Man Numeric Emerging Markets Equity Class D NOK Shares

(ISIN:IE00BTC1N715) Man Numeric Emerging Markets Equity (the 'Fund') is a sub-fund of Man Funds plc (the 'Company').

Man Asset Management (Ireland) Limited, part of Man Group plc, is the Manager of the Company.

Objectives and investment policy

- The Fund aims to earn a return on investments greater than the returns available from investments in the MSCI Emerging Markets Index by providing exposure primarily to equity securities in global emerging markets. This approach uses computerised processes to identify potential investment opportunities. However the final decision on whether to invest is made by the investment manager.
- The computerised processes primarily aim to allocate assets to underlying strategies which seek to identify and exploit mispriced stocks and to analyse the actions of various market participants to forecast their stocks' momentum, direction and earnings.
- The Fund shall, directly and indirectly, invest over 20% and up to 100% of its net asset value in emerging markets and may invest up to 20% of its net asset value in Russian stocks and fixed income securities.
- The Fund may invest in financial derivative instruments (ie instruments whose prices are dependent on one or more underlying asset, "FDI"), stocks, bonds, other investment funds and American, European and Global depositary receipts. Stocks will be listed and may be issued across all industrial sectors and market capitalisations. The Fund may also invest in money market instruments and cash, government debt instruments and other liquid assets for cash management purposes.
- The Fund may actively use FDI to achieve the investment objective, for hedging against anticipated movements in a market or a security, or where it is more economically effective than directly holding the underlying asset. The use of FDI may multiply the gains or losses made by the Fund on a given investment or on its investments generally.
- FDI may allow the Fund to obtain market exposure in excess of the value of the Fund's assets (leverage). However the occurrence of leverage is not expected to materially increase the overall volatility of the Fund.
- The extensive use of FDI, and the fact that FDI may only require a small upfront payment, may mean the Fund is consistently required to hold a substantial portion of its assets in bank deposits and other money market securities.
- Shares can be bought and sold each dealing day of the Fund.
- The Fund may use currency related transactions to alter its foreign currency exposures.
- Unhedged Share classes of the Fund will be subject to the impact of the movement of exchange rate between the currency of the Share class and the base currency of the Fund.
- Any income earned on investments will be added to the value of investors' shares and investors can buy and sell their shares on each dealing day of the Fund.

Risk and reward profile

- The lowest category does not mean 'risk free'.
- The risk and reward profile is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category for this share class is 6 as funds of this nature engage in strategies that typically have a high volatility. The calculation is based on the historical volatility of the Fund's performance. Where there is insufficient Fund performance the calculation is based on either the historical volatility of a relevant benchmark for the investment strategy or the Manager's Value at Risk limit for the Fund. Please refer to the prospectus for further information relating to the Value at Risk.

The following risks may not be fully captured by the risk and reward profile:

- Emerging markets experience specific risks due to increased volatility, illiquidity, political and economic instability, market turmoil, settlement risk and relatively weak regulatory standards.
- Liquidity characteristics of non-exchange listed investments can be irregular, and may result in higher than anticipated costs to liquidate the investment.
- The Fund's Investment Manager relies on quantitative trading models and data supplied by third parties. If models or data prove to be incorrect or incomplete, the Fund may be exposed to potential losses.
- The Fund is subject to normal market fluctuations and the risks associated with investing in international securities markets and therefore the value of your investment and the income from it may rise as well as fall and you may not get back the amount originally invested.

A complete description of risks is set out in the prospectus section entitled 'Certain Investment Risks'.
