policies from central banks, which provided economic stimulus and pushed yield-seeking investors further down the credit spectrum. This resulted in aggressive spread tightening. Moreover, a set of market friendly improvements boosted investors' risk sentiment. However, the first quarter of 2020 witnessed a sharp turnaround in sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and as the oil price crashed as Saudi Arabia's talks with Russia collapsed. On a positive note, high yield markets started to recover in April, on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities. The US Federal Reserve's (Fed) decision to start purchases of high yield exchange traded funds and credits also supported markets.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. The overweight stance in debt collectors and in the utility sector held back gains. This was partially offset by the bias against capital goods and basic industry. Despite the underweight position in most cyclical sectors, the current volatility has led to a breakdown of traditional correlations, which has negatively impacted normally defensive sectors. In terms of ratings, holdings in lower rated credits detracted from performance, but was partially offset by an underweight position in double-B rated securities.

Rising levels of credit spreads and implied defaults indicate a pricing-in of recession in high yield markets. However, technicals show that markets may be anticipating more flows in the near term due to buy opportunities amid attractive valuations. The fund is currently overweight in defensive and systemically well-connected sectors such as utilities, while it is biased against cyclical and structurally challenged industries such as energy, basic industry and capital goods. The managers have started deploying cash into high quality names that offer attractive spreads.

Flexible Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : GBP 264 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global bond markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, though concerns subsided as the year progressed and the US and China signed a phase one trade deal. Sentiment remained strong at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic collided with an oil price war, which resulted in a sharp sell-off in risk assets. Government bond yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads significantly widened to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. In a coordinated effort to combat a potential global economic crisis, central banks across the world announced new policy responses such as rate cuts and bond-buying programmes. Major G20 economies announced a string of fiscal easing packages to support the economy.

The fund posted positive returns over the period, underperforming global government bonds but outperforming global credit. The fund's interest rate risk exposure contributed to performance as core government bond yields fell. In light of the broad-based widening in spreads, the credit strategy held back gains. The exposure to high yield bonds was the primary detractor from performance. In April, investment grade bonds reversed the spread widening witnessed in March and ended the period in positive territory. However, the fund's move up the rating spectrum over the last 12–18 months limited losses as these bonds outperformed lower rated names. The fund's hedging strategy, which is designed to reduce credit risk through index credit default swaps, also supported returns.

The managers continue to prefer investment grade credit to high yield, while focusing on names that can withstand a period of cash flow stress. In terms of sector exposure, the fund is extremely underweight in some of the hard-hit areas such as subordinated financials and energy/commodities. The managers prefer securitised bonds, property, telecommunications and utilities, which should be better insulated from the forthcoming slowdown.

Global Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 822 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Fixed income markets posted mixed returns over the review period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Government bond yields slumped in 2019, in an environment that was characterised by a changing monetary policy regime as investors grew increasingly concerned over the health of the global economy. However, yields backed up from record lows towards the end of 2019, owing to a set of market friendly improvements. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic. Oil prices also crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) talks with Russia to lower production collapsed. In March, corporate spreads widened significantly, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. At a sector level, the credit selection strategy in financials names, notably the allocation to Bank of Ireland and the bias against HSBC enhanced gains. The overweight stance in Mylan also supported performance. Conversely, the exposure to energy names Energy Transfer and Western Midstream held back gains as the sector suffered amid low oil prices. Elsewhere, the allocation to the US dollar and Norwegian krone duration (sensitivity to interest rate changes) boosted returns.

Despite the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, we are still positive on credit for three main reasons. Firstly, the asset class will be the main beneficiary of the sheer amount of support deployed by central banks globally. Secondly, on the fiscal side, traditional constraints on debt and deficits are being put aside by governments to fight the COVID-19 crisis. Lastly, while corporates are being forced to de-lever and take credit-friendly measures, governments will see their deficits and issuance requirements rise significantly in the months ahead, making credit relatively more attractive.

Global Corporate Bond Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 219 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Fixed income markets posted mixed returns over the review period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Government bond yields slumped in 2019, in an environment that was characterised by a changing monetary policy regime as investors grew increasingly concerned over the health of the global economy. However, yields backed up from record lows towards the end of 2019, owing to a set of market friendly improvements. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. In March, corporate spreads widened significantly, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. At a sector level, the exposure to energy names Noble Energy and Aker Bp held back gains as the sector suffered amid low oil prices. Encouragingly, the credit selection strategy in consumer non-cyclical names, notably the allocation to PepsiCo and Mylan added value. The overweight stance in Enel Spa also supported performance. Elsewhere, the allocation to the US dollar and the bias against euro duration (sensitivity to interest rate changes) weighed on returns.

Despite the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, we are still positive on credit for three main reasons. ## Global High Yield Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 190 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Fixed income markets posted mixed returns over the review period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Government bond yields slumped in 2019, in an environment that was characterised by a changing monetary policy regime as investors grew increasingly concerned over the health of the global economy. However, yields backed up from record lows towards the end of 2019, owing to a set of market friendly improvements. The turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic. Oil prices also crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) talks with Russia to lower production collapsed. In March, corporate spreads widened significantly, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. The credit selection strategy in property, communications and capital goods held back gains, while the underweight stance in the energy sector added value. However, the allocation to selected energy names such as Denbury Resources and Hilcorp Energy detracted from relative returns. On a positive note, the fund's overweight exposure to selected defensive and stable names such as Charter Communications and Albertsons contributed the most to performance.

Rising levels of credit spreads and implied defaults indicate a pricing-in of recession in high yield markets. However, technicals show that markets may be anticipating more flows in the near term due to buy opportunities amid attractive valuations. The fund is currently overweight in defensive and systemically well-connected sectors such as utilities, while it is biased against cyclical and structurally challenged industries such as energy, basic industry and capital goods. The managers have started deploying cash into high quality names that offer attractive spreads.

Global Hybrids Bond Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 97 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Fixed income markets posted mixed returns over the review period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Government bond yields slumped in 2019 to record lows, many of them below zero, in an environment that was characterised by a changing monetary policy regime as investors grew increasingly concerned over the health of the global economy. However, yields backed up from record lows towards the end of 2019, owing to a set of market friendly improvements. The turn of the year witnessed a sharp turnaround in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic. Oil prices also crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) talks with Russia to lower production collapsed.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. Corporate hybrids outperformed contingent convertibles (CoCo). The bias against insurance corporate hybrids supported relative returns. This was partially offset by the underweight stance in banking credits. Positions in Spanish bank Banco de Sabadell and British Nationwide Building Society enhanced gains. The overweight exposure to ABN Amro Bank also added value. Conversely, the underweight stance in Credit Agricole and the allocation to Banco Comercial Portugues weighed on returns.

