Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market Review

The key driver of Emerging Markets hard¹ and local currency debt in the first half of the year was the decrease in yields in developed countries, particularly US Treasuries, which had started late in 2018 and deepened in June on the back of the marked dovish shift in DM central banks. The dovish² guidance at the June 19 FOMC meeting led to growing speculation for an initial rate cut in July, while the ECB's dovish tilt on June 18 led negative-yielding debt to reach a new record-high³. Lower global yields, higher US equity markets and range bound⁴ USD sustained EM assets performance. Underpinned by this backdrop EMBIG⁵ (Hard currency debt) returned 10.6% in H1, while GBI-EM GD⁶ (Local currency debt) returned 8.7%.

Country wise, within hard currency debt, lower rated countries from bellwethers such as Ukraine, to frontier markets in both Africa and Asia were the best performers in H1 with single B rated countries returning on average 13.7%. Investment grade countries, buoyed by the decrease in DM rates still returned a respectable 10.8% forcing market participants to question whether the extra credit risk taken when moving to the lower quality segment of the market is really appropriately compensated. In the local bond universe, Russia was the best performing country, +20.7%, supported by the recovery in energy prices ytd and lower global yields, while Argentina was the worst performer at -14.9% as the high carry was not enough to compensate for the increase in yields and currency depreciation in Q1 and early Q2.

Outlook:

We continue to believe that both EMD HC and LC, as well as the majority of other risk assets which also benefited from the inflow of capital during the period of QE, are likely to face significant challenges ahead. As soon as we started to see pressures from the crowding out effect from the increase in the net supply (or reduction in the net demand) of high quality government bonds as a consequence of the quantitative tightening policies implemented by the Fed, the end of QE by the European Central Bank (ECB) and the reduction in the amount of bond purchases performed by the Bank of Japan (BoJ); as well as by the increase in US Treasury issuance to Fund the larger fiscal deficits in the second half of 2018, both the Fed and the ECB had to move back into more expansionary than expected stances as the markets could not digest the pressure.

We believe that the increased Treasury debt issuance (roughly $600 billion on an annual basis since the end of 2017) will not be easily offset even under a new round of QE from the ECB, and obviously it will be much harder to replicate the peak expansionary impact that monetary policies had had in the first half of 2017. Meanwhile, fundamentals for most EM countries are weak, and positions massively crowded in both hard currency and local rates.

A significant driver of the fall in US rates in Q2 was the depletion of the Treasury cash deposits at the Federal Reserve, as it had to temporarily reduce debt issuance due to the debt ceiling constraint. The reduction in these deposits from May 3 to June 28 amounted to $154 billion, producing and effect similar to roughly $1 trillion of annualized QE. At the present juncture, with the short end of the US curve pricing close to three cuts between now and the end of the year any additional release of liquidity will likely be deposited back by the banking system at the Fed in the form of excess reserves. This should limit further rally in US rates. More importantly, when Congress authorizes the rollover of the debt ceiling, the US Treasury will have to substantially ramp up issuance to rebuild its cash cushion and that will operate as quantitative tightening, in a way similar to what we saw between mid February and late April of 2018, which in our view was behind the weakness in our asset class in Mid 2018. The difference this time is that valuations and duration exposure are much more extreme than they were back then, and the correction is likely to be larger.

Fund Activity:

The portfolio continues to be very defensive, albeit running a high level of carry – the return obtained from holding an asset - derived from our exposure to ARS, US T-bills, and high quality short dated sovereign and quasi-sovereign bonds.

The overall short currency exposure⁷ of the Fund stood at H1-end at -14% (versus -12% at the close of 2018). Though the course of H1 we partially reduced our short in COP to increase it against ZAR. On local rates, the Fund kept the -0.5 years short in local currency duration⁸ weighted exposure (DWE)⁹ in Brazil.

In HC, in light of our upward view, erroneous up until now, for US Treasury yields, the fund closed the year with a duration weighted exposure (DWE) stood at 0.2 years, at low end of the strategy's historical range of between 0 to 4 years.

In January we increased the short credit spread DWE of the Fund by -0.6 years to -3.3 years, as the majority of the countries where we run shorts tightened to levels close to the lows seen in the last nine years.

Performance:

In H1 2019, the Fund estimated gross and net returns (USD Institutional share class) were -1.33% and -1.79%10 respectively, contrasting with the 50/50 Blend that was up by 9.7%11, which was clearly disappointing as a consequence of the defensiveness of our portfolio due to our expectation of a potentially very significant correction in our asset class valuations.

The Fund's performance illustrates the strategy's flexible nature and its ability to be exposed only to the investments where the best risk adjusted returns are expected, and avoid, or even being short, the less attractive segments of the asset class. In our view, this characteristic should continue to be key to generate alpha in the guarters to come.

Man GLG European Alpha Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market overview

After a difficult end to 2018 for markets, early 2019 saw risk assets¹ rebound as investor sentiment improved. The positive momentum seen in the first quarter was driven by a combination of factors, including constructive US-China trade talks although central banks were the key architects behind the market rally. Investor sentiment was lifted by the Fed's decision to perform a dovish² U-turn and they surprised markets again in March by stating that there will not be any further rate hikes in 2019. The ECB were also dovish in their message and stated that rates will remain unchanged "at least through the end of 2019", having previously indicated rates would be hiked "at least through the end of summer". In line with the other major central banks, the People's Bank of China (PBoC) were also focused on easing and indicated that they plan to use their monetary policy tools to provide support to the economy. Despite the market rally, macroeconomic data during the first quarter was a mixed bag with a notable slowdown in global manufacturing and export activity while labour markets showed some resilience.

Risk assets continued their ascent during the spring months, despite a wobble in May due to trade-war tensions which harmed risk appetite. Following the US's announcement of an increase in tariffs on Chinese imports, China in-turn retaliated with tariffs of their own. In addition, the US restricted Chinese telecom companies, notably Huawei, from selling equipment in the US while also restricting their ability to conduct business with American companies. Central banks once again lifted sentiment in June with dovish rhetoric, which led market participants to price in rate cuts and potential monetary stimulus. Markets were also aided by a commitment from the US and China to continue their discussions on trade following the G20 meeting in Japan. Macroeconomic data continued to show a slowdown in global growth and signs of weakness began to creep into labour market reports.

Strategy review

Man GLG European Alpha Alternative IN EUR delivered a net performance of -1.37% during H1 2018.

In effect, equity markets during H1 2019 seemed to be in the mood to look past market weakness in the expectation that central bank puts would place an effective backstop on drawdowns. As such, it has been a challenging period for the strategy. Our process views the investment opportunity through 5 lenses: (i) earnings, (ii) valuation, (iii) catalysts, (iv) sentiment, (v) technicals. Valuation and sentiment have been a hindrance to our ability to exploit more fully some of the very good signals that were triggered through the first half of the year.

As a way to highlight the difficulty posed by valuations by way of example, an Ingredients Company near to a multi-year high valuation profit warned at the start of the year which triggered a short - or sell - signal. Our assessment was that new guidance was still too optimistic, and so further warnings would be required as the year progressed. However, our plans halted as the stock proceeded to rerate. The company is perceived as one of the "higher quality" companies in the European market, and investors seemed to be willing to pay a very full price for that historical quality and growth, almost irrespective of the disconnect between history and the current economic reality for that business.

Since that time, the company has profit warned a further two times, with the latest warning signalling growth would fall - for a period at least - to a multi-year low. Yet, even after the third profit warning of the year, the stock remains above the level it was trading at prior to the first warning. So, here, we got the earnings trajectory correct, but the more important share price move trajectory wrong as we underestimated the market's desire to see the stock's multiple significantly expand on incrementally weak news. Prior to the latest warning, the stock was trading on c. 50x earnings vs. a historical average of 39x, and indeed the stock is trying to rally again with markets post the recent warning. We accept that falling bond yields result in higher valuations, however, we did not come to expect such a significant re-rating on the back of weakening fundamental information.

Earnings expectations for the market have kept on falling through the year. Meanwhile, bond yields have also fallen, leading to a significant divergence in performance of defensives vs. cyclicals, and some curious dynamics within markets. Falling bond yields have generally been good for quality bond proxies – i.e. food & beverages and home and personal care – but the hope of central banks riding to the rescue in the face of weakening macroeconomic data has driven intermittent, violent rallies in some of the lower quality cyclical sectors that exhibit superficially cheap valuations – for example in miners and autos.

The rallies at the "lower quality" spectrum of the market have been particularly painful, as many of these areas represent, in our view, fertile ground for short opportunities due to the poor earnings momentum and weak longer-term price momentum in these names - when they squeeze aggressively on non-stock-specific news, this of course presents challenges.

In such an environment, microeconomic factors matter less, alpha falls as asset-class 'factors' 4 become an ever-increasing driver of stock performance. This creates a natural headwind for the strategy which seeks to maintain around 70% of its overall risk budget in specific risk. The positive news is that the close relationship between trailing earnings and stock price performance extends over 200 years, while the price momentum signals that we enjoy an excellent long-term track record in predicting future price movements. Whilst the lenses we use for our fundamental work suffered a short-term breakdown in predictive power this year, it seems very unlikely in our view that the relationship between earnings momentum and price is structurally broken, while the same can be said for the relationship between price momentum and future short-to-mid-term returns. The strategy is managed in a highly disciplined way to help manage drawdowns during the inevitable periods when the relationships we rely on temporarily weaken and, as when the relationships normalise, we aim to be well positioned to capitalise.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results.

¹ Risk assets are defined as any asset that carries a degree of risk. Risk asset generally refers to assets that have a significant degree of price volatility, such as equities, commodities, high-yield bonds, real estate and currencies.

² To be positioned against increasing interest rates.

³ Performance data is shown net of fees with income reinvested, and does not take into account sales and redemption charges where such costs are applicable. Returns are calculated net of 1.25% management fees and 20% performance fees. Other share classes may charge higher fees.

⁴ Barra Risk Factor Analysis is a multi-factor model, created by Barra Inc., used to measure the overall risk associated with a security relative to the market. Barra Risk Factor Analysis incorporates data metrics, including earnings growth, share turnover and senior debt rating. The model then measures risk factors associated with three main components: industry risk, risk from exposure to different investment themes and company-specific risk.

Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market Review

Despite significant investor caution and often pessimism, the first half of 2019 was a spectacularly strong period for risk asset¹ returns. The S&P was up 17% in the first half, an impressive performance and, notably, the best first half since 1997. This, however, was outstripped by the NASDAQ, which was up 21%, as technology shares continued to perform strongly, despite a more challenging political backdrop for many technology companies. The FTSE All Share Index² was up 13%, led by the mining index. Credit markets and commodities also delivered strong positive performance. In commodities, Brent crude was up 18%, iron ore was up 79%, helped by the supply shock in the aftermath of a tragic dam accident in Brazil, and copper was the relative laggard, up only fractionally in the first half. Bond yields continued to decline with the 10-year US treasury yield falling by 65bps to 2.0% and the 10-year UK gilt yield falling 44bps to 0.83%, not far above the level seen in 2016, immediately after the Brexit referendum.

