Risk and Reward Profile

The level of Risk and Reward is due to the nature of the investments and the fluctuations of its returns in the past. The risk and reward indicator was calculated using simulated performance data and it may not be a reliable guide of the fund's future risk profile. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest risk category does not mean a risk free investment.

Risks materially relevant which are not adequately captured by the indicator:

The investments of the Sub-Fund are subject to normal market fluctuation and other risks inherent in investing in securities and there can be no assurance that capital appreciation or distribution payments would occur. The value of investments and income from them, and therefore the value of the shares of the Sub-Fund, can and do go down as well as up and an investor may not get back the amount he invests.

Derivative risk: The value of a derivative contract depends on the performance of an underlying asset, and a small movement in the value of the underlying asset may cause a large movement in the value of the derivative because of the high degree of leverage which is typical for trading in derivative instruments.

Credit risk, a fundamental risk relating to all fixed income securities or debt securities, is the chance that an issuer will fail to make principal and interest payments when due. Interest rate risk: movements in interest rates may have effect negatively a security's value or, in a Sub-Fund's case, its Net Asset Value. The Sub-Fund may invest 100% of its assets in different securities issued by one single member state of the OECD, the Sub-Fund may be fully exposed to the risk of default of that particular issuer. Related to liquidity risk, when investments are made in financial instruments that could have a lower level of liquidity, in some circumstances for example in the case of a market crash or default of issuers and/or due to massive redemptions of shareholders may result in a potential decrease of the value of certain investments.

The Sub-Fund may invest in assets denominated in different currencies. Insofar as the Sub-Fund's assets may not be denominated in USD and/or not hedged against such other currencies, the Sub-Fund may be exposed to currency fluctuation.

Please refer to the "Risk Factors" section of the prospectus to find a more detailed description of the risk factors applying to this Sub-Fund.
