RISKS

An investment in the Fund is subject to credit interest rate and currency risks. Credit risk is the change in the value of debt securities reflecting the ability and willingness of issuers to make principal and interest payments. Interest rate risk is the possibility that a Fund's yield will decline due to falling interest rates and the potential for bond prices to fall as interest rates rise. Currency risk is a decline in value of a foreign currency relative to the Fund's base currency which reduces the value of the foreign currency and investments denominated in that currency. Where a Class of Shares is denominated in a currency other than the Fund's base currency, additional currency risk may exist. The Fund may invest in the following: derivatives which can be volatile and affect Fund performance; high yield bonds (junk bonds) which can subject the Fund to substantial risk of loss; and structured investments which can change the risk or return, or replicate the risk or return of an underlying asset. Investments involve risk. The value of an investment in the Fund can go down as well as up.

1 Modified duration measures the percent change in value of the fixed income portion of the portfolio in response to a 1% change in interest rates. In a multi-currency denominated portfolio with sensitivities to different interest rate regimes, modified duration will not accurately reflect the change in value of the overall portfolio from a change in any one interest rate regime. Source: FactSet Research Systems, Bloomberg. For detailed modified duration exposures by currency, please see the next page.

2 Yield is yield to worst, which is the lowest potential yield that can be received on a bond without the issuer actually defaulting. Yield to worst is for the bond-only portion of the portfolio and is calculated by making worst-case scenario assumptions on the issue by calculating the returns that would be received if provisions, including prepayment, call or sinking fund, are used by the issuer. It does not represent the yield that an investor should expect to receive.