Fund Summary (positons and performance)

The Fund returned +4.5%3 during the first half of the calendar year, generating positive returns in each of the six calendar months.

Gross exposure - our total exposure to financial markets from both direct holdings and derivatives has remained reasonably steady and finished the quarter at 106%. This is still at the lower end of its normal historic range, which we think is prudent, given the current heightened level of stock volatility and the number of macroeconomic issues with uncertain outcomes. However, this uncertainty and volatility is offering more opportunities to trade around positions and to tactically benefit from mispricing's as sentiment ebbs and flows.

Of the main positive contributors to performance, RELX, Smith and Nephew and Informa all benefitted from the underlying market shift towards growth and quality at the expense of value. However, all three stock prices also reflected underlying improvements in their investment cases.

Generally the biggest detractors from performance suffered from being what would loosely be described as value stocks. International Consolidated Airlines (IAG), Imperial Brands, BP and Glenveagh all underperformed in the second quarter.

Where we have these deep value positions it is important that we manage the position sizes sensibly to seek to protect against losses as it can take a long time for the value to be realised. However, the size of the potential upside is significant so we want to have exposure within the portfolio with the option of increasing the position sizes, as we sense the market is becoming more willing to look at these stocks and news flow begins to turn.

Outlook

Our views have remained broadly similar throughout 2019. Clearly growth has disappointed relative to expectations but we feel that investor positioning is cautious enough to encompass this without significantly impacting our approach to the portfolio. Although economic growth has disappointed, we have not had any significant new geopolitical shocks (trade and Brexit continue to demonstrate slow progress at best) and central banks have turned dovish⁴ despite solid employment trends and with equity markets near their all-time highs. As a result, we believe there is room for growth to surprise on the upside, and the portfolio has a balance of cyclical and defensive exposure. However, we are cognisant that if the economic data does not pick up in the second half, despite supportive action from central banks, it will be very hard to argue that we are not tipping into recession and so we aim to keep the fund's exposure quite balanced. The fund is somewhat biased to international stocks over domestic. That is not a direct view on the outcome of Brexit negotiations themselves but a function of the fact that we currently struggle to find many fundamental stock ideas in domestic sectors that are compelling enough to merit a position in the portfolio. We are, however, constantly managing the portfolio to ensure that this international tilt does not become a significant driver of the fund's performance. This is important as a change in progress on Brexit negotiations clearly could change the outlook for the UK economy. However, the new Prime Minister and leader of the Tory party could also have an impact on the economy. We would note that Boris Johnson has talked about tax cuts, infrastructure investment and lowering of stamp duty all of which we think would have a positive impact on the economy.

The structural tailwinds to stockpicking remain: the ongoing shrinkage of sellside research capability, exacerbated by MIFID II and other regulatory intervention, and the shift away from active investing to passive. All of these should continue to offer a rich environment for idea generation for the fund. In addition, on-going volatility due to macroeconomic and geopolitical developments and swings in sentiment should offer attractive opportunities to trade around positions as has been the case in the first half.

Man GLG European Equity Alternative – Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Overview

In the first six months of 2019, equity markets rose as investors' risk appetite returned. Early in the year, messaging from the US Federal Reserve underlined an increasingly flexible stance towards monetary policy going forward. Investor sentiment was lifted by the US Federal Reserve's decision to perform a dovish¹ U-turn, and they surprised markets again in March by stating that there will not be any further rate hikes in 2019. The other growing source of optimism was the tangible engagement between the US and China to defuse trade tensions. Despite the market rally, macroeconomic data during the first quarter was a mixed bag with a notable slowdown in global manufacturing and export activity. The markets continued to advance in the spring months, despite falling in May as the US-China trade tensions further escalated, leading to concerns of slowing economic and corporate profit growth. By June the prospect of the US Federal Reserve cutting interest rates outweighed geopolitical and trade tensions sending the market higher. The European Central Bank has also pivoted to a dovish stance ahead of the change in President later this year, pointing to highly supportive monetary conditions for the market

Performance

The Man GLG European Equity Alternative Fund (the 'Fund') ended the first half of the year down -1.7%² net of fees. Turning to factor attribution (how much performance can be explained from Barra defined exposures³), while the Fund generated Specific risk returns during the first half of the year, this alpha was offset by losses in Industry risk. Industry risk losses during this time were principally from the Fund's exposure to UK airlines and UK retailers.

Looking at the underlying book returns⁴ we saw strong contributions from UK Core (+153bp), Centre Book (+124bps) and Risk Arb (+41bp). Returns from Specific risk dominated the contributions from UK Core and Centre Book, while Risk Arb saw returns driven by a combination of Market and Specific risk. The top performer, UK Core, found success with its long positions (a security that is bought with the expectation it will rise in value over time) in Rio Tinto, Standard Charter, and Informa plc in the first half of the year. Centre Book found success with its short names (a security that is bought with the expectation it will decline in value over time) particularly in a multinational airline holding company struggling with Brexit related uncertainties. Meanwhile, Risk Arb benefitted from exposure to the Fidelity National Information Services acquisition of World Pay announced in March. On the negative side, our Mining (-142bps) and US Japan (-60bps) managers found the market environment in the first half of the year challenging. Mining primarily lost money with a long position in Glencore which fell on news of another investigation into its practices by the US government. US Japan, on the other hand, struggled with a short position in a small cap, specialist non-bank financial company.

Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Global equity markets rallied strongly in the first half of 2019 as central banks around the world shifted towards an easing bias. It is possible to characterise the rally as being driven more by hope than by reality as there are limited indications of positive change in global macroeconomic data; which continues to remain weak.

The last twelve months has provided a relatively challenging backdrop for stock pickers with stock prices being driven by top down macroeconomic and political sentiment swings and with fundamental news flow and accelerating corporate earnings being less relevant. Furthermore outflows in the hedge fund space and fund de-leveraging - reducing debt - has meant price action was driven by flow and liquidity to a larger extent than normal. We have seen some sector rotations. There have also been major style rotations as well as continued outperformance of 'quality' and 'defensive growth' stocks. Finally it is also worth noting the poor performance and low rate of issuance in both primary (IPO) and secondary raisings which can normally provide an incremental tailwind to fund returns.

In spite of this we believe the fundamental backdrop remains compelling in the Mid Cap equity space which is becoming increasingly inefficient² as the sell side continues to retrench from equity research post the introduction of MiFID 2.

During the period we incrementally increased our gross exposure - our total exposure to financial markets from both direct holdings and derivatives - from 78% to 112% partially reversing the reduction last year though we are still below our normal average stated range of 140-160%. Our net market exposure - our 'long' positions minus the 'short' - close to zero through the period. In addition we have continued to manage the fund by maintaining a high level of stock specific risk as the core driver of return with low country and style

Our factor attribution for the period shows that the key positive factor contributors in the period were style factors (e.g. long Beta) and stock specific factors (see below for top contributors). The negative factors were industry (e.g. short healthcare) and market (short as market rallied). Country positioning had a very limited impact.

The primary positive contributors to stock specific performance during the period were a short position in a Swiss listed consumer health and technology distributor (weaker than expected results), a long holding in UK listed business information and events company Informa PLC3 (price reversion after weak q4 2018 - beneficiary of weak Sterling) and a short position in a UK listed education services company (weaker than expected fourth quarter results).

The primary negative contributors to stock specific performance were from; a long position in Italian listed cable manufacturer Prysmian (further technical issues on a key project), a short position in a Swedish listed medical equipment manufacturer (results better than feared) and a long holding in French listed fuel storage and distribution company Rubis (larger holding - was broadly flat in a rising

Activity levels were healthy and the fund remains at the upper end of the range of number of positions. This reflects a high level of conversion from our new ideas pipeline. On the long side we initiated a position in UK and Irish listed healthcare communications and solutions company UDG. We like the structural growth characteristics of the industry due to increased outsourcing as well as their ability to grow via M&A given an underutilized balance sheet. UDG holds a leading position in this market and shows strong growth potential in its US contract manufacturing business (Sharp) and the advisory communications business (Ashfield) given the portfolio of businesses they have acquired and which have expansion and cross sell opportunities. Valuation looks attractive following a period of underperformance given a combination of stock specific and market driven performance.

On the short side of the portfolio we initiated a new short position in a UK listed litigation finance firm where we are increasingly sceptical that the company can earn the returns assumed by sell side analysts and implied in its valuation in the face of increasing competition. We also initiated a new short in a German listed real estate asset manager as we question the sustainability of their fee levels, especially in some of their higher earning debt funds, as many German real estate developers look to reduce financing costs.

Although the sector themes on the fund remain broadly consistent over the period, on the short side of the portfolio we have recently taken the decision to neutralise our sector short position in automotive suppliers taking profits as the sector underperformed the broader market. We remain invested in the space with short positions in companies with direct exposure to the combustion engine and long positions in companies where we believe the pressures seen have been cyclical and not structural.

We are entering the crucial seasonal trading period for the Fund as most of our companies will report second quarter earnings in late July and the start of August. Our hit rate on results has been positive in recent quarters and should this trend continue, this can drive near term performance.

defensive growth involves targeting certain characteristics within asset classes. There are two main types of factors: macroeconomic, e.g. credit, and style, ² inefficiency indicates divergence between assets' prices and their true value.

Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

The Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative investment strategy focuses on sectors that are predominately driven by company specific fundamental changes rather than macroeconomic factors. Taking this approach most often leads us to Technology, Consumer Discretionary, Industrials, and occasionally Telecoms. This is an approach the fund manager has undertaken for over 14 years. It is both systematic and fundamental and primarily focused on liquid stocks with large market capitalisation (companies whose markets value is above USD 10 bn). The strategy is a low net exposure and looks to primarily monetise Alpha (excess return of an investment relative to the return of a reference index) by focusing on areas where consensus expectations are wrong both on the long strategy¹ and the short strategy¹ over a period.

Building on a successful second year post launch

2018 was a successful second year of the launch of our UCITS fund at Man GLG (with an investment process that the fund manager originated, followed and evolved over 14 years) in which we outperformed wider markets especially in the second half of the year in the face of a sharp sell-off. The fund has continued to generate alpha year to date and this has enabled the fund's AUM to continue to rise from $358 million on December 30th 2018 to $439 million on June 30 2019. Following the addition of two senior analysts in 2018, the team is now fully bedded down and is now fully focused on the process and returns and scaling performance to the full capacity of the strategy.

Performance in 1H 2019

The fund returned +1.43%* net of fees for the IN USD share class in the first half of 2019. This compares to the Hedge Fund Research HFRX Equity Hedge Index being up +5.97%* over the same time period, the fund's reference index. The fund however remains near its very recent high watermark unlike the reference index which remains down -8.16%* from the highs of 2018. The wider equity markets recovered from their declines last year with the S&P500 up +17.35%* and STOXX Europe 600 Price Index +13.98%*. On a gross return attribution analysis basis, the market attribution and hedge selection attribution were positive while stock selection was negative mostly driven by the short book.

