Market review

There were a number of idiosyncratic developments which tested investors' nerves in the opening months of the reporting period. In Turkey, the government announced a 'New Economic Program' for 2019-2021, with a focus on export strength, fiscal discipline and structural reforms. Argentine assets rebounded on the expectation of an improved IMF package, while Brazilian assets demonstrated a partial recovery as the electoral polls showed Jair Bolsonaro gaining support.

Another topic – which became a long-running concern for emerging markets (EM) – was speculations around the US imposing further tariffs on Chinese products, which ultimately came to fruition.

The volatility created by geopolitical newsflow continued towards calendar year-end. However, on a relative basis, the EM fixed income space proved to be much more resilient compared to some developed-market risk assets, such as US equities, which saw precipitous falls during December.

The start of 2019 brought an early-year bounce for EM, from a variety of factors, including an increasingly dovish tone from the US Federal Reserve (Fed), progress on US-China trade talks and stabilising oil markets.

The positive sentiment persisted into February, as China witnessed a fresh round of accommodative measures and stimulus, and the Fed continued its dovish rhetoric. March marked a turning point for EMs, as the accommodative narrative from major central banks – including the Fed and European Central Bank – stoked fears of a slowdown in global growth, which led to a fall in equities and currencies. In particular, the Argentine peso suffered and Turkey's policy errors were once again evident in its indecisive defense of its depreciating currency.

Risk assets suffered a sharp sell-off in May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration. More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 12.06% over the 12-month period, modestly underperforming the 12.45% return of the benchmark index by 39bps. The underperformance was largely driven by the broadly underweight bias to US Treasury duration in the portfolio, which was a notable detractor in Q1 2019. In terms of country positioning the high-yielding segments of the portfolio were funded through the low-yielding, more Treasury-sensitive assets, such as Peru, Uruguay, the Philippines and Panama. These underweight allocations detracted from performance over the review period.

In terms of contributors, our overweight allocations to several oil-sensitive assets contributed positively to relative returns, including Qatar (through 30-year long duration bonds), Ecuador and Nigeria. Other high-carry assets such as Egyptian bonds were also successful. The overweight allocation to Brazil, mainly through Petrobras, was most successful as structural reform in the country appeared to gain momentum, and Brazilian assets generally found favour with investors and enjoyed inflows.

Outlook

Global data remains mixed, with some positive signals coming from the US earnings season and more recent US economic data. However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. In Asia, the data looks to be stabilising as trade figures have improved but manufacturing purchasing managers' indices remain weak.

With risk assets at elevated levels, the onus is now on central banks to continue to make good on their dovish tones. A key focal point in this regard, in our opinion, will be the Fed, which – while having cut rates by 25bps in July – may have more work to do to appease the market, within which additional cuts are priced between now and year end. This is further complicated by the conflicting forces of the better bottom-up data coming out of the US, on the one hand, with an increasingly vocal president on the other, advocating much more aggressive interest-rate cuts in a bid to seemingly prop up the stock market into the 2020 election cycle.

In EMs, there is a lot to focus on, not least the most recent iteration of tit-for-tat spats between China and the US; the latest threat of more aggressive US tariffs led Chinese authorities to retaliate by devaluing the renminbi (which dropped below the significant level of 7 to the dollar for the first time in over a decade), much to the frustration of President Donald Trump. This latest move calls into the question the ability for a trade deal to be brokered, and thus avert an all-out global trade war.

Turning to Argentina, following the outcome of the primaries at the beginning of August, as we approach the October elections it is unlikely that new favourite Alberto Fernandez will do much to appease markets. Indeed, the market has already moved to price in a high likelihood of default in 2020, and we expect volatility to remain in the short to medium term.

Overall, our view remains constructive on EMs, given the continued easing bias of central banks, but we remain cautious. We have felt it prudent to begin de-risking portfolios at the margins given a number of macroeconomic headwinds – US-China relations, global trade, politics – coupled with the typical seasonal lull in market liquidity, which we feel could accentuate negative moves in bond prices in an adverse market environment.

2. BlueBay Funds - BlueBay High Yield Bond Fund

Review

The second half of 2018 got off to a strong start. Global markets began to close the differential with the US, with the exception of Asia ex-Japan. The region was weaker as stocks struggled to shrug off concerns that the ongoing tit-for-tat trade tariff rhetoric would weigh on medium-term performance.

However, the upbeat sentiment tailed off towards the year-end as volatility increased. Losses in October became gains in November, only for indices to turn negative again in December. After a strong run, fast-growing companies with high valuation multiples in the US technology, internet and biotechnology sectors, were in the eye of the market storm. We believe this correction was fuelled by a necessary de-rating in valuations and normalisation in risk premia – a relatively typical late monetary cycle move, which is unlikely to mark the end of the equity bull market.

The new year brought a welcome bounce, with equities posting their strongest quarterly performance in nearly ten years in the first quarter. The rally was driven by a more dovish stance from the US Federal Reserve, which signalled it wouldn't hike rates at all in 2019, and the easing in trade tensions between the US and China. Additionally, the European Central Bank confirmed that it will begin to discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth.

Markets continued to grind higher into April, as companies reported better-than-expected earnings. Data releases in China showed that government stimulus measures helped boost economic growth, seemingly avoiding a 'hard landing'. Volatility re-emerged during May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors, with the US increasing pressure on China and Mexico to reach separate trade agreements. This, in turn, caused weak performance across risk assets. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico, with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration.

Performance

The fund returned 5.68% over the period, outpacing the benchmark (BAML European Currency High Yield Constrained Index (HR EUR)) by 20bps.

Performance during the first half of the year (H2 2018) was boosted by positive name selection as the incidence of earnings misses and resultant large downward moves in individual bond prices rose in line with deteriorating economic sentiment, which weighed on overall benchmark returns. As a result of this deterioration in economic sentiment, the fund benefitted from underweight positioning in cyclical sectors such as basic industry, autos and capital goods, which are more sensitive to the global economic outlook. This positioning was also of benefit during the latter part of the period as trade-related concerns became increasingly important, weighing on more growth-sensitive sectors.

BlueBay Funds

2. BlueBay Funds - BlueBay High Yield Bond Fund (continued)

Offsetting these sector and stock selection gains during the second half of the period was the fund's preference for B rather than higher-rated BB securities. Despite the generally positive backdrop for risk markets during the second half of the period (the first half of 2019), which would normally favour lower-rated issuers, higher-beta (lower-rated) securities underperformed, reflecting the market's preference for 'safe risk' and the greater sensitivity of BB-rated assets to declining core rates (driven by dovish rhetoric from both the Fed and the ECB). Regionally, stock selection and modest overweight positioning within the UK was of significant benefit during the period as a greater risk premium is indiscriminately assigned to UK-domiciled issuers.

Outlook

The prospect of renewed support from the ECB and the potential impact that this may have on the technical backdrop for European credit markets – either through directly buying corporate bonds, as is speculated, or through the secondary effect of non-traditional buyers traversing further down the credit spectrum in search of yield – provides a potentially supportive backdrop and a counter to the lacklustre economic environment. However, it is important to note that even with this potentially supportive technical dynamic, which does remain somewhat speculative, the idiosyncratic credit stresses that were becoming more common place in recent months won't disappear overnight. Indeed, we continue to see evidence of these in more cyclical sectors. So, credit selection will remain paramount, even if this more supportive backdrop does emerge.

Review

The second half of 2018 got off to a strong start, with almost all equity indices on the rise. Global markets began to close the differential with the US, with the exception of Asia ex-Japan. The region was weaker as stocks struggled to shrug off concerns that the ongoing tit-for-tat trade tariff rhetoric would weigh on medium-term performance.

However, the upbeat sentiment tailed off towards the year-end as volatility increased. Losses in October became gains in November, only for indices to turn negative again in December. Performance

The fund returned 4.64% over the period, underperforming the benchmark return of 4.83% by 18bps.

The positive total return was driven largely by a significant rally in underlying government yields, with 10-year Bunds over 60bps lower, but was also helped by slightly tighter corporate spreads. The relative underperformance was mostly driven by rates positioning, where we generally ran duration slightly short of the benchmark, which detracted given the rally in yields. This was in part as a way to protect capital against yields rising given how low yields have got and given

Société d'Investissement à Capital Variable

3. BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Investment Grade Bond Fund (continued)

the impact a rise in yields would have on total returns. The fund has run a long corporate risk (beta) position through most of the period and, although this suffered during the weakness of Q4 2018, the recovery in H1 2019 meant this positioning boosted returns. Bottom-up positioning was been slightly negative, with two key detractors being Telecom Italia and GE. Telecom Italia spreads widened after the CEO resigned, pushing back the likely timing of ratings upgrades which we had expected to come through in late 2018. With GE, our long position suffered after disappointing progress on the company's restructuring plan, which pushed spreads wider on the name. Key issuer contributors included corporate hybrid issues from EDF and Telefonica and subordinated bank longs in UBS, Unicredit, Credit Suisse and Intesa.

Outlook

While we suspect that the market has become too pessimistic on growth, and feel that recession risk is low, we believe that trade-war rhetoric will likely remain a concern to markets. Looking beyond the noise, US growth remains robust; so, while the Fed is signalling that it is ready to act to sustain the expansion, current market expectations for multiple rate cuts looks overstated, and a short in US duration thus looks a compelling asymmetric opportunity over the medium term.

In Europe, growth is more uncertain, and the dovish ECB has signalled further rate cuts and asset purchases. This anchors Bund yields and could continue to have a 'Japanification' (demand for yield) effect, leading to flatter curves and tighter spreads. The European periphery seems an obvious beneficiary of investors' need for yield, with Italy and Greece our favoured names despite recent strength. Italy looks cheap against most other credit, on what is a zero-risk-weighted asset, and headlines around politics and deficit targets mean that there is also opportunity for tactical trading.

Negative-yielding, risk-free assets and low default rates support demand for corporate bonds. The market increasingly lends itself more to tactical trading and generating returns from bottom-up issuer and sector selection as performance dispersion rises, driven by factors such as regional divergence in growth, trade wars and shifting monetary policy. We will continue to look for shorts in vulnerable cyclical issuers, while adding risk in highly liquid defensive non-cyclical issuers, as well as more idiosyncratic credit situations (where we are compensated for taking risk). As the cycle becomes increasingly mature, we maintain a strong focus on liquidity, which allows us a degree of flexibility.

With yields on bond indices at or near lows, the outlook for benchmark returns – and therefore also passive fund management – looks as challenging as ever. Strong returns from fixed income therefore increasingly relies on generating alpha. The good news is that volatility is never far away, which should make for plentiful alpha opportunities from tactical investing and taking advantage of divergence and dispersion within markets. Long/short investing and a capital preservation mindset have never been more relevant as key drivers of returns.

More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 7.89% over the 12-month period, underperforming the 8.99% return of the benchmark index by 110bps.

The reporting period got off to a difficult start, as EM local currency assets experienced a challenging third quarter. The economic and political crisis gathered pace in Turkey and Argentina and investor sentiment around EM assets in general turned negative. We began the period modestly overweight the local rates component in Turkey, which came under significant pressure as the country's political crisis accelerated. As investors continued to lose confidence in Turkey, threats of further sanctions from the US led to a sharp sell-off in the lira and yields rose meaningfully. Our overweight bias detracted from performance.

Turkey remained a challenging position into 2018 year-end, as the lira rallied, creating losses on our underweight bias against the currency. Other currencies also stabilised during the fourth quarter – including the Indonesian rupiah, where our predominantly cautious bias also detracted. Additionally, our overweight bias to Mexican local rates detracted from performance, due mainly to heightened inflationary dynamics coming into play, although this was slightly offset by our underweight bias to the Mexican peso.

EM currencies continued to rebound into the new year, along with EM assets more broadly. Chinese fiscal and monetary policy remained accommodative, helping to stabilise sentiment around commodities and providing a lift to those assets with a direct economic relationship to China, such as certain Latin American and African countries. This rally, however, halted somewhat once the Fed took a dovish turn, voicing concerns around US economic health. In general, investors extended such worries to a broader global growth slowdown. Overall, our overweight risk bias, expressed mostly through currencies, generated gains, notably the allocation to Egypt and our Turkish rates bias.