Other than quantitative easing and rate cuts by central banks, fiscal stimulus provided by governments will be the key factor impacting economic activity. However, its effectiveness is yet to be determined. Fiscal stimulus needs low yields as a prerequisite, otherwise debt sustainability will become a critical issue in the future, when yields start to rise and financial conditions begin to tighten. The exposure to AT1 bonds was increased from an underweight position to a largely overweight stance amid a fall in government bonds yields and investors' search for stable coupon income. As such, we continue to favour fundamentally strong and large national banks and bought additional holdings in Banco Santander and UBS Group.

Global Income Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 560 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global bond markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, though concerns subsided as the year progressed and the US and China signed a phase one trade deal. Sentiment remained strong at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic collided with an oil price war, which resulted in a sharp sell-off in risk assets. Government bond yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads significantly widened to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. In a coordinated effort to combat a potential global economic crisis, central banks across the world announced new policy responses such as rate cuts and bond-buying programmes.

The fund posted negative returns over the year. Credit positioning weighed on returns amid a broad-based widening of credit spreads. The exposure to the energy, banks and consumer sectors were the primary detractors from performance. At the issuer level, the allocation to Methanex, Denbury Resources and MPLX held back gains. However, the interest rate position contributed to performance, with a skew towards US dollar duration adding value as yields fell significantly over the period.

The managers increased the fund's duration exposure over the period and retained a skew towards the US in light of its risk-off properties. Given the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, the managers believe that the environment will be very supportive for high quality "safe-haven" bonds, particularly in light of recent announcements by monetary and fiscal authorities. Accordingly, the managers have added to some investment grade and high yield credit risk, as credit valuations became sufficiently attractive towards the end of March. Moreover, the managers believe that central banks, especially the US Federal Reserve will remain very engaged in markets, keeping government bond yields range-bound.

Global Inflation-linked Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,323 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Inflation-linked bonds underperformed their nominal counterparts over the 12month review period. Global breakevens ended a volatile 2019 broadly unchanged. Sentiment remained strong at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic collided with an oil price war, which resulted in a significant fall in global breakevens. Meanwhile, yields on inflation-linked bonds fell in line with their nominal counterparts. Global government bonds yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads widened to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. Major central banks across the world announced new policy responses such as rate cuts and bond-buying programmes.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. The tactical positioning in US breakevens contributed to performance. The long breakeven position towards the end of 2019 added notable value as US breakevens rose on the back of positive news on the US-China trade front. However, this was partially offset in the first quarter of 2020 as inflation breakevens fell significantly. Moreover, the short inflation breakeven position in sterling contributed to performance. Outside of breakeven markets, the cross-market duration strategy supported returns. Security selection in credits such as Naturgy and Thames Water Utilities also added value.

Amid the COVID-19 outbreak and the oil price sell-off, investors have priced in a lower outlook for inflation across the board. The manager prefers to look at core inflation, which strips out volatile components such as food and energy prices. On this basis, breakevens still look attractively valued. However, the current elevated volatility in markets does warrant caution. We maintain a small long breakeven position in the US, Canada and Japan. In the UK, we reduced our short UK breakeven position in order to support alpha generation (cognisant of the weak sterling).

Sustainable Reduced Carbon Bond Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 27 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European bonds posted mixed returns over the period, with core government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Credit spreads tightened significantly towards the end of 2019, supported by the cautious stance of global central banks, including the European Central Bank (ECB) whose corporate sector purchase programme (CSPP) was delivered at a much faster pace than initially expected by the market. Fading geopolitical risk also contributed to the positive backdrop for risky assets in the second half of 2019. Looking to 2020, the turn of the year brought with it a distinct shift in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and the oil price crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) talks with Russia to lower production collapsed. In March, corporate spreads widened significantly, before recovering somewhat in April on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund was repurposed on 20 January 2020 from the legacy Fidelity Funds - Core Euro Bond Fund, which consisted in a change of investment objective, universe and risk profile. Post repurpose, the fund posted negative absolute returns and underperformed the index. The fund's duration positioning was one of the detractors from relative performance, led by an underweight stance in US dollar duration. At a sector level, security selection strategy in technology & communication was the leading detractor from returns, followed by banks and brokers. From an issuer standpoint, the bias towards Aker held back gains. From a ratings perspective, an overweight stance in AA and BBB rated bonds detracted from returns, while the bias against A rated bonds enhanced relative gains.

Despite the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, we are still positive on credit for three main reasons. Firstly, the asset class will be the main beneficiary of the sheer amount of support deployed by central banks globally. Secondly, on the fiscal side, traditional constraints on debt and deficits are being put aside by governments to fight the covid-19 crisis. Lastly, while corporates are now forced to de-lever and take credit-friendly measures to ensure capital market access, governments will see their deficits and issuance requirements rise significantly in the months ahead, making credit relatively more attractive.

Sustainable Strategic Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 244 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global bond markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, though concerns subsided as the year progressed and the US and China signed a phase one trade deal. Sentiment remained strong at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic collided with an oil price war, which resulted in a sharp sell-off in risk assets. Government bond yields slumped to new record lows and credit spreads significantly widened to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. Major central banks across the world announced new policy responses such as rate cuts and bond-buying programmes.

The fund posted positive returns over the period. Its duration (sensitivity to interest rate changes) position was the key contributor to performance. US dollar, euro and sterling duration positions supported returns, as core government bond yields fell significantly over the period. However, credit positioning weighed on performance amid a broad-based widening in credit spreads in the first quarter of 2020. The exposure to banks, consumer cyclicals and energy held back gains. However, a preference for higher quality bonds (government and investment grade credit) over lower quality bonds (high yield) limited losses

The managers increased the fund's duration exposure over the period and retained a skew towards the US due to its risk-off properties. From an asset allocation standpoint, the portfolio is defensively positioned, with around half of the exposure to government bonds. Given the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, the managers prefer investment grade credit over high yield bonds. Accordingly, the managers selectively added some investment grade credit risk towards the end of March via new issue participation. Moreover, the managers believe that central banks, especially the US Federal Reserve, will remain very engaged in markets, keeping government bond yields range-bound.

US Dollar Bond Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,953 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US government bonds outperformed corporate bonds over the 12-month period. The US Federal Reserve (Fed) cut interest rate three times by 0.25% each in 2019. Consequently, the 10-year US Treasury yield posted its biggest decline in eight years. Yields backed up from record lows towards the end of 2019, owing to a set of market friendly improvements. However, the turn of the year witnessed a sharp turnaround in sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic. Oil prices also crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) talks with Russia to lower production collapsed. On the macroeconomic front, initial estimates for GDP growth showed that the US economy contracted by 4.8% in the first quarter of 2020, although final estimates could show a steeper contraction.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to credit selection and the interest rate strategy. Favourable security selection in financials, such as holdings in Morgan Stanley and Wells Fargo added significant value. An overweight stance in consumer sector names such as Volkswagen and Teva Pharmaceutical also contributed to returns. An overweight position in US dollar duration (sensitivity to interest rate changes) enhanced gains as US government bonds gained in light of the Fed's accommodative stance.

