JPMorgan Emerging Markets Investment Trust plc

Our heritage and our team

JPMorgan Emerging Markets Investment Trust plc has an established long-term track record of investing in emerging markets. The investment team, led by Austin Forey – who has been at the helm for over 20 years – benefits from J.P. Morgan Asset Management's extensive network of emerging market specialists around the world. Their on-the-ground experience and in-depth knowledge of local markets enable them to assess companies' longer-term prospects through rigorous research and not be side tracked by short-term noise.

Our Investment Approach

The Company takes an active, bottom-up approach to investing in emerging markets. Austin Forey looks at the growth potential of specific companies rather than simply taking a view on individual countries, which is reflected in the Company's low stock turnover and concentrated portfolio. Investing sustainably has always been an integral part of the Manager's fundamental research and investment approach, well before environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors became mainstream. With an investment approach which identifies profitable companies that demonstrate sustainable growth potential over the long-term rather than focusing on short-term market movements, the Company has created value for investors over the long term.

Chairman's Statement

Sarah Arkle
Chairman

In the last annual report, I discussed the three key objectives that the Directors of your Company had set out at the beginning of the financial year to June 2019: to continue the strong record of investment performance; to reduce the discount of our share price to the net asset value; and to continue to offer a competitive proposition through a reduction in the management fee. Having negotiated with the Manager a reduction in the management fee last year, I am very pleased to report that we have also continued to make progress on performance and on the discount.

Performance

During the first half of the Company's financial year, emerging markets produced a positive return for investors, as measured by the Company's benchmark index, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index (in sterling terms), which rose by 2.9% over the six months. In the same period the Company's return on net assets, at +4.2%, was again better than the benchmark. The return to shareholders was +7.2%, reflecting a narrowing of the discount to net asset value at which the Company's shares trade, from 6.9% at the previous financial year end to 4.3% at the half year end.

This continues the Company's outstanding record of long term performance, the net asset value and share price having both outperformed the benchmark index over one, two, three, five and ten years to 31st December 2019 and, as you will see on page 4 of this report, over five years the cumulative return to shareholders is 91.2%, against the benchmark return of 54.7%. I think it is worth re-stating that this sustained, long-term outperformance is a great credit to Austin Forey and the team at JPMorgan Asset Management and their focus on investing in long term winners with strong environmental, social and governance practices. This outperformance shows the significant benefits that can be achieved in the emerging markets area by active management compared with investments in either passive or exchange traded funds.

A review of the Company's performance for the first six months of this financial year and the outlook for the remainder of the year is provided in the Investment Manager's Report which follows.

Revenue and Dividends

In the first half of the Company's financial year, the portfolio generated earnings of 5.59 pence per share (2018: 4.70 pence). Last year, the Board declared an interim dividend for the first time, of 5.0 pence per share, in order to more closely reflect the receipt of income from the investment portfolio, and the Company paid a total dividend of 14.0 pence per share for the year. For the current financial year, the Board has declared an interim dividend of 5.2 pence per share, an increase of 4.0%, payable on 17th April 2020 to shareholders on the register as at 13th March 2020. The ex-dividend date will be 12th March 2020.

Share Repurchases and Discount

The Board is very pleased that the discount on the Company's shares has continued to narrow over the first half of the financial year. It regularly considers the merits of buying back shares in order to manage the level and volatility of the discount. For some time, the Board's policy was to buy back shares if the discount was wider than 10% for an extended period, was out of line with the peer group and market conditions were orderly. This time last year we broadened the scope of this policy to allow the Company to buy back shares at a discount narrower than 10% if the Board believes this to be in shareholders' interests.