Turkey remained in the picture as the reporting period drew to a close. The main detractor during Q2 2019 was our positioning in Turkish local markets. A small payer position, via interest-rate swaps at the front end of the Turkish curve, underperformed. The front end of the curve rallied towards the latter part of the quarter, benefiting from the broad-based rally across EM local markets. This more than offset concerns about Turkey's political risk profile. The underweight allocation to Chilean local rates also detracted, as copper prices recovered over the quarter amid optimism surrounding the Chinese economy.

Volatility was high for EM assets as the reporting period got underway. Driven by intensifying crises in Turkey and Argentina, a number of EM assets witnessed pricing dislocation through the thin liquidity period of August, before bouncing back in September. Oil prices were quite strong during this period, however, which supported a number of energy-linked EM assets. Our overweight bias to a number of oil-linked hard currency assets, such as Ecuador, Nigeria, Bolivia, Qatar, Kazakhstan, Iraq and Azerbaijan, contributed to relative performance.

Conversely, many of these oil-related positions proved to be underperformers in the fourth quarter of 2018 as significant volatility hit emerging and developed markets alike. Losses were somewhat offset by our underweight bias to Venezuela, Malaysia and Russia, where prices suffered due to heightened political risk as well as oil price moves.

The new calendar year brought a welcome bounce for the asset class, with EM local currencies leading the pack. This rally, however, halted somewhat once the Federal Reserve took a highly dovish turn, voicing concerns around US economic health. Investors extended such worries to a broader global growth slowdown. This view was also somewhat supported by ECB's dovish turn of tone in March on the back of poor economic data. As a result, core rates rallied in March.

We maintained a broadly underweight bias to US Treasury duration and this bias detracted over the second quarter. Elsewhere, however, our allocations decisions in FX, local rates and hard currency spread sectors were successful.

With the macroeconomic backdrop becoming more constructive in the final few months of the reporting period, EM debt assets witnessed significant inflows. Our overweight allocation to local-currency debt in Brazil was successful in June, as the assets benefited from both continued structural reforms and favourable sentiment towards EM assets generally. Our off-benchmark allocation to Petrobras also benefited from a yield-seeking environment. Our underweight allocation to Turkey, through hard and local-currency bonds, detracted from performance in an environment in which all high-carry assets performed well. We had implemented an underweight bias to Asian local-currency assets from Thailand and South Korea due to the increased noise around trade-war rhetoric from the US. However, this bias detracted from performance as Asian assets also benefited in line with other EM debt assets.

Performance

The fund returned 9.09% over the 12-month period, underperforming the 10.65% return of the benchmark index by 156bps.

Country allocation was the main source of underperformance, driven by our overweight exposure to Latin America. Brazilian corporates detracted heavily in third quarter of 2018 due to idiosyncratic events, as well as heightened volatility going into the presidential elections. This was followed by further detraction due to our CDS hedges as Brazilian assets rallied in the wake of Jair Bolsonaro's appointment. Elsewhere in Latin America, our overweight in Argentina detracted from performance as the market became increasingly uncomfortable with the country's high and increasing debt burden.

Over the period the fund's interest-rate positioning was also a drag to performance. This underperformance was mainly in the first quarter of 2019, when US Treasuries rallied significantly from 2.69% down to 2.41%. This also affected country performance in countries like Saudi Arabia where we were underweight lower-beta markets in preference for high-yield.

In terms of contributors, the fund generated positive alpha thorough positioning to commodity-sensitive markets such as Nigeria, Qatar and Kazakhstan, where the high oil-price environment benefitted credits, especially in Q3 2018. Further positive returns were provided by security selection, specifically in the Chinese high-yield real-estate sector which surprised to the upside.

Outlook

Global data remains mixed, with some positive signals coming from the US earnings season and more recent US economic data. However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. In Asia, the data looks to be stabilising as trade figures have improved but manufacturing purchasing managers' indices remain weak.

With risk assets at elevated levels, the onus is now on central banks to continue to make good on their dovish tones. A key focal point in this regard, in our opinion, will be the Fed, which – while having cut rates by 25bps in July – may have more work to do to appease the market, within which additional cuts are priced between now and year end. This is further complicated by the conflicting forces of the better bottom-up data coming out of the US, on the one hand, with an increasingly vocal president on the other, advocating much more aggressive interest-rate cuts in a bid to seemingly prop up the stock market into the 2020 election cycle.

In EMs, there is a lot to focus on, not least the most recent iteration of tit-for-tat spats between China and the US; the latest threat of more aggressive US tariffs led Chinese authorities to retaliate by devaluing the renminbi (which dropped below the significant level of 7 to the dollar for the first time in over a decade), much to the frustration of President Donald Trump. This latest move calls into the question the ability for a trade deal to be brokered, and thus avert an all-out global trade war.

Turning to Argentina, following the outcome of the primaries at the beginning of August, as we approach the October elections it is unlikely that new favourite Alberto Fernandez will do much to appease markets. Indeed, the market has already moved to price in a high likelihood of default in 2020, and we expect volatility to remain in the short to medium term.

Overall, our view remains constructive on EMs, given the continued easing bias of central banks, but we remain cautious. We have felt it prudent to begin de-risking portfolios at the margins given a number of macroeconomic headwinds – US-China relations, global trade, politics – coupled with the typical seasonal lull in market liquidity, which we feel could accentuate negative moves in bond prices in an adverse market environment.

Market Review

The second half of 2018 got off to a strong start, with almost all equity indices on the rise. Global markets began to close the differential with the US, with the exception of Asia ex-Japan. The region was weaker as stocks struggled to shrug off concerns that the ongoing tit-for-tat trade tariff rhetoric would weigh on medium-term performance.

However, the upbeat sentiment tailed off towards the year-end as volatility increased. Losses in October became gains in November, only for indices to turn negative again in December. After a strong run, fast-growing companies with high valuation multiples in the US technology, internet and biotechnology sectors, were in the eye of the market storm. We believe this correction was fuelled by a necessary de-rating in valuations and normalisation in risk premia – a relatively typical late monetary cycle move, which is unlikely to mark the end of the equity bull market.

The new year brought a welcome bounce, with equities posting their strongest quarterly performance in nearly ten years in the first quarter. The rally was driven by a more dovish stance from the US Federal Reserve, which signalled it wouldn't hike rates at all in 2019, and the easing in trade tensions between the US and China. Additionally, the European Central Bank confirmed that it will begin to discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth.

Markets continued to grind higher into April, as companies reported better-than-expected earnings. Data releases in China showed that government stimulus measures helped boost economic growth, seemingly avoiding a 'hard landing'. Volatility re-emerged during May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors, with the US increasing pressure on China and Mexico to reach separate trade agreements. This, in turn, caused weak performance across risk assets. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico, with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration.

Performance

The BlueBay Global Convertible Bond Fund returned 1.91% over the period, underperforming the Thomson Reuters Global Focus Convertible Index by 52bps. The MSCI All Country World Equity Index rose 3.61%, the iTraxx European Crossover Index tightened from 320bps to 256bps and the ICE Merrill Lynch US High Yield Index was up 7.58%. Additionally, the ICE Merrill Lynch Global Corporate Bond Index was up 7.80%% in US dollar terms.

The fund generated strong returns in the US as markets rallied at the beginning of 2019, following the sharp sell-off in Q4 2018. Europe also added to returns, however, the investments in Japan detracted from absolute returns as equities underperformed global markets despite resilient earnings from corporates. Positioning in Asia ex-Japan slightly detracted as trade tensions continued to weigh on sentiment.

Cancer test provider Exact Sciences reported positive preliminary fourth-quarter results, with revenue expected to rise over 65% year-on-year, beating the highest analyst estimates. Ichor Coal generated returns as the fund exited the position at an attractive price as the company looked to restructure the bond and extend maturity. Enterprise software developer Atlassian rose as it reported its biggest quarterly beat in its history. In addition to benefitting from the broader rally in risk assets, Atlassian reported quarterly results which beat analyst expectations and forecasted third-fiscal quarter revenues that topped forecasts. Latin American e-commerce retailer MercadoLibre posted fourth-quarter earnings, reporting a comfortable beat of sales estimates, sending its shares up to their all-time high. Shares in the human resources cloud application provider Workday hit new all-time highs following several solid quarterly earnings reports over the year. The company continues to grow subscription revenues at a healthy pace while expanding gross margins.

Shares in Australian uranium miner Paladin Energy fell nearly 30%, with most of the weakness felt in March, as uranium prices fell in the last month of the quarter following a strong 2018. The company has recently commenced a study to restart one of its main mines. We think that over the long term as commodity prices continue to normalise, Paladin could return to profitability. Electric automaker Tesla fell as the company announced job cuts amounting to 7% of its workforce, the departure of its chief financial officer and reported a lower profit in the last quarter of 2018 compared to the previous quarter.

Outlook

As expected, the Federal Reserve and European Central Bank have confirmed that they will use their monetary tools to support the economy as global trade tensions and mixed economic data weigh on investor confidence. We feel that risk assets should continue to perform in this environment. However, with a trade agreement between the US and China not yet fully resolved, we could yet see volatility in markets over the medium term. We think convertibles continue to offer positive risk-adjusted returns as part of a diversified portfolio, while also giving investors protection to the downside.

wouldn't hike rates at all in 2019, and the easing in trade tensions between the US and China. Additionally, the European Central Bank confirmed that it will begin to discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth.

This, in turn, caused weak performance across risk assets. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico, with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration.

Performance

The fund returned 5.68% over the period outpacing the benchmark by 30bps.

Performance during the first half of the year (H2 2018) was boosted by positive name selection as the incidence of earnings misses and resultant large downward moves in individual bond prices rose in line with deteriorating economic sentiment, which weighed on overall benchmark returns. As a result of this deterioration in economic sentiment, the fund also benefitted from underweight positioning in cyclical sectors such as basic industry, autos and capital goods, which are more sensitive to the global economic outlook. This positioning was also of benefit during the latter part of the period as trade-related concerns became increasingly important, weighing on more growth-sensitive sectors.

Offsetting these sector and stock selection gains during the second half of the period was the fund's preference for B rather than higher-rated BB securities. Despite the generally positive back drop for risk markets during the second half of the period (the first half of 2019), which would normally favour lower-rated issuers, higher-beta (lower-rated) securities underperformed, reflecting the market's preference for 'safe risk' and the greater sensitivity of BB-rated assets to declining core rates (driven by dovish rhetoric from both the Fed and the ECB). Regionally, stock selection and modest overweight positioning within the UK was of significant benefit during the period as a greater risk premium is indiscriminately assigned to UK-domiciled issuers.

Outlook

The prospect of renewed support from the ECB and the potential impact that this may have on the technical backdrop for European credit markets – either through directly buying corporate bonds, as is speculated, or through the secondary effect of non-traditional buyers traversing further down the credit spectrum in search of yield – provides a potentially supportive backdrop and a counter to the lacklustre economic environment. However, it is important to note that even with this potentially supportive technical dynamic, which does remain somewhat speculative, the idiosyncratic credit stresses that were becoming more common place in recent months won't disappear overnight. Indeed, we continue to see evidence of these in more cyclical sectors. So, credit selection will remain paramount, even if this more supportive backdrop does emerge.

Market review

There were a number of idiosyncratic developments which tested investors' nerves in the opening months of the reporting period. In Turkey, the government announced a 'New Economic Program' for 2019-2021, with a focus on export strength, fiscal discipline and structural reforms. Argentine assets rebounded on the expectation of an improved IMF package, while Brazilian assets demonstrated a partial recovery as the electoral polls showed Jair Bolsonaro gaining support.

Another topic – which became a long-running concern for emerging markets (EM) – was speculations around the US imposing further tariffs on Chinese products, which ultimately came to fruition.

9. BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Unconstrained Bond Fund (formerly BlueBay Funds – BlueBay Emerging Market Absolute Return Bond Fund) (continued)

The volatility created by geopolitical newsflow continued towards calendar year-end. However, on a relative basis, the EM fixed income space proved to be much more resilient compared to some developed-market risk assets, such as US equities, which saw precipitous falls during December.

The start of 2019 brought an early-year bounce for EM, from a variety of factors, including an increasingly dovish tone from the US Federal Reserve (Fed), progress on US-China trade talks and stabilising oil markets.

The positive sentiment persisted into February, as China witnessed a fresh round of accommodative measures and stimulus, and the Fed continued its dovish rhetoric. March marked a turning point for EMs, as the accommodative narrative from major central banks – including the Fed and European Central Bank – stoked fears of a slowdown in global growth, which led to a fall in equities and currencies. In particular, the Argentine peso suffered and Turkey's policy errors were once again evident in its indecisive defense of its depreciating currency.

Risk assets suffered a sharp sell-off in May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration. More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 8.60% over the 12-month period, outperforming the 2.06% return of the benchmark index by 601bps.

Markets got off to a volatile start, with positive performance from the local currency and sovereign strategies helping to offset negative returns from exposure to special situation and distressed securities for the third quarter all-over. Within the local currency strategy, the fund was short local FX across a range of currencies; one of the most profitable positions was a short in the Argentine peso, which sold off strongly when the government announced its intention to seek IMF approval for front-loaded disbursements. The main detractors to quarterly performance stemmed from the fund's exposure to special situation and distressed securities.

The fourth quarter brought a 40% plunge in oil prices, driven by a combination of worries around both supply and demand. Chinese economic data also continued to soften during the period. A prominent source of underperformance in the portfolio was our overweight bias to a number of oil-exporting hard currency issuers, such as in Nigeria, Ecuador, Bolivia, Iraq, Oman, Kazakhstan, Saudi Arabia and Qatar. This was somewhat offset by our underweight bias to Venezuela, Malaysia and Russia, where prices suffered due to heightened political risk as well as oil price moves.

Moving into 2019, the fund had a stellar month in January, with notable contributions coming from sovereign and corporate credit strategies, alongside local currency.

Longs in commodity-linked currencies, such as the Colombian, Chilean and Mexican pesos, detracted during the spring as global growth concerns resurfaced and politically-induced volatility in Turkey and Brazil led to some contagion elsewhere. On the local rates side, Egypt generated gains as the high-carry market makes it attractive in this environment of lower core rates.

In terms of detractors, the fund's short position to Turkish sovereign credit via CDS was notable in June. Turkish credit positions, like most other EM countries, benefited from the rally in core rates and demand for higher-yield assets.

Outlook

Global data remains mixed, with some positive signals coming from the US earnings season and more recent US economic data. However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. In Asia, the data looks to be stabilising as trade figures have improved but manufacturing purchasing managers' indices remain weak.

Slightly tighter sovereign spreads also added. The relative outperformance was driven by an overweight to the periphery, particularly Italy, where we have been more constructive than the market on the coalition's agenda and relations with its EU counterparts. Another contributor was Greece, which continues to be an improving credit story. The main detractors came from rates, where we have been short US duration expecting higher rates due to the strength of the domestic economy, and short UK Gilts, based on unattractive valuations and political risks surrounding Brexit. This was partly offset by a long in European rates. In currencies, the Nordic longs, including the Icelandic krona, proved to be a small detractor overall.

Outlook

The eurozone's composite purchasing managers' index (PMI) reading for July highlighted the issues facing the ECB, as the index dropped from 52.2 to 51.5. The key driver behind the weakness was the fall in the manufacturing PMI, to 46.4, as troubles in the German industrial sector continued to weigh on the eurozone. As one of the largest exporters in the world, increased trade uncertainty and a struggling autos sector have continued to impact the German economy.

Despite our slight fear that Draghi overreached in his speech in Sintra, economic data has been weak enough to bring the Governing Council on board to promise a significant package of additional monetary easing in September. We expect this to include a cut in interest rates, some form of tiering to mitigate bank stress and, potentially, a reopening of the asset-purchase programme.

President Donald Trump has reignited trade tensions with China by adding additional tariffs, in response to a perceived stalling in negotiations with Beijing. It seems that there is a real danger that both sides have put themselves into a position that is difficult to climb down from quickly; in this context, worries on global growth are set to remain elevated. Against this backdrop, it makes sense to cut US risk, having reached our stop loss on the short US duration position. At the same time, there are now more than 100bps of rate cuts priced into the US curve to the end of next year. This would see the federal funds rate close to 1%, which – given that the US economy retains decent momentum and is far from recession – makes such pricing seem excessive. Therefore, we maintain a short position, albeit one that is more modest.

Performance

The fund returned 8.1% over the course of the year, underperforming the benchmark by 50bps.

Name selection and avoiding underperforming credits was key during the early part of the period as we noted a significant rise in idiosyncratic risks in Europe in particular. With little spread compensation available in many of these names, we witnessed an increase in volatile downward price action in those affected.

As the high yield market retreated aggressively into the end of 2018, the fund's underweight allocation to cyclical sectors, such as basic industry, autos and capital goods, was a source of alpha as more growth-sensitive securities underperformed as questions were raised on the global economic outlook.

On the contrary, the fund's preference for lower-rated (B) securities more levered to robust corporate fundamentals weighed on performance during the latter part of 2018 (as less risky BBs outperformed significantly amidst question marks over growth sustainability). Unusually, despite the extreme strength of the market rebound in 2019, the fund's preference for B-rated securities over BBs continued to be a source of underperformance as higher-rated securities surprisingly continued to record outsized returns (this was highly unusual in a period with such significant outright returns but reflecting tightening underlying rates, which benefits higher rated/higher duration securities and is also reflective of the wider markets apparent preference for perceived 'safe risk').

During periods of heightened trade uncertainty, the fund's preference for less cyclical sectors was a positive source of performance (reversing as trade-related concerns waned periodically), although was a notable source of underperformance as the market rebounded aggressively during the opening weeks of 2019. Regionally, strong stock selection and modest overweight positioning within the UK was of significant benefit during the period as a greater risk premium is indiscriminately assigned to UK-domiciled issuers, while underweight positioning in emerging markets was a drag relative to benchmark (despite positive stock selection in the region).

Outlook

The backdrop of a somewhat accommodative Fed – although perhaps not to the extent that some were seeking – and the prospect of renewed support from the ECB, in theory, extends the runway for global corporates (and credit markets more generally) over the medium term. In particular, in the context of modestly improving US economic data and a better-than-expected start to the second quarter earnings season. Recent tariff headlines do, however, underline that trade concerns have not been put to bed and serve as a timely reminder that the apparent safety net from monetary policy cannot be viewed in isolation. Indeed, the dichotomy of results across sectors – for example, steel, automotives and chemicals languishing – underline that a degree of caution remains prudent. Therefore, we prefer to express a constructive view via traditionally less-cyclical sectors, which are likely to prove more robust if recent concerns over trade and growth momentum do prove to be founded. As ever, we remain cognisant of complacency and, accordingly, remain focused on credit selection. Our intention is to achieve the best risk-adjusted returns in this slightly less certain environment, while balancing appropriate levels of beta within our funds.

In particular, the Argentine peso suffered and Turkey's policy errors were once again evident in its indecisive defense of its depreciating currency.

Risk assets suffered a sharp sell-off in May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration. More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 10.41% over the 12-month period, outperforming the 10.33% return of the benchmark index by 8bps.

Exposure to the Middle East was the primary source of performance during the opening quarter of the reporting period, namely Qatar, Kazakhstan and the UAE, all of which benefited from persistently higher oil prices as Brent oil rose to USD83 a barrel. Exposure to Argentina proved to be a detractor as the country traded poorly given the lingering overhang of its increasing debt burden.

Remaining in South America, it was Brazil that was the prominent detractor in the closing months of 2018. We hedged some of our overweight exposure through sovereign CDS, which detracted given the strong performance of Brazilian assets in the wake of the victory for market-friendly candidate Jair Bolsonaro in the presidential election. Performance then reversed moving into 2019 as our overweight performed well given the positive sentiment towards Bolsonaro's ability to drive through pension reform. Our overweight to Colombia also added value on the back of higher oil prices and a stable peso.

To round off the reporting year, security selection in Peru proved additive, alongside South African mining exposure as gold prices ticked higher. Our underweight in Russian credit was also a detractor, though we continued to hold the underweight on fundamental grounds.

Outlook

Global data remains mixed, with some positive signals coming from the US earnings season and more recent US economic data. However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. In Asia, the data looks to be stabilising as trade figures have improved but manufacturing purchasing managers' indices remain weak.

With risk assets at elevated levels, the onus is now on central banks to continue to make good on their dovish tones. A key focal point in this regard, in our opinion, will be the Fed, which – while having cut rates by 25bps in July – may have more work to do to appease the market, within which additional cuts are priced between now and year end. This is further complicated by the conflicting forces of the better bottom-up data coming out of the US, on the one hand, with an increasingly vocal president on the other, advocating much more aggressive interest-rate cuts in a bid to seemingly prop up the stock market into the 2020 election cycle.

In EMs, there is a lot to focus on, not least the most recent iteration of tit-for-tat spats between China and the US; the latest threat of more aggressive US tariffs led Chinese authorities to retaliate by devaluing the renminbi (which dropped below the significant level of 7 to the dollar for the first time in over a decade), much to the frustration of President Donald Trump. This latest move calls into the question the ability for a trade deal to be brokered, and thus avert an all-out global trade war.

Turning to Argentina, following the outcome of the primaries at the beginning of August, as we approach the October elections it is unlikely that new favourite Alberto Fernandez will do much to appease markets. Indeed, the market has already moved to price in a high likelihood of default in 2020, and we expect volatility to remain in the short to medium term.

Overall, our view remains constructive on EMs, given the continued easing bias of central banks, but we remain cautious. We have felt it prudent to begin de-risking portfolios at the margins given a number of macroeconomic headwinds – US-China relations, global trade, politics – coupled with the typical seasonal lull in market liquidity, which we feel could accentuate negative moves in bond prices in an adverse market environment.

Review

The second half of 2018 got off to a strong start, with almost all equity indices on the rise. Global markets began to close the differential with the US, with the exception of Asia ex-Japan. The region was weaker as stocks struggled to shrug off concerns that the ongoing tit-for-tat trade tariff rhetoric would weigh on medium-term performance.

However, the upbeat sentiment tailed off towards the year-end as volatility increased. Losses in October became gains in November, only for indices to turn negative again in December. After a strong run, fast-growing companies with high valuation multiples in the US technology, internet and biotechnology sectors, were in the eye of the market storm. We believe this correction was fuelled by a necessary de-rating in valuations and normalisation in risk premia – a relatively typical late monetary cycle move, which is unlikely to mark the end of the equity bull market.

The new year brought a welcome bounce, with equities posting their strongest quarterly performance in nearly ten years in the first quarter. The rally was driven by a more dovish stance from the US Federal Reserve, which signalled it wouldn't hike rates at all in 2019, and the easing in trade tensions between the US and China. Additionally, the European Central Bank confirmed that it will begin to discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth.

Markets continued to grind higher into April, as companies reported better-than-expected earnings. Data releases in China showed that government stimulus measures helped boost economic growth, seemingly avoiding a 'hard landing'. Volatility re-emerged during May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors, with the US increasing pressure on China and Mexico to reach separate trade agreements. This, in turn, caused weak performance across risk assets. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico, with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration.

Performance

The fund returned -1.67% over the period.