Since inception, the Fund has had annualised volatility of 2.58% despite focusing in some very high volatility areas, while the worst monthly drawdown (peak-to-trough decline during a specific recorded period) is -1.38%. The long book returned +11% while the short book alpha and contribution was challenging in the year to date period returning -8.80%.

On a stock level, the biggest single stock long winners for the fund this year have been Mastercard, Visa, Microsoft, Adobe, Amazon and Euronet. Most of these positions have been strategic, fundamentally researched and well established "long" theses for the team that are fairly long duration. On the short side, the winners were in educational publishing, European automotive sub suppliers, Chinese internet, networking equipment, wireless related semiconductors, European fashion e-commerce, and some growth US software names.

Outlook:

Having navigated well the downdraft of 2nd half 2018 generating positive performance, the fund has continued to build on that performance. While equity markets have been strong year to date, this has mostly come from valuation multiples rising rather than pure estimates and has not been without volatility given the macro backdrop (falling manufacturing PMIs and trade tariff headlines) and constant back and forth on US/China trade talks (e.g. Huawei being added to the US entity list). Moreover, recent talk of quantitative easing and lower rates has also resulted in a further indiscriminate rise of valuation multiples making, in our view, stock selection even more critical on a go forward basis. As such we will be focused over the coming 12 months on identifying alpha both on the long and short sides and continuing to closely monitor as well as implementing our proprietary watch list of names.

Currently, we are focused on the second quarter of 2019 earnings season and aiming to take advantage of mispriced fundamental changes occurring at companies (e.g. new product introductions, new business model.) especially following a fairly indiscriminate rally due to expected further quantitative easing and lower rates. We also look to selectively use options² when appropriate to further isolate results days in an effort to be more capital efficient in generating Alpha during results season, when our theses are often tested.

Given the very fluid political background and trade talks which seem to change like the wind every other week, we believe that equity markets will continue to see some volatility. As such, we will remain flexible in our approach and are cognizant of the now often rich valuation multiples that leave less room for error when companies report results. Indeed the debate of last year around valuation of high-growth stocks (shares in a company that is anticipated to grow at a rate significantly above the average for the market) with limited or no free cash flow generation has been to bed for now but will rear its head once more sooner or later while the Internet complex will continue to face questions around regulation and maturity. Having managed money before, during and after previous volatile periods we will continue to focus on fundamental valuation and research.

In closing, we would like to thank all our investors and the various teams at Man GLG for the support they have provided and look forward to their continued support in 2019 and beyond.

Man GLG High Yield Opportunities - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

After a difficult end to 2018 for markets, early 2019 saw risk assets¹ rebound as investor sentiment improved. The positive momentum seen in the first quarter was driven by a combination of factors, including constructive US-China trade talks, though central banks were the key architects behind the market rally. Investor sentiment was lifted by the US Federal Reserve's decision to perform a dovish² U-turn and they surprised markets again in March by stating that there will not be any further rate hikes in 2019. The European Central Bank (ECB) were also dovish in their message and stated that rates will remain unchanged "at least through the end of 2019, having previously indicated rates would be hiked "at least through the end of summer". In line with the other major central banks, the People's Bank of China (PBoC) were also focused on easing and indicated that they plan to use their monetary policy tools to provide support to the economy. Despite the market rally, macroeconomic data during the first quarter was a mixed bag with a notable slowdown in global manufacturing and export activity while labour markets showed some resilience.

Risk assets continued their ascent during the spring months, despite a wobble in May due to trade-war tensions which harmed risk appetite. Following the US's announcement of an increase in tariffs on Chinese imports, China in-turn retaliated with tariffs of their own. In addition, the US restricted Chinese telecom companies, notably Huawei, from selling equipment in the US while also restricting their ability to conduct business with American companies. Central banks once again lifted sentiment in June with dovish rhetoric, which led market participants to price in rate cuts and potential monetary stimulus. Markets were also aided by a commitment from the US and China to continue their discussions on trade following the G20 meeting in Japan. Macroeconomic data continued to show a slowdown in global growth and signs of weakness began to creep into labour market reports.

Against this backdrop, global high yield credit benefitted from the rally in risk assets and posted positive returns for the first half of the year. The Man GLG High Yield Opportunities Fund launched on 16th January 2019 and has delivered a positive return for the first half of the year.

Since the Fund's launch, positioning has remained predominantly focused on Europe and the UK, as well as on cash-generative non-cyclicals.

The key positive contributors in the first half of the year include a long position in a Euro area sovereign and positions in idiosyncratic, situational names. These include a UK petroleum explorations company, which benefitted from strong production numbers and a positive outlook and a position in an Italian IT services company that performed in line with our expectation on its ability to generate cash from new contracts.

The main detractor from performance over the period was a position in a construction company, which saw market participants questioning the company's credit profile and consequently resulted in its bond price declining. We fundamentally believe the company's credit profile is sound and that the concerns raised do not hold up to scrutiny. As a result, we increased the position based on our fundamental conviction.

Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

In March this year references to Modern Monetary Theory (MMT) reached a historic extreme in Google Trends' time series. Part of the generalised discussion of the merits of MMT has been that developed economies have exhausted the potential of monetary policy to influence cycles. We, too, see merit in that thinking here at GLG, albeit with more emphasis on the need for fiscal tools, rather than the unconventional MMT approach. But the announcements from the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Federal Reserve (the "Fed") in June have served as a clear reminder that as far as markets are concerned in this cycle, monetary policy reigns supreme. At the ECB's Sintra conference in mid-June, Mario Draghi signalled a further dovish¹ pivot, opening the door to a further cut in deposit rates, tiered relief to banks to offset further headwinds to their profitability, and additional asset purchases. Coming before the confirmation of a new ECB president, it is tempting to assume that there is some unanimity in this dovish stance, and that the ECB staff collectively have lost patience with the weak inflation data.

The following day, Jay Powell outstripped already dovish expectations about the path of Fed funds, with a Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) press conference that pushed Fed funds futures to price a 100% probability of a rate cut at the 31 July meeting, with an implied 30% chance of a 0.5% cut. Employment data will need to come out exceptionally strong to derail a cut from here. Looking back at Fed history, the current set-up is eerily similar to 1995: economic momentum sagging after a hiking cycle, and in the context of an exogenous shock (then the tequila crisis, now the trade war), unemployment trending downwards, and prevailing financial conditions very easy. A precautionary cutting cycle in such an environment, where growth is weak but there is not obviously an oncoming recession, was also evident in 1998 in response to the Russian default and Long Term Capital Management Fund (LTCM). In both cases, it poured fuel on a fire, and resulted in significant overheating. Our analysis of these previous episodes suggests that prevailing trends persist: in equities (and indeed in credit) value does poorly, and momentum in high quality continues to do well.

Such an environment is not easy for active management with valuation rigour as part of the process, as breadth narrows, and high quality assets get ever more expensive. In credit this is evident with the Itraxx 5y Euro CDS² at c. 50bps, close to cycle tights. We see a breakdown of valuation discipline in the investment-grade (IG) space, as investors pre-position for a potential restart of the Corporate Sector Purchase Programme or are squeezed out of negatively yielding assets. This is an environment conducive to patiently accumulating short exposures.

To be clear, risks abound, particularly the weakness of the Chinese economy that we discussed last month, and the unpredictability of a trade war that looks increasingly likely to claim Europe as a casualty. But with the Fed put now active, the policy support is significant, even if that brings with it a growing sense of queasiness for managers who believe that in the long-term an asset should trade somewhere close to its intrinsic value to keep risks balanced.

Convertible Bond (CB) Arbitrage

Despite the reversal in market sentiment CBs continue to benefit the fund, with all regions again performing positively.

A strong performance from two positions in the semi-conductor sector following M&A news and improving investor outlook on the space helped boost the US portfolio.

Interestingly, in Europe issuers from the mining and semi-conductor space dominated both the winners and losers during the month. Individually these contributions were more technical than fundamental in nature.

In Asia long delta positions in an Australian mining company and a HK based computer hardware manufacturer made the key contributions that ensured the book finished in positive territory.

Credit and Capital Structure Arbitrage

All books, with the exception of the US, generated positive performance during the month. The European corporate book bounced back strongly, whilst the Asian and emerging market (EM) credit books continue to benefit from the rally in rates markets.

In Europe, peripheral financial issuers were the largest positive contributors as the ECB signalled an increasingly dovish stance that boosted these instruments from both a rates and credit spread perspective.

In Asia and EM books, gain were spread over a number of smaller positions none of which were particularly noteworthy.

In the US an E&P issuer and CDX payer position were the biggest detractors in a marginally negative month.

Man AHL Multi Strategy Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

The first half of 2019 was a largely benign environment for investors. Equity markets generally marched upwards, perturbed only by a correction in May. Bond markets rallied as central bank sentiment lead investors to expect lower interest rates and the US dollar also rose, albeit somewhat more erratically. The fund was up over the period, with declines in mid-May recovered from relatively quickly. In terms of trading model styles, all five styles were positive over the period, but trend following only just so. Trend following got off to a tricky start to the year and struggled in January with stocks and currencies proving troublesome. The remainder of the period was more fruitful, however, with long¹ fixed income positions particularly profitable. Performance in traditional momentum signals outperformed that of the newer machine learning style models as relatively straightforward trends prevailed over the period.

Technical trading models trod water for the first five months of 2019 but a profitable June meant they recorded a profit over the period. The faster trading models were generally the best performers, with machine learning models under water, until a late push in June.

Volatility trading fared well over the period, with relatively consistent volatility premium in evidence. Performance across bonds, equities and currencies were all positive, with currencies providing the lion's share of the profit. In contrast, futures volatility trading ended the period down after struggling in the volatility spike in May. Cash equity trading was the second best trading style with market-neutral models in all regions positive, other than Japan. In terms of signals, single stock momentum generally performed well with value signals struggling.

Fundamental trading was the top style, with the first quarter of the year being particularly strong as relative value stock index trading and fixed income carry combined to drive profits. Their fortunes then diverged as relative value stock index trading struggled over the second quarter whilst fixed income carry continued its winning form.

Man AHL TargetRisk - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

The main driver of markets in H1 were dovish¹ noises from central banks on both sides of the pond continuing on from a change in stance of the US Federal Reserve ("Fed") towards a more accommodative monetary policy in January and the ECB following suit in March. Trade tensions between the US and China which occasionally flared up and, most notably in May also resulted in a sharp fall in equity markets, but overall equity markets went up.

The Fund saw gains made in all asset classes over the period (bonds, equities, credit and inflation).

