Performance table

For each of the sub-funds that form a part of Man Funds plc, details of their performance returns during the financial period ending 30 June 2023 are tabulated below.

The individual share classes for which we have reported the performance figures on this page have been selected by the respective Investment Managers, as their Investment Manager commentaries throughout this section of the financial statements best reflect the performance of these particular share classes.

To an extent, the Investment Managers' reports also incorporate their views and analysis on the other share classes belonging to their portfolios, however the performance return for these other share classes during the financial period may differ to what is reported in this sub-section of the financial statements.

For any sub-funds which launched part way throughout the financial period, the information tabulated below represents performance from the date of launch to 30 June 2023.

Man GLG Global Convertibles - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

During the first quarter, global markets generated steady profits despite the banking turmoil. Convertibles were only able to partially benefit from this tailwind but were able to protect well from the losses in February and when liquidity dried up in financials. During the second quarter, a bullish market provided a good environment for convertibles. During May convertibles were able to provide protection on the downside generating a small return.

Performance review

The Fund delivered a positive total return<sup>1</sup> over the period while it's benchmark index (Refinitiv Global Focus CB Hedged USD) delivered slightly higher.

Market attribution and regional attribution were the largest contributors to performance while stock selection and sector attribution detracted. On a regional and sector basis, gains were led by positioning and stock selection in EMEA Financials and Japanese consumer, cyclicals, while, conversely, positioning and stock selection in US and EMEA consumer, non-cyclicals.

On a relative basis, the top performing single name contributor was an overweight in Delivery Hero. Additional contributors included an overweight in Cellnex Telecom and an underweight in Sea Limited. Conversely, an underweight in Carnival was the largest detractor to performance. Additionally, a maximum underweight in Safran and MongoDB detracted from performance.

The Fund's equity delta stood at 42% at the end of the period versus the benchmark index at 47%. The average YTM/P at month end was -0.74% while the reference index read -1.2%.

Global Convertible Bond ("CB") new issuance totalled nearly $6bn in June taking year-to-date volumes to $39bn. The majority came from issuers in the US $27.2bn while Europe contributed $6.7bn and Japan contributed $1bn. At the same stage last year global CB issuance was just under $11bn.

Future outlook

Following a strong 1H for risk assets, we believe markets could see more muted returns in 2H as recession risks continue to linger. In the equity space, returns have been driven by a narrow group of mega-cap tech and growth firms with the rest of the market lagging. Therefore, underlying equities of convertibles remain oversold versus the S&P and this provides attractive upside opportunities for CB investors if the rest of the equity market catches up.

On the other hand, should markets decline from here convertibles again provide an attractive opportunity. The convexity of the asset class offers downside protection with credit quality generally good and valuations inexpensive versus historical levels. There is a limited maturity wall to worry about with only around 1/3 of the market coming due in the next 2-3 years. Further, we have seen a jump in issuance from more established firms this year and IG-rated issuance has reached a 10-year high (about 30% of YTD volumes).

With rates likely to remain elevated we believe volatility will also increase and this is supportive of CB valuations. On top, convertibles can be supported by buybacks and refinancings which have been increasing over the last 12 months. On the new issue front, deal pricing has become a lot more attractive for investors as rate hikes have helped push average coupons up to more than 3% while premiums have dropped to an average of just 27% - down from a high of almost 40% in 2021.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

Man GLG Japan CoreAlpha Equity - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Given the underlying strength of the wider Japanese market the performance of the Fund has also been favourable in the period under review. The direction of the Japanese market in the first half of the year was driven by two key factors. The initial factor was external (the issues faced by US and European financials in March), followed by the more dominant factor which was internal (the Japan-specific rally in Q2 which was driven by improving corporate governance, relatively attractive valuations, a weak yen, rising inflation and ultra-loose monetary policy).

Performance review

The Fund delivered positive performance<sup>1</sup> in 1H 2023 and outperformed one of its benchmarks, whilst somewhat falling short against the other<sup>2</sup>. In the first half of 2023, the TOPIX Index rose for 6 consecutive months and the Nikkei 225 closed above 33,000 for the first time in 33 years. The performance of the Fund was strong, outperforming the TOPIX Index. Market breadth narrowed from April which was a key reason for Fund underperformance relative to its style index, the Russell/Nomura Large Cap Value Index (RNLCV).

Contribution breakdown

Global markets rallied through the opening weeks of the year. Cyclicals were outperforming defensives and, in reaction to the tweak to monetary policy by the Bank of Japan in December, Japanese financials continued to push to new highs in January and February. However, the reverse was true for the closing weeks of Q1 with the sudden demise of Silicon Valley Bank. As events unfolded in the US, the spotlight then turned to the European banks, and in the Japanese market a violent rotation from Value<sup>3</sup> to Growth and a flight to defensives and tech ensued. In Q2, however, with global market pessimism easing, the Japanese market began to rally, reaching its highest level in 33 years. Market breadth narrowed from April and the strongest performers in the market were concentrated predominantly in the TOPIX Core30. Tech continued to outperform; a trend that was witnessed globally given the increasing excitement around AI. The auto sector also outperformed, supported by the continued easing of supply chain issues and yen weakness. In contrast to the start of 2023, however, cyclicals underperformed through April and May as concerns surrounding a potential slowdown in China drew.

In this market environment, exposures that were beneficial to Fund performance over the review period included positions in Value tech stocks such as Panasonic<sup>4</sup>, an overweight position in autos, as well as positive stock selection with the contrarian purchase of SoftBank Group. Cyclical exposure, particularly to chemical names, weighed on performance, in addition to real estate which underperformed in the opening months of the year due to uncertainty over rising rates before stabilising in Q2. Given the narrow breadth of the market from April, an underweight position in highly valued TOPIX Core30 stocks was also a negative. With the backing of Warren Buffet, the trading houses performed particularly well, the key factor behind Fund underperformance relative to RNLCV.

Future outlook

Despite the rally in the Japanese market, there are reasons to remain optimistic on the opportunities that Japan continues to offer:

Reflation – Japanese core-core CPI (which excludes fresh food and energy) accelerated to 4.3% in May from April's 4.1%, the biggest YoY increase since June 1981. Nevertheless, at their June policy meeting, the Bank of Japan left rates unchanged, sticking with their ultra-loose monetary policy as they don't yet have confidence in the sustainability of inflation. Governor Ueda again reiterated that the cost of prematurely tightening policy could do significant damage to Japan's emerging inflation trend. The Bank of Japan's decision to continue running such an easy monetary policy, a weak yen, negative real rates, a possible structural end to deflation and rising wages could continue to fuel the domestic economy and the stock market.

Valuation – valuations of the wider Japanese market remain attractive, particularly when compared to the US market, with nearly half the market still trading below book value. Given the continued weakness of the yen, this is notably the case for foreign investors, who have been a major driver of the rally in Japanese equities so far this year.

Corporate governance - at the heart of the Tokyo Stock Exchange's focus on corporate governance is a drive to improve capital efficiency and corporate value. So far this year, there has been a flurry of buyback announcements from companies with excess cash or significant cross shareholdings. But Japan has only just started to embark on this journey of improvement. A radical enhancement of capital efficiency, including business restructuring and the disposal of surplus assets, often takes time. This will therefore likely continue to be a long-term improvement story for Japan.

Man GLG Japan CoreAlpha Equity - Semi-Annual Report Commentary (continued)

A word on terminology: Companies listed on the Tokyo stock market are divided into two groups by size: Large and Small; with Large further subdivided into Top (largest) and Mid (medium). Japanese listed companies are also divided into two groups by valuation showing how high price investors are prepared to pay for their shares. The measure used is the Price to Book ratio (PBR), which compares the company's share price with the accounting value of its assets. Companies whose PBR is low are known as Value (cheap), while those with high PBRs are known as Growth (expensive). Japan CoreAlpha targets stocks in the Large and Value segments. The share price performance of companies in these two groups is therefore key to the Fund's performance.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

Market summary

While there were brief periods in the first quarter of 2023 that was reminiscent of the Global Financial Crisis, markets were buoyant on average for the quarter. Markets started off the year on a dramatically different note than they were at the depths of bank crisis panic in mid-March. Strong labor markets, a moderate European winter and optimism in China's pandemic reopening led to an unprecedented pro-risk January. From a factor spreads perspective for Q1, Barra Global Beta was +11.9%, and Barra Momentum was -8.2%, both of large magnitudes that were far from the ordinary. For a brief period in March, one wondered whether we were in the beginning of yet another financial crisis. By the close of the month, confidence seemed to be restored and the failure of Silicon Valley Bank and takeover of Credit Suisse seemed to be a distant memory.

In the second quarter of 2023, markets quickly shrugged off residual fears from the first quarter regarding a systemic banking crisis. While April was moderately anti-risk, sentiment quickly turned and the market backdrop became reminiscent of the internet tech bubble years in the late 2000s, this time with "Artificial Intelligence" ("Al") as the buzzword instead of "dot com". While the Index overall seemed strong, the number of individual names outperforming was quite limited. In fact, this quarter the hit rate (or the percentage of index constituents outperforming the overall index) for the MSCI World Index was the lowest in two decades with only about a third of names outperforming the index.

For the YTD period overall, within developed markets, the MSCI World Index was up 15.1% while the S&P 500 Index was up 16.9% year-to-date. Elsewhere in developed markets, the MSCI Japan Index was up 23.8% and MSCI Europe Index was up 11.1%, in euros for the period. Within Emerging Markets, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index was up 4.9% in USD. The MSCI China A Index was down - 6.5% in USD year-to-date.

Man Numeric Emerging Markets Equity - Performance review

For the six-month period ending June 30, 2023, the Man Numeric Emerging Markets Equity Fund (the "Fund") returned positive performance of net-of-fees.

Man Numeric seeks to add value through a fundamentally driven, quantitative, bottom-up stock selection process. Stocks are selected based on the output of our quantitative investment models. The Fund had positive model performance overall for the year-to-date period with all models performing positively, except the Value Innovation model. The Value Academic+ model produced the most positive returns followed by Momentum Academic+, Factor Selection, Quality, Informed Investor, and Momentum Innovation, models.

Contribution breakdown

Stock selection was positive, led by positive stock selection within Industrials, Financials, and Technology. Sector allocation was negative for the period. An overweight to the Health Care sector detracted.

Stock selection among countries contributed to performance. Stock selection was positive in India, Taiwan, and Saudi Arabia, whereas selection in Brazil and China detracted from performance. The Fund's country allocation contributed to performance. An underweight to Malaysia contributed while an overweight to China detracted.

At the security level, the Fund's top three contributors were in a Korean car company, an Indian Financials firm, and Brazilian Financials firm. The Fund's top three detractors were all in Chinese companies, two in the Consumer Discretionary sector and one in the Technology sector.

Man Numeric Europe RI Climate - Performance review

For the six-month period ending June 30, 2023 the Man Numeric Europe RI Climate (the "Fund") returned positive performance<sup>2</sup> net of fees but underperformed its benchmark net of fees, the MSCI Europe Index<sup>3</sup>. Overall model performance for the six-month period was positive despite negative performance from the three underlying models. The Climate model detracted the most from performance driven by weakness from the Energy Demand and Temperature Rise signals. The Fundamental Themes model was also out of favour, with the Business Risk and Long Term focus signals struggling. Within the ESG model, negative performance from the Social and Environmental signals more than offset positive contribution from the Governance signal.

