In principle, all Index Selection funds may participate in securities lending. BlackRock, acting as an agent, currently lends securities on behalf of certain Index Selection funds with the objective of generating additional returns for the funds while maintaining a low level of risk.^{2,3}

- ¹ For this purpose achieved tracking error is defined as the annualised standard deviation of monthly returns as against the benchmark, measured over the three year period ending at the current quarter end.
 - ² Should a particular fund undertake securities lending, it will receive 62.5% of the income generated by this activity and the remaining 37.5% will be received by BlackRock as the securities lending agent. The fact that BlackRock receives a portion of the fee generated from the overall securities lending income does not increase the costs of running the fund.
 - ³ Securities lending involves risk such as that of counterparty default. As an additional safeguard in the event of a counterparty default, BlackRock, Inc. provides the fund with an indemnity to cover losses associated with borrower default – in the event of a default, if a shortfall exists between the proceeds of the sale of the collateral and the cost to repurchase loaned securities, BlackRock reimburses the fund in full under the terms of the indemnity.
- All data in this Fact Sheet is as at 31 December 2014, unless otherwise stated.