Bond positions were the strongest performer especially as they enjoyed a rally after the Fed signalled a possible end to the tightening of its monetary policy. Falling yields globally resulted in UK gilts yields falling to a low not seen since October 2016 and US bond yields dropping below 2% for the first time since the tail end of 2016 whilst German bonds also saw their yield hit record lows.

Equities were also positive over the period notably the FTSE 100, S&P 500 Index and NASDAQ Index. The Fund's equity index positions reaped the benefits of a positive environment for risk assets². Across the pond, US stock indices such as the S&P 500 and the NASDAQ 100 were lifted by the Fed's decision to keep interest rates at low levels however the escalating trade war between US and China sent risk assets into a tailspin in May.

Credit also performed positively with spreads tightening the main theme over the period with both investment grade and high yield indices on both sides of the Atlantic profiting.

Inflation had a small positive contribution over the period. Gains in commodities at the start of the year were led by a surging crude oil price whilst US-China trade tensions caused both metals and energy markets to suffer.

Man Numeric Market Neutral Alternative - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market Overview

After 2018, which saw risk assets¹ oscillate, the market's subsequent turnaround during the first quarter of 2019 was nothing short of astounding. Global equities produced their best quarter during Q1 since the third quarter of 2010, recovering most of the fourth quarter drawdown suffered in 2018. Investors again continued to gravitate towards growth over value (MSCI World Growth +21.3% vs. MSCI Value +13.4%), a common theme throughout most of last year. Despite the market's initial run, the landscape should not all be viewed through rose-coloured glasses. US macroeconomic data was mixed, with further signs of weakness in China and Germany. Investor sentiment returned to risk seeking in January after the US Federal Reserve leaned more towards accommodative monetary policies. However, later during the first quarter the continuation of macro uncertainty and waning corporate profits turned investors tentative once again. Despite negative pressures during the second quarter, equity markets continued to be fuelled by accommodative central banks and even lower policy rates, leaving markets higher. Some markets were impacted by the wider economic backdrop more than others (MSCI China -3.4%), as tensions between the US and China led investors to a defensive posture during the second quarter. For YTD 2019, the MSCI World Index was up 17% while the MSCI Emerging Markets Index was up 10.6% in USD. The S&P 500 was up 18.5% for the year to date, while MSCI Japan and MSCI Europe were up 5.8% and 16.2%, respectively, in the local currency for the year.

Performance Commentary

For the six month period ending 30 June 2019, the Man Numeric Market Neutral Alternative Fund (the "Fund") return was -6.02% net-of-fees. The fund is comprised of two complementary components: Diversified Market Neutral ("DMN"), which is Numeric's value portfolio with a catalyst approach, and the Innovation Portfolio ("IP"), which is Numeric's portfolio of our latest ideas. During this reporting period, DMN detracted from performance, while IP contributed to performance.

Numeric seeks to add value through a fundamentally-driven, quantitative, bottom-up stock selection process. Stocks are selected based on the output of our quantitative investment models. The Diversified Market Neutral (DMN) component finished in negative territory year-to-date. Performance was negative in the US, Europe, and Emerging Markets. Model returns were positive in Asia ex Japan, Emerging Markets, and Europe, led by positive performance in Value and also Momentum in Europe. Japan and the US had negative model performance, driven by poor performance from our Value model.

The Innovation Portfolio component contributed to performance during the year, led by the Fundamental Statistical Arbitrage strategy and Low Volatility. The Country Timing strategy (a country ETF timing strategy)) and Dislocation detracted the most for the year.

Man Alternative Style Risk Premia - Semi-Annual Report Commentary

Market Summary

Much in contrast to last year, most global assets delivered positive performance year-to-date. Having said that, with growth data softening again in May, risk¹ assets have been range-bound since. The equity decline in May was relatively small and followed by a sharp recovery in June supported by more dovish² central banks which faded concerns about geopolitical risks, trade tensions and Chinese economic weakness. While global growth has softened YTD, the boost from easier monetary policy has driven more appetite both for risky and 'safe' assets.

Market expectations have turned much more dovish since the end of 2018. At the time the US Federal Reserve (the 'Fed') was still expected to keep its interest rates unchanged this year but now the market is pricing in approximately three rate cuts and similarly investors have priced further ECB easing. As a result, both equities and bonds rallied and had one of their best starts of the year since the 80s.

Due to the weak growth, the leadership within risky assets has been defensive - low volatility stocks, growth stocks, and defensive sectors - those thought more likely to perform in a declining market - outperformed. US low volatility stocks had their best start in the last 30 years and a 6-month return similar that post the global financial crisis trough.

Investors have been reluctant in adding exposure to riskier assets and fund flows into equity have been quite negative, comparable to previous bear (falling) markets. Within risky assets, corporate bonds funds displayed the largest fund inflows.

Man Alternative Risk Premia

The Fund recorded a profit for the half year, recording a gain in every month except a minor loss in March, and importantly produced a positive return in May when equity markets declined as the US-China trade tensions further escalated, leading to concerns of slowing economic and corporate profit growth. Amongst the strategies, Low Beta and Fixed Income performed strongly, whilst Equity Value continued to struggle in the first quarter but was able to return to a profit in the second.

The first quarter saw the Fund perform positively in January and February, then slip to a flat to slightly negative return in March. Low Beta and Fixed Income dominated the gains, followed by Equity Quality and Volatility profiting more modestly in the improved market backdrop for risk assets and healthier conditions for some stock picking factors and carry strategies. In contrast Equity Value and Momentum recorded a loss over the quarter. Momentum suffered from being positioned short equities coming into the year, which was an exposure which served it well at the end of 2018 but not one which was ideal for January's v-shaped rally then further fuelled by the Fed's dovish pivot. Equity Value however profited in January, driven by stock selection across all sectors, but then struggled as generic value as an equity factor³ fell out of favour again.

The story of the second quarter was somewhat different with a more balanced contribution of gains across strategies, and a return to profit for both Momentum and Equity Value. Low Beta and Fixed Income continued to benefit, whilst Equity Quality slipped to a loss and Equity Size and FX Premia extended their more muted start to the year. Notably, Momentum took a positive stance on equity and government bond exposure to profit from market conditions which led equities higher and bond yields lower. Pleasingly, the majority of strategies performed positively in May with only FX Premia and Volatility detracting from the Fund's performance as currency spreads versus the US dollar widened and the VIX index spiked. Volatility recovered in June to book a profit over the quarter but FX Premia made a flat return to finish with a loss.

Outlook

The outlook for the Fund has, on the balance, improved since the start of the year and the spread of gains generated across the strategies over the first half demonstrate its potential to provide returns uncorrelated with traditional markets and with some downside protection. Monetary policy and trade wars impacting growth have been the most influential issues for financial markets so far in 2019. That will probably be the case for the rest of the year, though the 2020 US election is likely to take on increasing importance. Trade is similar to what it has been for most of the past two years - Trump has taken an aggressive stance on China and most likely he is not going to back off by settling for a weak deal, so tariffs on Chinese goods are more likely to go up than down. The other big trade risks for investors — imposing auto tariffs and pulling out of the North American Free Trade Agreement ("NAFTA") — remain real possibilities, but not the base case.

¹ Risk assets: any asset that carries a degree of risk. Risk asset generally refers to assets that have a significant degree of price volatility, such as equities, commodities, high-yield bonds, real estate and currencies.

² Dovish: To be positioned against increasing interest rates.

³ Factor investing involves targeting certain characteristics within asset classes. There are two main types of factors: macroeconomic, e.g. credit, and style, e.g. value.

Outlook (continued)

Work on the current strategies has been continuous with model enhancements and upgrades to risk processes implemented over the first half. In Q2 we introduced a macroeconomic strategy trading seasonal patterns in markets, and continue to look at several more new strategies which are in the early stages of research.

GLOSSARY

Absolute return

Refers to investment strategies which target a return that is above zero, and in some cases, above a positive hurdle rate such as Libor. The hurdle rate is an investment performance numerical value, which is used as a target to be beaten by a portfolio manager. Absolute return can also refer to the total return (that is total gain or loss) of a portfolio or fund, as opposed to its relative return (that is relative gain or loss) against a benchmark. It is called relative because many funds' performance is benchmarked against an index.

Active management

Active management is the use of a human element, such as a single manager, co-managers or a team of managers, to actively manage a fund's portfolio. Active managers rely on analytical research, forecasts, and their own judgment and experience in making investment decisions on what securities to buy, hold and sell. The opposite of active management is passive management, better known as "indexing."

Ancillary assets

Assets which are not the main assets of a company.

Appreciation

An increase in the market value of an asset, such as a stock, bond, commodity or piece of real estate, or in the value of one currency with respect to another. The opposite of depreciation.

Asset

Any item of economic value owned by an individual or corporation, especially that which could be converted to cash. Examples are cash, securities, accounts receivable, inventory, office equipment, real estate, a car, and other property. On a balance sheet, assets are equal to the sum of liabilities, common stock, preferred stock, and retained earnings.

Asset class

An asset class is a group of securities that exhibits similar characteristics, behaves similarly in the marketplace and is subject to the same laws and regulations. The three main asset classes are equities, or stocks; fixed income, or bonds; and cash equivalents, or money market instruments. Some investment professionals add real estate, commodities, and increasingly, cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin, to the asset class mix.

Balance of payments

Statement of a country's net financial transactions with other countries over a defined period of time.

Balance sheet

Financial statement that provides a snapshot of what a company owns and owes, as well as the amount invested by shareholders.

Bankers' acceptance

A bankers' acceptance (BA) is A short-term credit investment created by a non-financial firm and guaranteed by a bank to make payment. Acceptances are traded at discounts from face value in the secondary market.

Benchmark

A standard against which the performance of a fund can be measured and compared (eg. a stock market index such as the FTSE 100 or an interest rate, such as LIBOR).

Blue Chip company

The stock of a major company with a record of strong earnings, reliable dividend payments and steady share price performance. Blue chips are normally the largest capitalised stocks in a particular market and among the most widely traded.

Buyback

A buyback, also known as a share repurchase, is when a company buys its own outstanding shares to reduce the number of shares available on the open market. Companies buy back shares for a number of reasons, such as to increase the value of remaining shares available by reducing the supply or to prevent other shareholders from taking a controlling stake.

Cash Equivalents

Cash equivalents are investments securities that are for short-term investing, and they have high credit quality and are highly liquid. These securities have a low-risk, low-return profile and include Treasury bills, certificates of deposit, bankers' acceptances, commercial papers and other money market instruments.

Certificates of deposit (CDs)

Interest-bearing certificate issued by a bank to a depositor. Interest is paid at maturity.

Collective investment scheme A type of investment scheme that involves collecting money from different investors and then combining all the money collected to fund the investment.

Compound interest

Earning interest on interest, or, more precisely, the interest earned on the sum of the principal amount and the interest already accumulated. A return on an investment is compounded if it takes into account compound interest, i.e. the interest is reinvested.