Main detractors came from rates and currency positions and, to a lesser degree, corporate credit. In rates, the fund was generally short duration for much of the period, with particular focus on shorts in the front-end of the US curve and in UK duration risk. This was partly offset by a long in European rates. In currencies, a long-held long position in Icelandic krona was the main detractor, with other Nordic longs in Swedish krona and Norwegian krone largely neutral for returns. The short in sterling added to returns as it benefitted from ongoing Brexit concerns. Elsewhere, a number of small EM currency positions detracted over the period. In credit, performance from corporate credit was a slight negative, with the key issuer detractor being Telecom Italia after spreads widened as the CEO resigned, pushing back the likely timing of ratings upgrades which we had expected to come through in late 2018. Sovereign credit longs, however, added to returns, driven mostly by positions in Greece and Italy, where spreads tightened significantly.

While we suspect that the market has become too pessimistic on growth, and feel that recession risk is low, we believe that trade-war rhetoric will likely remain a concern to markets. Looking beyond the noise, US growth remains robust; so, while the Fed are signalling that it is ready to act to sustain the expansion, current market expectations for multiple rate cuts looks overstated, and a short in US duration thus looks a compelling asymmetric opportunity over the medium term.

In Europe, growth is more uncertain, and the dovish ECB has signalled further rate cuts and asset purchases. This anchors Bund yields and could continue to have a 'Japanification' (demand for yield) effect, leading to flatter curves and tighter spreads. The European periphery seems an obvious beneficiary of investors' need for yield, with Italy and Greece our favoured names despite recent strength. Italy looks cheap against most other credit, on what is a zero-risk-weighted asset, and headlines around politics and deficit targets mean that there is also opportunity for tactical trading.

Negative-yielding, risk-free assets and low default rates support demand for corporate bonds. The market increasingly lends itself more to tactical trading and generating returns from bottom-up issuer and sector selection as performance dispersion rises, driven by factors such as regional divergence in growth, trade wars and shifting monetary policy. We will continue to look for shorts in vulnerable cyclical issuers, while adding risk in highly liquid defensive non-cyclical issuers, as well as more idiosyncratic credit situations (where we are compensated for taking risk). As the cycle becomes increasingly mature, we maintain a strong focus on liquidity, which allows us a degree of flexibility.

With yields on bond indices at or near lows, the outlook for benchmark returns – and therefore also passive fund management – looks as challenging as ever. Strong returns from fixed income therefore increasingly relies on generating alpha. The good news is that volatility is never far away, which should make for plentiful alpha opportunities from tactical investing and taking advantage of divergence and dispersion within markets. Long/short investing and a capital preservation mindset have never been more relevant as key drivers of returns.

Market review

There were a number of idiosyncratic developments which tested investors' nerves in the opening months of the reporting period. In Turkey, the government announced a 'New Economic Program' for 2019-2021, with a focus on export strength, fiscal discipline and structural reforms. Argentine assets rebounded on the expectation of an improved IMF package, while Brazilian assets demonstrated a partial recovery as the electoral polls showed Jair Bolsonaro gaining support.

Another topic – which became a long-running concern for emerging markets (EM) – was speculations around the US imposing further tariffs on Chinese products, which ultimately came to fruition.

The volatility created by geopolitical newsflow continued towards calendar year-end. However, on a relative basis, the EM fixed income space proved to be much more resilient compared to some developed-market risk assets, such as US equities, which saw precipitous falls during December.

The start of 2019 brought an early-year bounce for EM, from a variety of factors, including an increasingly dovish tone from the US Federal Reserve (Fed), progress on US-China trade talks and stabilising oil markets.

The positive sentiment persisted into February, as China witnessed a fresh round of accommodative measures and stimulus, and the Fed continued its dovish rhetoric. March marked a turning point for EMs, as the accommodative narrative from major central banks – including the Fed and European Central Bank – stoked fears of a slowdown in global growth, which led to a fall in equities and currencies. In particular, the Argentine peso suffered and Turkey's policy errors were once again evident in its indecisive defense of its depreciating currency.

Risk assets suffered a sharp sell-off in May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration. More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 7.62% over the 12-month period, underperforming the 11.06% return of the benchmark index by 344bps.

As the reporting period got underway, performance was hit by our overweight positioning in Brazil, in particular, our exposure to a couple of idiosyncratic event-driven liquid distressed positions (Oi Telecom and Samarco Mineracao), which were marked lower in an environment of heightened volatility going into the presidential election. We subsequently hedged some of our overweight exposure through sovereign CDS during the fourth quarter of 2018, which detracted given the strong performance of Brazilian assets in the wake of the victory for market-friendly candidate Jair Bolsonaro in the recent presidential election.

Performance remains compromised moving into 2019. Our overweight to Brazilian iron ore producer Samarco Mineracao detracted from performance in the wake of the Vale dam burst in January. Our underweight positioning in Russia was a detractor given the lull in sanctions-related newsflow, while our underweight in Indian credits negatively impacted performance given the strong sentiment in the lead up to Q2 elections.

Argentina cropped up as a detractor towards the close of the reporting period, given the uptick in political volatility in the lead-up to October's elections. Overweight positioning in Turkey was also a detractor, given a deterioration in sentiment and faith in the country's institutional framework.

Outlook

However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. Performance

The BlueBay Global Investment Grade Convertible Bond Fund returned 2.71% over the period, underperforming the Thomson Reuters Global Investment Grade Convertible Index by 186bps. The MSCI All Country World Equity Index rose 3.61%, the iTraxx European Crossover Index tightened from 320bps to 256bps and the ICE Merrill Lynch US High Yield Index was up 7.58%. Additionally, the ICE Merrill Lynch Global Corporate Bond Index was up 7.80% in US dollar terms.

The fund generated returns in the US as markets rallied strongly at the beginning of 2019 following the sharp sell-off in Q4 2018. Asia ex-Japan and Europe also added to returns, however, the investments in Japan detracted from absolute returns as equities underperformed global markets despite resilient earnings from corporates.

Luxury retailer LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton reached an all-time high as demand for luxury goods from Asia continued to grow. As a large player in the market, we believe LVMH is well placed to outperform over the medium term, adapting to changing consumer trends while also taking advantage of robust demand for its product in China. Shares in Red Hat soared after it was announced a deal had been reached for the company to be acquired by IBM for USD34 billion. Illumina touched new all-time highs in June as the US-based developer of systems for genetic researchers continued to generate strong top-line revenue growth with expanding margins, as it maintains its position as a market leader. Illumina also reported first-quarter results which beat the highest analyst estimates and forecast earnings for the rest of the financial year at the top end of street expectations. Shares in MTU Aero Engines outperformed on positive investor sentiment following a series of constructive earnings releases from commercial aerospace peers.

The main driver of underperformance came from the fund's underweight position in mandatory preferred convertibles issued by Wells Fargo and Bank of America.

Outlook

As expected, the Federal Reserve and European Central Bank have confirmed that they will use their monetary tools to support the economy as global trade tensions and mixed economic data weigh on investor confidence. We feel that risk assets should continue to perform in this environment; however, with a trade agreement between the US and China not yet fully resolved, we could yet see volatility in markets over the medium term. We think convertibles continue to offer strong risk-adjusted returns as part of a diversified portfolio, while also giving investors protection to the downside.

Performance

Performance on the fund was 8.56%, compared to the benchmark return of 9.60%, an underperformance of 104bps.

The positive total return was driven largely by a significant rally in underlying government yields, with 10-year Bunds over 60bps lower and 10-year US Treasuries over 80bps lower, but was also helped by slightly tighter corporate spreads and of course the underlying yield on the fund. The relative underperformance came mostly from bottom-up positioning and, in particular, the general theme we were investing in, whereby we positioned overweight in higher-yielding, lower-rated issues against underweights in low-yielding, higher-rate 'safer' credits. Performance so far in 2019 has been driven by a rally in this lower-risk area of the market while the higher-yielding names have lagged, causing much of this underperformance. This means that the top detractors at the issuer level are mostly large issuers where we have held underweights, such as Verizon, Comcast and the big banks like JP Morgan, Wells Fargo and HSBC. Telecom Italia was one overweight that was a notable detractor after spreads widened as the CEO resigned, pushing back the likely timing of ratings upgrades which we had expected to come through in late 2018. The top-performing positive issuer was the new issue from tobacco company Altria.

Outlook

The US economy remains strong as evidenced by the robust employment, consumer spending and GDP numbers. On the other hand, Europe and Asia continue to exhibit softer trends, largely as a result of ongoing trade tensions. Against this backdrop, central banks have taken an increasingly accommodative approach, led by the Fed cutting interest rates by 25bps in July and the ECB signalling a fresh package of stimulus measures at its upcoming September meeting. While this should provide support for risk assets, we feel that markets need to brace themselves for trade-induced bouts of volatility, as evidenced by the recent unexpected escalation of the dispute with China. In credit, we retain our constructive stance, driven by a combination of: (1) corporate issuance slowing down on a reduced mergers-and-acquisitions pipeline, (2) significant inflows into the asset class and (3) reduced hedging costs for offshore investors. These are expected to improve the technical dynamic for our market. We also note that our view is supported by the robust fundamentals of the asset class, with second-quarter earnings coming out better than investors feared. While cyclical sectors saw a negative impact from trade uncertainties, other major sectors – such as consumer services, financials, as well as large-cap technology earnings – remained healthy. We will continue to look for shorts in vulnerable cyclical issuers, adding exposure in highly liquid defensive non-cyclical issuers, as well as more idiosyncratic credit situations (where we are compensated for taking risk).

Performance

The fund returned +7.51% over the period.

The contribution to the fund's return is outlined below:

- High yield 1.68%: Exposure to media, healthcare and financial services were notable contributions to performance over the year. On a regional basis, exposure to North America and Europe were key drivers to returns.
- Structured Credit 0.20%: Notable contributions stemmed from holdings in BB and BBB European CLOs.

- Financial capital bonds (cocos) 0.96%: Exposure to European financials contributed to performance over the year, specifically via exposures to banks in France, Italy and the Netherlands. In the first half of 2019, expected monetary stimulus from the European Central Bank helped to drive the asset class after a tougher finish to 2018.
- Convertible bonds 0.10%: Holdings in Asia Excluding Japan and Europe contributed to returns over the year. On a sector basis, exposure to IT, basis industry and leisure were the largest drivers of returns. In terms of detractors, energy and pharmaceutical holdings proved to be the largest drag on performance.
- Emerging market hard currency 2.71%: Notable contributors to returns were holdings in oil-sensitive assets over the year, such as Nigeria, Qatar and Egypt. Ukraine was a successful holding in the first half of 2019, as the country enjoyed some stabilised sentiment from markets post-election. On a regional basis, holdings in Africa/Middle East and Latin America were key contributors, while Europe was the largest detractor.
- Emerging market local currency 0.99%: Positive returns were generated in the high-beta areas of the market; Latin America was a key contributor to returns over the year, with rates in Brazil, Ecuador and the Dominican Republic driving returns at a country level. Over the year, exposure to FX in Turkey and Argentina were detractors from returns.
- Opportunistic sleeve 1.15%: Holdings in Greece and Catalonia helped drive the positive returns over the year.
- Macro hedge -0.34%: An S&P 500 option, traded to protect the fund from equity market volatility, detracted from performance. Two active foreign exchange positions in the Saudi riyal and Norwegian krone also detracted from performance; however, both positions are long-term hedges against idiosyncratic macro risks.

Outlook

We expect fixed income markets to remain supported over the summer months, buoyed by the dovish central banks as they turn from patient to accommodating. In Europe, inflation and growth expectations make for a dovish European Central Bank (ECB), with further rate cuts and quantitative easing looking increasingly likely. In the US, growth remains robust; and while the Federal Reserve are signalling a readiness to act, current market expectations for multiple rate cuts look overstated. We are cognisant that while global trade uncertainty and concerns surrounding global growth appear placated for now, we believe a degree of caution is prudent.

There were a number of idiosyncratic developments which tested investors' nerves in the opening months of the reporting period. In Turkey, the government announced a 'New Economic Program' for 2019-2021, with a focus on export strength, fiscal discipline and structural reforms. In particular, the Argentine peso suffered and Turkey's policy errors were once again evident in its indecisive defense of its depreciating currency.

