Objectives and Investment Policy

Objectives and Investment Policy

The Sub-Fund is actively managed. The Sub-Fund is not managed in reference to a benchmark.
A sub-fund seeking to provide complementary sources of return and diversification to traditional asset classes by investing in certain types of rule-based long/short strategies which purport to take advantage of the persistence of directional moves, structural spreads or convergence effects of certain asset classes.
The Investment Manager may follow a risk-based methodology where equal risk is allocated to groups and within groups to each strategy and determines the acceptable assets' tendency of fluctuation (volatility) at the level of the global portfolio.
The Sub-Fund mainly invests in financial derivatives in order to have positive and negative exposure to different asset classes (including but not limited to equity indices, bond and credit indices, commodity indices and currency exchange rates), as well as cash and cash equivalents. The sub-fund may invests partially through the use of funds.

What does it mean?

This indicator (SRRI) represents the annualized historical volatility of the Sub-Fund over a 5-year period. Where there are less than 5 years worth of data, missing returns are simulated using an appropriate benchmark. The SRRI may change over time and should not be used as an indicator of future risk or returns. Even the lowest risk classification does not imply that the Sub-Fund is risk-free or that capital is necessarily guaranteed or protected.

Category

The mix of ruled-based long/short strategies and their respective characteristics determine the risk profile of the fund.

Are there any other particular risks?

The following risks may be materially relevant but may not always be adequately captured by the synthetic risk indicator and may cause additional loss:
- Operational risk and risks related to asset safekeeping: In specific circumstances, there may be a material risk of loss resulting from human error, inadequate or failed internal systems, processes or controls, or from external events.
- Risks linked to the use of derivatives and financial techniques: Derivatives and other financial techniques used substantially to obtain, increase or reduce exposure to assets may be difficult to value, may generate leverage, and may not yield the anticipated results. All of this could be detrimental to fund performance.
- Model Risk: Models may be misspecified, badly implemented or may become inoperative when significant changes take place in the financial markets or in the organization. Such a model could unduly influence portfolio management and expose to losses.

For more details about risk, see appendix B "Risk Factors" of the prospectus.