Given the still unclear picture ahead for the economy, for the virus outbreak and for oil prices, the managers believe that the investment grade market warrants a strong overweight. The fund continues to rotate out of government bonds into high quality corporate credit. The managers are now pricing-in very attractive spread levels. In particular, new issues have been a great source of paper, with minimal transaction costs. Moreover, the managers believe that central banks, especially the US Fed, will remain very engaged in markets, keeping government bond yields range-bound. This should be supportive for government bonds even in the event of a sharp rebound in risky assets.

US High Yield Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 3,309 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US high yield experienced strong returns in 2019, aided by supportive policies from central banks, which provided economic stimulus and pushed yield-seeking investors further down the credit spectrum, resulting in aggressive spread tightening. Moreover, market friendly improvements in the geo-political space boosted risk sentiment. However, the first quarter of 2020 witnessed a sharp turnaround in the risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the COVID-19 outbreak as a global pandemic and the oil price crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) talks with Russia to lower production collapsed. On a positive note, high yield markets started recovering towards the tail end of the period, on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities, and the Federal Reserve's (Fed) decision to start purchases of high yield exchange traded funds and credits.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. The fund's exposure to unrated bonds weighed on performance, while the bias against B and BB rated bonds added value. The allocation to the gaming sector suffered the most as it is particularly exposed to worldwide lockdowns due to COVID-19. However, many names recovered in April as Chinese casinos reopened and many US-based casinos appear to be in a financial position to sustain prolonged closures. Energy names also detracted from returns amid a crash in oil prices. On a positive note, the underweight positions in textiles, chemicals and steel added relative value.

The fund began to de-risk the portfolio in the first two months of the quarter due to tighter valuations in credit markets. This helped it to build a cash position which, in turn, helped to meet investor redemptions in light of the pandemic. It continued to evaluate the lasting impacts the pandemic may have on each company's fundamentals with a particular focus on cash flows to understand the runway to maintain operations. Currently, the fund remains overweight in investment grade bonds (BBB) and underweight in all high yield rated bonds, with single B rated bonds as the largest underweight.

Australian Dollar Cash Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : AUD 143 MILLION

Manager's Overview

The Australian economy expanded in the last quarter of 2019 and surpassed expectations, which were subdued due to the wildfires. However, the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic in the first quarter of 2020 and the subsequent containment measures that followed could weigh on the economy. National Australia Bank's business confidence index plunged deep into negative territory in March, the worst result in the survey's history, hit by containment measures to limit the spread of COVID-19. Moreover, business conditions slid from February, on the back of plummeting profitability, trading conditions and employment prospects. The Reserve Bank of Australia slashed its key policy rate to a new record low and initiated a quantitative easing programme.

The fund prioritised security of capital and a strong liquidity profile along with yield enhancement, while adhering to its strict credit quality guidelines. The managers hold a large portion of the portfolio in highly liquid securities in accordance with the key aim of maintaining liquidity and capital preservation. At the end of the review period, the fund's weighted average maturity (WAM) stood at 44 days.

The portfolio strategy remains conservative. The focus on credit quality is high, with exposure to issuers rated Aa3 or higher at 67%. The portfolio is also well diversified across regions. A high level of liquidity is maintained, with 39% of net assets maturing in 7 days or less.

Euro Cash Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 641 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Economic activity in the eurozone contracted sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the COVID-19 outbreak intensified in the region. The impact of widespread lockdown measures across the region was evidenced in preliminary data from Eurostat, which showed that the region's GDP suffered one of its worst contractions on record in the first quarter. The region's flash composite Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) plummeted to an all-time low in April. While the services sector bore the maximum impact due to lockdown measures, manufacturing also registered a significant fall in production. European Central Bank (ECB) President Christine Lagarde said the eurozone was facing an economic contraction of a magnitude and speed that are unprecedented in peacetime. She also said that the ECB was "fully prepared" to increase the size of its recently launched €750 billion pandemic emergency purchase programme and to "adjust its composition by as much as necessary and for as long as needed".

The fund prioritised yield enhancement along with security of capital and a strong liquidity profile, while adhering to its strict credit quality guidelines. The managers hold a large portion of the portfolio in highly liquid securities, in accordance with the key aim of maintaining liquidity and capital preservation. At the end of the review period, the fund's weighted average maturity (WAM) stood at 50 days.

The portfolio strategy remains conservative. The focus on credit quality remains high, with exposure to issuers rated Aa3 or higher at 58%. The portfolio is also well diversified across regions. A high level of liquidity is maintained, with approximately 36% of net assets maturing in 7 days or less.

Sterling Cash Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : GBP 111 MILLION

Manager's Overview

The UK economy is likely to contract markedly in 2020 due to the impact of COVID-19 on demand, investments and exports. The Bank of England (BoE) began to buy £200 billion of assets to support the economy as the rapid spread of COVID-19 paralysed the economy, resulting in a demand shock much larger than a typical recession. The BoE also cut interest rates from 0.75% to 0.1%, setting borrowing costs at their lowest point in history. On the political front, the UK left the European Union (EU) on 31 January, and attention now turns to its negotiations on a trade deal with the EU.

The fund prioritised security of capital and a strong liquidity profile along with yield enhancement, while adhering to its strict credit quality guidelines. We hold a large portion of the portfolio in highly liquid securities, in accordance with the key aim of maintaining liquidity and capital preservation. At the end of the review period, the fund's weighted average maturity (WAM) stood at 48 days.

The portfolio strategy remains conservative. The focus on credit quality is high, with exposure to issuers rated Aa3 or higher at 53%. The portfolio is also well diversified across regions. A high level of liquidity is maintained, with 33% of net assets maturing in 7 days or less.

US Dollar Cash Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 1,807 MILLION

Manager's Overview

The US Federal Reserve (Fed) cut its interest rate multiple times by 0.25% each in 2019. Consequently, the 10-year US Treasury yield posted its biggest decline and fell to multi-year lows. However, the turn of the year witnessed a sharp turnaround in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and the oil price crashed as Saudi Arabia's output cut talks with Russia collapsed. The Fed cut the target range for the federal funds rate from 1.50–1.75% to 1–1.25% and then to 0–0.25% in March 2020. It has also committed to unlimited purchases of government bonds, mortgage-backed securities and, for the first time ever, corporate debt in an attempt to ensure market liquidity and to take risk off private sector balance sheets. From a macroeconomic perspective, the COVID-19-induced recession is one for the record books in terms of jobless claims filed by individuals, despite the declining trend in recent weeks. Initial estimates for GDP growth showed the US economy contracting by 4.8% in the first quarter of 2020, although final estimates could show a steeper contraction.

