M&G Global Convertibles Fund

a sub-fund of M&G Investment Funds (7)

Euro Class B – Income shares ISIN no. GB00BYQRBR68

Managed by M&G Securities Limited, which is part of the Prudential Group

Objective and investment policy

The fund aims to provide income and capital growth over five years or more by investing in convertibles from around the world.

Core investment: Typically, at least 80% of the fund is invested in convertibles issued by companies from anywhere around the world, including emerging markets*. The fund also holds company shares in combination with bonds in order to replicate the exposure to convertibles when a direct holding is not available. Company shares are also held to adjust the technical characteristics of convertibles, such as making them more sensitive to changes in the price of the shares into which they convert.

Other investments: Generally, less than 10% is held as cash or assets that can be turned into cash quickly.

Use of derivatives: Derivatives may be used to gain exposure to the fund's core investments and to reduce risks and costs.

Strategy in brief: The fund manager aims to take advantage of the special characteristics of convertibles, which can participate more in share price increases than falls. The fund manager has the freedom to decide which investments to hold in the fund, based on an assessment of company-specific factors and technical characteristics of convertibles. Spreading investments across issuers, industries and countries is an essential element of the fund's strategy and the manager is assisted in the selection of individual bonds by an in-house team of analysts.

Performance measurement: The fund is actively managed. The Thomson Reuters Global Focus Convertible Bond Index is a point of reference against which the performance of the fund may be measured.

* Emerging market countries are defined as those included within the MSCI Emerging Markets Index and/or those included in the World Bank's definition of developing economies, as updated from time to time.

Glossary terms

Bonds: Loans to governments and companies that pay interest.

Convertibles: Bonds issued by companies that usually pay a set rate of interest and which can be exchanged for predetermined amounts of company shares.

Derivatives: Financial contracts whose value is derived from other assets.

Risk and reward profile

- The above risk number is based on simulated historical data and may not be a reliable indicator of the future risk profile of the fund.
- The risk number shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest risk number does not mean risk free.

The main risks that could affect performance are set out below:

- The value of investments and the income from them will rise and fall. This will cause the fund price, as well as any income paid by the fund, to fall as well as rise. There is no guarantee the fund will achieve its objective, and you may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- Changes in currency exchange rates will affect the value of your investment.
- The fund may use derivatives to gain exposure to investments exceeding the value of the fund (leverage). This may cause greater changes in the fund's price and increase the risk of loss.
- The fund may use derivatives with the aim of profiting from a rise or a fall in the value of an asset (for example, a company's bonds). However, if the asset's value varies in a different manner, the fund may incur a loss.
- When interest rates rise, the value of the fund is likely to fall.
- The value of the fund may fall if the issuer of a fixed income security held is unable to pay income payments or repay its debt (known as a default).
- The fund will invest in emerging markets which are generally smaller, more sensitive to economic and political factors, and where investments are less easily bought and sold. In exceptional circumstances, the fund may encounter difficulties when selling or collecting income from these investments, which could cause the fund to incur a loss. In extreme circumstances, it could lead to the temporary suspension of dealing in shares in the fund.
- Where market conditions make it hard to sell the fund's investments at a fair price to meet customers' sale requests, we may temporarily suspend dealing in the fund's shares.
- Some transactions the fund makes, such as placing cash on deposit, require the use of other financial institutions (for example, banks). If one of these institutions defaults on their obligations or becomes insolvent, the fund may incur a loss.

A more detailed description of the risk factors that apply to the fund can be found in the fund's Prospectus.