Risk assets suffered a sharp sell-off in May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration. More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 6.05% over the 12-month period, underperforming the 6.89% return of the benchmark index by 84bps.

Turkey proved a challenging market for the fund as the reporting period got underway. An overweight Turkish rates position detracted but was offset to some extent by our underweight allocation to the lira. Conversely, weakness in the currency negatively impacted our exposure to Turkish banks, particularly during August when the lira touched an all-time low.

On a positive note, our underweight Russian local debt positioning contributed to relative performance as Russian assets came under pressure from a combined fear of further sanctions and a broader weakening in market sentiment.

Exposure to Brazil benefited the fund during the fourth quarter of 2018. Our overweight positioning contributed during a month which saw Brazilian risk assets perform well in the lead up to the election, where market-friendly candidate Jair Bolsonaro ultimately claimed a resounding victory.

2019 began with positive performance from many of the high-beta Latin American currencies; our overweight biases to the Argentine peso, Brazilian real, Chilean peso, Colombian peso and Peruvian sol were all successful. Chinese real estate names were also notable contributors. The fund was exposed to this sector in selected issuers through Chinese yuan, Singapore dollar and Hong Kong dollar-denominated corporate bonds.

As we shifted into the final quarter of the reporting period, an overweight to Argentina was a notable underperformer. Argentine local assets sold off as early opinion polls suggested ex-President Cristina Fernandez de Kirchner would win a second-round run-off against incumbent President Mauricio Macri.

Outlook

Global data remains mixed, with some positive signals coming from the US earnings season and more recent US economic data. However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. In Asia, the data looks to be stabilising as trade figures have improved but manufacturing purchasing managers' indices remain weak.

With risk assets at elevated levels, the onus is now on central banks to continue to make good on their dovish tones. A key focal point in this regard, in our opinion, will be the Fed, which – while having cut rates by 25bps in July – may have more work to do to appease the market, within which additional cuts are priced between now and year end. This is further complicated by the conflicting forces of the better bottom-up data coming out of the US, on the one hand, with an increasingly vocal president on the other, advocating much more aggressive interest-rate cuts in a bid to seemingly prop up the stock market into the 2020 election cycle.

In EMs, there is a lot to focus on, not least the most recent iteration of tit-for-tat spats between China and the US; the latest threat of more aggressive US tariffs led Chinese authorities to retaliate by devaluing the renminbi (which dropped below the significant level of 7 to the dollar for the first time in over a decade), much to the frustration of President Donald Trump. This latest move calls into the question the ability for a trade deal to be brokered, and thus avert an all-out global trade war.

Turning to Argentina, following the outcome of the primaries at the beginning of August, as we approach the October elections it is unlikely that new favourite Alberto Fernandez will do much to appease markets. Indeed, the market has already moved to price in a high likelihood of default in 2020, and we expect volatility to remain in the short to medium term.

Overall, our view remains constructive on EMs, given the continued easing bias of central banks, but we remain cautious. We have felt it prudent to begin de-risking portfolios at the margins given a number of macroeconomic headwinds – US-China relations, global trade, politics – coupled with the typical seasonal lull in market liquidity, which we feel could accentuate negative moves in bond prices in an adverse market environment.

Review

The second half of 2018 got off to a strong start, with almost all equity indices on the rise. Global markets began to close the differential with the US, with the exception of Asia ex-Japan. The region was weaker as stocks struggled to shrug off concerns that the ongoing tit-for-tat trade tariff rhetoric would weigh on medium-term performance.

However, the upbeat sentiment tailed off towards the year-end as volatility increased. Losses in October became gains in November, only for indices to turn negative again in December. After a strong run, fast-growing companies with high valuation multiples in the US technology, internet and biotechnology sectors, were in the eye of the market storm. We believe this correction was fuelled by a necessary de-rating in valuations and normalisation in risk premia – a relatively typical late monetary cycle move, which is unlikely to mark the end of the equity bull market.

The new year brought a welcome bounce, with equities posting their strongest quarterly performance in nearly ten years in the first quarter. The rally was driven by a more dovish stance from the US Federal Reserve, which signalled it wouldn't hike rates at all in 2019, and the easing in trade tensions between the US and China. Additionally, the European Central Bank confirmed that it will begin to discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth.

Markets continued to grind higher into April, as companies reported better-than-expected earnings. Data releases in China showed that government stimulus measures helped boost economic growth, seemingly avoiding a 'hard landing'. Volatility re-emerged during May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors, with the US increasing pressure on China and Mexico to reach separate trade agreements. This, in turn, caused weak performance across risk assets. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico, with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration.

Performance

The fund returned +6.82% over the 12-month period to end June 2019. During a period where volatility and uncertainty escalated, the fund returns were broadly inline with the carry of the instruments in which the fund is invested. The spreads at the index level were marginally tighter (-27bps) over the period but that conceals a meaningful spread widening into year-end 2018, followed by a sharp rally in AT1 spreads for 2019 year-to-date. The fund continued to invest in the best-in-class banks within Europe and the notable outperformers included the Italian banks of Intesa Sanpaolo and Unicredit in H1 2019. While Italian political uncertainty has remained elevated, there have been periods of respite and these issuers outperformed. Credit Suisse, Rabobank and Bankia were also positive performance drivers. On the negative side, the only notable detractor was Monte dei Paschi. Despite elevated volatility, the liquidity of AT1 instruments remained adequate and, while Q1 2019 was a period of 'bullish decompression', where higher-rated core credit outperformed lower-rated, higher-beta credit, Q2 2019 saw an outperformance of subordinated financials and the fund performance benefitted.

Outlook

We hold firm to the view that central banks are moving in a more dovish direction and are likely to provide support for risky assets in the foreseeable future. Growth is slowing but still positive and we do not see recession as being an imminent threat in either Europe or the US. In this low-but-positive growth environment, investors are searching for yield and there are few themes as compelling as the European bank AT1 market, where investment-grade issuers deliver such attractive returns. We remain convinced that the fundamental improvements that we have seen banks undertake are robust and that the CoCo asset class remains mispriced versus the rest of bank capital structures and the credit universe, including high yield, emerging markets and even bank equities. In all but a severe recession, risks appear to be mispriced and we see significant opportunities to generate alpha as dispersion returns to the asset class. For the first time, we see supply dynamics being a tailwind to performance and can see significant upside in the coming months should the current pause in monetary policy return us to the 'Goldilocks' credit markets of lower-but-stable growth and accommodative central banks.

Performance

The fund returned 4.93% over the period, underperforming the benchmark return of 5.85% by 92bps.

The positive total return was driven largely by a significant rally in underlying government yields, with 10-year Bunds over 60bps lower and 10-year US Treasuries over 80bps lower. Slightly tighter sovereign and corporate spreads also helped. The main detractors came from rates, where we have been short US duration, expecting higher rates due to the strength of the domestic economy, and short UK Gilts based on unattractive valuations and political risks surrounding Brexit. These losses were partly offset by a long in European rates. The main contributors were driven by an overweight to the periphery, particularly Italy, where we have been more constructive than the market on the coalition's agenda and relations with its EU counterparts. Greece, which continues to be an improving credit story, was another contributor. Relative performance from corporate credit was broadly flat with a bias to be overweight financials, in particular, the subordinated debt of national champions and corporate hybrids. In currencies, the short in sterling added to returns as it benefitted from ongoing Brexit concerns, but the Nordic longs, including Iceland, and a number of small EM currency positions detracted from performance overall.

Outlook

With European growth continuing to struggle, particularly manufacturing, we expect a significant package of additional monetary easing in September to include a cut in interest rates, some form of tiering to mitigate bank stress and, potentially, a reopening of the asset-purchase programme. President Trump has reignited trade tensions with China by adding additional tariffs, in response to a perceived stalling in negotiations with Beijing. It seems that there is a real danger that both sides put themselves into a position that is difficult to climb down from quickly; in this context, worries on global growth are set to remain elevated. In an environment where central banks stand ready to deploy more stimulus, this should extend the business cycle and be constructive for credit spreads. Euro periphery seems an obvious beneficiary of investors' need for yield, with Italy and Greece our favoured names, despite recent strength. We continue to favour sub-financials and look for shorts in vulnerable cyclical issuers, while adding risk in highly-liquid, defensive non-cyclical issuers. In term structure, we remain short UK and US duration, as we expect that continued uncertainty over Brexit will lead to substantial fiscal easing, regardless of the outcome. Meanwhile, in the US, too much pessimism is priced into US rate expectations, given the underlying strength of the economy.

22. BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Aggregate Bond Fund

Market review

There were a number of idiosyncratic developments which tested investors' nerves in the opening months of the reporting period. In Turkey, the government announced a 'New Economic Program' for 2019-2021, with a focus on export strength, fiscal discipline and structural reforms. Argentine assets rebounded on the expectation of an improved IMF package, while Brazilian assets demonstrated a partial recovery as the electoral polls showed Jair Bolsonaro gaining support.

Another topic – which became a long-running concern for emerging markets (EM) – was speculations around the US imposing further tariffs on Chinese products, which ultimately came to fruition.

The volatility created by geopolitical newsflow continued towards calendar year-end. However, on a relative basis, the EM fixed income space proved to be much more resilient compared to some developed-market risk assets, such as US equities, which saw precipitous falls during December.

The start of 2019 brought an early-year bounce for EM, from a variety of factors, including an increasingly dovish tone from the US Federal Reserve (Fed), progress on US-China trade talks and stabilising oil markets.

The positive sentiment persisted into February, as China witnessed a fresh round of accommodative measures and stimulus, and the Fed continued its dovish rhetoric. March marked a turning point for EMs, as the accommodative narrative from major central banks – including the Fed and European Central Bank – stoked fears of a slowdown in global growth, which led to a fall in equities and currencies. In particular, the Argentine peso suffered and Turkey's policy errors were once again evident in its indecisive defense of its depreciating currency.

Risk assets suffered a sharp sell-off in May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration. More generally, the rally in US Treasuries and bounce-back in commodities led to a strong end to the first-half period for EM fixed income.

Performance

The fund returned 11.20% over the last 12 months underperforming the index benchmark return of 11.55% by 36bps. The underperformance was largely driven by the broadly underweight bias to US Treasury duration in the portfolio, which was a notable detractor in Q1 2019. Focusing on the corporate positioning, Brazil detracted heavily in third quarter of 2018 due to idiosyncratic events as well as heightened volatility going into the presidential elections. This was followed by further detracting due to our CDS hedges as Brazilian assets rallied in the wake of Jair Bolsonaro's appointment. Elsewhere in Latin America, our overweight in Argentina detracted from performance as the market became increasingly uncomfortable with the country's high and increasing debt burden.

BlueBay Funds

In terms of contributors, our overweight allocations to several oil-sensitive assets contributed positively to relative returns, including Qatar (through 30-year long duration bonds), Ecuador and Nigeria. Further positive returns were provided by security selection, specifically in the Chinese high-yield real-estate sector which surprised to the upside.

Outlook

Global data remains mixed, with some positive signals coming from the US earnings season and more recent US economic data. However, European data is still significantly lagging, particularly in Germany. In Asia, the data looks to be stabilising as trade figures have improved but manufacturing purchasing managers' indices remain weak.

With risk assets at elevated levels, the onus is now on central banks to continue to make good on their dovish tones. A key focal point in this regard, in our opinion, will be the Fed, which – while having cut rates by 25bps in July – may have more work to do to appease the market, within which additional cuts are priced between now and year end. This is further complicated by the conflicting forces of the better bottom-up data coming out of the US, on the one hand, with an increasingly vocal president on the other, advocating much more aggressive interest-rate cuts in a bid to seemingly prop up the stock market into the 2020 election cycle.

In EMs, there is a lot to focus on, not least the most recent iteration of tit-for-tat spats between China and the US; the latest threat of more aggressive US tariffs led Chinese authorities to retaliate by devaluing the renminbi (which dropped below the significant level of 7 to the dollar for the first time in over a decade), much to the frustration of President Donald Trump. This latest move calls into the question the ability for a trade deal to be brokered, and thus avert an all-out global trade war.