The fund prioritised security of capital and a strong liquidity profile along with yield enhancement, while adhering to its strict credit quality guidelines. The managers hold a large portion of the portfolio in highly liquid securities in accordance with the key aim of maintaining liquidity and capital preservation. At the end of the review period, the fund's weighted average maturity (WAM) stood at 48 days.

The portfolio strategy remains conservative. The focus on credit quality remains high, with the exposure to issuers rated Aa3 or higher at 59%. The portfolio is also well diversified across regions. A high level of liquidity is maintained, with 31% of net assets maturing in 7 days or less.

Fidelity Target™ 2020 Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 19 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Fixed income markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, but subsided as the year progressed. The positive sentiment continued at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic resulted in unprecedented levels of volatility. Credit spreads started tightening in April, reversing some of the widening witnessed in March, on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, as US equity strategies detracted from relative returns. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy hampered performance as the style remained out of favour. The underlying US growth strategy also weighed on returns. However, the underlying European dynamic growth strategy contributed to performance to its favourable positioning in financials. The underlying US dollar band strategy also added value, driven primarily by its favourable credit selection and interest rate strategy. The allocation to cash also enhanced gains.

The fund follows a monthly migration path towards the final portfolio, which will consist of 100% cash at the end of 2020. The exposure to equities was reduced and the allocation to cash was increased relative to the benchmark in light of rising volatility.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, as strategy selection in equities detracted from relative performance. European and emerging market equities weighed on returns. In particular, the allocation to a large-cap oriented European strategy detracted from performance due to its positioning in the energy and utilities sectors. However, the underlying US core strategy that leverages the stock picking expertise of Fidelity analysts contributed to performance due to its favourable positioning in financials and industrials. The underlying euro bond strategy added value, driven by favourable credit selection in consumer non-cyclicals names. Conversely, the allocation to cash held back gains.

Fixed income markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, but subsided as the year progressed. The positive sentiment continued at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic resulted in unprecedented levels of volatility. Credit spreads started tightening in April, reversing some of the widening witnessed in March, on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to the equities segment. US and European equities weighed on returns. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy detracted from performance as the style remained out of favour. The exposure to a large-cap oriented European strategy held back gains due to its positioning in the energy and utilities sectors. However, an all-cap Japanese strategy contributed to performance in light of its overweight allocation to the information technology sector. The underlying euro bond strategy added value, driven by favourable credit selection in consumer non-cyclicals names. The allocation to cash weighed on returns.

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Emerging markets fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, energy companies declined significantly, as crude oil prices plummeted on the back of weakening demand and the lack of storage capacity.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to the equities segment. US and European equities weighed on returns. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy detracted from performance as the style remained out of favour. The exposure to a large-cap oriented European strategy held back gains due to its positioning in the energy and utilities sectors. The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy hampered performance as the style remained out of favour. However, the underlying emerging markets strategy contributed to performance due to its favourable positioning in the consumer discretionary and energy sectors. The underlying euro bond strategy added value, driven by favourable credit selection in consumer non-cyclical names. The lack of exposure to global bonds and the allocation to cash weighed on returns.

The fund follows a dynamic asset allocation model. The monthly migration path towards the final portfolio is set to have an increasing exposure to bonds and cash, and a decreasing weight in equities over time until maturity. In line with this, the majority of the fund's assets are invested in cash and highly liquid shorterm bonds. The fund retains a marginal allocation to bonds and equities.

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Fixed income markets generated mixed returns over the period, with government bonds outperforming corporate bonds. Trade war concerns dominated headlines over most of 2019, but subsided as the year progressed. The positive sentiment continued at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic resulted in unprecedented levels of volatility. Credit spreads started tightening in April, reversing some of the widening witnessed in March, on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the year, largely due to the equities segment. US and European equities weighed on returns. In particular, the allocation to a US value strategy detracted from performance as the style remained out of favour. The exposure to a large-cap oriented European strategy held back gains due to its positioning in the energy and utilities sectors. However, an all-cap Japanese strategy contributed to performance in light of its overweight allocation to the information technology sector. The underlying US dollar bond strategy also added value, driven primarily by its favourable credit selection and interest rate strategy.

The fund follows a dynamic asset allocation model. The monthly migration path towards the final portfolio is set to have an increasing exposure to bonds and cash and a decreasing weight in equities over time until maturity. Over the period, the allocation to equities was reduced, and a position was purchased in alternatives. Meanwhile, the exposure to cash was increased.

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the period. Equities performed positively over the May-December period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some of the losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

The fund generated negative absolute returns over the year. Equities were the largest detractors from performance. The underlying exposure to energy stocks weighed on returns as it was the worst performing sector over the period amid a fall in crude oil prices due to weakening demand and lack of storage capacity. The underlying holding in Pacific ex-Japan also held back gains. Within fixed income, emerging market local currency bonds hampered performance, as risk assets were sold-off and the US dollar strengthened towards the end of the period. Holdings in US Treasuries and US investment grade bonds provided support. The exposure to gold and gold mining companies was rewarding. Non-directional strategies had an overall negative impact on performance. Alternatives weighed on returns amid the indiscriminate sell-off across asset classes and liquidity concerns in 2020. Within thematic positions, the 10-year US Treasuries versus German bunds position supported returns, while the US value versus growth position detracted from performance.

Over the year, the managers increased the exposure to gold to improve the defensiveness of the fund. Within fixed income, the position in UK government bonds (Gilts) was sold. Within equities, the managers purchased short positions in the US through the Russell 2000 and selected overvalued sectors. Within thematic positions, the short semiconductor position was sold as technicals deteriorated.

Absolute Return Asian Equity Fund 4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020: USD 5 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Regional equities retreated over the review period. The period started on a positive note amid progress in the US-China trade negotiations and the signing of the phase one trade deal at the start of 2020. Soon thereafter, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases raised fears of a global contagion. A majority of economies across the region came to a standstill after their governments imposed nation-wide lockdowns to control the spread of the virus. Most countries and sectors in the region ended the period lower.

The fund delivered negative returns over the period since its launch on 5 December. The holding in Indonesia's Bank Mandiri slid as concerns over a near-term slowdown in credit due to subdued economic growth weighed on its share price. Thai oil refiner Star Petroleum Refining declined on reduced earnings expectations. The stock was held on expectations that it would benefit from the implementation of new sulphur regulations by the International Maritime Organisation (IMO). Conversely, a number of positions in the short book added value. The short position in Indonesia's state-owned bank contributed to returns. Disappointing loan growth, deteriorating asset quality and a subdued outlook weighed on its share price. The short position in a Thai refiner supported performance amid subdued profits and high debt.

The fund aims to generate positive absolute returns while investing in the Asia ex Japan region by focussing on maximising stock specific risks and managing macroeconomic risks to the minimum. This is done by creating a portfolio of a similar number of long and short positions, i.e. a corresponding short position for each long position in the same country and sector, to eliminate macroeconomic risks. In line with the bottom-up stock selection approach, the fund has long positions in restructuring candidates where the manager finds catalysts for an improvement in returns; those that have global technology, scale or cost leadership; and strong franchises that benefit from long-term structural drivers. Short positions are taken in companies that are mirror opposites - where fundamentals are deteriorating, and there is a potential for loss of domestic or global market share.

