Investment objective

The objective of this Sub-fund is to maximise long term capital growth by investing at all times for at least 75% of the Sub-fund's assets in equities or similar instruments issued by companies based in a member state of the EU, in Norway, the UK or Iceland. The policy of the Sub-fund is to maintain a concentrated portfolio of equities, issued by companies that aim to have a positive societal impact by addressing at least one of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, across a range of European countries and sectors subject to the investment restrictions set out in this Prospectus. The Sub-fund includes the integration of ESG factors into its investment selection process. Market Review

The social epidemic: from virus-affected stocks to stocks going viral, the tipping point for markets in January were not the Democrats taking control of the Senate, nor the storming of the US Capitol by a riotous mob but a group of retail investors causing one of the largest short coverings in the past 5 years. Joe Biden's executive orders seeking to cement the climate crisis at the centre of US foreign and domestic policy have gone by largely unnoticed. Both MSCI Europe and MSCI Europe SRI have ended the month 1% lower after the strong start of the year saw them up as much as 3.5% at one point during the month.

Fund Review

Oyster Sustainable Europe was almost flat in January (close to +1% relative). Most notable relative contributors were Veolia (+0.6%), Elektro (+0.3%) and ABB (+0.3%). Veolia stepped up the pressure on Suez's Board of Directors by announcing a public offer proposal for the 70.1% it does not own with the intention of completing the merger of the two companies in 9 to 15 months. This sign of resolve in what most see as a complex legal situation between the two was taken positively by investors. Elektro benefitted somewhat from the short covering that spilled into Europe during the last week of the month given its 10% of free float being on loan. On the negative side, Worldline (-0.4%), Essilor Luxottica (-0.3%) and Cap Gemini (-0.3%) suffered mostly from sector rotation and a slower vaccine rollout than initially anticipated. None of our notable positive and negative contributors were included in the 10% of European companies that have reported Q4/FY numbers as of the end of January. We have initiated a new position in Enel during the month. Enel sees itself as a renewable "super-major" with 45GW (50% of total) of renewable capacity at the end of 2020 and an ambitious plan to get to 120GW by 2030, mostly by adding wind and solar assets. At about 20-30% discount to the sector, Enel hasn't benefitted as much from the sector re-rating, nor is the Market giving it benefit for the regulated assets. With half of the EBITDA coming from electricity networks, these assets will play a major role in the energy transition as enabling infrastructure for the electrification of transport for example. To partly finance this new position, we exited Roche and thus reduced the healthcare exposure to further diversify our sustainable development themes.

Outlook

Despite the volatility in January, we have no reason to change our outlook for 2021: we think Sustainability will also become viral this year, helped by supportive policies in both US and Europe. While this creates exciting investment opportunities, risks of "green-washing", "green-wishing" and "green bubbles" abound so critical thinking is needed more than ever.