Turning to Argentina, following the outcome of the primaries at the beginning of August, as we approach the October elections it is unlikely that new favourite Alberto Fernandez will do much to appease markets. Indeed, the market has already moved to price in a high likelihood of default in 2020, and we expect volatility to remain in the short to medium term.

Overall, our view remains constructive on EMs, given the continued easing bias of central banks, but we remain cautious. We have felt it prudent to begin de-risking portfolios at the margins given a number of macroeconomic headwinds – US-China relations, global trade, politics – coupled with the typical seasonal lull in market liquidity, which we feel could accentuate negative moves in bond prices in an adverse market environment.

European Central Bank confirmed that it will begin to discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth.

Markets continued to grind higher into April, as companies reported better-than-expected earnings. Data releases in China showed that government stimulus measures helped boost economic growth, seemingly avoiding a 'hard landing'. Volatility re-emerged during May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors, with the US increasing pressure on China and Mexico to reach separate trade agreements. This, in turn, caused weak performance across risk assets. Sentiment improved in June, as the US delayed tariffs on Mexico, with the two countries reaching a deal to stem illegal immigration.

Performance

The fund returned -2.81% over the 12-month period to end June 2019. A short duration bias, predominantly in the US front-end, was the main driver of negative returns, most notably in Q4 2018 when core government bond yields rallied in a flight-to-quality on trade war rhetoric and a more dovish Federal Reserve in late December and March. On the positive side, our long-duration position through German Bunds went some way to offset the negatives from short positioning in UK Gilts. EM local rates positioning was very light during the period under review. As a consequence, the contribution from local rates was only modestly positive. The fund's exposure to European peripheral government bonds of Greece and Italy drove significant upside for the strategy as spreads tightened meaningfully over the period, most notably Greece. Italian risk and positioning was more tactically employed in the strategy as spreads over German Bunds have remained volatile as a result of continued political uncertainty in the region. Finally, the FX channel detracted over the period with long exposure to the South African rand and the Colombian peso costing performance in the emerging market (EM) book, and long Icelandic krona and Swedish krona detracting in the developed markets (DM) book. On the positive side, long Russian ruble, Indian rupee and Egyptian pound all delivered upside in the EM space, as did the short sterling and short euro versus US dollar positioning in the DM book.

Outlook

We had assumed that the recent 'ceasefire' on trade was likely to hold and we were consequently wrong-footed by the recent escalation in the trade war. This creates elevated uncertainty and, although we feel that it is unlikely that either Washington or Beijing will want this to damage growth prospects, in the near term it is difficult to see how a resolution can be found quickly. Consequently, we have moved to reduce risk across the fund in the early days of August, flattening the directional beta and correlation to risk assets in FX and credit, while reducing short-duration positions. Ultimately, we believe that sentiment is overly pessimistic on US growth prospects, with markets pricing in too many rate cuts. A short bias on US rates remains warranted in our view, with 100bps of additional easing discounted by markets by the end of next year. However, there may be times in the coming weeks and months where we want to express this view with greater conviction than is currently the case, as it is difficult to rule out a further near-term decline in equity prices, which would only add to the flight to quality seen in recent days.

In the eurozone, our constructive view in the periphery has not changed and we continue to hold long positions in Italy and Greece. The recent political noise in Italy has driven BTP spreads wider once more, but our view on Italy is little changed as we believe that current levels are pricing in an Italian exit from the European Union, which is unwarranted in our view. As Bund yields fall further, so prospects for quantitative easing from the ECB may be set to increase. Moreover, low rates deliver a disproportionate benefit to these countries, which are dealing with an elevated level of government debt. Having reduced positions in July, there may be opportunities to add risk in this space. In Europe, it seems like a renewed grab for yield is inevitable, as soon as broader risk-off themes start to abate.

We see the UK headed towards a general election in the coming months. We see Gilts mispricing UK election risk and the prospect of a Labour coalition government. Moreover, we believe that – regardless of the outcome – the UK is embarking on a path of substantial fiscal easing and, with inflation trending much higher than overseas, UK rate cuts are unlikely – even in a hard Brexit scenario, in which sterling is likely to be under severe pressure. A shift away from monetary policy towards fiscal policy could become a global phenomenon, and it seems likely that the UK could be where this is seen more explicitly for the first time. Consequently, we retain a bearish view on Gilts, a position we would like to add to in the weeks ahead.

The environment in EMs is complicated by the picture around trade. It would appear that the backdrop for directional risk-taking could remain challenged for some time, and in this context we remain focused on relative-value positions. We retain a constructive view on the fundamentals in countries such as Russia and Brazil, while being more pessimistic in South Africa and Turkey. More generally, a risk-off move could lead to position capitulation, while creating interesting opportunities to add exposure. For now, however, we remain cautious and have thus broadly reduced risk across the book by trimming and closing outstanding positions, while adding to the short position in EM CDX.

Performance

The fund returned 8.22% over the period, outpacing the benchmark by 5bps.

Name selection and avoiding underperforming credits was key during the early part of the period as we noted a significant rise in idiosyncratic risks in Europe in particular. With little spread compensation available in many of these names, we witnessed an increase in volatile downward price action in those affected.

As the high yield market retreated aggressively into the end of 2018, the fund's underweight allocation to cyclical sectors, such as basic industry, autos and capital goods, was a source of alpha as more growth-sensitive securities underperformed as questions were raised on the global economic outlook.

On the contrary, the fund's preference for lower-rated (B) securities more levered to robust corporate fundamentals weighed on performance during the latter part of 2018 (as perceived 'safer' BBs outperformed significantly amidst question marks over growth sustainability). Unusually, despite the extreme strength of the market rebound in 2019, the fund's preference for B-rated securities over BBs continued to be a source of underperformance as higher-rated securities surprisingly continued to record outsized returns (highly unusual in a period with such significant outright returns but reflecting tightening underlying rates, which benefits higher rated/higher duration securities and is also reflective of the wider markets apparent preference for 'safe risk').

During periods of heightened trade uncertainty, the fund's preference for less cyclical sectors was a source of performance (reversing as trade-related concerns waned periodically), although was a notable source of underperformance as the market rebounded aggressively during the opening weeks of 2019.

Regionally, positive stock selection and modest overweight positioning within the UK was of significant benefit during the period as a greater risk premium is indiscriminately assigned to UK domiciled issuers. Underweight positioning in emerging markets was a drag relative to benchmark (despite positive stock selection in the region). Over the course of the year, the fund's ESG credentials drove underweight positioning within the energy (and wider extractives sectors), which was a modest source of alpha over the period.

Outlook

The backdrop of a somewhat accommodative Fed – although perhaps not to the extent that some were seeking – and the prospect of renewed support from the ECB, in theory, extends the runway for global corporates (and credit markets more generally) over the medium term. In particular, in the context of modestly improving US economic data and a better than-expected start to the second-quarter earnings season.

Recent tariff headlines do, however, underline that trade concerns have not been put to bed and serve as a timely reminder that the apparent safety net from monetary policy cannot be viewed in isolation.

Indeed, the dichotomy of results across sectors – for example, steel, automotives and chemicals languishing – underline that a degree of caution remains prudent. Therefore, we prefer to express a constructive view via traditionally less-cyclical sectors, which are likely to prove more robust if recent concerns over trade and growth momentum do prove to be founded.

As ever, we remain cognisant of complacency and, accordingly, remain focused on credit selection. Our intention is to achieve the best risk-adjusted returns in this slightly less certain environment, while balancing appropriate levels of beta within our funds.

Market Review

The second half of 2018 got off to a strong start, with almost all equity indices on the rise. Overall spreads in the structured credit space had started calendar 2018 at post crisis tights and had slowly widened into the summer due to heavy primary supply. The summer slowdown gave the market an opportunity to regain its footing and spreads generally trended sideways.

26. BlueBay Funds – BlueBay Investment Grade Structured Credit Fund (launched on 17 December 2018) (continued)

However, the upbeat sentiment tailed off towards the year-end as volatility increased. Losses in October became gains in November, only for indices to turn negative again in December. Fast-growing companies with high valuation multiples in the US technology, internet and biotechnology sectors were in the eye of the market storm. We believe this correction was fuelled by a necessary de-rating in valuations and normalisation in risk premia – a relatively typical late monetary cycle move which is unlikely to mark the end of the equity bull market. In structured credit the CLO creation arbitrage still looked attractive as loans widened along with CLO liabilities and underwriters cut their fees to continue to issue deals. The macro volatility and strong issuance eventually took its toll on the CLO market with spreads going wider along with other credit products in the final weeks of December.

This turned out to be a fleeting buying opportunity as the US Federal Reserve signalled it would not hike rates at all in 2019. Additionally, the European Central Bank confirmed that it will discuss a fresh round of cheap loans to stave off a prolonged bout of below-par growth. The new issue pipeline in structured credit slowed dramatically as both issuers and investors reassessed their 2019 game plans.

As markets normalised, we continued to find opportunities in structured credit that seemed cheap relatively and fundamentally compared to other fixed income asset classes. The new issue market brought several deals that did not get traction initially, only to tighten quickly after pricing.

Macro volatility re-emerged during May, as concerns over trade tariffs rattled investors, with the US increasing pressure on China and Mexico to reach separate trade agreements. This, in turn, caused weak performance in several risk asset classes. However, spreads remained stable in structured credit which continued to look relatively cheap in a world where central bank stimulus is driving all yield out of fixed income securities.

ABS/MBS markets rallied since the inception of the fund on the back of general market tightening and significant paucity of new issue supply in the first couple of months of 2019. The rest of the year saw a diverse range of issuance and the fund participated across jurisdictions and asset classes with a focus on the more senior parts of the capital structure. In the secondary market, the fund was primarily focused on seasoned UK RMBS with borrowers who have been paying their mortgages for over a decade and that have significantly deleveraged via principal paydowns while benefiting from an equity cushion built in through house price appreciation. Heading into June we began to see first signs of weakness in UK RMBS spreads against the Brexit backdrop.

Performance

The fund was launched on 17 December 2018. Since inception to 28 June 2019, the fund has delivered a total return of 2.61% gross and an alpha return of 2.77% versus the ICE BofA Merrill Lynch Euro Currency 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index. Compared to peers, in the period since 1 January 2019 to 28 June 2019, the fund has delivered a total return of 2.49% gross, which places it in the top percentile of performance.

The launch of the fund coincided with broader market volatility to which structured credit was not immune. With the dislocation in the market, we positioned the fund defensively; buying higher-rated securities with clean collateral and shorter credit duration (consciously staying away from lower-rated and longer-duration securities given potential new issue supply). The weighted average rating of the fund investments as at 28 June was AA- and weighted average spread duration was 3.74.

The fund has been predominantly weighted into CLOs with an allocation in the range of 85-90%, given the superior relative value in CLO securities versus other structured assets classes.

Actively trading the portfolio was additive to fund performance; carry returns were 0.92% (17 December 2018 to 28 June 2019) whereas returns due to price and trading activity amounted to 1.69% over the same period. Ahead of periods of expected volatility we rotated out of some positions in order to crystallise gains and built up cash balances, while maintaining the core allocation in defensive positions. We were then able to utilise the backdrop of broader market volatility, notably during Q2 2019 to deploy the cash opportunistically at attractive levels.

26. BlueBay Funds – BlueBay Investment Grade Structured Credit Fund (launched on 17 December 2018) (continued)

Towards the end of Q2 2019, lower rates in Europe had a positive impact on price of CLOs, due to the embedded value of the 0% EURIBOR floor in CLO securities. At the end of June 3m EURIBOR set at -34.5 bps and the forward EURIBOR curve implied another rate cut into the rest of the year.

Outlook

In the environment of 'lower-for-longer' yields in Europe we view the investment-grade structured-credit space as a suitable place for investors to gain attractive yields without moving down in credit quality especially given the value of a 0% EURIBOR floor in CLOs.