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 96 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Risk assets performed positively during late 2019, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, financial markets witnessed unprecedented levels of volatility in the first quarter of 2020 due to the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic, which led to a sell-off in risk assets and significant moves in government bond yields. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Crude oil prices plummeted on the back of weakening demand and the lack of storage capacity. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support.

The fund was launched in November 2019 and generated negative returns over the review period. However, it performed better than some traditional asset classes over the same period. The fund allocates to a range of underlying strategies that are designed to deliver absolute returns.

FAWF Asian Special Situations Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 25 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asia ex Japan equities retreated over the 12-month review period. Concerns around US-China trade frictions dominated investor sentiment over most of 2019. Starting in 2020, stock markets witnessed heightened volatility as the spread of COVID-19 cases raised fears of a global contagion. A majority of economies across the region came to a standstill after their governments imposed nation-wide lockdowns to control the spread of the virus. Against this backdrop, the majority of countries and sectors in the region ended the period lower.

The fund generated negative returns over the year. In line with the manager's bottom-up approach, security selection, notably in the financials and health care sectors, detracted from returns. Shares in Hong Kong-based Dah Sing Financial Holdings declined as investors remained concerned about ongoing civil unrest in the region. The bank offers a restructuring opportunity, has a robust balance sheet, healthy dividend pay-out and trades at attractive valuations. The position in Korean cosmetics company Cosmax disappointed. However, the company is a well-recognised and leading cosmetics original design manufacturer (ODM) in Korea. Conversely, stronger than expected retail sales boosted sportswear brand Li Ning. While the virus outbreak and weakening consumer confidence will create some uncertainties, the company is more prepared to deal with the crisis than its peers given its clean channel and much-improved distributor strength, as well as its pricing momentum.

The fund is focused on companies in three categories — restructuring candidates where the manager finds catalysts for an improvement in returns; those that have global technology, scale or cost leadership; and strong franchises that benefit from long-term structural drivers. Galaxy Entertainment Group, the best quality casino operator in Macau, is a preferred position in the portfolio. It is a beneficiary of long-term growth from the broadening of the customer base in China. Among insurers, Hong Kong-based AIA Group is a long-term beneficiary of growth in Asia's underpenetrated insurance markets, given its diversified regional operations.

FAWF Diversified Stock Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 64 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US equities posted marginal gains over the review period. Equities received some support from the trade truce between the US and China in late 2019 and early 2020. However, these gains were short-lived as markets plummeted on growing pandemic fears and an oil price crash. Saudi Arabia and Russia headed for a full-blown oil price war, leading to a supply glut in an already subdued demand environment. Policymakers globally have since announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures in an attempt to contain the negative economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdown measures taken to slow the spread of the virus. Cyclical sectors such as energy, financials and industrials bore the brunt of the losses, while information technology and health care stocks posted positive returns and outperformed the market.

The fund delivered positive returns over the year, primarily driven by the underweight stance in the energy sector, which was negatively impacted by the fall in oil prices. At a stock level, the holding in gold mining group Barrick Gold was the leading contributor to performance as gold prices rose amid increasing market volatility, with investors focusing on safe haven assets. The position in technology major Microsoft also advanced. The company's earnings reports, driven by its cloud business, were received positively by investors. Biotechnology group Regeneron Pharmaceuticals also added notable value. The company announced progress in developing a multi-antibody cocktail to prevent infection from the coronavirus or to treat those already infected.

The manager's approach tends to be more value-oriented than growth-oriented. The emphasis is on high-return businesses with sustainable long-term advantages. The manager avoids expensive, aggressive-growth companies with weaker characteristics. A key theme in the manager's approach is mean reversion. With enough research, the manager believes that it is possible to find compelling opportunities to buy — or avoid — individual stocks whose prices may be well out of line with their historical trends.

FAWF Equity Growth Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 43 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US equities posted gains over the review period. Equities received some support from the trade truce between the US and China in late 2019 and early 2020. However, these gains were short-lived as markets plummeted on growing pandemic fears and an oil price crash. Saudi Arabia and Russia headed for a full-blown oil price war, leading to a supply glut in an already subdued demand environment. Policymakers globally have since announced a series of extraordinary monetary and fiscal stimulus measures in an attempt to contain the negative economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdown measures taken to slow the spread of the virus. Cyclical sectors such as energy, financials and industrials bore the brunt of the losses, while information technology (IT) and health care stocks posted positive returns and outperformed the market.

The fund generated strong absolute returns over the period, primarily driven by strong stock selection in the IT sector. The holding in e-commerce platform Shopify rose as its fourth-quarter earnings beat expectations and it provided an upbeat full-year revenue outlook. The position in technology major Microsoft also advanced. The company's earnings reports, driven by its cloud business, were positively received by investors. The position in Nvidia contributed to returns as the chipmaker's strong quarterly results beat estimates. The company also issued an encouraging outlook, predicting strong demand for chips used in the latest generation of data centres and artificial intelligence.

With business activity continuing to deteriorate at a rapid rate, the outlook from here on largely depends on the trajectory of the virus, including a potential second wave of infections as well as any breakthroughs on treatments and vaccines. A sustainable recovery will most likely be a multi-stage process, starting with a decline/peak in the number of new reported COVID-19 cases. The next key piece is clarity on earnings guidance. Currently, there is little transparency on this front, as most corporates have suspended their earnings guidance and estimates for the current year remain low. The manager continues to look for investments that have the potential to outgrow the market and beat expectations.

FAWF Europe Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 13 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse following the breakdown of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' supply discipline. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund generated negative returns over the year under review. Against a backdrop of significant volatility in global equity markets, the fund's preference for less expensive quality names hurt returns. Over the year, there was a shift away from the valuation factor and towards the momentum factor. In the risk off environment, the exposure to energy hurt relative returns. Energy shares Royal Dutch Shell and John Wood Group were among the key decliners following the dramatic fall in oil prices in March. Selected holdings in communication services (Publicis Groupe), financials (ABN AMRO Bank and DNB) and materials (ArcelorMittal) also held back relative gains. On a positive note, holdings in health care and selected consumer discretionary stocks added notable value

The fund retains its long-term bias to higher quality companies (with a valuation discipline) that can survive the downturn and outperform their peers over time. The focus remains on owning higher quality companies with higher cash flow returns on investment, stronger balance sheets and less volatile earnings, but without paying too high a multiple. The fund has strong exposure to quality growth sectors such as industrials, consumer staples, information technology and health care, but with a strong valuation discipline.