Contribution breakdown

From a sector perspective, stock selection was negative and sector allocation was positive. Stock selection within the Industrials sector contributed while picks in the Energy sector detracted. Within sector allocation, an overweight to the Energy sector detracted while an overweight to the Industrials sector contributed to performance.

From a country perspective, positive stock selection contributed to returns. Most notable was positive stock selection in Switzerland. The Fund's country allocation was negative for the period, with an overweight to Norway detracting from performance and an underweight to the UK contributing to performance.

From an individual stock standpoint, the Fund's overweight holdings in a Belgian Materials company, Finnish Information Technology firm, and a Swedish Consumer Staples stock were the largest detractors. The three stocks that contributed the most to performance were overweighs in a Portuguese Consumer Staples firm, UK Consumer Staples company, and a Spanish Consumer Discretionary firm.

Man Numeric Global RI Climate - Performance review

For the six-month period ending June 30, 2023, Man Numeric Global RI Climate (the "Fund") delivered positive performance<sup>1</sup>, net-of-fees, yet underperformed its benchmark, the MSCI World Index<sup>2</sup>. Overall model performance for the period was positive. The Climate model was the best performing model driven by strength in the Stranded Assets signal. The Fundamental Themes model was flat, with the Growth Potential signal contributing and the Business Risk signal detracting from performance. The ESG signal was out of favour for the period while the three underlying signals were positive.

Contribution Breakdown

Stock selection detracted from performance in the six-month period, with selection most negative in the Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Health Care sectors. The portfolio generated positive stock selection in the Industrials and Consumer Staples sectors. Sector allocation was positive for the period. An overweight exposure to the Information Technology sector contributed to performance while an overweight exposure to the Health Care sector detracted from performance.

From a country perspective, stock selection was negative with picks in the US detracting and picks in Japan contributing to performance. The Fund's country allocation was also negative with an overweight in Norway detracting.

From an individual stock standpoint, the Fund's overweight holdings in a US Industrials stock, Japanese Information Technology company and a US Industrials firm were the largest positive contributors. The Fund's underweight holdings in a US Information Technology firm, US Communication Services stock and a US Consumer Discretionary company detracted from performance.

Man Numeric China A Equity - Performance review

For the six-month period ending June 30, 2023, the Man Numeric China A Fund (the "Fund") returned negative performance<sup>3</sup> net-of-fees but fared better than its benchmark, the MSCI China A Index<sup>4</sup>.

Man Numeric seeks to add value through a fundamentally driven, quantitative, bottom-up stock selection process. Stocks are selected based on the output of our quantitative investment models. The Fund had positive model performance overall for the year-to-date period. The Value Academic+ model was the best performing model and was followed by positive performance from the Factor Selection, Informed Investor, and Momentum Innovation models. The Value Innovation model performed the worst for the year, followed by negative performance from the Momentum Academic+ and Quality models. Contribution Breakdown

Contribution Breakdown

Stock selection was positive, led by positive stock selection within the Health Care, Industrials, and Communication Services sectors. Sector allocation was negative for the period. An underweight to the Utilities sector detracted the most from performance, while an overweight to Energy contributed.

At the security level, the Fund's top three contributors were in off benchmark names, in the Consumer Discretionary, Industrials, and Health Care sectors. The Fund's three largest detractors were in Information Technology, Health Care (underweight), and Industrials firms.

Future outlook

As we cross the mid-point of 2023, we cannot help but reflect on how the market environment thus far this year has been quite extraordinary. In the first quarter, we faced an unprecedented momentum reversal followed by a potential regional banking crisis in the US. In the second quarter, the love for everything "AI" has led to record high concentration in the markets. As always, ongoing research and development remains a key component of our investment philosophy. From this perspective, the second quarter was yet another very productive quarter with several new model additions and enhancements.

Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Local Currency Rates - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

After a challenging period, Emerging Markets sovereign local currency (LC) rebounded in 2023H1<sup>1</sup>. The narrative around the global monetary cycle and, in particular, the Fed's hiking cycle, set the underlying tone for markets in 2023H1. January, March, and June were the strongest months, while February (due to expected Fed hikes) and May (following growth concerns originated in China and spreading to Europe and US debt ceiling uncertainty) had negative returns. Most EM central banks continued to hike throughout the semester, although some have paused as disinflation started to take hold. EM Bond funds experienced outflows in 2023H1, with outflows from HC bond funds surpassing the inflows into LC bond funds<sup>2</sup>.

In LC, price return led performance, as risk and inflation premium were priced out of local duration markets, while interest carry and FX gains followed, with EM currencies benefiting from a stronger Euro. The average EM local yield decreased by more than core DM yields, thus the spread between GBI-EM yields and UST 5-year yields decreased.

Country performance ranged widely, with high carry countries such as Colombia, Hungary, and Brazil outperforming meaningfully while, Turkey (in light of a challenging transition period following May's Presidential elections, given the years of unorthodox policies), Egypt (where funding needs are high and foreign currency shortage is acute), and South Africa (following geopolitical tensions with the US, in light of US claims that it had supplied arms to Russia, and economic headwinds such as an ongoing energy crisis, a slowdown in commodities demand, a deteriorating balance of payment dynamics, and the ZAR's poor carry) were bottom performers in the period.

Performance review

In 2023H1, the Fund returned positive performance<sup>3</sup> net of fees, but underperformed its benchmark<sup>4</sup>, with the underweights in FX and local rate exposure both dragging from performance. In currencies, the zero-exposure in TRY, EGP (worst and 2nd worst currency performers) and overweight in PEN (outperformed) and the short off-benchmark exposure to KRW (depreciated) were the largest sources of positive relative performance, but were more than offset by the negative relative contribution from the underweight in outperformers such as MXN, COP, BRL and CLP (2nd, 1st, 4th, 7th best currency performers). In local rates, the overweight in local DWE in Mexico, zero exposure in Turkey (worst curve performer), and security selection in Hungary were the largest sources of alpha but were not enough to offset the negative impact coming from the underweight in local DWE in Colombia (best curve performer) and security selection in China and Brazil.

Future outlook

In our view, the EM faces several headwinds that are not reflected in expensive valuations and which impact may worsen due to stretched market positioning.

Firstly, global liquidity is expected to decrease sharply over the next six months due to additional debt issuance required to rebuild the US Treasury's General Account and ongoing quantitative tightening in the US and Eurozone. In our view, the rally in EM currencies and credit from late October 2022 until now has been due to the depletion of the US Treasury General account (TGA) and a USD500 billion liquidity injection from the Bank of Japan in late 2022 and early 2023. The debt ceiling limit and TGA rollover dynamics also impacted the market in 2017/2018, and 2021/2022. However, we expect the TGA rebuild to have a more significant negative impact this time around, as the Fed and ECB are performing quantitative tightening instead of quantitative easing.

Secondly, the DM hiking cycle is still ongoing due to a complex inflation outlook, particularly in the US where the near-term data is unclear and the likelihood of a recession or renewed Fed hiking cycle remains high. Additionally, there are region-specific headwinds, including EM Asia's exposure to China's economic double dip and the global manufacturing contraction, Latin America's and South Africa's struggle with lower commodity prices, and Eastern Europe's substantial drawback from its proximity to the Russia-Ukraine war.

In EM FX, while carry has been a significant driver of returns in 2023H1, weaker EU and Chinese activity data has left commodity-dependent EM currencies more vulnerable. In relation to local rates, the rate at which core inflation eases could be slower than anticipated, and a more hawkish outlook for the Fed's policy trajectory may lead EM central banks to adopt a more cautious approach in the next few quarters.

Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Bond - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

After a challenging period, Emerging markets sovereign and quasi-sovereign hard currency debt (HC) markets rebounded in 2023H1<sup>1</sup>. The narrative around the global monetary cycle and, in particular, the Fed's aggressive hiking cycle carried out since last year, set the underlying tone for markets in 2023H1. January, March, and June were the strongest months, while February (due to expected Fed hikes) and May (due to growth concerns originated in China and spreading to Europe and US debt ceiling uncertainty) had negative returns. Most EM central banks continued to hike throughout the semester, although some have paused as disinflation takes hold. EM HC Bond experienced outflows in 2023H1<sup>2</sup>. EM sovereign HC issuance was up YoY, though still meaningfully lower than issuance in 2021H1<sup>3</sup>. New issuance continued to be dominated by EM IG sovereigns.

In HC, positive performance was driven by a combination of EM sovereign spread compression and HC yield reduction. EM IG sovereigns underperformed EM HY given a larger spread compression in the latter.

Performance review

In 2023H1, the Fund returned positive performance<sup>4</sup> net of fees, but underperformed its benchmark<sup>5</sup> by -0.81%, driven by negative attribution from the DWE and credit spread DWE underweights, particularly in the high yield segment of the market. The largest detractors from performance were the underweights in Indonesia, El Salvador and Nigeria that outperformed, as well as the overweight in the Philippines, which underperformed. This was partially offset by positive attribution from the overweight in that outperformed, that active management of the exposure in Angola, and the underweights in China and Saudi Arabia, which underperformed.

Future outlook

In our view, the EM faces several headwinds that are not reflected in expensive valuations and which impact may worsen due to stretched market positioning.

Firstly, global liquidity is expected to decrease sharply over the next six months due to additional debt issuance required to rebuild the US Treasury's General Account and ongoing quantitative tightening in the US and Eurozone. The debt ceiling limit and TGA rollover dynamics also impacted the market in 2017/2018, and 2021/2022. However, we expect the TGA rebuild to have a more significant negative impact this time around, as the Fed and ECB are performing quantitative tightening instead of quantitative easing.

Additionally, there are region-specific headwinds, including EM Asia's exposure to China's economic double dip and the global manufacturing contraction, Latin America's and South Africa's struggle with lower commodity prices, and Eastern Europe's substantial drawback from its proximity to the Russia-Ukraine war.

In HC, the IG sector at 1.35% spread is trading at historical tights and appears expensive to US IG and current monetary conditions and economic activity. While EM HY spreads have improved, credit differentiation in this segment given the distressed credit profile of several of its issuers.

Man GLG Pan European Equity Growth - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Equity markets continue to reflect the tension between inflationary pressures and central bank tightening, on the one hand, and the resilience of economies and corporate performance, on the other. Inflation remains above target on both sides of the Atlantic, not least because labour markets remain tight. While the strong performance of equity markets in H1 acknowledges the extent to which companies are benefitting from the resilience of the macro-economy, nervousness about a policy-led downturn also prevails. Against this backdrop, Man GLG Pan-European Equity Growth (the 'Fund') was up 18%1, outperforming its benchmark2 by nearly 7 percentage points.

Performance review

We are pleased to report that, in value terms, over seventy per cent of today's portfolio performed ahead of the benchmark in the first six months of the year, thus there was overall a positive return¹ generated and the Fund exceeded benchmark² performance. There is more to be done in order to repair last year's negative performance, but progress this year has been led by the top ten holdings which have punched above their considerable weight. We would like to highlight core holdings such as LVMH, L'Oréal, Ferrari and Ryanair for their material contribution to performance, along with erstwhile detractors such as Abcam and Delivery Hero for making an important positive contribution. The majority of the portfolio holdings delivered a solid set of full year 2022 numbers and have continued to do the same with their Q1 results this year. It has been pleasing to see that not only is the expansion of earnings robust, but earnings integrity is also high. As long-term investors, we want our companies to enjoy high margins, but not at the cost of underinvesting in their growth or competitive advantages, such as innovation.