Commercial paper

A type of borrowing by companies and institutions in the form of loans where lenders do not have the right to take the assets of the borrower if they fail to repay. These loans are given for a period of a year or less

Commodity

A good produced in bulk. Many commodities, such as coffee, meat and grain, and raw materials such as metals and oil, are traded on local, regional and/or international markets called commodity exchanges, either on a spot basis or through futures contracts, which allow the purchase or sale of a commodity at a predetermined price on a particular date in the future.

Contract for differences

(CFDs)

A contract for differences (CFD) is an arrangement made in a futures contract whereby differences in settlement are made through cash payments, rather than by the delivery of physical goods or securities. This is generally an easier method of settlement, because both losses and gains are paid in cash. CFDs provide investors with the all the benefits and risks of owning a security without actually owning it

Consumer staples Consumer staples are essential products, such as food, beverages, tobacco and household items.

Consumer staples are goods that people are unable or unwilling to cut out of their budgets regardless of their financial situation (Investopedia).

Convertible bond A bond issued by a company that has a set maturity date and pays interest in the form of a coupon. It has features of both a bond and stock and its valuation reflects both types of investments. It gives the holder the option to convert the bond into a specific number of shares of the issuing company - in other words, it has an 'embedded option'.

Country risk Country risk is a term for the risks involved when someone invests in a particular country. Country risk varies from one country to the next, and can include political risk, exchange-rate risk, economic risk, and transfer risk. In particular, country risk denotes the risk that a foreign government will default on its bonds or other financial commitments. In a broader sense, country risk is the degree to which political and economic unrest affect the securities of issuers doing business in a particular country.

Credit rating Ratings issued by credit ratings agencies which represent the agency's evaluation of qualitative and quantitative information for a company or government. Ratings are used to rank companies and governments on the probability of them defaulting on their obligations (i.e. to repay their debts).

Credit risk

Usually used when referring to investment in bonds, credit risk is the risk of a loss deriving from the inability of the issuer of a bond to make the interest payments and repay the capital at the end of the life of the bond in full and as scheduled. Triple A' or 'investment grade rated' are assessed as being the lowest credit risk while non-investment grade bonds - also known as high-yield debt (or 'junk bonds') - are assessed as the highest credit risk. The higher the credit risk, the higher the interest rate the borrower will have to attract lenders

Currency forward

A binding contract in the foreign exchange market that locks in the exchange rate for the purchase or sale of a currency on a future date. A currency forward is essentially a hedging tool that does not involve any upfront payment.

Current account (Balance of payment current account)

Movements of money into and out of a country, relating to trade between private individuals, for example workers sending money to their families in another country. The current account includes the visible balance of trade (the net difference between exports and imports of merchandise goods) and the invisible trade balance (payments and receipts for services such as shipping, banking and tourism).

Debt security Debt security refers to a debt instrument, such as a government bond, corporate bond, certificate of deposit (CD), municipal bond or preferred stock, that can be bought or sold between two parties and has basic terms defined, such as notional amount (amount borrowed), interest rate, and maturity and renewal date.

Deflation Deflation is the general decline in prices for goods and services occurring when the inflation rate falls below 0%. Deflation happens naturally when the money supply of an economy is fixed. In times of deflation, the purchasing power of currency and wages are higher than they otherwise would have been.

Derivatives Financial contracts such as futures, options and various securities that offer 'synthetic' access to an underlying asset such as a commodity, stock market or fixed income security. The price movements of a derivative generally follow the price movements of the underlying asset but derivatives generally require only small amounts of capital (margin) to gain exposure to the underlying asset.

Developed markets Countries that have sound, well-established economies with a high level of economic growth and security. They are therefore thought to offer safer, more stable investment opportunities than developing markets

Dividend yield See Yield (3rd definition)

Earnings per Share (EPS)

Profit, net of tax and dividends to preferred shareholders, divided by the total amount of ordinary shares outstanding. Most income statements include a calculation of earnings per share. This calculation tells you how much money shareholders would receive for each share of stock they own if the company distributed all of its net income for the period. In reality, however, companies would not distribute all of their earnings. Usually they reinvest them in the business.

Foreign exchange Foreign exchange is the exchange of one currency for another or the conversion of one currency into another currency. Foreign exchange also refers to the global market where currencies are traded virtually around the clock.

Forward contract A forward contract is a customised contract between two counterparties to buy or sell a specific asset on a future date at an agreed price. As opposed to stocks and bonds, a forward contract is a derivative instrument, the value of which depends on an underlying asset. Unlike standard futures contracts, forward contracts are not traded on a centralised exchange and are highly customisable.

Fund Sector Funds are into sectors to facilitate comparisons between funds with similar investment objectives and types of investment.

Futures contract An agreement to buy or sell a stated amount of a security, currency or commodity at a specific future date and at a pre-agreed price.

GNP See Gross National Product

Government Bond Bonds issued by a government.

Gross Domestic Product

(GDP)

The total value of an economy's domestic output of goods and services, which is one of the key indicators of economic growth with GNP.

Gross National Product

(GNP)

Same as GDP except that it adds what a country earns from overseas investments and subtracts what foreigners earn in a country and send back home.

Index An index is a portfolio of stocks, chosen according to simple, pre-defined rules, and designed to capture a particular investment style.

Inflation Rate at which the general level of prices for goods and services is rising and, consequently, the purchasing power of currency is falling.

Interest rate Interest rate is the amount charged, expressed as a percentage of principal, by a lender to a borrower for the use of assets. Interest rates are typically noted on an annual basis, known as the annual percentage rate (APR). The assets borrowed could include cash, consumer goods, and large assets such as a vehicle or building.

Liquidity A relative term to describe the speed at which an asset or assets can be converted into cash (liquidated) and vice versa.

Liquid asset A liquid asset is an asset that can be converted into cash speedily, with little impact to the price received in the open market. Liquid assets include money market instruments and government bonds.

Listed In relation to the shares of a company, or some funds, when those shares have been accepted for trading on an exchange they are referred to as 'listed' investments. The exchange will have 'listing requirements', which all companies/funds must meet before they are 'accepted for listing'. The opposite of listed is over-the-counter.

Local currency The most commonly form of currency used in a country. This usually encompasses the national currency of the country.

Long position A security that is bought in expectation that it will rise in value.

Market capitalisation Market value of a company's issued share capital - in other words. the number of shares multiplied by the current price of those shares on the stock market. Companies are ranked as large-cap, mid-cap and small-cap depending on their market capitalisation (market cap), though the actual criteria for classification depend on the market concerned.

Maturity date The maturity date is the date on which the principal amount of a debt instrument becomes due and is repaid to the investor and interest payments stop.

Money market instruments Instruments used by government and companies and others who wish to borrow money for short periods, usually less than a year. They are also called short term debt instruments. They include certificates of deposit, commercial paper and short term gilts.

Municipal Bond A bond issued by a state or local government (or related entities) in the US to cover capital expenditures.

Option A derivative instrument that gives the holder the right, without obligation, to buy (call) or sell (put) a security or asset at a fixed price within a specified period or at a particular future date.

Ordinary shares Securities (called common stock in the US) that confer ownership in a publicly listed company. Holders are entitled to the dividends declared by the company and have the right to vote on the appointment of directors and other important matters. However they rank below holders of preferred shares.

Over the counter (OTC) Generally refers to a stock (but can also refers to other financial instruments) that is not listed on an exchange and traded via a dealer network.

Overvalued When a share price or market is trading at levels above those justified by fundamentals.

Overweight Investment portfolio that holds an excess amount of a particular security when compared to the security's weight in the underlying benchmark portfolio. Actively managed portfolios will make a security overweight when doing so allows the portfolio to achieve excess returns. Overweight can also refer to an investment analyst's opinion that the security will outperform its industry, its sector or the entire market.

Passive management Passive management is a style of management where a fund's portfolio mirrors a market index. Passive management is the opposite of active management. Passive management is also referred to as

"passive strategy," "passive investing" or "index investing."

Preference shares Also called preferred shares. Shares that entitle the holder to a fixed-rate dividend, paid before any dividend is distributed to holders of ordinary shares.

Preferred stock See Preference shares

Price-to-Book Ratio

(P/B ratio)

The P/B ratio reflects the value that market participants attach to a company's equity relative to its book value (total assets minus total liabilities) of equity. A stock's market value is a forward-looking metric that reflects a company's future cash flows. The book value of equity is an accounting measure based on the historic cost principle, and reflects past issuances of equity, augmented by any profits or losses, and reduced by dividends and share buybacks. The higher the ratio, the higher the premium the market is willing to pay for the company above its hard assets. A low ratio may signal a good investment opportunity, but it could also mean something is fundamentally wrong with the company. The ratio is less meaningful for some types of companies, such as those in technology sectors. This is because such companies have hidden assets such as intellectual property which are of great value, but not reflected in the book value.

Primary market The market for new securities issues. In the primary market the security is purchased directly from the issuer.

Quantitative analysis Quantitative analysis (QA) is a technique that seeks to understand behaviour by using mathematical and statistical modelling, measurement, and research. Quantitative analysts aim to represent a given reality in terms of a numerical value. Quantitative analysis is employed for several reasons, including measurement, performance evaluation or valuation of a financial instrument, and predicting real-world events, such as changes in a country's gross domestic product (GDP).

Quantitative easing (QE) Quantitative easing is an unconventional monetary policy in which a central bank purchases government securities or other securities from the market in order to lower interest rates and increase the money supply. Quantitative easing increases the money supply by flooding financial institutions with capital in an effort to promote increased lending and liquidity. When short-term interest rates are at or approaching zero, and when the printing of new banknotes isn't an option, quantitative easing can be considered.

Quantitative trading A form of investing in which computers are used to sort through financial data and identify predictable patterns. Quantitative traders take advantage of modern technology, mathematics and the availability of comprehensive databases for making rational trading decisions to identify trading opportunities.

Reference index An index used as a benchmark for performance comparison purposes but which is not a formal benchmark as per fund's prospectus.

Return on capital The profit on an investment in relation to the amount invested which is not considered as a taxable event and not taxed as income.

Risk-adjusted return Risk-adjusted return defines an investment's return by measuring how much risk is involved in producing that return, which is generally expressed as a number or rating. Risk-adjusted returns are applied to individual securities, investment funds and portfolios.

Secondary market A market in which an investor purchases a security from another investor rather than the issuer, subsequent to the original issuance in the primary market.

Sector A sector is an area of the economy in which businesses share the same or a related product or service.

It can also be thought of as an industry or market that shares common operating characteristics. Dividing an economy into different pieces allows for more in-depth analysis of the economy as a whole

Short position Fund managers use this technique to borrow a security and then sell it with the intention of buying it back for less when the price falls. The position profits if the security falls in value. Within UCITS funds, derivatives – such as contracts for difference (CFDs) – can be used to simulate a short position.

Security A general term for stocks, bonds, options, subscription rights, warrants and other tradable investments that confer a right to income or ownership.