FAWF International Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 11 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December 2019 period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Emerging markets fell and underperformed developed markets. From a sector perspective, energy companies declined significantly, as crude oil prices plummeted on the back of weakening demand and the lack of storage capacity.

The fund generated negative returns over the year, due to selected US and European equity strategies. The underlying US core and large-cap European strategies weighed on returns due to their positioning in the energy and financials sectors. This was partially offset by the US core strategy's favourable positioning in the information technology sector. Meanwhile, the strong positioning in the health care sector supported returns in the large-cap European strategy. The allocation to a US growth oriented strategy and passive exposure to the S&P 500 index also enhanced gains.

Over the period, the majority of underlying strategies were sold to consolidate the exposure into five existing equity strategies - US core, passive exposure to Canada, Asia Pacific dividend, and growth strategies in Japan and Europe. A small allocation to cash was maintained.

FAWF Pacific Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 14 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Asian equities declined over the year. Sentiment weakened as a rapid rise in virus cases globally raised recessionary concerns and prompted a sharp sell-off in markets. Amid a period of risk aversion, the large-cap segment outperformed the small and mid-cap segment. The sharp valuation premium for regional large-caps has in turn weighed on performance owing to its small to mid-cap tilt. Against this backdrop, all regions except Taiwan and New Zealand ended in negative territory. Taiwanese equities attracted investor interest in view of an incrementally positive outlook for major technology companies that are exposed to fifth-generation (5G) applications. The effective containment of the COVID-19 outbreak and policy stimulus measures led to Chinese stocks faring better than their global peers. Japanese equities also outperformed as a relatively low number of virus infections and a combination of expanded monetary stimulus and anticipated fiscal measures offered some relief.

The fund generated negative returns over the year. Short-term disappointments and heightened risk-aversion weighed on some holdings. Casino operator Universal Entertainment fell as investors feared the possibility of a hazardous eruption at the Taal volcano, which could impact footfalls at Okada Manila. The announcement of travel restrictions by the Philippines government due to the virus outbreak is likely to impact its casino business. Mobile big data solutions platform Aurora Mobile ADR fell after it reported losses in all quarters on a year-on-year basis. On a positive note, biotechnology holding PolyNovo advanced due to strong sales momentum for its specialised wound healing product.

The manager focuses on companies with good long-term growth prospects that are cash generative and have strong management teams. Vietnam-based technology conglomerate FPT is likely to be a beneficiary of growth expectations in software outsourcing and broadband. Leading carrier-neutral internet data centre services provider 21Vianet Group ADR is expected to benefit from an increase in demand for internet data centres, driven by higher internet usage on mobile devices by consumers and growing demand for cloud and information technology services by companies.

FAWF Limited Term Bond Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 10 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US government bonds outperformed corporate bonds over the 12-month period. Trade tensions between the US and China dominated headlines for most of 2019, though concerns subsided as the year progressed and the two countries signed a phase one trade deal. The US Federal Reserve (Fed) cut interest rates three times by 0.25% each in 2019. Sentiment remained strong at the turn of 2020, before the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic collided with an oil price war, which resulted in a sharp sell-off in risk assets. Consequently, the entire US Treasury yield curve fell below 1% for the first time and credit spreads significantly widened to levels last seen during the global financial crisis. The US Fed slashed interest rates to near zero and announced a massive bond buying programme. On the macroeconomic front, initial estimates for GDP growth indicated that the US economy contracted by 4.8% in the first quarter of 2020, although final estimates could show a steeper contraction.

The fund posted positive returns over the year. The portfolio had an overweight stance in corporate bonds. The credit selection strategy in financials added notable value. From a ratings perspective, the bias towards lower rated investment grade bonds supported performance. Amid a volatile market environment, the underweight stance in US Treasuries and foreign government bonds hurt relative returns. The overall duration position remained largely in line with the index.

The managers believe that the investment grade market warrants a strong overweight given the uncertainty over the economy, the virus outbreak and oil prices. The managers are now pricing-in very attractive spread levels. In particular, new issues have been a great source of paper with minimal transaction costs. Among corporates, the fund favours financials, particularly banks. The allocation to US Treasuries and agency mortgage-backed securities was increased. The managers believe that central banks, especially the US Fed, will remain very engaged in markets, keeping government bond yields range-

FAWF US Dollar Bond Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 4 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US high yield experienced strong returns in 2019, aided by supportive policies from central banks, which provided economic stimulus and pushed yield-seeking investors further down the credit spectrum. This resulted in aggressive spread tightening. Moreover, a set of market friendly improvements in the geo-political space boosted risk sentiment. However, the first quarter of 2020 witnessed a sharp turnaround in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak as a global pandemic and the oil price crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' output cut talks with Russia collapsed. On a positive note, towards the tail end of the period, high yield markets started to recover on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities, and the Federal Reserve's (Fed) decision to start purchases of high yield exchange traded funds and

The fund posted positive returns over the period. The bias against B and BB rated bonds contributed to returns, while unrated bonds detracted the most from performance. At a sector level, the underweight positions in textiles/apparel, chemicals and steel added value, while the exposure to the energy and gaming sectors suffered. The gaming industry is particularly exposed to COVID-19, however, April saw many names recover as Chinese casinos reopened and many US-based casinos appear to be in a financial position to weather prolonged closures.

The fund began to de-risk the portfolio in the first two months of the quarter due to tighter valuations in credit markets. This helped it to build a cash position which, in turn, helped to meet investor redemptions in light of the pandemic. It continued to evaluate the lasting impacts the pandemic may have on each company's fundamentals with a particular focus on cash flows to understand the runway to maintain operations. Currently, the fund remains overweight in investment grade bonds (BBB) and underweight in high yield bonds, with the largest underweight in single B rated bonds.

FAWF US High Income Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 41 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US high yield experienced strong returns in 2019, aided by supportive policies from central banks, which provided economic stimulus and pushed yield-seeking investors further down the credit spectrum, resulting in aggressive spread tightening. Moreover, a set of market friendly improvements in the geo-political space boosted risk sentiment. However, the first quarter of 2020 witnessed a sharp turnaround in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and the oil price crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' output cut talks with Russia collapsed. On a positive note, towards the tail end of the period, high yield markets started to recover on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities, and the Federal Reserve's (Fed) decision to start purchases of high yield exchange traded funds and credits.

The fund posted negative returns over the period. The bias against B and BB rated bonds contributed to returns, while unrated bonds detracted the most from performance. At a sector level, the underweight positions in textiles/apparel, chemicals and steel added value, while the exposure to the energy and gaming sectors suffered. The gaming industry is particularly exposed to COVID-19, however, April saw many names recover as Chinese casinos reopened and many US-based casinos appear to be in a financial position to weather prolonged closures.

