What does it mean?

This indicator (SRRI) represents the annualized historical volatility of the Sub-Fund over a 5-year period. Where there are less than 5 years worth of data, missing returns are simulated using an appropriate benchmark. The SRRI may change over time and should not be used as an indicator of future risk or returns. Even the lowest risk classification does not imply that the Sub-Fund is risk-free or that capital is necessarily guaranteed or protected.

Category

The classification of this Sub-Fund in this category is based on the volatility of the Sub-Fund's weekly returns over the last 5 years. A Risk & Reward indicator of 3 is associated with volatility levels of between 2% and 5%, which is typical of sovereign bond funds. However, within this category, this Sub-Fund is likely to exhibit lower volatility than its peers. This is because it is constructed according to a fundamentally-weighted methodology while most peer funds follow market capitalization benchmarking rules.

Are there any other particular risks?

The following risks may be materially relevant but may not always be adequately captured by the synthetic risk indicator and may cause additional loss:
- Credit risk: A significant level of investment in debt securities or risky securities implies that the risk of, or actual, default may have a material impact on performance. The likelihood of this depends on the credit-worthiness of the issuers.
- Model Risk: Models may be misspecified, badly implemented or may become inoperative when significant changes take place in the financial markets or in the organization. Such a model could unduly influence portfolio management and expose to losses.
- Financial, economic, regulatory and political risks: Financial instruments are impacted by various factors, including, without being exhaustive, the development of the financial market, the economic development of issuers who are themselves affected by the general world economic situation, and economic, regulatory and political conditions prevailing in the relevant country.

For more details about risk, see appendix B “Risk Factors” of the prospectus.
