Risk Information

Currency risk - this exists when the Sub-Fund invests in assets denominated in a different currency. A devaluation of the asset's currency relative to the currency of the Sub-Fund will lead to a reduction in the value of the Sub-Fund.

Counterparty risk - the possibility that the counterparty, such as brokers, clearing houses and other agents be unable to perform its obligations due to insolvency, bankruptcy or other causes.

Liquidity risk - investments that could have a lower level of liquidity due to (extreme) market conditions or issuer-specific factors and or large redemptions of shareholders. Liquidity risk is the risk that a position in the portfolio cannot be sold, liquidated or closed at limited cost in an adequately short time frame as required to meet liabilities of the Sub-Fund.

Operational risk - due to issues such as natural disasters, technical problems and fraud.

Emerging markets risk - the risk arising from political and institutional factors which make investments in emerging markets less liquid and subject to potential difficulties in dealing, settlement, accounting and custody.

Investing in China risk - the Sub-Fund intends to gain exposure to the financial securities of the People's Republic of China ("China") without directly investing in the PRC (excluding Hong Kong). Investments in China will be sensitive to any political, social, economic, legal and regulatory developments which may take place in or in relation to China, which may adversely impact on the securities markets in China as well as the performance of the Sub-Fund.

Derivative risk - the Sub-Fund may use derivatives as described in the Objectives and Investment Policy. Use of derivatives results in higher chances of loss due to the use of leverage, or borrowing. Derivatives allow investors to earn large returns from small movements in the underlying asset's price. However, investors could lose large amounts if the price of the underlying assets moves against them significantly.

Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect and Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect Risk - the Sub-Fund may be investing in China "A" shares via the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect and Shenzhen- Hong Kong Stock Connect which may entail additional clearing and settlement, regulatory, operational and counterparty risks.