Watches of Switzerland Group ('WOSG') made the largest negative contribution over the period, with previous underperformers Logitech, Roche, Dr. Martens and Partners Group removed from the portfolio earlier this year. Operating margins for WOSG in the current year are likely to be held back by higher interest rates, with an estimated 12% of revenues covered by an interest-rate free credit offering. We have chosen to add to the position into this share price weakness because we believe the company is on track to fulfill its long-range plan thanks to the likely further expansion of its market share in both the UK and the under-penetrated US market for luxury watches.

The portfolio continues to be split into two categories: Established Leaders and Emerging Winners. Established Leaders are those companies which we believe demonstrate a proven historical track record of market leadership and shareholder value creation. Emerging Winners are typically younger businesses which we believe are in the vanguard of a relatively new market or are successfully disrupting an existing market. This latter category usually consists of companies which enjoy rapid growth, a quality which is often accompanied by greater risk and increased share price volatility.

The extent of the valuation reset in early 2022 allowed the team to capitalise on this multiple contraction by taking advantage of lower share prices in order to reinforce the weightings in the highest conviction names such Novo Nordisk, LVMH, L'Oréal and Ryanair. This proved to be the right approach as evidenced by their subsequent contribution to performance. These names are part of the Established Leaders category which at the end of 2021 accounted for 80% of the portfolio. At the end of June 2023, this category accounted for 93% of the portfolio reflecting the attractive opportunity set within this category.

Future outlook

We continue to highlight the importance of the earnings growth that can be achieved by the portfolio holdings. Valuation levels are more difficult to predict, although we would not be surprised if today's new-found multiple stability continues post the hiatus (up and then down) of the 2019-2022 period. Based upon our five-year models, we forecast an average weighted mid-teens EPS growth from the portfolio companies through to FY27. Given today's macro-economic uncertainties, we look for this to come from company-specific market share gains in structurally growing end-markets, underpinned by pricing power, robust profitability and the financial firepower to reinvest. With the approach of the H1 reporting period, we will continue to look to earnings traction as the key driver of portfolio returns both this year and in the years to come.

Man GLG RI Global Sustainable Growth - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

The MSCI World ended the first half of the year up 15.1%, after what was a turbulent period for markets. The start of the year had everyone's attention turned towards China's re-opening, where global equity markets rallied 7 per cent in January. Increased risk appetite and lower bond yields supported valuations of equities, particularly those reliant on the Chinese economy. Global equity markets were then dominated by inflation and central bank policy. Strong US payroll numbers and inflation numbers above expectations drove bond yields higher, compounded by labour market tightness and wage inflation. This resulted in markets anticipating further interest rate hikes. A steep but short-lived crisis of confidence gripped global markets in the wake of the failures of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank and the subsequent rescue take-over of Credit Suisse by its domestic counterpart, UBS. Despite this volatility, the MSCI World was up over 7.7% in Q1, while a stabilising bond market environment was supportive for company valuations, with strong earnings results across the portfolio indicating a healthy start into the year with good earnings growth ahead. In Q2, US inflation appeared to be moderating, though it remained stubbornly high in Europe and especially the UK, signalling a likelihood of further rate rises.

Performance review

Over the last 6 months, the Fund has enjoyed positive absolute and relative performance, with the Fund's net unit price appreciating¹ and outperforming the Benchmark (MSCI World NDTR Index). This outperformance of the benchmark was driven by stock selection, exposure to healthcare as well as its underweight position in financials compared to the MSCI World Index. The portfolio continues to be overweight Europe versus the benchmark, which has brought positive contribution over the period, despite the recent negative relative performance from underexposure to the strong-performing US market, particularly in relation to AI which drove outperformance of the Nasdaq. The Fund's biggest contributors to performance were Abcam, L'Oréal and Adobe Inc.

Biotechnology company Abcam benefitted from a review of strategic opportunities following an activist campaign by its founder. We have long been impressed by Abcam's market share gains in the structurally growing market for research antibodies, and how this has been accompanied by a high and improving gross margin. The higher share price points to how Abcam's true value is now coming to the fore. Consumer name L'Oréal performed well as the market rewarded high quality companies that offer top-line resilience, strong financials and robust balance sheets. L'Oréal's leading position within the beauty industry, and its strong performance during past periods of economic uncertainty, has underpinned our confidence in the position. Large cap technology name Adobe Inc reported strong Q2 results in June, with revenue growth and margin expansion driving its strong share price performance. Adobe's generative Al product, Firefly, which helps to generate digital imagery, is expected to be a multi-year growth driver.

Delivery Hero was the biggest detractor from performance. Delivery Hero's preliminary FY22 results were largely in line with expectations, but the share price reacted negatively to concerns about deceleration in the growth of GMV (gross merchandise value: the value of orders handled by its platforms). We added to the position because we believe Delivery Hero can deliver positive EBITDA in FY23 and positive free cash flow in FY24, without jeopardizing its ability to grow.

Future outlook

With the first half of the year experiencing an uncertain macroeconomic backdrop which will be characterised by stubbornly high inflation, we remain vigilant and highly selective in our investment approach given the challenging and uncertain future economic outlook. Over this period the consumer, the engine of economic growth, has proven more resilient despite sticky high inflation and the increased cost of debt. With central banks attempting to navigate this challenging period to reduce inflation and provide a 'soft landing', we remain constructive about the strength and earnings potential of our portfolio. We continue to favour those companies that should operate well even in the presence of macroeconomic weakness. We believe these should be able to achieve a sustainable expansion in their gains despite these economic stresses and a fragile geopolitical backdrop. Key attributes include revenue resiliency driven by repeatability, predictability and necessity and not by one-off purchases, as well as superior product and service offerings in end-markets with structural demand drivers. This should allow for market share gains and sustainable pricing power resulting in solid cash flow generation and a strong balance sheet profile, all of which are prerequisites for earnings growth, which we see as the driver of performance of the Fund, especially in an inflationary environment.

Market summary

After a volatile end to the first quarter of 2023, Q2 saw a return in risk appetite, particularly following the US debt ceiling resolution which allowed both credit spreads and equities to rally. Bond yields on the other hand moved towards the top of recent ranges with Australia and Canada resuming hikes after pausing and the Federal Reserve highly anticipated to follow suit after pausing at their June meeting.

Global investment grade markets finished June ahead of where they were at the start of the year, with the Barclays Bloomberg Barclays Global Corporate Index returning 2.54% on the period, as tighter spreads were offset by rising government bond yields. High yield markets with their higher spread sensitivity and lower duration fared better, with the Bloomberg Barclays Global High Yield Index returning 4.36% in the 6 months to June 2023.

Performance review

The Fund returned negatively<sup>1</sup> in the first 6 months of this year against the IA £ Strategic Sector which returned positively.

The Fund's Strategic credit holdings fared well over the period, with investment grade bonds contributing 0.78% and high yield credit (typically closer to IG quality and longer duration than the high yield index), returning 0.21%. The portfolio was able to achieve this through significant catalyst realisations and a recovery in some of the portfolio's long held conviction positions. The underperformance of the Fund's high yield holdings was driven by exposure to financials during March 2023 as concerns over contagion filtering from regional bank stresses in the US peaked. However, there was a significant recovery of the bank and insurance credits the Fund chose to hold through the March volatility, helping the sector's strong positive portfolio returns in Q2 2023.

Tactical positioning was a detractor over H1 2023, at -1.23%. While timely credit hedging contributed positively, adding 0.20% in total, while government bond positions detracted, returning -0.75%. FX positioning also detracted -0.67%.

Into 2023, the Fund held a negative tactical duration position which went against a particularly strong rally in January, as broad appetite for fixed income in the new year drowned out technical headwinds. However, upon the surprising news of SVB's collapse, duration was rapidly expanded, by removing futures and buying long dated government bonds. This longer duration positioning provided a significant positive contribution in March, offsetting the negative performance at the start of the year. Towards the end of the period, the Fund maintained this constructive view on government bonds, which went against the rising yield environment, albeit managed interest rate risks into key events and a more short-term technical duration overlay through bond futures. This more flexible duration management was particularly successful in driving positive P&L in the final month of the period.

The Fund's currency positioning gradually moved in the direction of a short US dollar bias towards the end of 2022 and into the start of 2023. Following March volatility, the Fund's currency positioning was scaled back with smaller positions held against a largely neutral US Dollar.

Future outlook

Following the volatility experienced at the end of Q1 2023, financial markets started the second quarter somewhat risk-seeking again, and despite a cooler May, finished the quarter in the same fashion. This was assisted in part by the well flagged pause in the rate hiking cycle from the Federal Reserve. We still anticipate this may be the calm before the storm, however, with there likely to be a detrimental ongoing impact on global growth through tightening financial conditions in the coming months. In our view, major central banks will gradually become more cautious in raising rates throughout the summer, as sharply lower growth and potential disinflation risks become a more prominent concern. We can look forward as bond investors to a more positive environment for high quality, longer duration assets such as government bonds and non-cyclical investment grade debt. This is particularly the case now that rate expectations and yields generally trade at cycle highs.

The Fed delivered on the increasingly consensus view of a "hawkish skip" at the June meeting; keeping rates on hold while emphasizing July remained a "live meeting". The ECB's rate announcement also followed investors' expectations, hiking 25 basis points, while the Bank of England surprised somewhat to the upside hiking another 50 basis points to 5%. We continue to believe the vast majority of rate rises are behind us, while the impact of these hikes into the real economy, is yet to be fully felt due to the transmission delay. As such, we caution against significant further hikes implied by the market, particularly the UK, which has priced in a terminal rate as high as 6.5%

While our outlook is generally negative, there remain attractive opportunities in the credit market, including shorter dated senior financial instruments. High short-dated government bond yields, combined with senior financial front-end spreads that are still wider than before the volatility in the financial sector in March, provide all-in yields higher than 6.5% while taking very limited duration risk.

We also saw a significant uptick in issuance in Q2 2023, which kept new issue premiums attractive. The portfolio participated in the several new issues, which came at a reasonable concession to the secondary curve, targeting in particular higher quality issuers in relatively non-cyclical sectors.

Generally, we aim to maintain a larger positive duration exposure in government bonds at the top of recent yield ranges with the expectation of a significant drop in yields in the coming months. However, duration will continue to be managed actively in accordance with the team's Tactical overlay process.

We see several currencies with the potential to gain on relative rate expectations, while the US dollar may underperform after a pause in the US rate hiking cycle.

Man GLG Asia (ex Japan) Equity - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

MSCI Asia ex Japan ended the first half of 2023 up 3.03% in USD in what was a rollercoaster period for the asset class. Against a backdrop of moderate headline returns, performance at a factor level saw considerable divergence, reflecting weakness in China's economic recovery and enthusiasm around the adoption of generative AI.

After adding nearly +10% at the start of the year on optimism surrounding the reopening, MSCI China fell -20% as the economic data disappointed relative to market expectations. In contrast, MSCI Taiwan and MSCI South Korea saw significant gains, led by semiconductors and tech hardware on hopes Al adoption will act as the catalyst for a new tech cycle in Asia.

Performance review

The Fund generated a positive net return<sup>1</sup> but slightly underperformed against its benchmark<sup>2</sup>.

