Investment risks

For complete information on risks, refer to the legal documents. The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund uses derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes, which may result in the fund being significantly leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may invest in contingent convertible bonds which may result in significant risk of capital loss based on certain trigger events. The fund may invest in certain securities listed in China which can involve significant regulatory constraints that may affect the liquidity and/or the investment performance of the fund. As this fund is invested in a particular sector, you should be prepared to accept greater fluctuations in the value of the fund than for a fund with a broader investment mandate.

Fund Strategy

The fund primarily holds investment grade bonds issued by companies globally. It looks to generate returns over the benchmark by implementing investment themes that reflect the key long-term drivers of credit markets. The investment themes inform broad positioning. They also help to identify which securities are selected for inclusion in the fund. The fund has a limited ability to own high yield securities (rated no lower than BB at purchase). It predominantly uses this flexibility to invest in subordinated bonds* issued by investment grade companies, rather than buying riskier names. *Subordinated bonds are debt instruments which rank lower than other debt in terms of repayment, if a company falls into liquidation or bankruptcy.

Past performance does not predict future returns. The performance period shown here starts on the last day of the first indicated month and ends on the last day of the last indicated month.

*At Invesco we continuously monitor any applicable sanctions, including those imposed by the UN/US/EU and UK. These sanctions may preclude investments in the securities of various governments/regimes/entities and as such will be included in our compliance guidelines and workflows (designed to ensure compliance with such sanctions). The wording of international sanctions is something that we pay particular attention to as there are occasions where sanctions can exist in limited form, for example allowing investments in the secondary market. In addition to sanctions targeting entire countries, there are other thematic regimes, which may focus for example on human rights, cyber attacks, terrorist financing and corruption, which may apply to both individuals and/or entities/corporations.

Any investment decision should take into account all the characteristics of the fund as described in the legal documents. For sustainability related aspects, please refer to: <https://www.invescomanagementcompany.lu/lux-manco/literature>.
