JPM Diversified Risk X (acc) - EUR (hedged)

a Share Class of JPMorgan Funds – Diversified Risk Fund
a Sub-Fund of JPMorgan Funds

LU0875419839

The management company is JPMorgan Asset Management (Europe) S.à r.l.

Objectives and Investment Policy

Investment Objective: The Sub-Fund aims to provide long-term capital growth by investing in multiple asset classes globally, using a risk-weighted approach to asset allocation and using financial derivative instruments where appropriate.

Investment Policy: The Sub-Fund will invest the majority of its assets, either directly or through the use of financial derivative instruments, in equity securities (including smaller capitalisation companies), convertible securities, debt securities (including below investment grade and unrated debt securities), currencies, cash and cash equivalents. The Sub-Fund may also gain exposure to commodities through equities, UCITS or other UCIs or financial derivative instruments on commodity indices. Issuers of these securities may be located in any country, including emerging markets.

The Investment Manager has identified certain market-driven investment return sources that have a low correlation to each other and distinct risk and return profiles (each a "Return Factor"). Return Factors will fall into the following broad categories; equity, fixed income, convertible bond, currency and commodity Return Factors. Each Return Factor is a potential source of investment return in excess of the risk-free rate of return and represents the compensation for the risk taken by the investor. For example small capitalisation and value are two Return Factors associated with investing in equity securities.

The Sub-Fund will seek to maintain a diversified portfolio where the portfolio's risk is distributed across a range of Return Factors. The historic volatility of each Return Factor will be systematically assessed and weighted so as to reflect a broadly equal risk allocation within the Sub-Fund. Allocating the Sub-Fund's risk across a range of Return Factors, instead of across asset classes, aims to provide improved diversification and less concentration in any one asset class.

The Sub-Fund may use both long and short positions (achieved through the use of financial derivative instruments) to achieve its objective; however, at all times the Sub-Fund will maintain a total net long market exposure. As a result, the Sub-Fund may have net long or net short exposure to, one or more industry sectors, individual markets and/or currencies.

The Sub-Fund will invest in financial derivative instruments to achieve its investment objective. Such instruments may also be used for the purposes of hedging.

USD is the reference currency of the Sub-Fund but the Sub-Fund may have exposure to other currencies and currency exposure may be hedged.

This Share Class seeks to minimise the effect of currency fluctuations between the Reference Currency of the Sub-Fund (USD) and the Reference Currency of this Share Class (EUR).

Redemption and Dealing: Shares of the Sub-Fund may be redeemed on demand, with dealing normally on a daily basis.

Management Discretion: The Investment Manager has the discretion to buy and sell investments on behalf of the Sub-Fund within the limits of the Objective and Investment Policy.

Benchmark: The benchmark of the Share Class is ICE 1 Month USD LIBOR Hedged to EUR.

The benchmark is a point of reference against which the performance of the Share Class may be measured. The portfolio of the Sub-Fund will be managed without reference to its benchmark.

Distribution Policy: This Share Class will not pay dividends.

Why is this Share Class in this category?

Other material risks:

- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The relative correlation between Return Factors may change over time. Under certain market conditions, previously uncorrelated Return Factors could become correlated which may reduce the benefits of diversification within the portfolio.
- The value of equity securities may go down as well as up in response to the performance of individual companies and general market conditions.
- The value of debt securities may change significantly depending on economic and interest rate conditions as well as the credit worthiness of the issuer. These risks are typically increased for emerging market and below investment grade debt securities.
- In addition, emerging markets may be subject to increased risks, including less developed custody and settlement practices, higher volatility and lower liquidity than non emerging market securities.
- The value of securities in which the Sub-Fund invests may be influenced by movements in commodity prices which can be very volatile.
- Convertible bonds are subject to the credit, interest rate and market risks stated above associated with both debt and equity securities and to risks specific to convertible securities. Convertible bonds may also be subject to lower liquidity than the underlying equity securities.
- The Sub-Fund may invest in securities of smaller companies which may be less liquid, more volatile and tend to carry greater financial risk than securities of larger companies.
- The Sub-Fund uses financial derivative instruments for investment purposes. The value of financial derivative instruments can be volatile and may result in gains or losses in excess of the amount required initially to establish a position in the derivative. The Management Company is required to disclose in Appendix III of the Prospectus the sum of the gross notional exposure of the financial derivative instruments used (including those used for hedging or efficient portfolio management) as the expected level of leverage. However, this figure does not take into account whether the instrument increases or decreases investment risk and so may not be representative of the overall level of investment risk in the Sub-Fund.
- Short selling may be subject to changes in regulations and losses from short positions may be unlimited.
- Movements in currency exchange rates can adversely affect the return of your investment. The currency hedging used to minimise the effect of currency fluctuations may not always be successful. Investors may have exposure to currencies other than the currency of their Share Class.
- Further information about risks can be found in "Appendix IV - Risk Factors" of the Prospectus.