Performance over the period has been a mixed bag. After a good start to the year, performance has been more muted in the second quarter which has seen us give back all our outperformance. Initial alpha was driven primarily by strong positioning around China post-covid reopening exposure. That has since been reversed as economic growth has disappointed relative to market expectations. The stocks we are exposed to (e.g. brewers, travel and gaming) are seeing a very strong recovery and upwards earnings revisions, but the market has shown very little differentiation in terms of share price performance.

In China, we have also been hurt by zero exposure to listed China SOE's<sup>3</sup>. There has been significant flow into these names on expectation of reform to the sector. The Chinese regulators have been encouraging domestic investors to buy these names under the policy of "Valuation with Chinese characteristics". We are sceptical that meaningful earnings improvements can come from this policy, and we have therefore maintained zero exposure. We expect prices to revert to fundamentals once again. In both instances, we are maintaining our positioning and expect prices to re-align with fundamentals once again.

The biggest drag to performance this year has come from underweight exposure to Taiwan and Korea. These two markets have benefited from enthusiasm towards AI developments with all tech hardware stocks showing significant gains YTD. We are actively looking for beneficiaries of the new era of AI, but our primary exposure so far remains in semiconductors. Both Taiwan and Korea have been the worst performing markets this year from an earnings revision perspective given ongoing weakness in the current cycle. The stock market is however looking beyond the current cycle and all names in the sector have benefitted from this enthusiasm.

Our overweight positions in Southeast Asia, specifically Indonesia, Philippines and Thailand have helped performance but not enough to offset the losses in Taiwan and Korea. The Southeast Asian economies are enjoying robust economic conditions and earnings revisions have been the best in the region YTD, in line with our views and positioning.

Future outlook

In recent weeks, we have been focusing heavily on whether developments within generative AI kicks off a new investment cycle in DM, with associated productivity gains driving better than feared economic growth. The equity market has been quick to revalue the entire tech hardware supply chain in Asia on hopes of a new tech cycle as evidenced by strong price performance in the sector. We recognise that the use cases for AI are evolving rapidly and believe this may potentially act as a catalyst start another tech hardware cycle. We have since selectively added AI-related exposure in North Asia, moving to a 2.4% overweight position in Taiwan I.T.

Man Numeric US High Yield - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

During the first quarter of 2023, with 2022 in the rearview mirror, some investors were optimistic about the road ahead for markets and the economy while others were less sanguine. Despite the widespread caution, US and global markets were nonetheless volatile in Q1, particularly within fixed income and corporate credit. Overall, elevated volatility and dispersion in US High Yield ("HY") and Investment Grade ("IG") corporate bonds furnished a favorable backdrop for systematic credit managers to effectively monetise. The US HY Index posted a quarterly return of +3.72%, rallying alongside its IG counterpart, the ICE BofA Investment Grade Index (the "US IG Index"), which returned +3.45%.

During the second quarter of 2023, investors trod cautiously in the face of a mix of economic and interest rate policy uncertainties. While total returns were more subdued across the US High Yield and Investment Grade corporate bond markets compared to the prior quarter, dispersion across issuers remained high. The US HY Index posted a quarterly return of +1.63%, while its IG counterpart, the ICE BofA Investment Grade Index (the 'US IG Index'), returned -0.21%.

Performance review

For the six-month period ending June 30, 2023, the Man Numeric US HY Fund (the "Fund") delivered positive performance<sup>1</sup> (net of fees), but somewhat underperformed its benchmark the ICE BofA US High Yield Index<sup>2</sup> by -0.55%

Overall model performance for the six-month period was positive for all five model pillars. The Quality pillar produced the most positive returns, driven by strength within probability of default- and debt sustainability-based signals. Factor Selection, which was added in May, was also positive, with our nonlinear model combination and style timing signals both contributing. All signals within the Value pillar were up for the period. Within Momentum, equity cross-asset momentum models outperformed. Lastly, Informed Investor saw strength from both credit and equity informed blends.

Contribution Breakdown

Looking at the return contributions by sector and rating helps to identify the main thematic drivers of positive and negative performance. In terms of sectors, Real Estate and Retail were top contributors to active Fund returns, owing to positive selection effects in the former and positive allocation in the latter. The Automotives sector was the largest detractor from active portfolio returns stemming from under allocation. With respect to credit ratings, we witnessed positive contributions across BBs and single-Bs, attributable to positive allocation in both categories as well as positive selection within the former. Some exposure to BBB rising stars was additionally beneficial. On the other hand, negative selection in the CCC & Below bucket detracted from active Fund returns.

Future outlook

As we cross the mid-point of 2023, we cannot help but reflect on how the market environment thus far this year has been quite extraordinary. In the first quarter, we faced an unprecedented momentum reversal followed by a potential regional banking crisis in the US. In the second quarter, the love for everything "AI" has led to record high concentration in the markets. As always, ongoing research and development remains a key component of our investment philosophy. From this perspective, the second quarter was yet another very productive quarter with several new model additions and enhancements.

Market summary

Fixed income markets have varied over the last 6 months with the market stress witnessed in 2022 continuing into 2023, as the US 10-year peaked at 4.09% following the US Regional Banking Crisis. However, after a volatile first quarter characterised by stubborn inflation and periods of acute market stress, Q2 2023 saw a return in risk appetite, particularly following the US debt ceiling resolution, allowing both credit spreads and equities to rally. Bond yields on the other hand moved towards the top of recent ranges.

Despite the Fed pausing their rate hiking cycle for the first time since March 2022, other central banks continued to raise rates, including a resumption after a pause from Australia and Canada. In the UK, further inflation surprises to the upside led to a significant adjustment higher in interest rate expectations, and by June end 10-year gilt yields were almost 100 basis points higher than they were at the end of Q1 2023.

While 2022 proved to be a challenging year for investment grade investors, the market has rallied through the most part of 2023, particularly in the second quarter of the year, with the ICE BofA Global Large Cap Corporate Index<sup>1</sup> returning 3.1% YTD at the end of June. While the GBP 5-year swap rate has returned to the level that we saw in the second half of 2022, inflation has remained stickier in the UK, with the ICE BofA Sterling Corporate & Collateralised Index (GBP, TR) returning -1.0% YTD at the end of Q2 2023.

Performance review

Over the past 6 months, the Fund delivered positively and outperformed its benchmark, therefore delivering alpha<sup>2</sup> Performance was driven primarily by sector allocation and security selection decisions with our duration positioning adding to active returns.

As most of our readers will understand, the driving force behind performance of the Fund tends to be our bottom-up security selection process, where we aim to identify and invest in companies that are trading cheap relative to fundamentals. The Fund has seen opportunities and value in financials, particularly in Europe where the team believes increasing interest rates will prove to be beneficial.

From a regional point of view, the team has reduced its exposure in the US over the past 6 months, reallocating to Europe and the UK.

Future outlook

With all in yields remaining high, we think that investors can continue to benefit from an allocation to investment grade credit. Despite the recent hiccups we do think that inflation is trending lower, which will remove a significant amount of pressure from central banks and ultimately should make owning duration a key component of an investor's asset allocation. We continue to keep a wary eye on the US as the recent bank fragilities are likely to increase the chances of a hard landing over the coming quarter. At the same time, valuations remain more expensive than in Europe, so we maintain a low outright exposure to the US market, representing a meaningful underweight relative to the benchmark.

Whilst we are constructive on the broader market, we believe dispersion between sectors, geographies and single names has created deep value opportunities for bottom-up investors to generate strong excess returns over the medium term. For us, value remains in Europe with a focus on financials companies, which remain in a robust position compared to their US counterparts. We retain our view that CS was an outlier - not a precursor - of things to come. Although value has started to emerge, we continue to take a more cautious view on non-financial cyclicals. As growth slows, we believe a higher risk premium will need to be attached to these sectors as demand slows and profitability weakens. All in all, we see dispersion increasing as growth slows and believe the backdrop creates an attractive opportunity set for high conviction and active fund managers. The portfolio remains well diversified across opportunities and continues to deliver a yield of 13.6% for investors.

Man GLG China Equity - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

MSCI China ended the first half of 2023 down -5.46% in USD in a volatile period for the asset class. After adding nearly +12% on initial optimism surrounding the country's reopening, the index fell -20% from the highs in January as geopolitical tensions between China and the US resurfaced and key economic data disappointed relative to market expectations. This saw earnings estimates cut by nearly -8% in the second quarter.

Performance review

Performance during the period has been a mixed bag. After a good start to the year in relative terms, performance has been disappointing in the latter parts of Q2, which has seen us give back all our outperformance. Initial alpha was driven primarily by strong positioning around the reopening. However, this has reversed as economic growth has disappointed relative to market expectations. The stocks we are exposed to (e.g. brewers, travel and gaming) are seeing a very strong recovery and upwards earnings revisions, but the market has shown very little differentiation in terms of share price performance.

We have also been hurt by zero exposure to listed SOE's<sup>3</sup>. There has been significant flow into these names on expectation of reform to the sector. The Chinese regulators have been encouraging domestic investors to buy these names under the policy of "Valuation with Chinese characteristics". We are sceptical that meaningful earnings improvements can come from this policy, and we have therefore maintained zero exposure. In both instances, we are maintaining our positioning and expect prices to re-align with fundamentals once again.

At stock level, the Fund's top performer was brokerage Hithink Royal Flush, which rallied over 70% in April on rumours a competitor in financial terminal services for Chinese investors were raising their prices and planning to IPO. The stock was also supported earlier in the year on reform to local listing systems and improved order flow, which supported earnings upgrades. Casino operators MGM China and Sands China have both contributed well after reporting material earnings beats led by a rebound in gross gaming revenue. Following an overhaul of Macau's VIP gaming sector last year, these stocks appeared best placed amongst rivals to benefit from a mobility-led recovery, a core view since we began to position for reopening. This view appears to be playing out as anticipated.

On the negative side, paper manufacturer Nine Dragons fell following a preliminary loss for 23H1, driven by a backdrop of negative paper spread in the spot market. With the recovery turning out to be weaker-and-shorter than expected, our investment thesis of a paper profit margin recovery is now unlikely to play out so decided to exit the position. East Money also weakened following a miss to net income led by weaker-than-expected brokerage and fund distribution. Market indicators including retail account openings, margin lending activity and IPO returns suggested the outlook for the stock was improving. However, we decided to close the position amidst growing earnings risk from deteriorating equity market conditions in China.

Future outlook

China's recovery falling short of expectations raises the crucial question of how much stimulus the government will provide and in what form. With Beijing appearing committed to rebalancing the economy and eradicating components of speculative growth, a recovery centred around property and construction activity seems unlikely. However, with MSCI China down c. -20% from January highs and earnings estimates cut by nearly -8% since the end of March, we believe a lot of the negative macro sentiment is in already in the price. As such, we believe there is a greater risk of a positive surprise from the introduction of broad stimulus packages to bolster the economy rather than a further leg down in markets.

Man GLG Sustainable Strategic Income - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market summary

Fixed income markets experienced a volatile start to 2023. The first quarter was characterised by stubborn inflation and periods of acute market stress a several US regional banks and Credit Suisse failed or required bail outs. Q2 2023 saw a return in risk appetite following the US debt ceiling resolution, allowing both credit spreads and equities to rally. Bond yields moved towards the top of recent ranges, despite the Fed pausing their rate hiking cycle for the first time since March 2022 as other central banks continued to raise rates. In the UK, further inflation surprises to the upside led to a significant adjustment higher in interest rate expectations, and by June end 10-year gilt yields were almost 100 basis points higher than they were at the end of Q1 2023.