The fund began to de-risk the portfolio in the first two months of the quarter due to tighter valuations in credit markets. This helped it to build a cash position which, in turn, helped to meet investor redemptions in light of the pandemic. It continued to evaluate the lasting impacts the pandemic may have on each company's fundamentals with a particular focus on cash flows to understand the runway to maintain operations. Currently, the fund remains overweight in investment grade bonds (BBB) and underweight in high yield rated bonds, with the largest underweight in single B rated bonds.

Institutional Emerging Markets Equity Fund

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 657 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Emerging markets fell during the review period. Risk assets declined significantly following the outbreak of COVID-19 in China and its spread across the world. However, in April, the market staged a rally as new cases appeared to peak in the countries that were hardest hit by the virus, and on positive newsflow around the possible development of a vaccine. Despite recent production cuts by the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and Russia, oil suffered its biggest decline in history, with the price of West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude oil moving into negative territory. Chinese equities declined, but losses were curbed as the country resumed economic activities in March following a stringent and prolonged lockdown. Latin American equities were volatile, but disappointed investors as currencies tumbled in recent months as the virus spread through the region and as fears of a slowdown in the global economy mounted. Risk-off sentiment weighed on metal prices as well. Copper prices fell to their lowest level in more than three vears.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period due to stock selection in the consumer discretionary sector and an underweight stance in energy stocks. The position in Zhongsheng Group Holdings, China's biggest automobile dealer, added value. Its shares rose in light of its healthy growth outlook, supported by network expansion. However, some gains were offset due to the COVID-19 outbreak. Within financials, the holding in Brazilian reinsurer IRB Brasil Resseguros weighed on returns. The stock fell sharply as a short-seller report highlighted alleged concerns in its accounting practices.

The fund's sector positioning is a by-product of stock selection and where the most compelling investment opportunities are found. Hong Kong-based insurance services provider AIA Group is expected to benefit from a demographic shift in Asia. The fund has exposure to branded sportwear company Anta Sports Products. Its business structure, brand portfolio and market leadership position should help it to withstand the pandemic better than its peers.

Institutional Euro Blue Chip Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 25 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period, driven by strong stock selection and sector allocation. Stock picking in communication services, the overweight exposure to the consumer discretionary sector (driven by holdings in internet/online food delivery companies) and the bias towards health care supported performance. Telecommunication infrastructure company Cellnex Telecom was the largest contributor to returns, as its shares rose on the back of organic growth, new customer wins and acquisitions. Grifols ADR and Takeaway.com were among the other key performers. Cyclical holdings in industrials (Atlantia), energy (Royal Dutch Shell) and materials (ArcelorMittal), held back gains.

Amid a risk-off environment, the fund has an increased focus on defensive sectors. Health care remains the largest overweight sector, with key holdings in Grifols ADR and Fresenius Medical Care. Telecommunication services should benefit from increased demand and lower customer churn. Over the last couple of months, the fund moved to an overweight stance in communication services and reduced the underweight position in utilities. In cyclicals, the focus is on companies that have strong balance sheets and can weather the downturn. Selected information technology names should gain from a long-term shift to a remote working culture, while gaming companies are expected to benefit if they can maintain increased user levels over the long term.

Institutional European Larger Companies Fund <sup>4</sup>

Manager's Overview

European equities ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the review period. The underweight stance in consumer discretionary (particularly automobile companies) as well as stock selection in industrials added value. As both stock selection and sector allocation weighed on returns. Against a backdrop of significant volatility in global equity markets, the fund's preference for less expensive quality names, as well as the absence of some highly rated growth stocks hampered performance. The overweight exposure to energy, coupled with an underweight allocation to utilities hurt relative returns. Energy shares John Wood Group and Royal Dutch Shell (B) were among the key decliners following the dramatic fall in oil prices in March. Selected holdings in communication services (Publicis Groupe) and materials (ArcelorMittal) also held back gains.

The fund retains its long-term bias towards higher quality companies (with a valuation discipline) that can survive the downturn and outperform their peers over time. The focus remains on owning higher quality companies with strong cash flows, solid returns on investment, robust balance sheets and less volatile earnings, but without paying too high a multiple. The fund remains overweight in quality growth sectors such as industrials, consumer staples, information technology and health care, but with a strong valuation discipline. Conversely, it is underweight in materials, utilities and communication services.

Institutional European Smaller Companies Fund <sup>4</sup>

Manager's Overview

European smaller equities, along with their larger peers, ended a volatile 12-month period in negative territory. In 2019, performance was driven by the accommodative monetary policy stance adopted by most major central banks and improving geopolitical conditions towards the end of the year. 2020 started on a positive note, driven by optimism around the US-China trade deal. However, these gains were more than offset as global equity markets sold-off sharply due to the spread of COVID-19 and the oil price collapse following the breakdown of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' (OPEC) supply discipline. Most recently, strong stimulus measures announced by central banks supported equities.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period, driven by favourable positioning in financials and strong contributions from holdings in communication services. Shares in Team17 Group benefited from strong revenue and earnings growth in 2019. Holdings in Future and Cellnex Telecom were also key contributors to returns. Selected consumer discretionary names, including HelloFresh and Shop Apotheke Europe added value, which was offset by the weaker performance of Westwing Group and Basic-Fit. Conversely, the industrials and health care sectors detracted from returns. Shares in aerospace components supplier Senior fell sharply due to COVID-19 related disruption in the latter part of the period. Despite the sector's challenged outlook, the managers believe that the long-term growth prospects remain attractive.

The fund is focused on identifying well-managed, cash generative companies that have clear market leadership, a sustainable competitive advantage, and profits driven by strong sales growth. The fund displays higher growth in sales and earnings, better balance sheet characteristics, and trades at slightly higher multiples than the index, reflecting the bias towards quality growth stocks. The fund has large overweight positions in the consumer discretionary and materials sectors, and is underweight in the industrials, real estate and health care sectors.

Institutional Global Focus Fund 4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 102 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the 12-month period to April 2020. Equities performed positively over the May–December 2019 period, supported by accommodative policies by major central banks. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020, as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets pared some losses as news flows around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. Against this global backdrop, all key markets, except the US, ended lower, with Pacific ex Japan and UK experiencing the most significant declines. Emerging markets also fell and underperformed developed markets.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the year. Strong stock selection in the real estate, communication services and consumer discretionary sectors added value, but industrials were among the notable detractors from returns. At a stock level, leading electric vehicle (EV) manufacturer Tesla was the top contributor to performance. Its shares were supported by its positive earnings outlook, driven by its ability to successfully tackle supply issues, which marked its emergence as a strong, viable competitor in the next-generation automobile space. Within the real estate sector, positive earnings lifted the position in wireless infrastructure operator SBA Communications. However, the holding in aerospace & defence group Rolls-Royce detracted from performance due to concerns over its earnings amid a weakening demand outlook following the COVID-19 outbreak.