Sovereign debt Sovereign debt is a central government's debt. It is debt issued by the national government in a foreign currency in order to finance the issuing country's growth and development. The stability of the issuing government can be provided by the country's sovereign credit ratings which help investors weigh risks when assessing sovereign debt investments.

Stock option The right to buy or sell a particular stock at a given price on or after a certain date. Stock options are often used as an employee incentive at start-ups or large public companies.

Swap An exchange of streams of payments between two parties, typically in order to reduce interest rate or currency risk.

Synthetic Term given to financial instruments that are created artificially by simulating other instruments with different cash flow patterns. Synthetic products are structured to suit the cash flow needs of the investor. They are created in the form of a contract and, therefore, given the name "synthetic."

Transferable security Any security that can be traded in the capital markets

Treasury bill (T-bill) A Treasury Bill (T-Bill) is a short-term debt obligation backed by the Treasury Department of the U.S.

government with a maturity of less than one year, sold in denominations of $1,000 up to a maximum purchase of $5 million on noncompetitive bids. T-bills have various maturities and are issued at a discount from par. Investors do not receive regular interest payments but a T-Bill does include interest, reflected in the amount it pays when it matures.

Total output The total amount of goods and services produced within an economy.

Total return Total return on an investment over a given period, including the income generated from dividend, interest or rental payments, and any gains or losses from a change in the asset's market value. This is normally expressed as a percentage of the purchase cost, annualised if the period is less than a year.

Undervalued When a share price or market is trading at levels below those justified by fundamentals.

Underweight An underweight portfolio does not hold a sufficient amount of a particular security when compared to the weight of that security held in the underlying benchmark portfolio. Underweight can also refer to an analyst's opinion regarding the future performance of a security in scenarios where it is expected to underperform.

Volatility The extent to which the price of a security or commodity, or the level of a market, interest rate or currency, changes over time. High volatility implies rapid and large upward and downward movements over a relatively short period of time; low volatility implies much smaller and less frequent changes in value.

Warrant A financial instrument, normally attached to a bond or other security, that entitles the holder to purchase a certain amount of ordinary shares at a fixed price for a period of years or to perpetuity. The price at

Significant events during the period

Prospectus

A new Supplement dated 18 June 2019 was issued to the Prospectus dated 21 December 2018. The amendments to the Prospectus reflected the launch of two new portfolios; Man GLG Global Debt Total Return and Man GLG Japan Equity Alternative.

A revised Supplement for the Man GLG Portfolios was issued on 21 June 2019 and the main substantive changes made were to reflect the approval of Man GLG RI European Equity Alternative and Man GLG Event Driven Alternative. In addition, the investment strategy for Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative was amended to reflect the increase in percentage of the Fund's net assets that may be invested in emerging markets from 20% to 40%.

Portfolios

Man GLG High Yield Opportunities and Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative launched on 16 January 2019 and 29 March 2019 respectively.

Man GLG Unconstrained Emerging Equity and Man NewSmith UK Equity Alternative ceased operations on 7 February 2019 and 21 March 2019 respectively.

Share Classes

For detailed information on new share classes launched during the period please refer Note 13.

There were no other significant events during the period ended 30 June 2019.

Subsequent events since the period end

Man GLG Event Driven Alternative launched on 2 July 2019.

Dividends proposed for the period ended 30 June 2019 were paid on 3 July 2019.

A revised Supplement for the Man GLG Portfolios was issued on 3 July 2019 and the only changes made were to reflect the inclusion of "DN" and "DNY" share classes in Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative.

A revised Supplement for the Man GLG Portfolios will be issued to provide that an exclusion list in respect of Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative, Man GLG High Yield Opportunities, Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative, Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative, Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return and Man GLG Global Debt Total Return, subject to the approval of the Central Bank of Ireland. This proposed update comprises an exclusion list of controversial stocks or industries being applied to the investment portfolio of the Portfolios which may be related to arms and munitions, nuclear weapons, tobacco and coal production.

Further information regarding the exclusion list to be applied will be available upon request from the respective Investment Manager of the Portfolios. Man Group's Responsible Investment Exclusions Committee focuses on developing guidelines to direct the exclusions, and reviews and reports any amendments to Man Group's Responsible Investment Committee. Man Group works with a leading third party Environmental, Social and Governance ('ESG') advisory firm to maintain the integrity of Man Group's Responsible Investment Exclusion List.

There have been no other subsequent events since the period end that impact the Fund and require disclosure in the unaudited financial statements.

Investment objectives

The investment objectives of each sub-fund are as stated in note 1. Investment in the Fund carries with it a degree of risk including but not limited to the risks referred to in note 6 of these Financial Statements. For a more detailed description of risks associated with investment in the Fund, please refer to the Prospectus.

Directors and Secretary

The Directors and Secretary during the six month period and up to 21 August 2019 are listed on page 2. Unless indicated, they served for the entire period.

Directors' and Secretary's interests

Neither the Directors, nor their families, nor the secretary (Matsack Trust Limited) nor the Investment Managers had any interests in the Shares of the Fund during the period ended 30 June 2019, with the exception of one Subscriber Share held by Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited in a nominee capacity.

The Directors' remuneration for the period ended 30 June 2019 and the year ended 31 December 2018 is disclosed in Note 8 of these unaudited financial statements.

Directors' responsibilities

The Directors are responsible for preparing the Directors' Report and the unaudited financial statements in accordance with Irish law.

Irish company law requires the Directors to prepare unaudited financial statements giving a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Fund and the profit or loss of the Fund for each financial period. Under that law the Directors have elected to prepare the unaudited financial statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the European Union. Under company law, the directors must not approve the unaudited financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the assets, liabilities and financial position of the Fund as at the financial period end date and of the profit or loss of the Fund for the financial period and otherwise comply with the Companies Act 2014 (as amended).

In preparing these unaudited financial statements, the Directors are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether the unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with applicable accounting standards and identify the standards in question and note the effects and the reasons for any material departure from those standards; and
- prepare the unaudited financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Fund will continue in business.

The Directors are responsible for ensuring that the Fund keeps or causes to be kept adequate accounting records which correctly explain and record the transactions of the company, enable at any time the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss of the Fund to be determined with the reasonable accuracy, enable them to ensure that the financial statements and directors' report comply with the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) and enable these financial statements to be unaudited.

They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Fund and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities. Legislation in Ireland governing the preparation and dissemination of financial statements may differ from legislation in other jurisdictions.

Accounting records

The Directors are responsible for ensuring that proper accounting records as outlined in Section 281 to 285 of the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) are kept by the Fund. To achieve this, the Directors have appointed an experienced third party fund administrator to ensure that the requirements of Section 281 to 285 of the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) are complied with. The books and accounting records are maintained at the Administrator's office at One Dockland Central, Guild Street, IFSC, Dublin 1, Ireland.

Corporate governance

The Board has adopted the voluntary Irish Funds (IF) Corporate Governance Code for Irish Domiciled Collective Investment Schemes and Management Companies, issued 14 December 2011 (the "Code"), with effect from 31 December 2012. The Board has reviewed and assessed the measures included in the Code and considers its corporate governance practices and procedures since the adoption of the Code as consistent therewith.

Connected party transactions

The Directors are satisfied that there are arrangements in place to ensure that transactions carried out with connected parties of the Fund are carried out as if negotiated at arm's length and any such transactions are in the best interests of the Shareholders of the Fund. The Directors are satisfied that any transactions entered into with connected parties during the period complied with the aforementioned obligation.

The Fund has adopted the corporate governance code for collective investment schemes and management companies issued by the IF Code. The Directors are satisfied that they act independently and in the interest of the Fund as a whole and have determined that Eric Fortier and Ronan Daly are independent directors as that term is defined in the IF Code.

For the six month period ended 30 June 2019

Cybersecurity risk

Cybersecurity breaches may occur allowing an unauthorized party to gain access to assets of the Portfolios, Shareholder data, or proprietary information, or may cause the Fund, the Investment Manager, the Distributor, the Administrator or the Custodian to suffer data corruption or lose operational functionality.

The Portfolios may be affected by intentional cybersecurity breaches which include unauthorized access to systems, networks, or devices (such as through "hacking" activity); infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow, or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes, or website access or functionality. In addition, unintentional incidents can occur, such as the inadvertent release of confidential information (possibly resulting in the violation of applicable privacy laws). A cybersecurity breach could result in the loss or theft of Shareholder data or funds, the inability to access electronic systems, loss or theft of proprietary information or corporate data, physical damage to a computer or network system, or costs associated with system repairs. Such incidents could cause the Fund, the Investment Manager, the Distributor, the Administrator, the Custodian, or other service providers to incur regulatory penalties, reputational damage, additional compliance costs, or financial loss. Consequently, shareholders may lose some or all of their invested capital. In addition, such incidents could affect issuers in which a Portfolio invests, and thereby cause a Portfolio's investments to lose value, as a result of which investors, including the relevant Portfolio and its shareholders, could potentially lose all or a portion of their investment with that issuer.

Custody and title risk

The Depositary is under a duty to take into custody such financial instruments that can be held in custody and to hold such assets of each Portfolio of the Fund on behalf of its shareholders. The Central Bank of Ireland requires the Depositary to hold separately the non-cash assets of each Portfolio and to maintain sufficient records to clearly identify the nature and amount of all assets that it holds, the ownership of each asset and where the documents of title to such assets are physically located. When the Depositary employs a Sub-Custodian the Depositary retains responsibility for the assets of the Portfolio save where it has discharged itself of liability in accordance with the relevant EU Directive.

However, it should be noted that not all jurisdictions have the same rules and regulations as Ireland regarding the custody of assets and the recognition of the interests of a beneficial owner such as a Portfolio. Therefore, in such jurisdictions, there is a risk that if a Sub-Custodian becomes bankrupt or insolvent, the Portfolio's beneficial ownership of the assets held by such Sub-Custodian may not be recognised and consequently the creditors of the Sub-Custodian may seek to have recourse to the assets of the Portfolio. In those jurisdictions where the Portfolio's beneficial ownership of its assets is ultimately recognised, the Portfolio may suffer delay and cost in recovering those assets. The Portfolios may invest in markets where custodial and/or settlement systems are not fully developed, the assets of a Portfolio which are traded in such markets and which have been entrusted to sub-custodians, in circumstances where the use of such sub-custodians is necessary, may be exposed to risk in circumstances whereby the Depositary will have no liability.

1. General

Man Funds VI plc (the "Fund") was incorporated as an investment company with variable capital and segregated liability between subfunds under the laws of Ireland as a public limited company on 28 November 2007 under registration number 449860. The Fund has been authorised by the Central Bank of Ireland (the "Central Bank") as an Undertaking for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities ("UCITS"), pursuant to the European Communities (Undertaking for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2011 (as amended) (the "UCITS Regulations") and Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2015 (the "Central Bank UCITS Regulations"). The Fund's investment manager is GLG LLC for GLG LLC Portfolios, GLG Partners LP for Man GLG Portfolios, AHL Partners LLP for Man AHL Portfolios, Numeric Investors LLC for Numeric Portfolios and Man Solutions Limited for Man Solution Portfolios (the "Investment Managers"). The Fund's registered office is at 70 Sir John Rogerson's Quay, Dublin, Ireland. The Fund has no employees.