Performance review

The Fund contributed a positive return<sup>1</sup> in H1 2023, although it slightly underperformed compared to its benchmark<sup>2</sup>.

The portfolios credit selection performed well during the first half of 2023. Investment grade credit holdings contributed positively and high yield credits added further to performance. Utilities credits – which remain attractively valued - performed especially well. A particularly well-timed investment into Enel after its spreads were pushed higher as a result of working capital outflows, contributed positively to performance.

The portfolio's Tactical positioning detracted from performance in the first half of the year due mostly to exposure to UK Gilts, which performed particularly poorly compared to US and European counterparts.

Future outlook

We continue to believe the vast majority of rate are completed, while the impact of these hikes into the real economy, is yet to be fully felt due to the transmission delay. In our view, major central banks will gradually become more cautious in raising rates throughout the summer, as sharply lower growth and potential disinflation risks become a more prominent concern. We expect a more positive environment for high quality, longer duration assets such as government bonds and non-cyclical investment grade debt. This is particularly the case now that rate expectations and yields generally trade at cycle highs.

While our outlook for credit is cautious, there remain attractive opportunities in the credit market, both in shorter dated high carry instruments, and longer duration higher quality credits with attractive valuations and value enhancing catalysts.

Generally, we aim to maintain a larger positive duration exposure in government bonds at the top of recent yield ranges with the expectation of a significant drop in yields in the coming months. However, duration will continue to be managed actively in accordance with the team's Tactical overlay process.

We see several currencies with the potential to gain on relative rate expectations, while the US dollar may underperform after a pause in the US rate hiking cycle.

The portfolio's yield to maturity stood positively at the end of the period. This can act as a key foundation for potential expected Fund returns.

Furthermore, the Federal Reserve paused on interest rate hikes after more than a year of consecutive increases but, nonetheless, signalled that further rate hikes were likely.

Performance review

After a strong run from January to April 2023, Asia Credit reported a softer performance in May due to higher rates and disappointing sales momentum in the Chinese property sector.

Frontier high yield sovereigns, including Pakistan and Sri Lanka, were significant outperformers as Pakistan took steps towards reengaging IMF and Sri Lanka's parliament approved a domestic debt optimisation plan.

In June, low new issuance supply and low default rate versus US or other Emerging Markets continued to support Asia credit's performance.

Fund positioning

- Positioned for the end of the hiking cycle while mindful of a few more hikes
- Overweighted high yield corporate while underweighted sovereign vs index
- Idiosyncratic, non-market directional investment opportunities which allowed us to crystallise profits within the month of June and contributed positively to performance

Future outlook

The Fund aims to provide an absolute return for investors by investing in a diversified portfolio of predominantly Asian securities.

We do not anticipate rising defaults from the Chinese property sector after a record wave in 2022. Nevertheless, we feel that there may be a persistent divergence between Chinese property high yield returns and the rest of Asia. Furthermore, it is hoped that there will be supportive supply/demand dynamics in Asia Credit. More Asian issuers continue to refinance themselves through their respective domestic capital markets, lowering the new supply in USD in a time where markets have been fragile, investors' high cash balances generally, and the renewed investment interest in Asia Credit.

We thank our investors for their ongoing support.

JP Morgan Emerging Market Bond Index Global (EMBI Global) The J.P. Morgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global ("EMBI Global") is a traditional, market capitalisation weighted index belonging to the JPMorgan Emerging Market Bond Index (EMBI), which are a set of three bond indices to track bonds in emerging markets operated by J P Morgan. The EMBI Global tracks total returns for traded external debt instruments in the emerging markets and is an expanded version of the JPMorgan EMBI+. As with the EMBI+, the EMBI Global includes U.S dollar-denominated Brady bonds, loans, and Eurobonds with an outstanding face value of at least $500 million. It covers more of the eligible instruments than the EMBI+ by relaxing somewhat the strict EMBI+ limits on secondary market trading liquidity. Additionally, the EMBI Global defines emerging markets countries with a combination of World Bank-defined per capita income brackets and each country's debt-restructuring history. This criteria allows the EMBI global to include a number of higher-rated countries. For more information go to www.ipmorgan.com

JP Morgan Government Bond Index Emerging Market Global Diversified (EMBI Global Diversified) The index is a comprehensive Emerging Markets debt benchmark that tracks local currency bonds issued by emerging market governments. EMBI Global Diversified is positioned as the investable benchmark that includes only those countries that are accessible by most of the international investor base. The diversification methodology limits the weights of the larger index countries by only including a specified portion of those countries' eligible current face amounts of debt outstanding, thus providing a more even distribution of weights across the countries in the index. The index belongs to the JPMorgan Emerging Market Bond Index (EMBI) family of indices for which returns and statistics are available from December 1993. #### GLOSSARY

Active management

Active management is the use of a human element, such as a single manager, co-managers or a team of managers, to actively manage a fund's portfolio. Active managers rely on analytical research, forecasts, and their own judgement and experience in making investment decisions on what securities to buy, hold and sell. The opposite of active management is passive management, better known as "indexing".

Ancillary assets

Assets which are not the main assets of a company.

Appreciation

An increase in the market value of an asset, such as a stock, bond, commodity or piece of real estate, or in the value of one currency with respect to another. The opposite of depreciation.

Asset

Any item of economic value owned by an individual or corporation, especially that which could be converted to cash. Examples are cash, securities, accounts receivable, inventory, office equipment, real estate, a car, and other property.

and other property.

On a balance sheet, assets are equal to the sum of liabilities, common stock, preferred stock, and retained earnings.

Asset class

An asset class is a group of securities that exhibits similar characteristics, behaves similarly in the marketplace and is subject to the same laws and regulations. The three main asset classes are equities, or stocks; fixed income, or bonds; and cash equivalents, or money market instruments. Some investment professionals add real estate, commodities, and increasingly, cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin, to the asset class mix.

Balance of payments

Statement of a country's net financial transactions with other countries over a defined period of time.

Balance sheet

Financial statement that provides a snapshot of what a company owns and owes, as well as the amount invested by shareholders.

Bankers' acceptance

A bankers' acceptance (BA) is a short-term credit investment created by a non-financial firm and guaranteed by a bank to make payment. Acceptances are traded at discounts from face value in the secondary market.

Benchmark

A standard against which the performance of a fund can be measured and compared (eg. a stock market index such as the FTSE 100 or an interest rate, such as LIBOR).

Blue Chip company

The stock of a major company with a record of strong earnings, reliable dividend payments and steady share price performance. Blue chips are normally the largest capitalised stocks in a particular market and among the most widely traded.

Bond

A debt instrument issued for a period of more than one year with the purpose of raising capital by borrowing. Generally, a bond is a promise to repay the principal along with interest (coupons) on a specified date (maturity). Some bonds do not pay interest, but all bonds require a repayment of principal. When an investor buys a bond, he/she becomes a creditor of the issuer.

Buyback

A buyback, also known as a share repurchase, is when a company buys its own outstanding shares to reduce the number of shares available on the open market. Companies buy back shares for a number of reasons, such as to increase the value of remaining shares available by reducing the supply or to prevent other shareholders from taking a controlling stake.

Cash Equivalents

Cash equivalents are investments securities that are for short-term investing, and they have high credit quality and are highly liquid. These securities have a low-risk, low-return profile and include Treasury bills, certificates of deposit, bankers' acceptances, commercial papers and other money market instruments.

Certificates of deposit (CDs)

Interest-bearing certificate issued by a bank to a depositor. Interest is paid at maturity.

Collective investment scheme

A type of investment scheme that involves collecting money from different investors and then combining all the money collected to fund the investment.

Compound interest

Earning interest on interest, or, more precisely, the interest earned on the sum of the principal amount and the interest already accumulated. A return on an investment is compounded if it takes into account compound interest, i.e. the interest is reinvested.

Commercial paper

A type of borrowing by companies and institutions in the form of loans where lenders do not have the right to take the assets of the borrower if they fail to repay. These loans are given for a period of a year or less.

Commodity

A good produced in bulk. Many commodities, such as coffee, meat and grain, and raw materials such as metals and oil, are traded on local, regional and/or international markets called commodity exchanges, either on a spot basis or through futures contracts, which allow the purchase or sale of a commodity at a predetermined price on a particular date in the future.

Common stock

See Ordinary shares

Consumer staples

Consumer staples are essential products, such as food, beverages, tobacco and household items. Consumer staples are goods that people are unable or unwilling to cut out of their budgets regardless of their financial situation (Investopedia).

Convertible bond

A bond issued by a company that has a set maturity date and pays interest in the form of a coupon. It has features of both a bond and stock and its valuation reflects both types of investments. It gives the holder the option to convert the bond into a specific number of shares of the issuing company – in other words, it has an 'embedded option'.

Corporate Bond

A bond issued by a company.

Coupon

A term used to refer to the interest paid by a bond. It derives from the fact that bonds used to be issued as bearer documents (ie. certificates which do not identify the owner) with dated coupons attached to them. These were cut off the document when the payment of the interest was due and taken to a paying agent for the interest to be paid.

Country risk

Country risk is a term for the risks involved when someone invests in a particular country.

Country risk varies from one country to the next, and can include political risk, exchange-rate risk, economic risk, and transfer risk. In particular, country risk denotes the risk that a foreign government will default on its bonds or other financial commitments. In a broader sense, country risk is the degree to which political and economic unrest affect the securities of issuers doing business in a particular country.

Credit rating

Ratings issued by credit ratings agencies which represent the agency's evaluation of qualitative and quantitative information for a company or government. Ratings are used to rank companies and governments on the probability of them defaulting on their obligations (i.e. to repay their debts).

Credit risk

Usually used when referring to investment in bonds, credit risk is the risk of a loss deriving from the inability of the issuer of a bond to make the interest payments and repay the capital at the end of the life of the bond in full and as scheduled.

'Triple A' or 'investment grade rated' are assessed as being the lowest credit risk while non-investment grade bonds - also known as high-yield debt (or 'junk bonds') - are assessed as the highest credit risk.

The higher the credit risk, the higher the interest rate the borrower will have to attract lenders.

Currency forward

A binding contract in the foreign exchange market that locks in the exchange rate for the purchase or sale of a currency on a future date. A currency forward is essentially a hedging tool that does not involve any upfront payment.

Current account (Balance of payment current account)

Movements of money into and out of a country, relating to trade between private individuals, for example workers sending money to their families in another country. The current account includes the visible balance of trade (the net difference between exports and imports of merchandise goods) and the invisible trade balance (payments and receipts for services such as shipping, banking and tourism).

Debt security

Debt security refers to a debt instrument, such as a government bond, corporate bond, certificate of deposit (CD), municipal bond or preferred stock, that can be bought or sold between two parties and has basic terms defined, such as notional amount (amount borrowed), interest rate, and maturity and renewal date.

Deflation

Deflation is the general decline in prices for goods and services occurring when the inflation rate falls below 0%. Deflation happens naturally when the money supply of an economy is fixed. In times of deflation, the purchasing power of currency and wages are higher than they otherwise would have been.

Derivatives

Financial contracts such as futures, options and various securities that offer 'synthetic' access to an underlying asset such as a commodity, stock market or fixed income security. The price movements of a derivative generally follow the price movements of the underlying asset but derivatives generally require only small amounts of capital (margin) to gain exposure to the underlying asset.

