KEY RISKS
WHAT ARE THE KEY RISKS OF THIS INVESTMENT? The value of the product and its dividends may rise or fall. These risk factors may cause you to lose some or all of your investment:	Refer to paragraphs 3.4 and 5 on pages 17 and 21 of the Singapore Prospectus for further information on risks of the product.
Market and Credit Risks
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ You are exposed to market risk. Value of the Sub-Fund's investments could decrease due to movements in financial markets. ■ You are exposed to Volatility risk. The Sub-Fund may be subject to strong movement of Volatility which could negatively impact the performance of the Sub-Fund according to its investment objective. ■ You are exposed to counterparty risk. Counterparty risk represents the risk of default of a market participant to fulfil its obligations vis-à-vis your portfolio.
Liquidity Risks
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ The Sub-Fund is not listed and you can redeem only on Dealing Days. Also, Singapore Distributors may accept and deal with redemption orders only on Singapore Business Days, some of which may not be Dealing Days. ■ The Sub-Fund may face difficulties paying redemption proceeds within the time frame in the Singapore Prospectus in the event of unusual market conditions or unusually high volume of redemption requests. ■ The Sub-Fund (which invests in Developing Countries or emerging economies) may, from time to time, have difficulty in repatriating a limited portion of its investment. You should therefore look upon the Sub-Fund as a long-term investment. You should additionally regard the Sub-Fund as a high risk investment.
Product-Specific Risks
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ You are exposed to Developing Countries risk. Investment in securities of issuers of Developing Countries involves risks e.g. currency fluctuations, investing in countries with smaller capital markets, limited liquidity, price volatility, different conditions applying to transaction and control and restrictions on foreign investment, as well as risks associated with developing economies, including high inflation and interest rates, large amounts of external debt as well as political and social uncertainties. ■ You are exposed to the risk of small and medium companies. Investment in such companies may be riskier due to higher risks of failure or bankruptcy and due to more reduced volume of quoted securities and the accentuated movements that it implies. ■ You are exposed to exchange risk. The Sub-Fund's investments may be made or hedged in other currencies than its base currency. Consequently, you may be exposed to a variation of the exchange rates of the currencies to which the Sub-Fund is exposed. Where a systematic hedging is implemented, a residual currency risk may exist due to the imperfection of the hedging.

- You are exposed to risks attached to transactions into FDIs. The Sub-Fund may engage in various strategies to reduce certain risks and/or attempt to enhance return, including the use of FDIs such as options, warrants, swaps and/or futures. Such strategies might be unsuccessful and incur losses due to market conditions. Additional specific risks include the risk of mispricing or improper valuation and the risk that FDIs may not correlate perfectly with underlying assets, interest rates and indices.
- You are exposed to risks relating to distributions of dividends. Dividend/interest income and capital gains received by the Sub-Fund may be adversely affected by (amongst others) investee entities suffering unexpected losses and/or paying lower than expected dividends. Where dividend/interest income and/or capital gains are insufficient, distributions may be made out of capital, which may amount to a reduction of part of your original investment and may result in reduced future returns to you. Payment of distributions (whether out of dividend/interest income, capital gains, capital or otherwise) may have the effect of lowering the relevant Share Class's NAV.
- You are exposed to risks associated with the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect. Investments through the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect are subject to additional risks, namely, quota limitations, suspension risk, differences in trading day, operational risk, restrictions on selling imposed by front-end monitoring, short swing profit rule, recalling of eligible stocks, clearing and settlement risk, participation in corporate actions and shareholders' meetings, regulatory risk and taxation risk. Further, the Sub-Fund's investments through Northbound trading under Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect will not be covered by Hong Kong's Investor Compensation Fund.