The Fund is structured as an umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds (each a "Portfolio") which means that different Portfolios may be created from time to time by the Directors with the approval of the Central Bank. Each Portfolio will be represented by a different series of Redeemable Participating Shares (the "Shares") and will be invested in accordance with the investment objectives and policies applicable to such Portfolio. As at 30 June 2019 the Fund was comprised of twenty one Portfolios.

Condensed notes to the unaudited financial statements (continued) For the six month period ended 30 June 2019

2. Significant accounting policies

(a) Accounting convention

The unaudited financial statements are prepared in accordance with IAS 34 International Accounting Standard 34: Interim Financial Reporting ("IAS 34") as adopted by the European Union ("EU"). The unaudited financial statements have been prepared using the historical cost basis except for financial assets and liabilities held at fair value through profit or loss which have been measured at fair value.

The unaudited financial statements do not include all the information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements, and should be read in conjunction with the Fund's audited annual financial statements as at 31 December 2018 which have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") as adopted by the European Union.

These unaudited interim financial statements have been compiled using accounting policies, methods of computation and presentation which are consistent with the audited annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2018, unless otherwise stated.

The preparation of unaudited financial statements in accordance with IFRS requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and disclosures made in these unaudited financial statements and accompanying notes, including certain valuation assumptions. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities in the future.

The combined company balances are expressed in US$, being the presentation currency of the Fund as a whole. For combined company balances in unaudited statement of financial position, the non US$ Portfolios are translated using the exchange rate at the date of unaudited statement of financial position. For combined company balances in unaudited statement of comprehensive income, the non US$ Portfolios are translated at the average exchange rate prevailing during the period. The combined subscriptions and redemptions in the unaudited statement of changes in net assets are also translated at the average rate prevailing during the current period. The translation loss resulting from the preparation of the combined company balances in the unaudited financial statements amounting to US$12,025,844 (30 June 2018, loss of US$99,708,752) has been shown in the combined company column of unaudited statement of comprehensive income. The gain/(loss) does not have any effect on the individual Portfolios.

(b) Changes in accounting policy and disclosure

The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the unaudited financial statements are consistent with those followed in the preparation of the Fund's audited financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2018, except for the adoption of new standards an interpretations effective on the dates described below.

Standards issued but not yet effective:

IFRIC Interpretation 23 - Uncertainty over Income Tax Treatment

The interpretation addresses the accounting for income taxes when tax treatments involve uncertainty that affects the application of IAS 12 and does not apply to taxes or levies outside the scope of IAS 12, nor does it specifically include requirements relating to interest and penalties associated with uncertain tax treatments. The interpretation specifically addresses the following:

- Whether an entity considers uncertain tax treatments separately;
- The assumptions an entity makes about the examination of tax treatments by taxation authorities;
- How an entity determines taxable profit (tax loss), tax bases, unused tax losses, unused tax credits and tax rates;
- How an entity considers changes in facts and circumstances.

An entity must determine whether to consider each uncertain tax treatment separately or together with one or more other uncertain tax treatments. The approach that better predicts the resolution of the uncertainty should be followed. The interpretation is effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2019, but certain transition reliefs are available. Management is currently assessing the impact to the unaudited financial statements of the Fund.

At the date of authorisation of the unaudited financial statements there were a number of other Standards and Interpretations which were in issue but not yet effective. Management anticipate that the adoption of these Standards and Interpretations in future periods will have no material impact on the unaudited financial statements of the Fund.

3. Cash and cash equivalents, balances with brokers and balances due to brokers

At the period end, amounts disclosed as cash and cash equivalents, balances with brokers and balances due to brokers were held at the Bank of New York Mellon (London Branch), Bank of America Merrill Lynch, Bank of Nova Scotia, Barclays Plc, BNP Paribas, Citibank N.A., Credit Suisse AG Ireland, Credit Suisse Securities (Europe) Limited, Deutsche Bank AG, Goldman Sachs International, HSBC Bank Plc, JP Morgan Securities Plc, Macquerie Bank, Morgan Stanley & Co. International Plc, Nomura Holdings Royal Bank of Scotland, Societe Generale and UBS AG. These include amounts transferred as collateral against open derivatives, deposits held at call with banks and, other short term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less. Included in cash and cash equivalents balances at 30 June 2019 are T-bills with a fair value of £49,837,500 (cost: £49,824,237) (31 December 2018: £Nil (cost: £Nil)) for Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative, US$4,555,200 (cost: US$4,475,858) (31 December 2018: US$Nil (cost: US$Nil) (cost: US$Nil) for Man AHL Multi Strategy Alternative, US$Nil (cost: US$Nil) (31 December 2018: US$1,000,000 (cost: US$994,830)) for Man AHL TargetRisk, a fair value of US$986,665,001 (cost: US$978,433,797) (31 December 2018: US$205,400,170 (cost: US$203,946,809)) for Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return, a fair value of US$Nil (cost: US$Nil) (31 December 2018: US$44,894,697 (cost: US$44,658,969)) for Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative, a fair value of US$98,684,479 (cost: US$98,533,622) (31 December 2018: US$42,935,364 (cost: US$99,766 (cost: US$99,456)) for Man AHL Active Balanced.

Collateral received

As part of the reverse repurchase and securities borrowing agreements, the Fund has received securities that it is allowed to sell or repledge in the absence of default by their owner. At 30 June 2019, the Fund held securities with fair value of €7,037,903 (2018: €Nil) for Man GLG High Yield Opportunities and US$13,600,531 (2018: US$Nil) for Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative on such terms. Of these €7,330,844 (2018: €Nil) for Man GLG High Yield Opportunities and US$16,004,933 (2018: Nil) for Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative have been pledged or otherwise transferred to satisfy commitments under short sale transactions. The Fund has an obligation to return the securities to its counterparties. If the collateral received declines in value, the Fund may, in certain circumstances, require additional collateral.

Fair value of financial instruments

The Fund classifies fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in determining the measurements in line with IFRS 13.

The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1 Quoted market price in an active market for an identical instrument.
- Level 2 Valuation techniques based on observable inputs. This category includes instruments valued using: quoted market prices in active markets for similar instruments; quoted prices for similar instruments in markets that are considered less than active; or other valuation techniques where all significant inputs are directly or indirectly observable from market data.
- Level 3 Valuation techniques using significant unobservable inputs. This category includes all instruments where the valuation technique includes inputs not based on observable data and the unobservable inputs could have a significant impact on the instrument's valuation. This category includes instruments that are valued based on quoted prices for similar instruments where significant unobservable adjustments or assumptions are required to reflect differences between the instruments.

Valuation techniques

Listed or publicly traded investment in equity and debt securities, managed funds and derivatives

When fair values of listed securities and debt securities at the reporting date, as well as publicly traded derivatives, are based on quoted market prices or binding dealer price quotations, without any deduction for transaction costs, the instruments are included within Level 1 of the hierarchy.

Unlisted debt securities and treasury bills

The Fund invests in debt securities, corporate and government bonds and treasury securities. In the absence of a quoted price in an active market, they are valued using observable inputs such as recently executed transaction prices in securities of the issuer or comparable issuers and yield curves. Adjustments are made to the valuations when necessary to recognise differences in the instruments terms. To the extent that the significant inputs are observable, the Fund categorises these investments as Level 2.

Over-the-counter derivatives

The Fund uses widely recognised valuation models for determining fair values of over-the-counter interest rate swaps, currency swaps and forward foreign exchange contracts. The most frequently applied valuation techniques include forward pricing and swap models, using present value calculations. The models incorporate various inputs including both credit and debit valuation adjustments for counterparty and own credit risk, foreign exchange spot and forward rates and interest rate curves. For these financial instruments, significant inputs into models are market observable and are included within Level 2.

Unlisted equity investments

The Fund invests in private equity companies which are not quoted in an active market. Transactions in such investments do not occur on a regular basis. The Fund uses a market based valuation technique for these positions. The Investment Manager determines comparable public companies (peers) based on industry, size, leverage and strategy, and calculates an appropriate earnings multiple for each comparable company identified. The multiple is calculated by dividing the enterprise value of the comparable company by an earnings measure. The trading multiple is then discounted for considerations such as illiquidity and size differences between the comparable companies based on company-specific facts and circumstances. The discounted multiple is applied to the corresponding earnings measure of the investee company to measure the fair value. The Fund classifies the fair value of these investments as Level 3.

For all other financial instruments, fair value is determined using valuation techniques. Valuation techniques include net present value techniques, comparison to similar instruments for which market observable prices exist, options pricing models and other relevant valuation models.

The following tables summarise the financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss as at 30 June 2019 and 31 December 2018 and the financial instruments measured at fair value in the unaudited statement of financial position grouped into the fair value hierarchy:

Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative commenced operations on 29 March 2019 Thus, there were no investments as at 31 December 2018.

Short term balances are excluded from the tables as their carrying value at the period end approximates to their fair value.

Investments are reviewed at each financial reporting point to ensure that they are correctly classified between Level 1, 2 and 3 in accordance with the fair value hierarchy outlined above. Where an investment's characteristics change during the period and investments no longer meet the criteria of a given level, they are transferred into a more appropriate level at the end of relevant financial reporting period.

For the period ended 30 June 2019 and year ended 31 December 2018, there were no transfers between Level 1 and Level 2.

All unrealised gains/(losses) in the tables above are reflected in the accompanying unaudited statement of comprehensive income. Unrealised gain/(loss) of (€194,171) (31 December 2018: (€827,140)) for Man GLG European Equity Alternative and (US$1,228) (31 December 2018: (US$2,594)) for Man AHL Multi Strategy Alternative relates to those financial instruments held by the Fund at 30 June 2019 and is reflected in net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income.

The fair value of investments classified within Level 3 is based on unobservable inputs that may be subject to significant variability. Because of the inherent uncertainty of valuations with respect to such investments, the Fund's estimates of fair value may differ significantly from fair values that would have been used had observable inputs been available for the valuation of such investments, and the differences could be material.

The table below discloses the valuation technique used in the valuation for Level 3 investments and quantifies the effect of significant unobservable inputs used to value investments that fall in this category. The ranges of these inputs are not representative of the appropriate inputs to use when calculating the fair value of any one Level 3 asset or liability. Accordingly, the ranges of inputs presented below do not represent uncertainty in, or possible ranges of fair value measurements of the Fund's Level 3 assets/liabilities.