GLOSSARY (continued)

Developed markets Countries that have sound, well-established economies with a high level of economic growth and security.

They are therefore thought to offer safer, more stable investment opportunities than developing markets.

DividendA dividend is the distribution of reward from a portion of company's earnings, and is paid to a class of its shareholders. Dividends are decided and managed by the company's board of directors, though they must be approved by the shareholders through their voting rights. Dividends can be issued as cash payments, as shares of stock, or other property, though cash dividends are the most common.

Dividend yield See Yield (3rd definition)

Earnings per Share

(EPS)

Profit, net of tax and dividends to preferred shareholders, divided by the total amount of ordinary shares outstanding. Most income statements include a calculation of earnings per share. This calculation tells you how much money shareholders would receive for each share of stock they own if the company distributed all of its net income for the period. In reality, however, companies would not distribute all of their earnings.

Usually they reinvest them in the business.

Emerging markets Emerging market is a term use to describe a developing country, in which investment would be expected to achieve higher returns but be accompanied by greater risk. Global index providers sometimes include in this category relatively wealthy countries whose economies are still considered underdeveloped from a regulatory point of view.

Equity An ownership right representing an interest in a company.

Equity Swaps An equity swap is an arrangement made in a futures contract whereby differences in settlement are made through cash payments, rather than by the delivery of physical goods or securities. This is generally an easier method of settlement, because both losses and gains are paid in cash. Equity swaps provide investors with the all the benefits and risks of owning a security without actually owning it.

Equity-linked security A type of debt instrument whereby the return is linked to the performance of a group of underlying stocks or equities that are also linked to the security.

EPS See Earnings per share

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)

Index-tracking funds that can be traded on exchanges just like a stock – so they combine the diversified holdings of a fund with the low cost and tradability of a share.

Exposure Exposure (or market exposure) refers to the currency amount of funds, or percentage of a portfolio, invested in a particular type of security, market sector or industry, which is usually expressed as a percentage of total portfolio holdings. It represents the amount an investor can lose from the risks unique to a particular investment.

External account See Current account

Financial Derivative

See Derivatives

Fixed income Term used to denote bonds and other debt instruments, because they normally pay a fixed interest rate.

Foreign exchange Foreign exchange is the exchange of one currency for another or the conversion of one currency into another currency. Foreign exchange also refers to the global market where currencies are traded virtually around the clock.

Forward contract A forward contract is a customised contract between two counterparties to buy or sell a specific asset on a future date at an agreed price. As opposed to stocks and bonds, a forward contract is a derivative instrument, the value of which depends on an underlying asset. Unlike standard futures contracts, forward contracts are not traded on a centralised exchange and are highly customisable.

Free Cash Flow (FCF) The cash a company has after all outgoings, including dividends, debt payments, tax, operating costs and capital expenditure.

Fund Sector Funds are into sectors to facilitate comparisons between funds with similar investment objectives and types of investment.

Government Bond Bonds issued by a government.

Gross Domestic Product (GDP)

The total value of an economy's domestic output of goods and services, which is one of the key indicators of economic growth with GNP.

Gross National Product (GNP)

Same as GDP except that it adds what a country earns from overseas investments and subtracts what foreigners earn in a country and send back home.

An index is a portfolio of stocks, chosen according to simple, pre-defined rules, and designed to capture a Index particular investment style.

Inflation Rate at which the general level of prices for goods and services is rising and, consequently, the purchasing power of currency is falling.

Interest rate Interest rate is the amount charged, expressed as a percentage of principal, by a lender to a borrower for the use of assets. Interest rates are typically noted on an annual basis, known as the annual percentage rate (APR). The assets borrowed could include cash, consumer goods, and large assets such as a vehicle or

Liquidity A relative term to describe the speed at which an asset or assets can be converted into cash (liquidated) and

Liquid asset A liquid asset is an asset that can be converted into cash speedily, with little impact to the price received in the open market. Liquid assets include money market instruments and government bonds.

Listed In relation to the shares of a company, or some funds, when those shares have been accepted for trading on an exchange they are referred to as 'listed' investments. The exchange will have 'listing requirements', which all companies/funds must meet before they are 'accepted for listing'. The opposite of listed is over-the-

Local currency The most commonly form of currency used in a country. This usually encompasses the national currency of Long position A security that is bought in expectation that it will rise in value.

Market capitalisation Market value of a company's issued share capital - in other words. the number of shares multiplied by the current price of those shares on the stock market. Companies are ranked as large-cap, mid-cap and smallcap depending on their market capitalisation (market cap), though the actual criteria for classification depend on the market concerned.

Maturity date The maturity date is the date on which the principal amount of a debt instrument becomes due and is repaid to the investor and interest payments stop.

Money market

Instruments used by government and companies and others who wish to borrow money for short periods, instruments usually less than a year. They are also called short term debt instruments. They include certificates of deposit, commercial paper and short term gilts.

Municipal Bond A bond issued by a state or local government (or related entities) in the US to cover capital expenditures.

Option A derivative instrument that gives the holder the right, without obligation, to buy (call) or sell (put) a security or asset at a fixed price within a specified period or at a particular future date.

Securities (called common stock in the US) that confer ownership in a publicly listed company. Holders are Ordinary shares entitled to the dividends declared by the company and have the right to vote on the appointment of directors and other important matters. However they rank below holders of preferred shares.

Over the counter (OTC) Generally refers to a stock (but can also refers to other financial instruments) that is not listed on an exchange and traded via a dealer network.

Overvalued When a share price or market is trading at levels above those justified by fundamentals.

Overweight Investment portfolio that holds an excess amount of a particular security when compared to the security's > weight in the underlying benchmark portfolio. Actively managed portfolios will make a security overweight when doing so allows the portfolio to achieve excess returns. Overweight can also refer to an investment analyst's opinion that the security will outperform its industry, its sector or the entire market.

Passive management

Passive management is a style of management where a fund's portfolio mirrors a market index. Passive management is the opposite of active management. Passive management is also referred to as "passive strategy," "passive investing" or "index investing."

P/B Ratio See Price-to-Book Ratio

Preference shares Also called preferred shares. Shares that entitle the holder to a fixed-rate dividend, paid before any dividend is distributed to holders of ordinary shares.

Preferred stock See Preference shares

Price-to-Book Ratio (P/B ratio)

The P/B ratio reflects the value that market participants attach to a company's equity relative to its book value (total assets minus total liabilities) of equity. A stock's market value is a forward-looking metric that reflects a company's future cash flows. The book value of equity is an accounting measure based on the historic cost principle, and reflects past issuances of equity, augmented by any profits or losses, and reduced by dividends and share buybacks. The higher the ratio, the higher the premium the market is willing to pay for the company above its hard assets. A low ratio may signal a good investment opportunity, but it could also mean something is fundamentally wrong with the company. The ratio is less meaningful for some types of companies, such as those in technology sectors. This is because such companies have hidden assets such as intellectual property which are of great value, but not reflected in the book value.

Primary market The market for new securities issues. In the primary market the security is purchased directly from the issuer.

Quantitative analysis

Quantitative analysis (QA) is a technique that seeks to understand behaviour by using mathematical and statistical modelling, measurement, and research. Quantitative analysts aim to represent a given reality in terms of a numerical value. Quantitative analysis is employed for several reasons, including measurement, performance evaluation or valuation of a financial instrument, and predicting real-world events, such as changes in a country's gross domestic product (GDP).

Quantitative easing

(QE)

Quantitative easing is an unconventional monetary policy in which a central bank purchases government securities or other securities from the market in order to lower interest rates and increase the money supply. Quantitative easing increases the money supply by flooding financial institutions with capital in an effort to promote increased lending and liquidity. When short-term interest rates are at or approaching zero, and when the printing of new banknotes isn't an option, quantitative easing can be considered.

Quantitative trading

A form of investing in which computers are used to sort through financial data and identify predictable patterns. Quantitative traders take advantage of modern technology, mathematics and the availability of comprehensive databases for making rational trading decisions to identify trading opportunities.

Reference index An index used as a benchmark for performance comparison purposes but which is not a formal benchmark as per fund's prospectus.

Return on capital The profit on an investment in relation to the amount invested which is not considered as a taxable event and not taxed as income.

Risk-adjusted return Risk-adjusted return defines an investment's return by measuring how much risk is involved in producing that return, which is generally expressed as a number or rating. Risk-adjusted returns are applied to individual securities, investment funds and portfolios.

Secondary market A market in which an investor purchases a security from another investor rather than the issuer, subsequent to the original issuance in the primary market.

Sector A sector is an area of the economy in which businesses share the same or a related product or service. It can also be thought of as an industry or market that shares common operating characteristics. Dividing an economy into different pieces allows for more in-depth analysis of the economy as a whole.

Share See Equity

Short position Fund managers use this technique to borrow a security and then sell it with the intention of buying it back for less when the price falls. The position profits if the security falls in value. Within UCITS funds, derivatives - such as equity swaps - can be used to simulate a short position.

Security A general term for stocks, bonds, options, subscription rights, warrants and other tradable investments that confer a right to income or ownership.

Sovereign debt is a central government's debt. It is debt issued by the national government in a foreign currency in order to finance the issuing country's growth and development. The stability of the issuing government can be provided by the country's sovereign credit ratings which help investors weigh risks when assessing sovereign debt investments.

Stock See Equity

Stock option The right to buy or sell a particular stock at a given price on or after a certain date. Stock options are often used as an employee incentive at start-ups or large public companies.

Swap An exchange of streams of payments between two parties, typically in order to reduce interest rate or currency risk.

Synthetic Term given to financial instruments that are created artificially by simulating other instruments with different cash flow patterns. Synthetic products are structured to suit the cash flow needs of the investor. They are created in the form of a contract and, therefore, given the name "synthetic".

Transferable security Any security that can be traded in the capital markets.

Treasury bill (T-bill)

A Treasury Bill (T-Bill) is a short-term debt obligation backed by the Treasury Department of the U.S.

government with a maturity of less than one year, sold in denominations of $1,000 up to a maximum purchase of $5 million on non-competitive bids. T-bills have various maturities and are issued at a discount from par. Investors do not receive regular interest payments but a T-Bill does include interest, reflected in the amount it pays when it matures.

Total output The total amount of goods and services produced within an economy.

Total return Total return is the full return on an investment over a given period, including the income generated from dividend, interest or rental payments, and any gains or losses from a change in the asset's market value. This is normally expressed as a percentage of the purchase cost, annualised if the period is less than a year.

Undervalued When a share price or market is trading at levels below those justified by fundamentals.

Underweight An underweight portfolio does not hold a sufficient amount of a particular security when compared to the weight of that security held in the underlying benchmark portfolio. Underweight can also refer to an analyst's opinion regarding the future performance of a security in scenarios where it is expected to underperform.

Volatility The extent to which the price of a security or commodity, or the level of a market, interest rate or currency, changes over time. High volatility implies rapid and large upward and downward movements over a relatively short period of time; low volatility implies much smaller and less frequent changes in value.

Warrant A financial instrument, normally attached to a bond or other security, that entitles the holder to purchase a certain amount of ordinary shares at a fixed price for a period of years or to perpetuity. The price at which the underlying shares can be bought or sold is referred to as the exercise price or strike price.

Yield 1. The annual rate of return on an investment, expressed as a percentage.

2. For bonds and notes, the coupon rate divided by the market price. This is not an accurate measure of total return, since it does not factor in capital gains.

