Market review

A very volatile month. Huge swings in UST not justified by data news. Similar swings in FX - Yen up, then down more; NOK and RUB still weak with oil. ZAR yields dipped; PIIGS did not. Most credit spreads moved wider yet non-European equities ended up. Brazilian election concluded; markets sanguine.

Performance contribution and portfolio changes

The Fund made net gains through the turmoil. Intermediate UST's helpfully rallied more than, say, Italy futures. Long Yen at start was closed / reversed. Equity puts helped limit convertibles downside to mid-month, then lightened as market bounced. FX swings useful given long options stance. Steeper yield curves sub 5 year profitable then trimmed. The BRL helpfully behaved better than market consensus.

Outlook and strategy

Japan trumps Fed's QE move: ECB next? $ is very popular but still rises. Bonds remain expensive to history and health.

Opportunities

The fund invests in a broadly diversified bond universe and seeks various opportunities for returns.

The fund gives investors easy access to the emerging markets. Many of these countries may offer attractive potential returns in various asset classes.

A highly qualified and experienced management actively manages the fund on the basis of a fundamental valuation approach. The objective is to identify the potential investments that, in the Investment manager's opinion, are most attractive and to generate interesting and profitable opportunities for investors.

The fund aims to generate long-term positive (absolute) returns in both rising and falling financial markets, coupled with risk diversification. The fund invests broadly across various bond categories, currencies and countries, in accordance with its flexible investment strategy.

Risks

The fund invests in bonds, which may be subject to significant fluctuations in value. Bonds are subject to issuer risk, credit risk and interest rate risk.

The fund may invest in derivatives, which are subject to the risks of their underlying markets or underlying instruments as well as issuer risks and often involve higher risks than direct investments.

The fund may invest in securities from emerging markets where prices can fluctuate significantly and where, in addition to social, political and economic uncertainties, operating and supervision conditions may deviate from the standards prevailing in developed markets.

The fund may invest in securities of issuers that the market does not view as having good creditworthiness. These securities are subject to comparatively high volatility, and the possibility that they may even lose their value completely cannot be ruled out.

The fund may invest in assets denominated in various currencies, giving rise to exchange rate risks which may be hedged. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which an investor resides, due to exchange rate fluctuations, the performance shown may increase or decrease if converted into the investor's local currency.
