For more detailed information about Morningstar's Analyst Rating, including its methodology, please go to: <http://corporate.morningstar.com/us/documents/MethodologyDocuments/AnalystRatingforFundsMethodology.pdf> The Morningstar Analyst Rating for Funds is a forward-looking analysis of a fund. Morningstar has identified five key areas crucial to predicting the future success of a fund: People, Parent, Process, Performance, and Price. The pillars are used in determining the Morningstar Analyst Rating for a fund. Morningstar Analyst Ratings are assigned on a five-tier scale running from Gold to Negative. The top three ratings, Gold, Silver, and Bronze, all indicate that our analysts think highly of a fund; the difference between them corresponds to differences in the level of analyst conviction in a fund's ability to outperform its benchmark and peers through time, within the context of the level of risk taken over the long term. Neutral represents funds in which our analysts don't have a strong positive or negative conviction over the long term and Negative represents funds that possess at least one flaw that our analysts believe is likely to significantly hamper future performance over the long term. Long term is defined as a full market cycle or at least five years. Past performance of a security may or may not be sustained in future and is no indication of future performance. Market review

Indian equities rose in September, outperforming developed markets but lagging behind both global emerging markets and Asia-Pacific ex Japan. The MSCI India Index gained 0.08% in sterling terms, with all sectors in the positive except energy, industrials and information technology.

Towards the end of the month, investors rotated into regional laggard China after Beijing announced aggressive stimulus measures to boost the stock market and domestic economy. Sentiment was also driven by the US Federal Reserve embarking on an easing cycle with a half-point rate cut.

Momentum in the domestic economy remained resilient. Provisional data showed the year-on-year inflation rate for August fell to the second-lowest level in the last five years. CPI was at 3.65%, below the Reserve Bank of India's medium-term target of 4%. The decline was driven by food inflation, which was also at its second lowest since June 2023. The Indian central bank has kept its repo rate unchanged for over a year as inflation became relatively more manageable.

Overall, foreign institutional investors ended the month as net buyers, marking the highest monthly flows in 2024, while domestic investors remained net buyers for the 14th consecutive month. Towards the month end, there was some rotation out of India into China.

of higher corporate governance and transparency. For example, Brigade is conservative about land acquisition while focusing on product quality and customer experience, as well as its choice of partners. We are positive on the quality of the management and the outlook for the real estate market, which is in the swings of a strong upcycle.

Outlook

India remains one of the world's fastest-growing major economies, backed by a relatively resilient macro backdrop including a robust infrastructure capex cycle and a real estate boom. Private capex is also rising on the back of positive corporate sentiment.

The growth momentum is underpinned by supportive policies from the central government as well as the groundwork laid by a decade of painful but necessary economic reforms. In July 2024, the government unveiled its first budget, which suggested fiscal consolidation was on track and capex allocation for infrastructure remained relatively robust, while policymakers also appeared to be making efforts to plug the gaps around consumption, rural demand, and employment.

Still, India faces some near-term risks, most of which are external. These include potentially higher global energy prices and a slowdown in the world economy. Oil prices turned volatile in September as the ongoing conflict in the Middle East escalated significantly. The key to taking advantage of this market's promise is bottom-up stock picking that is backed by fundamental research, which aligns well with how we invest.

We expect our core quality holdings to continue to deliver resilient compounding earnings growth over the medium term, come what may in terms of macro conditions. The portfolio's consistency of earnings growth remains healthy and the fundamentals of our holdings, including pricing power, strong balance sheets and the ability to sustain margins, remain solid. Our conviction in the experienced management teams of these companies was affirmed during a recent trip to India where we met several companies to get more clarity about the situation on the ground.

Important Information

The Statement of Operating Expenses is designed to help investors understand the impact of operating expenses on financial performance.

Operating expenses are NOT deducted from the value of an investor's shareholding, which is derived from the share price.

The market value (share price) of all publicly traded companies reflects a wide range of factors, including the estimated impact of operating expenses on future financial performance.

The market value of an investment trust may diverge materially, both positively and negatively, from the reported net asset value.

Important information

Risk factors you should consider prior to investing:

- The value of investments, and the income from them, can go down as well as up and investors may get back less than the amount invested.
- Past performance is not a guide to future results.
- Investment in the Company may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 5 years.
- The Company may borrow to finance further investment (gearing). The use of gearing is likely to lead to volatility in the Net Asset Value (NAV) meaning that any movement in the value of the company's assets will result in a magnified movement in the NAV.
- The Company may accumulate investment positions which represent more than normal trading volumes which may make it difficult to realise investments and may lead to volatility in the market price of the Company's shares.
- The Company may charge expenses to capital which may erode the capital value of the investment.
- Movements in exchange rates will impact on both the level of income received and the capital value of your investment.
- There is no guarantee that the market price of the Company's shares will fully reflect their underlying Net Asset Value.
- As with all stock exchange investments the value of the Company's shares purchased will immediately fall by the difference between the buying and selling prices, the bid-offer spread. If trading volumes fall, the bid-offer spread can widen.
- The Company invests in emerging markets which tend to be more volatile than mature markets and the value of your investment could move sharply up or down.
- Yields are estimated figures and may fluctuate, there are no guarantees that future dividends will match or exceed historic dividends and certain investors may be subject to further tax on dividends.
