In principle, all Index Selection funds may participate in securities lending. BlackRock, acting as an agent, currently lends securities on behalf of certain Index Selection funds with the objective of generating additional returns for the funds while maintaining a low level of risk.^{2,3}

² Should a particular fund undertake securities lending, it will receive 62.5% of the income generated by this activity and the remaining 37.5% will be received by BlackRock as the securities lending agent. The fact that BlackRock receives a portion of the fee generated from the overall securities lending income does not increase the costs of running the fund.

All data in this Fact Sheet is as at 30 September 2015, unless otherwise stated.