During the six months the Company was active in buying back shares, repurchasing a total of 1,412,278 shares into Treasury at an average discount of 8.2% and a total cost of £14.0 million. As shares are only bought back at a discount to the prevailing net asset value, share buybacks benefit shareholders as they increase the net asset value per share. Over the six months the discount (to the cum income net asset value) on the Company's shares ranged between 9.5% and 4.3%, averaging 7.8%. At the time of writing the discount is 8.8% as the response to coronavirus has caused stock markets to be extremely volatile and market movements in ADRs and Latin American markets after the Company's closing price on the London stock market have impacted the NAV on which the discount is calculated.

Marketing

The Board has agreed with the Manager an increased marketing and PR programme, to be part funded by the Company, with the aim of attracting new investors to the Company and thereby broadening the shareholder base. We believe this to be an important factor in helping to achieve our objective of reducing the level and volatility of the discount at which the Company's shares trade.

The Board encourages all shareholders to exercise their rights regarding voting, receiving Company documentation and attending the AGM so that we can receive feedback on the Company's progress. As the number of shareholders investing via specialist platforms has been increasing, the Board urges those shareholders to refer to their investment platforms or visit the website of the Association of Investment Companies for more details on how to vote their shares ahead of the Company's continuation vote in November 2020.

Auditors

PricewaterhouseCoopers were auditors to the Company from its launch in 1991 until last year when, in accordance with the Audit Regulations and Guidance effective from April 2017, the Company was required to change its auditors. The Audit Committee undertook an auditor review and it was agreed to appoint BDO to succeed PricewaterhouseCoopers. Their appointment was confirmed by shareholders at the AGM held in November 2019.

Corporate Governance

In July 2018, the FRC issued the revised UK Corporate Governance Code and in February 2019, this was followed by the publication of the revised AIC Code of Corporate Governance (the 'AIC Code'). Last year and during the course of this current financial year, the Board has taken the appropriate steps to ensure that the Company is compliant with the AIC Code and further disclosures will be made in the annual report to be published later this year.

The Board

In the last annual report, I advised that the Board would look to recruit another Director before the November 2020 Annual General Meeting and intends to meet the Hampton-Alexander recommendation of having a minimum of 33% female representation on the Board in the medium term. The recruitment process will start shortly and an announcement will follow in due course.

Outlook

At the time of writing there are significant uncertainties surrounding the future direction of global economic growth and the potential impact from coronavirus, and the share price has fallen sharply from the highs reached in January 2020. The discount has also widened from the tight levels seen at the end of the half year. However, your Investment Manager invests for the long term and believes that emerging markets still provide interesting opportunities to invest in companies with sustainable profit growth on reasonable valuations. As we have said before, there may be short term periods when your Investment Manager's approach of focusing on sustainable high quality growth companies may not outperform the index but the Directors believe that over the longer term this strategy will outperform, as has been the case over a number of years.

Investment Manager

Markets finished 2019 in relatively optimistic mood, though over the last six months as a whole our emerging markets benchmark returned a modest +2.9%. Your Company ended the period slightly ahead of the index, with the return on net assets +4.2%, while the return to shareholders was +7.2%, as the discount to NAV narrowed throughout December in particular.

In spite of plenty of political noise about trade, this was a relatively uneventful period, with few big market events to offer anomalous prices and hence opportunity. Nevertheless the companies owned in your Company's portfolio continued, in aggregate, to show solid growth in profits, even though corporate earnings in emerging markets as a whole were flat during the year. Against such a backdrop we have made few changes to the portfolio during the last six months, preferring instead to see the companies in the portfolio compounding their intrinsic value through their own efforts. The few transactions that we did make had the effect of tilting the mix of investments further towards Asia, and specifically towards China, but this continues a trend that has been in place for several years already, and which is likely to continue. The depth of investment opportunity in China in particular, combined with a level of entrepreneurial activity which is unmatched in other emerging markets, means that we are simply finding more interesting companies to look at there than elsewhere.