3. For securities, the annual dividends divided by the purchase price. This is not an accurate measure of total return, since it does not factor in capital gains. here, also called dividend yield or current yield.

2. Significant accounting policies

(a) Accounting convention

The unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34: Interim Financial Reporting ("IAS 34") as adopted by the European Union ("EU"). The unaudited financial statements have been prepared using the historical cost basis except for financial assets and liabilities held at fair value through profit or loss which have been measured at fair value.

The unaudited financial statements do not include all the information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements, and should be read in conjunction with the Fund's audited annual financial statements as at 31 December 2022 which have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the EU. These unaudited interim financial statements have been compiled using accounting policies, methods of computation and presentation which are consistent with the audited annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2022, unless otherwise stated.

The preparation of unaudited financial statements in accordance with IFRS requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and disclosures made in these unaudited financial statements and accompanying notes, including certain valuation assumptions. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities in the future.

The combined fund balances are expressed in United States dollar ("US$"), being the presentation currency of the Fund as a whole. For combined fund balances in the unaudited statement of financial position, the non-US$ Portfolios are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the unaudited statement of financial position. For combined fund balances in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income, the non-US$ Portfolios are translated at the average exchange rate prevailing during the period. The combined subscriptions and redemptions in the unaudited statement of changes in net assets are also translated at the average rate prevailing during the current period. The translation loss resulting from the preparation of the combined fund balances in the unaudited financial statements amounting to (US$204,209,863) (30 June 2022: (US$378,906,259)) has been shown in the combined fund column of the unaudited statement of comprehensive income. The gain/loss does not have any effect on the individual Portfolios.

New standards, interpretations and amendments adopted by the Fund:

There were no recent accounting pronouncements applicable to the Fund in the current period.

At the date of authorisation of the unaudited financial statements there were a number of other Standards and Interpretations which were in issue but not yet effective. Management anticipates that the adoption of these Standards and Interpretations in future periods will have no material impact on the unaudited financial statements of the Fund.

3. Cash and cash equivalents - unrestricted, cash and cash equivalents - restricted, bank overdraft, collateral balances with brokers, collateral balances due to brokers and due from/to brokers

At the period end, amounts disclosed as cash and cash equivalents - unrestricted, cash and cash equivalents - restricted, bank overdraft, collateral balances with brokers and collateral balances due to brokers were held at The Bank of New York Mellon (London Branch), Citibank N.A., Credit Suisse Securities Europe Limited, Goldman Sachs International, HSBC Bank Plc, JP Morgan Securities Plc, Morgan Stanley & Co. International Plc, Nomura Holdings and Societe Generale. Collateral balances with brokers represent the margin account balances held with the broker and collateral balances due to broker represents an amount payable to broker as a result of margin or collateral amount payable at the period end. These include amounts transferred as collateral (which is subject to a security interest) against open derivatives, short positions or financial instruments purchased on margin, deposits held at call with banks and other short term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less.

Due from brokers and to brokers represent receivables for financial instruments sold and payables for financial instruments purchased that have been contracted for but not yet settled or delivered on the unaudited statement of financial position date respectively.

The portion of balance with/due to brokers represented by collateral as at 30 June 2023 and 31 December 2022 is outlined below:

Following the issuance of Decree No. 254 issued by the Russian President Vladimir Putin in May 2022, there was a restriction placed on the payment of dividends by Russian limited liability companies to their foreign participants. Under the sanction, if a Russian limited liability company adopted a resolution on dividend distribution to its participants, then any such distribution exceeding 10 million rubles was to be made in Russian rubles to a special blocked type "S" account—commonly referred to as a type "C" account—opened in Russia. Due to the nature of the restriction, dividends received by the Fund during the period amounting to US$Nil (31 December 2022: US$204,346) cannot be utilised by the Fund in any way and therefore has been classified as Cash and cash equivalents – restricted in the statement of financial position.

Man GLG Global Investment Grade Opportunities Man GLG Dynamic Income US$21,462,250 US$4,347,389

As at 30 June 2023, the fair value of securities pledged as collateral in relation to the repurchase agreements was US$Nil (31 December 2022: US$24,318,697) for Man GLG Global Investment Grade Opportunities and US$Nil (31 December 2022: US$5,743,770) for Man GLG Dynamic Income.

Fair value of financial instruments

The Fund classifies fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in determining the measurements in line with IFRS 13, Fair Value Measurement.

The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 Quoted market price in an active market for an identical instrument.
- Level 2 Valuation techniques based on observable inputs. This category includes instruments valued using: quoted market prices in active markets for similar instruments; quoted prices for similar instruments in markets that are considered less than active; or other valuation techniques where all significant inputs are directly or indirectly observable from market data.
- Level 3 Valuation techniques using significant unobservable inputs. This category includes all instruments where the valuation technique includes inputs not based on observable data and the unobservable inputs could have a significant impact on the instrument's valuation. This category includes instruments that are valued based on quoted prices for similar instruments where significant unobservable adjustments or assumptions are required to reflect differences between the instruments.

Valuation techniques

Listed or publicly traded investment in equity and debt securities, government bonds, managed funds and derivatives

When fair values of listed securities and debt securities at the reporting date, as well as publicly traded derivatives, are based on quoted market prices or binding dealer price quotations, without any deduction for transaction costs, the instruments are included within Level 1 of the hierarchy.

Unlisted debt securities and treasury bills

The Fund invests in debt securities, corporate and government bonds and treasury securities. In the absence of a quoted price in an active market, they are valued using observable inputs such as recently executed transaction prices in securities of the issuer or comparable issuers and yield curves. Adjustments are made to the valuations when necessary to recognise differences in the instruments terms. To the extent that the significant inputs are observable, the Fund categorises these investments as Level 2.

Over-the-counter derivatives

The Fund uses widely recognised valuation models for determining fair values of over-the-counter interest rate swaps, currency swaps and forward foreign exchange contracts. The most frequently applied valuation techniques include forward pricing and swap models, using present value calculations. The models incorporate various inputs including both credit and debit valuation adjustments for counterparty and own credit risk, foreign exchange spot and forward rates and interest rate curves. For these financial instruments, significant inputs into models are market observable and are included within Level 2.

For all other financial instruments, fair value is determined using valuation techniques. Valuation techniques include net present value techniques, comparison to similar instruments for which market observable prices exist, options pricing models and other relevant valuation models.

Man GLG Asia Credit Opportunities commenced its operations on 12 April 2023. Hence, there were no investments as at 31 December 2022.

Short term balances are excluded from the tables as their carrying value at the period end approximates to their fair value.

Investments are reviewed at each financial reporting point to ensure that they are correctly classified between Level 1, 2 and 3 in accordance with the fair value hierarchy outlined above. Where an investment's characteristics changed during the period and investments no longer meet the criteria of a given level, they are transferred into a more appropriate level at the end of the relevant financial reporting period.

For the period/year ended 30 June 2023 and 31 December 2022, there were no transfers between Level 1 and Level 2.

All net realised and unrealised gains/(losses) in the tables above are reflected in the accompanying statement of comprehensive income. The net amount of (US$2,296,818) (31 December 2022: US$906,094) for Man GLG Global Convertibles and US$253,533 for Man Numeric emerging Market Equity relates to those financial instruments held by the Funds at 30 June 2023 and 31 December 2022 and is reflected in net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the statement of comprehensive income.

The fair value of investments classified within Level 3 is based on unobservable inputs that may be subject to significant variability. Because of the inherent uncertainty of valuation with respect to such investments, the Fund's estimates of fair value may differ significantly from fair values that would have been used had observable inputs been available for the valuation of such investments, and the differences could be material.

The tables below disclose the valuation techniques used in the valuation of Level 3 investments and quantifies the effect of significant unobservable inputs used to value investments that fall in this category. The ranges of these fair value are not representative of the appropriate inputs to use when calculating the fair value of any one Level 3 asset or liability. Accordingly, the ranges of fair value presented below do not represent uncertainty in, or possible ranges of fair value measurements of the Fund's Level 3 assets/liabilities.

The fair value impact of the discount range disclosed above is the Investment Manager's assessment of the range of possible illiquidity discounts. The impact of the range of possible valuation adjustments on the fair value of investments is a decrease/increase of up to US$Nii (31 December 2022: (US$18,614)/US$18,615) for Man GLG Global Convertibles.

Forward currency contracts

As part of its portfolio management techniques, the Fund may use forward currency contracts to economically hedge any non-functional currency exposure (although formal hedge accounting is not used). Forward currency contracts may also be used for trading purposes. Forward contracts entered into by the Fund represent a firm commitment to buy or sell an underlying asset, or currency at a specified value and point in time based upon an agreed or contracted quantity.

Forward currency contracts may expose the Fund to the risks associated with the absence of an exchange market on which to close out an open position. The investment managers closely monitor the Fund's exposure under forward currency contracts as part of the overall management of the Fund's market risk.

Derivative financial instruments

The Fund may trade derivative financial instruments, including futures, forward currency contracts, ASCOTs, credit default swaps, equity swaps, warrants and interest rate swaps whose values are based upon an underlying asset, index, currency or interest rate.

The Fund is subject to both market and credit risk in trading derivative financial instruments. Market risk is the potential for changes in value due to changes in market interest rates, foreign exchange rates, indices and changes in the value of the underlying financial instruments. Credit risk is the possibility that a loss may occur if a counterparty fails to perform according to the terms of the contract. Substantially all derivative contracts are transacted on a margin basis. Such transactions may expose the Fund to significant off-balance sheet risk in the event margin deposits and collateral investments are not sufficient to cover losses incurred.

The Investment Managers manage the risk associated with these transactions by maintaining margin deposits and collateral investments with its brokers in compliance with individual exchange regulations and internal guidelines. The Investment Managers also take an active role in managing and controlling the Fund's market and counterparty risks and monitoring trading activities and margin levels daily, and, as necessary, deposits additional collateral or reduces positions.

Credit default swaps are contracts in which the Fund pays or receives an interest flow in return for the counterparty accepting or selling all or part of the risk of default or failure to pay of a reference entity on which the swap is written. Where the Fund has bought protection, the maximum potential loss is the value of the interest flows the Fund is contracted to pay until maturity of the contract. Where the Fund has sold protection, the maximum potential loss is the nominal value of the protection sold. As at 30 June 2023, the maximum potential payout under credit default swaps where the Portfolio has sold protection is US$15,099,713 (31 December 2022: US$7,547,682) for Man GLG Global Investment Grade Opportunities and US$1,406,572 (31 December 2022: US$790,299) for Man GLG Dynamic Income.

The fair value of these contracts as at 30 June 2023 was of (US$528,313) (31 December 2022: (US$475,539)) for Man GLG Global Investment Grade Opportunities and (US$74,498) (31 December 2022: (US$143,012)) for Man GLG Dynamic Income.

The Fund may purchase or write put and call options through OTC markets. Options purchased by the Fund provide the Fund with the opportunity to purchase (call options) or sell (put options) the underlying asset at an agreed-upon value either on or before the expiration of the option. Options written by the Fund provide the purchaser of the option the opportunity to purchase from or sell to the Fund the underlying asset at an agreed-upon value either on or before the expiration of the option. Premiums received from writing options are marked-to-market in accordance with note 2 and the resulting gains or losses are recorded in the statement of comprehensive income. The Fund may also invest in swaptions which are a combination of features of an option and an interest rate swap. The maximum loss to a buyer of an option is the loss of the premium. The writer of a call option has to bear the risk of an unfavourable change in the value underlying the option and, unless an offsetting long position is owned, the theoretical loss is unlimited.