The portfolio manager believes that stock-specific fundamentals will remain the key driver of equity returns. Consequently, the portfolio continues to focus on companies that demonstrate strong pricing power, are led by talented management teams and are available at reasonable valuations. The fund remains overweight in financials. The exposure to the sector is via a combination of diversified financials and banking names with strong balance sheets, nimble business models, clear earnings drivers and strong management teams with proven track records.

Institutional Global Sector Fund 3,4

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 247 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Global equities fell over the review period. Equities performed positively during the May–December 2019 period, supported by major central banks' accommodative policies. However, markets fell sharply in the first quarter of 2020 as the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted global economic prospects. Authorities across the world announced large-scale lockdowns and travel restrictions to curtail the contagion, and unveiled policy stimulus measures to mitigate its economic impact. Towards the end of the period, markets recouped some of the losses as news flow around a potential COVID-19 treatment, the reopening of economies and stimulus measures provided support. From a sector perspective, energy companies declined significantly, as crude oil prices plummeted on the back of weakening demand and the lack of storage capacity.

The fund underperformed the comparative index over the period. Health care stocks came into focus amid the COVID-19 crisis, and outperformed other sectors in the market-wide selloff. The lack of exposure to the sector weighed on relative returns. The bias against industrials also held back gains. However, the underweight allocation to and strong security selection in the energy sector contributed to relative performance. Weaker global macroeconomic activity in light of the COVID-19 outbreak hampered demand for energy. The simultaneous decline in oil prices is expected to adversely impact margins in the sector.

The mandate was transitioned to a new portfolio management team in the second quarter of 2019. The fund has a total return philosophy, but a reference index would be a blend of market indices representing global sectors. The manager believes that a bottom-up security selection approach is very meaningful in the prevailing backdrop, and delegates this to selected Fidelity sector portfolio managers, while tactically allocating to blend the five most attractive sector strategies on a risk/absolute return basis. The manager has an overweight position in infrastructure and an underweight allocation to the energy sector.

Institutional Japan Fund 8

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : JPY 156 MILLION

Manager's Overview

Japanese equities fell over the 12-month period, primarily due to a sharp decline in the first quarter of 2020 owing to the COVID-19 outbreak and rising concerns over its long-term social and economic impact. A strong rally in the second half of 2019 was supported by signs of easing trade tensions between the US and China, and an accommodative monetary policy stance by global central banks. However, share prices suffered a sharp decline in early 2020 as the COVID-19 virus spread globally. Japan's government announced emergency measures first in Tokyo and later across the rest of the country. At the same time, a sharp plunge in oil prices exacerbated the volatility in financial markets. Intermittent periods of yen strength also pressured Japanese shares at times during the period. The Bank of Japan and the Japanese government responded by announcing massive monetary and fiscal stimulus, as well as measures to address the impact of the pandemic. As a result of these developments, the Tokyo Olympics was pushed back by one year to the summer of 2021. From a sector perspective, energy, materials and financials were the leading decliners, while health care, communication services and technology recorded positive

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the review period. An overweight stance in the information & communication sector and strong stock selection in industrials contributed to returns. However, selected positions in the communication services sector detracted from performance. At a stock level, the holding in semiconductor and medical equipment maker Hitachi High Technologies advanced after its parent Hitachi made a tender offer for the company. The allocation to other semiconductor-related companies, including Tokyo Electron and DISCO, also outperformed. However, the exposure to Yokogawa Electric, a leading manufacturer of control equipment for chemical plants and refineries, fell due to the sharp decline in oil prices and a weak . demand outlook.

The manager generates and validates local stock ideas from global perspectives, leveraging Fidelity's extensive research network to identify stock specific growth drivers through detailed global value chain analysis. In line with this approach, the fund remains overweight in the electronic equipment, instruments & components, machinery and semiconductors & semiconductor equipment sectors. The manager remains underweight in banks and expensive defensive sectors.

Institutional European High Yield Fund <sup>4</sup>

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : EUR 30 MILLION

Manager's Overview

European high yield bonds experienced strong returns over most part of the period under review. The asset class was buoyed by supportive policies from central banks, which provided economic stimulus and pushed yield-seeking investors further down the credit spectrum. This resulted in aggressive spread tightening. Moreover, a set of market friendly improvements boosted investors' risk sentiment. However, the first quarter of 2020 witnessed a sharp turnaround in sentiment. Volatility spiked in the first quarter of 2020 after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic. On a positive note, high yield markets started to recover in April, on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities. The US Federal Reserve's (Fed) decision to start purchases of high yield exchange traded funds and credits also supported markets.

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period. The bias against the consumer cyclical, capital goods and communications sectors enhanced gains. This was partially offset by the overweight stance in the other financials and energy sectors. From an issuer standpoint, Electricite de France contributed the most to returns on news of reforms in the existing nuclear market scheme, which would benefit the state-controlled utility. The bias against Dtek Energy also added value after Fitch downgraded its rating to C from B-.

Rising levels of credit spreads and implied defaults indicate a pricing-in of recession in high yield markets. However, technicals show that markets may be anticipating more flows in the near term due to buy opportunities amid attractive valuations. The fund is currently overweight in defensive and systemically well-connected sectors such as utilities, while it is biased against cyclical and structurally challenged industries such as energy, basic industry and capital goods. The managers have started deploying cash into high quality names that offer attractive spreads.

Institutional US High Yield Fund 1,3,4,5

FUND SIZE AS AT 30.04.2020 : USD 35 MILLION

Manager's Overview

US high yield experienced strong returns in 2019, aided by supportive policies from central banks, providing economic stimulus and pushing yield-seeking investors further down the credit spectrum. This resulted in aggressive spread tightening. Moreover, a set of market friendly improvements in the geo-political space boosted risk sentiment. However, the first quarter of 2020 witnessed a sharp turnaround in risk sentiment. Volatility spiked after the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global pandemic and the oil price crashed as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries' output cut talks with Russia collapsed. On a positive note, towards the tail end of the period, high yield markets started to recover on the back of supportive announcements by fiscal and monetary authorities, and the Federal Reserve's (Fed) decision to start purchases of high yield exchange traded funds and readits

The fund outperformed the comparative index over the period. The bias against B and BB rated bonds contributed to returns, while unrated bonds detracted the most from performance. At a sector level, the underweight positions in textiles/apparel, chemicals and steel added value, while the exposure to the energy and gaming sectors suffered. The gaming industry is particularly exposed to COVID-19, however, April saw many names recover as Chinese casinos reopened and many US-based casinos appear to be in a financial position to weather prolonged closures.

The fund began to de-risk the portfolio in the first two months of the quarter due to tighter valuations in credit markets. This helped it to build a cash position which, in turn, helped to meet investor redemptions in light of the pandemic. It continued to evaluate the lasting impacts the pandemic may have on each company's fundamentals, with a particular focus on cash flows to understand the runway to maintain operations. Currently, the fund remains overweight in investment grade bonds (BBB) and underweight in high yield rated bonds with single B rated bonds as the largest underweight.