Looking ahead, we expect new CLO issuance to resume a rapid issuance pace into year-end given the rising value of the floor and consequential demand from AAA investors. Indeed, several sell-side researchers have looked at the pipeline and raised their 2019 total year issuance forecast to EUR30-40bn, eclipsing last year's tally of EUR27.3bn. We further expect that tightening spreads on AAA CLOs will eventually also be mirrored in both AA and Single A rated securities, while the large new issue calendar will allow us to be selective buying assets we see as good relative value. We continue to monitor UK RMBS as we believe the uncertainty surrounding the Brexit outcome has not yet played out in an attractive entry point for that segment of the ABS market.

The prospect of renewed support from the European Central Bank and the increasing quantum of negative yielding assets elsewhere in Europe underpins the technical support for Structured Credit markets and provides a counter balance to the lacklustre economic environment. Given the increased value of Euribor floors in the low yield landscape we believe the investment grade structured credit universe offers investors the opportunity to generate attractive yields without compromising on credit quality.

Audit report

To the Shareholders of
BlueBay Funds

Our opinion

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of BlueBay Funds (the “Fund”) and of each of its sub-funds as at 30 June 2019, and of the results of their operations and changes in their net assets for the year then ended in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements.

What we have audited

The Fund’s financial statements comprise:

- the schedule of investments and other net assets as at 30 June 2019;
- the statement of net assets as at 30 June 2019;
- the statement of operations and changes in net assets for the year then ended; and
- the notes to the financial statements, which include a summary of significant accounting policies.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Law of 23 July 2016 on the audit profession (Law of 23 July 2016) and with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) as adopted for Luxembourg by the “Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier” (CSSF). Our responsibilities under the Law of 23 July 2016 and ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF are further described in the “Responsibilities of the “Réviseur d’entreprises agréé” for the audit of the financial statements” section of our report.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

We are independent of the Fund in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants’ Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements. We have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities under those ethical requirements.

Other information

The Board of Directors of the Fund is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information stated in the annual report but does not include the financial statements and our audit report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of the Board of Directors of the Fund and those charged with governance for the financial statements

The Board of Directors of the Fund is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements, and for such internal control as the Board of Directors of the Fund determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Board of Directors of the Fund is responsible for assessing the Fund's and each of its sub-funds' ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors of the Fund either intends to liquidate the Fund or close any of its sub-funds or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Fund's financial reporting process.

Responsibilities of the "Réviseur d'entreprises agréé" for the audit of the financial statements

The objectives of our audit are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an audit report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Law of 23 July 2016 and with ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Law of 23 July 2016 and with ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control;
- obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Fund's internal control;

- evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Board of Directors of the Fund;
- conclude on the appropriateness of the Board of Directors of the Fund's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Fund's or any of its sub-funds' ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our audit report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our audit report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Fund or any of its sub-funds (except for BlueBay Global Income Fund where a decision to liquidate exists) to cease to continue as a going concern;
- evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

The proportional share on which each Share Class is charged is calculated relative to each Share Class' annual average AUM (assets under management) and its corresponding expenses cap, relative to the total expenses of the Sub-Fund. Any expenses in excess of the total cumulative share class' AUM multiplied by the class expenses caps will be borne by the Management Company. The Total Expense Ratios for each Share Class that was launched or closed during the year have been calculated on an annualised basis. The Total Expense Ratios are unaudited.

* Share classes activity during the year is described in Appendix 1.

2 Significant Accounting Policies

The annual report is prepared and presented in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of financial statements and generally accepted accounting principles relating to UCITS.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies adopted by the SICAV:

a) Security Valuation

The value of transferable securities, money market instruments and any other assets which are quoted or dealt in on any stock exchange shall be based on the latest available closing price. Transferable securities, money market instruments and any other assets traded on any other regulated market shall be valued in a manner as similar as possible to that provided for quoted securities. For non-quoted assets or assets not traded or dealt in on any stock exchange or other regulated market, as well as quoted or non-quoted assets on such other market for which no valuation price is available, or assets for which the quoted prices are not representative of the fair market value, the value thereof shall be determined prudently and in good faith by the Board of Directors of the SICAV on the basis of foreseeable purchase and sale prices. Shares or units in underlying open-ended Undertakings for Collective Investments (the "UCIs") shall be valued at their last determined and available net asset value or, if such price is not representative of the fair market value of such assets, then the price shall be determined by the Board of Directors of the SICAV on a fair and equitable basis. Units or shares of closed-ended UCIs will be valued at their last available stock market value.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on investments, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Investments at market value".

The liquid assets may be valued at nominal value plus any accrued interest or on an amortised cost basis.

The Board of Directors of the SICAV may authorise the use of the amortised cost method of valuation for short-term transferable debt securities in certain Sub-Funds. This method involves valuing a security at its cost and thereafter assuming a constant amortisation to maturity of any discount or premium regardless of the impact of fluctuating interest rates on the market value of the security or other instrument. While this method provides certainty in valuation, it may result in years during which value as determined by amortised cost, is higher or lower than the price the Sub-Fund would have received if it has sold the securities.

Certain of the Sub-Funds securities are priced using the "dirty price" methodology. The quoted price for these securities includes the present value of all future cashflows for the securities, including any interest accruing on the next coupon payment date. Any securities which have been priced in this manner have been denoted by "Ω" in the Schedule of Investments and other Net Assets.

b) Forward Foreign Exchange Contracts

Open forward foreign exchange contracts are valued on the basis of forward exchange rates prevailing at the relevant valuation.

The liquidating value of forward foreign exchange contracts not traded on an exchange or on another regulated market shall mean their net liquidating value determined, pursuant to the policies established by the Board of Directors of the SICAV, on a basis consistently applied for this type of contract.

Unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on forward foreign exchange contracts is included in the Statement of Net Assets under "Unrealised appreciation on Forward foreign exchange contracts" or "Unrealised depreciation on Forward foreign exchange contracts".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Forward foreign exchange contracts" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Forward foreign exchange contracts". Net realised appreciation/ (depreciation) includes net gains on contracts which have been settled or offset by other contracts. The SICAV also offers class level hedging. All appreciation/(depreciation) on class level hedges are allocated solely to the relevant share classes.

Upon entering into a futures contract, the SICAV is required to deposit with its futures' broker, an amount of cash in accordance with the initial margin requirements of the broker or stock exchange. Futures contracts are valued using quoted daily settlement prices established by the stock exchange on which they are traded. The SICAV and the broker agree to exchange an amount of cash equal to the daily fluctuations in the value of the futures contract ("variation margin").

For open futures, changes in the value of the contract are recognised as unrealised appreciation or depreciation by "marking-to-market" the value of the contract at the Statement of Net Assets date. When the contract is closed, the difference between the proceeds (or cost) of the closing transactions and the original transaction is recorded as a realised gain or loss in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets.

The liquidating value of futures contracts traded on an exchange or on another regulated market shall be based upon the last available settlement prices of the contracts on the exchange and/or on the regulated market on which they are traded by the Sub-Fund; provided that if a futures contract could not be liquidated on the day with respect to the net assets being determined, the basis for determining the liquidating value of such contract shall be such value as the Board of Directors of the SICAV may deem fair and reasonable.

Unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Futures contracts is included in the Statement of Net Assets under "Unrealised appreciation on Futures contracts" or "Unrealised depreciation on Futures contracts".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Futures contracts" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Futures contracts".

d) Net realised Appreciation/(Depreciation) on Sale of Investments Securities

The net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on sale of investments securities is determined on the basis of average cost and is recognised in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments".

e) Foreign Currency Translation

The annual report has been drawn up in the accounting currency of each Sub-Fund. Assets and liabilities expressed in currencies other than the accounting currency of each Sub-Fund are converted into that currency at the exchange rate prevailing at the Statement of Net Assets date.

The Combined Statement of Net Assets and Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets of the SICAV are expressed in Euro ("EUR") after conversion from accounting currencies of each Sub-Funds at the exchange prevailing at the year end.

A currency translation adjustment of EUR 206,198,590 arises from the translation of the opening balances of the net assets. This method of translation has no effect on the value of the net assets allocated to the individual Sub-Funds.

The market value of investments and other assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the accounting currency of the Sub-Funds have been translated at the rate of exchange ruling at 30 June 2019. The cost of investments, income and expenditure denominated in currencies other than the reporting currency of the Sub-Funds have been translated at the exchange rates ruling on the day of the transaction.

The currency gain or loss arising from the translation of these items is taken into account in the determination of the results of operations.

f) Options

The Sub-Funds are authorised to write and purchase call and put options. When a Sub-Fund purchases or writes an option, an amount equal to the premium paid (or received) by the Sub-Fund is reflected as an asset or an equivalent liability. The amount of the asset or liability is subsequently marked to market to reflect the current market value of the option. When a security is purchased or sold through an exercise of an option, the related premium paid (or received) is added to (or deducted from) the basis of the security acquired or deducted from (or added to) the proceeds of the security sold. When an option expires (or a Sub-Fund enters into a closing transaction), the Sub-Fund realises a gain or loss on the option to the extent of the premiums received or paid (or gain or loss to the extent the cost of the closing transaction exceeds the premium paid or received).

The liquidating value of options not traded on an exchange or on another regulated market shall mean their net liquidating value determined, pursuant to the policies established by the Board of Directors of the SICAV, on a basis consistently applied for this type of contract. The liquidating value of options traded on an exchange or on another regulated market shall be based upon the last available settlement prices of the contracts on the exchange and/or on the regulated market on which they are traded by the Sub-Fund; provided that if an option could not be liquidated on the day with respect to the net assets being determined, the basis for determining the liquidating value of such contract shall be such value as the Board of Directors of the SICAV may deem fair and reasonable.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on options contracts, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Options purchased at market value" or "Options sold at market value".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Options" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Options".

g) Swaptions

When a Sub-Fund writes a swaption, an amount equal to the premium received by the Sub-Fund is recorded as a liability and is subsequently adjusted to the current fair value of the swaption written. Premiums received from the written swaptions which expire unexercised are treated by the Sub-Fund on the expiration dates as realised gains. If a written call swaption is exercised, the premium is added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying swap in determining the realised gain or loss. If a written put swaptions is exercised, the premium reduces the cost basis of the swap purchased.

g) Swaptions (continued)

When a Sub-Fund purchases a swaption, an amount equal to the premium paid by the Sub-Fund is recorded as an asset and is subsequently adjusted to the current fair value of the swaption purchased. Premiums paid for the purchase of swaptions which expire unexercised are treated on the expiration date as realised losses. If a purchased payer swaption is exercised, the premium is subtracted from the proceeds of the underlying swap in determining whether the relevant Sub-Fund has realised a gain or loss. If a purchased receiver swaption is exercised, the premium is added to the cost basis of the floating rate investment that has been swapped.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on swaptions contracts, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Swaptions purchased at market value" or "Swaptions sold at market value".

Net realised gain/(loss) and net changes in unrealised gain/(loss) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Statement of Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swaptions" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swaptions".

h) Credit Default Swap Agreements and Credit Default Index Swap Agreements

A credit default swap agreement is a bilateral financial contract under which the protection buyer pays a fee, usually expressed in basis points per annum on the notional amount, in return for a payment by the protection seller contingent on the occurrence of a credit event, such as a bankruptcy, default, or restructuring, with respect to a referenced entity. The credit events and applicable settlement mechanism used to determine the contingent payment are negotiated between the counterparties at the time of trading.

Once the credit event has been declared, the protection buyer has the right to settle the contract. Settlement is usually physical, with the protection buyer having the right to deliver bonds of the reference entity up to the notional amount of the contract. In return, the protection buyer receives the par value of those obligations. Selling protection is the synthetic equivalent of buying a bond or alternative form of debt. Buying protection is the equivalent of synthetically shorting or hedging a bond or other credit exposure.

