Simplified Prospectus – July 2010

A SICAV authorised under the
Luxembourg Law of 20 December 2002

Aviva Investors – Emerging Markets Bond Fund (the "Sub-Fund")

This simplified prospectus contains key information about the Sub-Fund. If you would like more information before you invest, please consult the full prospectus of Aviva Investors (the "Company") which contains information on all sub-funds of the Company. For details about the Sub-Fund's holdings please see the Company's most recent annual or semi-annual report. The rights and duties of the investor as well as the legal relationship with the Sub-Fund are set out in the full prospectus of the Company (the "Prospectus"). The Prospectus and the periodical reports may be obtained free of charge from the Company and from all distributors.

The Company is organised as a société anonyme under the laws of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and is qualified as a société d'investissement à capital variable with multiple sub-funds. The Company was incorporated in Luxembourg on 16 January 1990 and is subject to the Luxembourg law of 10 August 1915 on commercial companies, as amended, and to Part I of the Luxembourg law of 20 December 2002 on undertakings for collective investment, as amended. The Company operates separate sub-funds and may issue shares (the "Shares") within each sub-fund in different classes (herein referred to as "Class or Classes"). This simplified prospectus does not comprise a description of all the current sub-funds of the Company, for which separate simplified prospectuses are available.

Investment Objectives and Policy

The aim of the Sub-Fund is to achieve capital growth or income by investing in bonds of issuers in worldwide emerging market countries.

To achieve the investment objective, investments may be made in bonds issued by governmental, quasi governmental and corporate issuers and in financial derivative instruments such as futures, options, swap contracts, swaptions, forward currency exchange contracts, foreign exchange OTC options and credit default swaps, each of which may be traded either through recognised exchanges or via the over-the-counter market.

At all times at least two-thirds of its total assets (excluding liquidities) will be invested in bonds of governmental, quasi governmental or corporate issuers which have their registered office in worldwide emerging market countries or exercise the predominant part of their economic activities in such countries.

Investments in shares or other participation rights, and in convertible bonds are not permitted.

Within the limit of its risk profile, the Sub-Fund will use a variety of investment strategies and instruments, including but not limited to currency forwards, non-deliverable currency forwards, interest rate swaps, cross-currency swaps, futures, options and forward rate agreements. Opportunistically, the Sub-Fund intends to take full advantage of the ability to invest in financial derivative instruments to create both long and synthetic covered short positions with the aim of maximizing positive returns. This will notably allow a more efficient risk budgeting while meeting the tracking error objective without additional or unwanted risk.

The Sub-Fund may also, for hedging purposes, use financial derivative instruments and techniques and instruments within the limits set forth in Appendix A "Investment and Borrowing Powers and Restrictions" of the Prospectus.

Cash and/or cash equivalent may be held on an ancillary basis.

Sub-Fund Risk Profile

As described in the investment objectives above, the Sub-Fund comprises bond investments issued by companies domiciled in rapidly growing, but not yet fully developed markets. The value of these investments can fall as well as rise and it is influenced by market expectations concerning the economic and political risks of the countries of issue. These markets are influenced by changes in interest rates. The annual distributions made by the Sub-Fund cannot be regarded as constant and the Sub-Fund has no specific maturity. This means that investors cannot count on a return on the investment at a certain value by a specific date in the future. The Sub-Fund may also use financial derivative instruments. Because of the low margin deposits normally required in trading financial derivative instruments, a high degree of leverage is typical for trading in financial derivative instruments. As a result, a relatively small price movement in the underlying of a derivative contract may result in substantial losses to the Sub-Fund's assets.

Whilst the Sub-Fund is managed to provide a prudent spread of risk across the range of these investments, it should not be considered as a substitute or alternative to cash based savings and investments and should be viewed as a medium to long term investment.

There can be no guarantee that the Sub-Fund will meet its investment objectives. Information relating to the risk management of the Sub-Fund will be provided to investors upon request.

For further details, please consult the Prospectus.

Historical performance of the Sub-Fund* up to 31 December 2009 (for B $ Share Class only)

Annual total return (%)

* Investors should note that the investment policy of the Sub-Fund has been changed from 1 March 2009. Therefore, the historical performance before that date may not be representative of the current investment policy.

 The historical performance of other Share Classes is similar but may vary according to the amount of fees charged or as a result of other specific features such as their dividend policy. Historical performance may also vary as a result of the currency denomination or hedging policy applicable in relation to any specific Share Class.

Notice

Past performance is not a guide to the future performance of the Sub-Fund. The value of an investment and the income from it can go down as well as up and you may not get back the amount you invested. Future returns will depend on the development of interest rates and the impact this will have on global bond markets and on how successful the Investment Manager is in executing the Sub-Fund's investment policy.

Profile of a Typical Investor

Considering the investment objectives, as stated above, the Sub-Fund may appeal to investors looking to:

- Gain exposure to emerging market fixed income securities
- Receive returns through the receipt of dividends or in the form of capital growth
- Make an investment for the medium to long term

Notwithstanding the above, any investment in this Sub-Fund should only be made after the long term financial objectives and requirements of the investor and the "Risk Warnings" set out in the Prospectus have been duly considered.

Treatment of income

In relation to Accumulation Share Classes no distributions will be made and all interest and other income earned by the Sub-Fund on its investments will be reflected in the net asset value of the Shares (the "Net Asset Value"). In relation to Dividend Share Classes, it is the intention of the board of directors of the Company periodically to distribute substantially all the net income earned on investment.

Share Classes

A complete list of available Share Classes can be found in the Appendix E – "Available Share Classes" of the Prospectus or may be obtained from the registered office of the Fund or from the Management Company in Luxembourg. - Share Classes may be offered in the reference currency of the Sub-Fund, or may be denominated in any other currency. Each Share Classes will be identified by the relevant currency sign;
- Share Classes may be either hedged or unhedged. For the hedged Share Classes, the Management Company or the Investment Manager have the ability to hedge the value of the Class currency against the currencies in which the underlying assets of the Sub-Fund are denominated in accordance with the section "Available Share Classes" of the Prospectus. Hedged Share Classes will be identified by the suffix "h";
- Share Classes may be either Accumulation or Dividend Share Classes. Dividend Share Classes will be identified by the suffix "x".

The "M Share Class" is only available to Aviva in-house funds as well as to discretionary managed and selected clients of Aviva Investors Global Services Limited. The "Z Share Class" is strictly limited to companies affiliated to the Aviva group or undertakings for collective investment sponsored by Aviva group companies.