The fair value impact of the discount range disclosed above is the Investment Manager's assessment of the range of possible illiquidity discounts. The Investment Manager's Independent Pricing Committee has assessed that, based on the information available, there is no reason that the net asset value provided by the underlying managed funds managers or their administrators should not represent the most appropriate basis for valuing these assets and therefore no fair value adjustment is applied. The impact of the range of possible unobservable impacts on the fair value of investments is a increase/decrease of up to €1,423,723 (31 December 2018: €186,416) for Man GLG European Equity Alternative, and £Nil (31 December 2018: £120,112) for Man NewSmith UK Equity Alternative.

Forward currency contracts

As part of its portfolio management techniques, the Fund may use forward currency contracts to economically hedge any non-functional currency exposure (although formal hedge accounting is not used). Forward currency contracts may also be used for trading purposes. Forward currency contracts entered into by the Fund represent a firm commitment to buy or sell an underlying asset, or currency at a specified value and point in time based upon an agreed or contracted quantity.

Forward currency contracts may expose the Fund to the risks associated with the absence of an exchange market on which to close out an open position. The investment manager closely monitors the Fund's exposure under forward contracts as part of the overall management of the Fund's market risk.

Derivative financial instruments

The Fund may trade derivative financial instruments, including contracts for difference, futures contracts, forward currency contracts, currencies, swaps contracts and options contracts whose values are based upon an underlying asset, index, currency or interest rate.

The Fund is subject to both market and credit risk in trading derivative financial instruments. Market risk is the potential for changes in value due to changes in market interest rates, foreign exchange rates, indices and changes in the value of the underlying financial instruments. Credit risk is the possibility that a loss may occur if a counterparty fails to perform according to the terms of the contract. Substantially all derivative contracts are transacted on a margin basis. Such transactions may expose the Fund to significant off-balance sheet risk in the event margin deposits and collateral investments are not sufficient to cover losses incurred.

The Investment Managers manages the risks associated with these transactions by maintaining margin deposits and collateral investments with its brokers in compliance with individual exchange regulations and internal guidelines. The Investment Managers also take an active role in managing and controlling the Fund's market and counterparty risks and monitoring trading activities and margin levels daily, and, as necessary, deposits additional collateral or reduces positions.

Credit default swaps are contracts in which the Fund pays or receives an interest flow in return for the counterparty accepting or selling all or part of the risk of default or failure to pay of a reference entity on which the swap is written. Where the Fund has bought protection, the maximum potential loss is the value of the interest flows the Fund is contracted to pay until maturity of the contract. Where the Fund has sold protection, the maximum potential loss is the nominal value of the protection sold. As at 30 June 2019, the maximum potential payout under credit default swaps where the sub funds have sold protection is US$1,047,050,000 for Man AHL TargetRisk (31 December 2018: US$379,325,250), US$27,700,000 for Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return (31 December 2018: US$27,700,000) and US$16,692,430 for Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative (31 December 2018: US$4,317,737), US$116,376 for Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return (31 December 2018: US$4,317,737), US$116,376 for Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return (31 December 2018: US$158,487) and US$1,213,848 for Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative (31 December 2018: US$Nil).

The Fund may purchase or write put and call options through OTC markets. Options purchased by the Fund provide the Fund with the opportunity to purchase (call options) or sell (put options) the underlying asset at an agreed-upon value either on or before the expiration of the option. Options written by the Fund provide the purchaser of the option the opportunity to purchase from or sell to the Fund the underlying asset at an agreed-upon value either on or before the expiration of the option. Premiums received from writing options are marked-to-market in accordance with note 2 and the resulting gains or losses are recorded in the statement of comprehensive income. The Fund may also invest in swaptions which are a combination of feature an option and an interest rate swap. The maximum loss to a buyer of an option is the loss of the premium. The writer of a call option has to bear the risk of an unfavourable change in the value underlying the option and, unless an offsetting long position is owned, the theoretical loss is unlimited. As at 30 June 2019, the Fund held written put options with a maximum pay out value of €86,760,122 for Man GLG European Equity Alternative (31 December 2018: €94,423,048), US$102,219,604 for Man AHL Multi Strategy Alternative (31 December 2018: US$94,263,180), US$16,250,000 for Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative (31 December 2018: US$Nii) and US$313,593 for Man GLG Credit Multi Strategy Alternative (31 December 2018: US$Nii).

Derivative financial instruments are generally based on notional amounts which are not recorded in the financial statements. These notional amounts represent the theoretical principal value on which the cash flows of the derivative transactions are based. Unrealised gains or losses, rather than notional amounts, or the exchange-traded derivatives traded by the Fund are included in the unaudited statement of financial position. The net unrealised gains or losses, rather than contract or notional amounts, represent the Fund's approximate future cash flows from trading activities.

At 30 June 2019 and 31 December 2018, the Fund was exposed in its investments in derivative financial instruments to underlying positions in notional amounts are summarised as follows:

8. Related party transactions

The Fund has adopted the corporate governance code for collective investment schemes and management companies issued by the Irish Funds Industry Association (the "IF Code"). The Directors are satisfied that they act independently and in the interests of the Fund as a whole and have determined that Eric Fortier and Ronan Daly are independent directors as that term is defined in the IF Code.

Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited is a related party through its holding of 1 Subscriber Share in the Fund. John Morton, a director of the Fund, holds the second Subscriber Share.

8. Related party transactions (continued)

^{*} The amount paid to each of the Administrator and Investment Manager is determined between the parties from time to time, but, for the avoidance of doubt, the Investment Manager receives only the portion of the administration fee relating to the administrative support services it provides pursuant to the Administrative Services Agreement. Part of the administration fee will be paid by the Fund to the Manager (for on-payment to the Administrator) monthly in arrears and the remainder will be paid by the Fund to the Investment Manager.

The above amounts are payable on demand and do not bear interest. Furthermore, the above transactions were made on terms equivalent to those that prevail in arm's length transactions.

13. Significant events during the period

Prospectus

A new Supplement dated 18 June 2019 was issued to the Prospectus dated 21 December 2018. The amendments to the Prospectus reflected the launch of two new portfolios; Man GLG Global Debt Total Return and Man GLG Japan Equity Alternative.

A revised Supplement for the Man GLG Portfolios was issued on 21 June 2019 and the main substantive changes made were to reflect the approval of Man GLG RI European Equity Alternative and Man GLG Event Driven Alternative. In addition, the investment strategy for Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative was amended to reflect the increase in percentage of the Fund's net assets that may be invested in emerging markets from 20% to 40%.

14. Subsequent events since the period end

Man GLG Event Driven Alternative launched on 2 July 2019.

Dividends proposed for the period ended 30 June 2019 were paid on 3 July 2019.

A revised Supplement for the Man GLG Portfolios was issued on 3 July 2019 and the only changes made were to reflect the inclusion of "DN" and "DNY" share classes in Man GLG Alpha Select Alternative.

A revised Supplement for the Man GLG Portfolios will be issued to provide that an exclusion list in respect of Man GLG European Mid-Cap Equity Alternative, Man GLG High Yield Opportunities, Man GLG Innovation Equity Alternative, Man GLG Credit Multi-Strategy Alternative, Man GLG Global Emerging Markets Debt Total Return and Man GLG Global Debt Total Return, subject to the approval of the Central Bank of Ireland. This proposed update comprises an exclusion list of controversial stocks or industries being applied to the investment portfolio of the Portfolios which may be related to arms and munitions, nuclear weapons, tobacco and coal production.

Further information regarding the exclusion list to be applied will be available upon request from the respective Investment Manager of the Portfolios. Man Group's Responsible Investment Exclusions Committee focuses on developing guidelines to direct the exclusions, and reviews and reports any amendments to Man Group's Responsible Investment Committee. Man Group works with a leading third party Environmental, Social and Governance ('ESG') advisory firm to maintain the integrity of Man Group's Responsible Investment Exclusion List.

There have been no other subsequent events since the period end that impact the Fund and require disclosure in the unaudited financial statements.

Report of Directors' Remuneration (Unaudited)

The directors of the Fund who are also employees of Man Group plc and companies within its group structure ("Man Group") do not receive any remuneration in respect of their services as directors of the Fund. The other directors receive fixed remuneration in respect of their services which is set at a level determined by the Board as a whole and which is not performance related. This is detailed in note 8 of these unaudited financial statements. None of the directors are currently in receipt of variable remuneration in respect of their services as directors of the Fund and none of the directors are currently in receipt of a pension from the Fund. The Fund has appointed Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited as its UCITS management company. As such, the provisions of Article 14b of Directive 2009/65/EC in relation to remuneration are not applicable to the Fund. However, they do apply to Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited, which has adopted a remuneration policy to ensure compliance.

Unaudited reporting requirement in respect of the Securities Financing Transactions Regulation For the six month period ended 30 June 2019

The Investment Manager may, on behalf of each sub-fund and subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Financial Conduct Authority and the Prospectus, employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities, including investments in OTC Financial Derivative Instruments ("FDI") provided that such techniques and instruments are used for efficient portfolio management purposes or to provide protection against exchange risk or for direct investment purposes, where applicable.

The sub-funds engaged in securities lending activity during the period for the purposes of efficient portfolio management, and invested in total return swaps, repos or reverse repos.

Securities Lending

All securities lending transactions entered into by the sub-funds are subject to a written legal agreement between the sub-funds and the Lending Agent, which is the Bank of New York Mellon, London Branch, and separately between the Lending Agent and the approved borrowing counterparty. Collateral received in exchange for securities lent is delivered to an account in the name of the Depositary on behalf of the sub-fund. Collateral received is segregated from the assets belonging to the sub-fund's Depositary or the Lending Agent.

The total income earned from securities lending transactions is split between the relevant sub-fund and the securities lending agent. The sub-fund receives at least 80% while the securities lending agent receives up to 20% of such income with all operational costs borne out of the securities lending agent's share. Income received during the year by each sub-fund from securities lending transactions is disclosed in other income in the unaudited statement of comprehensive income included as part of the unaudited financial statements.

The following table details the value of securities on loan, the maturity tenor of which is always open, as they are recallable or terminable on a daily basis. All of the non-cash collateral received by the sub-funds was held by BNY Mellon, London Branch on a tri party settlement basis as at 30 June 2019. 100% of cash collateral is maintained in a segregated account with the custodian. 100% of non-cash collateral is maintained in pooled accounts.

Portfolio Swaps

OTC derivative transactions are entered into by the sub-funds under an International Swaps and Derivatives Associations, Inc. Master Agreement ("ISDA Master Agreement") or similar agreement. An ISDA Master Agreement is a bilateral agreement between the subfunds and a counterparty that governs OTC derivative transactions (including total return swaps and portfolio swaps) entered into by the parties. All OTC derivative transactions entered under an ISDA Master agreement are netted together for collateral purposes therefore any collateral disclosures provided below/elsewhere in the report are in respect of all OTC derivative transactions entered into by the sub-funds under the ISDA Master agreement, not just portfolio swaps.

The collateral figures provided on the next page relate to collateral held to support specific SFTRs, other cash held at brokers to support SFTRs, and other derivative transactions held at brokers where SFTRs are transacted.