It is worth mentioning two other things. First, a few words about the coronavirus which is currently dominating news headlines. We fully recognise the seriousness and importance of this situation in everyday life for those directly affected, including our colleagues who are based in China; but as investors we also know that profits earned in the next few months account for a small part of any company's intrinsic value. We continue to focus on the potential of companies to generate cash flows many years into the future; it is the net present value of those cash flows which most reliably determines the value of any business, and we do not think that this is altered even by considerable uncertainty in the short term. There are a few companies in the portfolio whose business is being adversely affected right now; but we are confident that the businesses owned in your Company's portfolio are strongly positioned and able to ride out any short term difficulties; indeed, the best companies expand their competitive advantages most rapidly when times are tough. So despite the blanket news coverage, as investors we are trying to keep our eyes on the long term; in the past, events like the spread of a virus have generally faded in significance from an investment point of view when seen with the benefit of hindsight, and this seems likely to happen again in this instance.

The second issue we are regularly asked about is our view of the global economy, and especially whether the long economic cycle seen in the USA will come to an end. This is a question that has been confounding forecasters for several years already. It seems to us that interest rates are likely to remain low by historical standards, and that economic growth in emerging markets is also likely to continue to exceed that of developed countries, for a number of structural reasons. But it is also worth stressing that as investors, we do not base our decisions on this kind of macroeconomic view. We invest on your behalf in the shares of companies around the world, not in countries' GDP, and so we are far more interested in factors that are specific to a given company, especially its competitive strengths and weaknesses, and the extent to which it can earn a financial return from the skills it has; those skills include the ability to manage a business in a sustainable manner, something we pay ever more attention to in our research process. As I wrote a year ago, we run companies which can sustainably grow their share of the economic opportunity before them are what we are looking for, and that is not going to change; so you can expect that we will keep approaching investment decisions in the future in the same way that we have done in the past.

The Company is required to make the following disclosures in its half year report:

Principal Risks and Uncertainties

The principal risks and uncertainties faced by the Company have not changed from those reported in the Annual Report and Financial Statements for the year ended 30th June 2019 ('AFRS') and fall into the following broad categories: investment underperformance; political and economic; loss of investment team or investment manager; strategy/business management; operational and cyber crime; share price discount; change of corporate control of the manager; legal and regulatory; corporate governance and shareholder relations; and financial. Information on each of these areas is given in the Business Review within the AFRS.

Related Parties Transactions

During the first six months of the current financial year, no transactions with related parties have taken place which have materially affected the financial position or the performance of the Company.

Going Concern

The Directors believe, having considered the Company's investment objectives, risk management policies, capital management policies and procedures, nature of the portfolio and expenditure projections, that the Company has adequate resources, an appropriate financial structure and suitable management arrangements in place to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future and more specifically, that there are no material uncertainties pertaining to the Company that would prevent its ability to continue in such operational existence for at least twelve months from the date of the approval of this half year financial report. For these reasons, they consider there is reasonable evidence to continue to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the accounts.

Directors' Responsibilities

The Board of Directors confirms that, to the best of its knowledge:

- (i) the condensed set of financial statements contained within the half yearly financial report has been prepared in accordance with FRS 104 'Interim Financial Reporting' and gives a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Company and of the assets, liabilities, financial position and net return of the Company, as at 31st December 2019 as required by the UK Listing Authority Disclosure and Transparency Rules 4.2.4R; and
- (ii) the interim management report includes a fair review of the information required by 4.2.7R and 4.2.8R of the UK Listing Authority Disclosure and Transparency Rules.

In order to provide these confirmations, and in preparing these financial statements, the Directors are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements; and
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Company will continue in business; and the Directors confirm that they have done so.

Spot the warning signs

Have you been:

- contacted out of the blue
- promised tempting returns and told the investment is safe
- called repeatedly, or
- told the offer is only available for a limited time?

If so, you might have been contacted by fraudsters.

Avoid investment fraud

1 Reject cold calls

If you've received unsolicited contact about an investment opportunity, chances are it's a high risk investment or a scam. You should treat the call with extreme caution. The safest thing to do is to hang up.
