About the fund

The investment objective of the Japanese Equity Fund is to seek long-term capital appreciation by investing in Japanese companies across a variety of sectors, providing investors with diversification across large and small companies. The Fund is weighted towards large capitalisation companies, but the Fund may also invest in smaller companies where particular value has been identified. The Fund may invest in OTC markets. Such markets are geographically de-centralised and may be operated and regulated differently from other markets and accordingly may be subject to slightly more risks.

The Japanese Equities team at Henderson is a team of four investment professionals. It has fund managers located in both London and Singapore. The team can also draw on the professionals and research conducted by the Japanese Large Cap Equity team who are based in Singapore and Japan. The team has an average of 18 years' experience investing Japanese equities within Henderson and an average of 22 years' experience in the industry. It is a talented and experienced team of stock-pickers with a proven track record.

Please note that with effect from 17 November 2014, the base currency of the fund changed from USD to JPY. As of 1 October 2014, the Henderson Japanese Equity Team took over management of this fund.

General risks

- The value of the funds and the income from them is not guaranteed and may fall as well as rise. You may get back less than you originally invested.
- Past performance is not a guide to future performance.

What are the risks specific to this fund?

- There is no guarantee that investors will get back the invested amount given that the value of investments is subject to market conditions and therefore may go down as well as up.
- The performance of the value of the Company and its funds is primarily a comparison of the net asset values per Share at the beginning and the end of a particular period of time. Hence, an investor in order to assess the actual performance of his investment in the Company must deduct from the performance declared at a certain time any subscription fee paid by him when making his investment in the Company.
- The value of an investment in the Company will be affected by fluctuations in the value of the currency of denomination of the relevant fund's Shares against the value of the currency of denomination of that fund's underlying investments. Adverse fluctuations in currency exchange rates can result in a decrease in return and in a loss of capital.
- The Horizon Japanese Equity Fund may use techniques and instruments for hedging purposes only to protect portfolios against currency fluctuation, market movements and interest rates risks. The use of any of these derivative instruments will not reach a volume which could endanger the spirit of the investment policy.
- Investors should note that in certain market conditions, securities held by the Horizon Japanese Equity Fund may not be as liquid as they would be in normal circumstances. If a security cannot be sold in a timely manner then it may be harder to attain a reasonable price and there is a risk that the price at which the security is valued may not be realisable in the event of sale. The Horizon Japanese Equity Fund may therefore be unable to readily sell such securities.
- This fund is designed to be used only as one component in several in a diversified investment portfolio. Investors should consider carefully the proportion of their portfolio invested into this fund.
