Where the asset allocation sums to less than 100% the balance can be found in cash, a small amount of which is attributable to variation and initial margin related to derivatives exposure. Where the asset allocation sums to more than 100% this represents the leverage present in the funds. The Allianz RiskMaster funds make use of derivatives positions in order to deliver Efficient Portfolio Management to clients, this includes during some periods of low volatility the use of leverage. The reason we choose to use derivatives in the Allianz RiskMaster funds is to reduce costs to clients and benefit from greater liquidity. We take the risks posed by this instrument very seriously and have extensive experience in managing exposure of this nature.

- 3) Performance data include annual charges but exclude initial charges.
Discreet performance is measured over the last full calendar quarter end.
Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. You should not make any assumptions on the future on the basis of performance information. The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of market and currency fluctuations and you may not get back the amount originally invested.

- 4) Fee Promise:
To support our view that managing the risk profile of these funds is of crucial importance to advisers and their clients, we are making a special pricing promise. If any RiskMaster Fund has its launch risk category changed by Distribution Technology, we will waive the fund's annual management fee, up to a maximum of 0.75% (before administration costs)* for three months following the change. This commitment will initially be for a period of twelve months from launch (15/05/2012) and will be reviewed at the end of that period, and every twelve months thereafter.
* Administration costs are currently 0.05% and are subject to review. Risk profiling occurs quarterly from 30/06/2012. Commission will be honoured during the fee holiday.
 The amount of the annual management fee waiver will be capped at 0.75% for all share classes, meaning the annual management fee will be reduced by that amount (less the administration costs) for three months following the notification of change, which will be published on our website www.allianzglobalinvestors.co.uk. The waiver applies only in relation to the annual management fee for the fund in respect of which the risk category has been changed, and only applies in relation to a change made to the risk category of the relevant fund by Distribution Technology. It does not apply to a change in rating by any other party, or to a change in the risk category given in the Key Investor Information Document.
- 5) The ongoing charges represent the Fund's management fees and additional costs, and are calculated by dividing the total costs of the Fund by its assets. The ongoing charges figure shown here is an estimate of the charges. An estimate is being used rather than an ex-post figure because we believe that a number of material changes render the historical OCF as misleading, these are namely; a substantial increase in the assets forecast since the calculation combined with lower synthetic TER costs from new instruments to be introduced to the portfolio and a reduction in the fixed costs. The UCITS' annual report for each financial year will include details on the exact charges made.