Derivative financial instruments are generally based on notional amounts which are not recorded in the unaudited financial statements. These notional amounts represent the theoretical principal value on which the cash flows of the derivative transactions are based. Unrealised gains or losses, rather than notional amounts, or the exchange-traded derivatives traded by the Fund are included in the unaudited statement of financial position. The net unrealised gains or losses, rather than contract or notional amounts, represent the Fund's approximate future cash flows from trading activities.

8. Related party transactions

Neither the Directors, nor their families, nor the Investment Managers had any interests in the Shares of the Fund during the period ended 30 June 2023, with the exception of 29,998 Subscriber Shares held by Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited.

During the period Samantha McConnell, Ronan Daly and Bronwyn Wright earned Directors' fees of €7,500 each. John Morton has elected to waive his Directors' fee as he is the CEO and a director of Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited, the Manager of the Fund.

Each of the Directors is or may become involved in other financial investment and professional activities which may cause conflicts of interest with the management of the Fund. These activities include management or administration of other companies (including those with investment objectives similar to those of the Fund or structures that may be related to Man Group plc sponsored investment funds), serving as directors, advisers and/or agents of other companies, including companies and legal structures in which the Fund may invest and/or which may invest into the Fund.

GLG Partners LP, GLG LLC and Numeric Investors LLC are related parties as the Investment Managers, Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited is a related party as the Manager and Man Investments AG is a related party as the Distributor of the Fund and therefore all subsidiaries of Man Group plc are also related parties.

Man Group Operations Limited pays for certain operating fees and expenses centrally on behalf of the Fund, which are then periodically recharged back to the Fund. Outstanding recharges as at 30 June 2023 amounts to US$306,433 (31 December 2022: US$202,747) and have been included within accrued expenses and other liabilities.

The following transactions took place between the Fund and its related parties:

* The amount paid to each Administrator and Investment Manager is determined between the parties from time to time, but, for the avoidance of doubt, the Investment Manager receives only the portion of the administration fee relating to the administrative support services it provides pursuant to the Administrative Services Agreement. Part of the administration fee will be paid by the Fund to the Manager (for on-payment to the Administrator) monthly in arrears and the remainder will be paid by the Fund to the Investment Manager.

Administration fees and expense reimbursement are included in accrued expenses and other liabilities and other assets, respectively in the unaudited statement of financial position.

The above amounts are payable on demand and do not bear interest. Furthermore, the above transactions were made on terms equivalent to those that prevail in arm's length transactions.

For the six month period ended 30 June 2023

Condensed notes to the unaudited financial statements (continued)

11. Soft commissions

In line with the introduction of revised rules in respect of the use of dealing commission as part of the implementation of the Directive 2014/65/EU on Markets in Financial Instruments and amending Directive 2004/39/EC ("MiFID II"), effective from 3 January 2018, the Investment Manager no longer pays for its investment research via dealing commission. The Investment Manager has established a research budget and the Portfolios have accrued a fee to pay for the research services independent of trade execution. The Investment Manager will share the research costs with the Portfolios based on an allocated usage basis. All transactions are placed and executed on the basis that best execution is achieved.

The Fund incurred transaction costs including equity swaps commissions which are included in the net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income.

12. Transaction costs

Auditor

Deloitte Ireland LLP has been appointed as auditor to the Fund, and has replaced Ernst & Young in this role.

The Directors, Investment Managers and the Manager acknowledge the current crisis in Ukraine and all applicable Russian related sanctions. The Investment Manager has reviewed positions held across the strategy for any Russian and Ukrainian exposure. Appropriate action was taken by the relevant Investment Manager to reduce or remove certain direct exposures to Russia where necessary and the situation is under ongoing review.

All exposures were either sold or written down to zero by the first week of March 2022. The only Portfolio for which a material exposure to any Russian holdings exists is Numeric Emerging Markets Equity Fund. The total value of all such investments prior to being written down to nil was equivalent to 4.79% of the Portfolio's NAV, as of 4 March 2022, which is the date on which these investments were revalued to nil.

The ongoing political instability in the region is an additional risk factor which is being monitored and could impact the valuation of the Fund's assets after the period end.

Furthermore, there were no other significant events during the period ended 30 June 2023.

15. Subsequent events since the period end

A revised Supplement for the GLG Partners LP Portfolios was issued on 19 July 2023 to the Prospectus dated 1 December 2022. The amendments to the Prospectus reflected additional share class "DU" and its fee structure.

A revised Supplement for the GLG Partners LP Portfolios was issued on 3 August 2023 to the Prospectus dated 1 December 2022. The amendments to the Prospectus reflected additional share class "DYV" and "IYV", and its fee structure.

There have been no other subsequent events since the period end that impact the Fund and require disclosure in the unaudited financial statements.

16. Stock lending

The Fund may enter into stock lending programmes organised by generally recognised International Central Securities Depositaries Systems provided that the programme is subject to a guarantee from the system operator. As at 30 June 2023 and 31 December 2022, the Fund has a stock lending programme in place with Bank of New York Mellon (London Branch).

Net income earned by the sub-funds from securities lending activity during the period and fees paid to the securities lending agent were as outlined below:

The Directors do not propose the payment of dividend for any of the other share classes in the other Portfolios.

Following the issuance of Decree No. 254 issued by the Russian President Vladimir Putin in May 2022, there was a restriction placed on the payment of dividends by Russian limited liability companies to their foreign participants. Under the sanction, if a Russian limited liability company adopted a resolution on dividend distribution to its participants, then any such distribution exceeding 10 million rubles was to be made in Russian rubles to a special blocked type "S" account—commonly referred to as a type "C" account—opened in Russia. As at 31 December 2022, dividends receivable from Russian companies amounted to US$244,948. Due to the current situation and the nature of the current restriction imposed, there is uncertainty around the dividends receivable and if received, if the current restriction remains unchanged, the Fund will not be able to utilise the cash in any way.

18. Contingent liabilities and commitments

There were no contingent liabilities or commitments other than those already disclosed in these unaudited financial statements as at 30 June 2023 (31 December 2022: none).

19. Approval of unaudited financial statements

The Directors approved these unaudited financial statements on 21 August 2023.

Man Funds plc Appendix I (Unaudited) For the six month period ended 30 June 2023

Common Reporting Standard - Data Protection Information Notice

The Fund hereby provides the following data protection information notice to all Shareholders in the Fund either as of 31 December 2015 or at any point of time since this date.

For the avoidance of doubt, this notice applies equally to any Shareholders that have ceased to hold Shares in the Fund since 1 January 2016. Furthermore, it should be noted that this notice is applicable to Controlling Persons of certain Shareholders. The Fund hereby confirm that they intend to take such steps as may be required to satisfy any obligations imposed by (i) the OECD's Standards for Automatic Exchange of Financial Account Information in Tax Matters ("the Standard"), which therein contains Common Reporting Standards ("CRS"), as applied in Ireland by mean of the relevant international legal framework and Irish tax legislation and (ii) EU Council Directive 2014/107/EU, amending Directive 2011/16/EU as regards mandatory automatic exchange information in the field of taxation ("DAC2"), as applied in Ireland by the means of the relevant tax legislation, so as to ensure compliance or deemed compliance (as the case may be) with the Standard/CRS and the DAC2 from 1 January 2016. In this regard, the Investment Manager on behalf of the Fund is obliged under Section 891F and Section 891G of the Irish Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997 (as amended) and regulations made pursuant to those sections to collect certain information about each Shareholder's tax arrangements (and also collect information in relation to relevant Controlling Persons of Specific Shareholders).

In certain circumstances, the Investment Manager on behalf of the Fund may be legally obliged to share this information and other financial information with respect to a Shareholder's interests in the Fund with the Irish Revenue Commissioners (and, in particular situations, also share information in relation to relevant Controlling Persons of specific Shareholders). In turn, and to the extent the account has been identified as a Reportable Account, the Irish Revenue Commissioners will exchange this information with the country of residence of the Reportable Person(s) in respect of the Reportable Account.

In particular, information that may be reported in respect of a Shareholder (and relevant Controlling Persons, if applicable) includes name, address, date of birth, place of birth, account number, account balance or value at period end (or, if the account was closed during such period, the balance or value at the date of the closure of the account), any payments (including redemption and dividend/interest payments) made with respect to the account during the calendar year, tax residency(ies) and tax identification number(s).

Supplementary information (Unaudited)

Report of Directors' Remuneration (Unaudited)

The Directors of the Fund who are also employees of Man Group plc and companies within its group structure ("Man Group") do not receive any remuneration in respect of their services as directors of the Fund. The other directors receive fixed remuneration in respect of their services which is set at a level determined by the Board of Directors as a whole and which is not performance related. This is detailed in note 8 of these unaudited financial statements. None of the Directors are currently in receipt of variable remuneration in respect of their services as directors of the Fund and none of the Directors are currently in receipt of a pension from the Fund. The Fund has appointed Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited as its UCITS management company. As such, the provisions of Article 14b of Directive 2009/65/EC in relation to remuneration are not applicable to the Fund. However, they do apply to Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited, which has adopted a remuneration policy to ensure compliance.

Unaudited reporting requirement in respect of the Securities Financing Transactions Regulation For the six month period ended 30 June 2023

The Investment Managers may, on behalf of each sub-fund and subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Financial Conduct Authority and the Prospectus, employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities, including investments in OTC Financial Derivative Instruments ("FDI") provided that such techniques and instruments are used for efficient portfolio management purposes or to provide protection against exchange risk or for direct investment purposes, where applicable.

The Fund engaged in securities lending activity during the period for the purposes of efficient portfolio management and invested in equity swaps.

Securities Lending

All securities lending transactions entered into by the sub-funds are subject to a written legal agreement between the sub-funds and Bank of New York Mellon (London Branch) (the "Lending Agent"), and separately between the Lending Agent and the approved borrowing counterparty. Collateral received in exchange for securities lent is delivered to an account in the name of the Depositary on behalf of the sub-funds. Collateral received is segregated from the assets belonging to the sub-funds Depositary or the Lending Agent.

The total income earned from securities lending transactions is split between the relevant sub-fund and the securities lending agent. The sub-fund receives at least 80% while the securities lending agent receives up to 20% of such income with all operational costs borne out of the securities lending agent's share. Income received during the period by each sub-funds from securities lending transactions is disclosed in other income in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income.

The following table details the value of securities on loan, the maturity tenor of which is always open, as they are recallable or terminable on a daily basis. #### Portfolio Swaps

OTC derivative transactions are entered into by the Fund under an International Swaps and Derivatives Associations, Inc. Master Agreement ("ISDA Master Agreement") or similar agreement. An ISDA Master Agreement is a bilateral agreement between the Fund and a counterparty that governs OTC derivative transactions (including total return swaps and portfolio swaps) entered into by the parties. All OTC derivative transactions entered under an ISDA Master agreement are netted together for collateral purposes therefore any collateral disclosures provided below/elsewhere in the report are in respect of all OTC derivative transactions entered into by the Fund under the ISDA Master agreement, not just portfolio swaps.

The collateral figures provided on the next page relate to collateral held to support specific SFTRs, other cash held at brokers to support SFTRs, and other derivative transactions held at brokers where SFTRs are transacted.