The value of a credit default swap agreement shall be determined by comparing it to the prevailing par market swap. A par market swap is one which can be initiated in the market today for no exchange of principal and its deal spread is such that it results in the swap's market value being equal to zero. The spread between the initial default swap and the par market swap is then discounted as an annuity using relevant risk-adjusted discount rates. Par market swap rates will be obtained from a cross-section of market counterparties.

Credit default swap agreements on credit indices involve one party making a stream of payments to another party in exchange for the right to receive a specified return in the event of a write-down, principal shortfall, interest shortfall or default of all or part of the reference entities comprising the credit index. A credit index is a list of a basket of credit instruments or exposures designed to be representative of some part of the credit market as a whole. Components of the indices may include, but are not limited to, investment grade securities, high yield securities, asset backed securities, emerging markets and/or various credit ratings within each sector.

Credit indices are traded using credit default swap agreements with standardised terms including a fixed spread and standard maturity dates. An index credit default swap agreement references all the names in the index and if there is a default, the credit event is settled based on that name's weight in the index. The composition of the indices change annually and, for most indices, each name has an equal weight in the index. The Sub-Funds may use credit default swap agreements on credit indices to hedge a portfolio of credit default swap agreements or bonds with a credit default swap agreement on indices which may be less expensive than it would be to buy many credit default swap agreements to achieve a similar effect. Credit default swap agreements on indices are benchmarks for protecting investors owning bonds against default and traders use them to speculate on changes in credit quality.

Unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on credit default swap agreements and credit default index swap agreements is included in the Statement of Net Assets under "Unrealised appreciation on Swap agreements" or "Unrealised depreciation on Swap agreements".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements".

i) Total Return Swap Agreements

A total return swap agreement is a bilateral agreement in which each of the parties agree to exchange the total performance of an underlying asset for a series of interest payments based on a notional amount that serves as a computation basis. The market value of a total return swap agreement is determined using the price of the underlying asset.

Unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on total return swap agreements is included in the Statement of Net Assets under "Unrealised appreciation on Swap agreements" or "Unrealised depreciation on Swap agreements".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements".

j) Interest Rate Swap Agreements and Cross Currency Swap Agreements

The Sub-Funds may be subject to interest rate risk exposure in the normal course of pursuing its investment objectives. If a Sub-Fund holds fixed rate bonds the value of these bonds may decrease if the interest rates rise. To help hedge against this risk and to maintain its ability to generate income at prevailing market rates, the Sub-Fund may enter into interest rate swap agreements. An interest rate swap agreement is a bilateral agreement in which each party agrees to exchange a series of interest payments for another series of interest payments (usually fixed/floating) based on a notional amount that serves as a computation basis and that is usually not exchanged. Dirty pricing is utilised for all interest rate swap agreements where the floating rate index resets daily. The currencies affected are Brazilian Real, Colombian Peso and Indian Rupee.

Cross-currency swap agreements involve two parties exchanging two different currencies with an agreement to reverse the exchange at a later date at specified exchange rates. The exchange of currencies at the inception date of the contract takes place at the current spot rate. The re-exchange at maturity may take place at the same exchange rate, a specified rate, or the current spot rate. Interest payments, if applicable, are made between the parties based on interest rates available in the two currencies at the inception of the contract.

Unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on interest rate swap agreements and cross currency swap agreements is included in the Statement of Net Assets under "Unrealised appreciation on Swap agreements" or "Unrealised depreciation on Swap agreements".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements".

The Sub-Funds may enter into inflation swap contracts to attempt to hedge against inflation. Pursuant to the inflation swap agreement, the Sub-Funds negotiate with a counterparty to exchange a periodic stream of payments, based on a benchmark inflation index. One cash flow stream will typically be a floating rate payment linked to the specified inflation index while the other is typically a fixed interest rate. Inflation swaps are normally issued on a zero coupon basis where all payments compound during the life of the contract and are netted upon the termination or maturity of the contract. Inflation swap contracts are subject to movements in interest rates.

Unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on inflation swap agreements is included in the Statement of Net Assets under "Unrealised appreciation on Swap agreements" or "Unrealised depreciation on Swap agreements".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Swap agreements".

l) Reverse Repurchase and Repurchase Agreement Transactions

The Sub-Funds may, on an ancillary basis, enter into repurchase and reverse repurchase agreement transactions which consist of the purchase and sale of securities. In a repurchase agreement, a Sub-Fund sells to a financial institution a security that it holds with an agreement to repurchase the same security at an agreed-upon price and date. Under the terms of a typical reverse repurchase agreement, the Sub-Fund takes possession of an underlying debt obligation (collateral) subject to an obligation of the seller to repurchase and the Sub-Fund to resell, the obligation at an agreed-upon price and time. Both reverse repurchase agreements and repurchase agreements are valued at their nominal value.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on reverse repurchase and repurchase agreement transactions, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Reverse repurchase agreements" and "Repurchase agreements".

m) Term Loans

The Sub-Funds may invest in fixed and floating rate loans from one or more financial institutions by way of an assignment/transfer of or a participation in the whole or part of the loan amount outstanding. When purchasing loan participations, a Sub-Fund bears the economic risk associated with the corporate borrower and the credit risk associated with an interposed bank or other financial intermediary. The loan participations or assignments in which a Sub-Fund intends to invest may not be rated by any internationally recognised rating service. When purchasing loan assignments, a Sub-Fund bears the credit risk associated with the corporate borrower only.

The value of a term loan is determined prudently and in good faith by the Board of Directors of the SICAV on the basis of foreseeable purchase and sales prices.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on term loans, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Investments at market value".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments".

n) Warrants

The Sub-Funds may purchase or otherwise receive warrants. Warrants give the holder the right to purchase a security at a specified price in the future. Listed warrants are valued at the last traded price for the relevant exchange or principal market on which it is traded. The valuation for unlisted warrants is determined using an independent calculation model to capture the time value of the warrant with reference to the underlying security.

n) Warrants (continued)

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on warrants, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Investments at market value".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments".

o) To Be Announced

The Sub-Funds may purchase "To Be Announced" securities ("TBAs"). TBAs are forward settling contracts on mortgage pass-through securities issued by government agencies. At the time of purchase, the exact securities are not known, but their main characteristics are specified. Although the price has been established at the time of purchase, the principal value has not been finalised. Purchasing TBAs involves a risk of loss if the value of the securities to be purchased declines prior to the settlement date.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on TBAs, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Investments at market value".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments".

p) Collateralized Debt Obligations ("CDOs")

Collateralized debt obligations include collateralized bond obligations ("CBOs"), collateralized loan obligations ("CLOs") and other similarly structured securities. CBOs and CLOs are types of asset-backed securities. A CBO is a trust which is backed by a diversified pool of high risk, below investment grade fixed income securities. A CLO is a trust typically collateralized by a pool of loans, which may include, among others, domestic and foreign senior secured loans, senior unsecured loans, and subordinate corporate loans, including loans that may be rated below investment grade or equivalent unrated loans. The risks of an investment in a CDO depend largely on the type of the collateral securities and the class of the CDO in which a Fund invests. In addition to the normal risks associated with fixed income securities discussed elsewhere in this report and the Funds' Offering Memorandum (e.g., prepayment risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, market risk, structural risk, legal risk and interest rate risk (which may be exacerbated if the interest rate payable on a structured financing changes based on multiples of changes in interest rates or inversely to changes in interest rates)), CBOs, CLOs, and other CDOs carry additional risks including, but not limited to, (i) the possibility that distributions from collateral securities will not be adequate to make interest or other payments, (ii) the quality of the collateral may decline in value or default, (iii) a Fund may invest in CBOs, CLOs, or other CDOs that are subordinate to other classes.

Market value, including unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on CDOs, is recognised in the Statement of Net Assets under "Investments at market value".

Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) and net changes in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) as a result thereof are included in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets respectively under "Net realised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments" and "Net change in unrealised appreciation/(depreciation) on Investments".

q) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and other liquid assets will be valued at nominal value plus accrued interest on an amortised cost basis. Interest is also accrued on bank overdrafts.

All cash at bank balances are held either by Brown Brothers Harriman (Luxembourg) S.C.A., on overnight deposit with a third party institution approved by the Board of Directors of the SICAV or directly with a sub-custodian. Cash and cash equivalents also include amounts on deposit for the futures contracts initial margin and collateral pledged on the swap agreements and repurchase agreements.

Interest income, adjusted for the accretion of discounts and amortisation of premiums and interest expense are recognised in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets on an accruals basis recorded net of withholdings tax. The premium for convertible bonds will typically be paid including a premium for the conversion option. The adjustment to interest income for the amortization of the premium on convertible bonds may therefore result in a negative interest income figure.

s) Dividend Income

Dividend income is recognised in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets on the "ex-dividend" date recorded net of withholding tax.

t) Formation Expenses

The SICAV's formation expenses were capitalised and amortised over a period of five years. Expenses relating to the creation of new Sub-Funds are also capitalised and amortised over a period not exceeding five years.

u) Dividend Policy

However there is flexibility to launch different types of dividend paying classes in future. There was no change to any existing dividend paying classes in terms of frequency and distribution.

v) Transaction Expenses

The Sub-Funds incurred transaction costs which have been defined as brokerage fees relating to purchases or sales of transferable securities and financial derivative instruments. Transaction costs for bonds are included in the spread. Transaction costs are accounted for on a cash basis and are paid when incurred or invoiced from the net assets of the Sub-Fund to which they are attributable. These costs are recognised as an expense in the Statement of Operations and Changes in Net Assets.

w) Accounting Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to preparation and presentation of financial statements requires the Board of Directors of the SICAV to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities and the reported amount of income and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates. At the closing date no estimates and assumptions had a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities.

x) Swing pricing

A Sub-Fund may suffer a reduction in value, known as "dilution" when trading the underlying investments as a result of net inflows or net outflows. This is due to transaction charges and other costs that may be incurred by liquidating and purchasing the underlying assets and the spreads between the buying and selling prices. In order to counter this effect and to protect Shareholders' interests, the Management Company may adopt a swing pricing mechanism: if on any Valuation Day, the aggregate net investor(s) transactions in a Sub-Fund exceed a pre-determined threshold, the net asset value per Share may be adjusted upwards or downwards to reflect the costs attributable to the net inflows and net outflows respectively. The maximum adjustment amounts to 2% of the net asset value.

A periodical review is undertaken in order to verify the appropriateness of the swing factor being applied. During the year ended 30 June 2019 the swing pricing was applied by the BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Investment Grade Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Local Currency Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Corporate Bond, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Global Convertible Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Investment Grade Corporate Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Local Currency Corporate Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Emerging Market Aggregate Bond Fund, BlueBay Funds - BlueBay Investment Grade Structured Credit Fund. Swing pricing impact on the Sub-Funds' Net Assets at the year end was zero.

3 Tax Status

Under current Luxembourg tax law and practice, the SICAV is not liable to any Luxembourg income tax, nor are any distribution (including distribution of liquidation proceeds), redemption or payment made by the SICAV to its Shareholders under the Shares subject to withholding in Luxembourg.

However, the SICAV is as a rule liable in Luxembourg to a subscription tax (taxe d'abonnement) of 0.05% per annum, such tax being payable quarterly. The taxable basis of the subscription tax is the aggregate net assets of the SICAV valued on the last day of each quarter of the civil year.

This rate is however of 0.01% per annum for:

- undertakings whose sole object is the collective investment in money market instruments and in deposits with credit institutions; and
- individual compartments of undertakings for collective investment ("UCIs") with multiple compartments as well as for individual classes of securities issued within a UCI or within a compartment of a UCI with multiple compartments, provided that the securities of such compartments or classes are reserved to one or more institutional investors.

Further exemptions from the subscription tax are outlined in the Prospectus.

No stamp duty or other tax is generally payable in Luxembourg on the issue of Shares for cash by the SICAV.

No corporate tax is payable in Luxembourg on realised or unrealised capital appreciation of the assets of the SICAV.

Interest income received by the SICAV may be subject to non-recoverable withholding taxes in the countries of origin. Although the SICAV's realised capital gains, whether short term or long term, are not expected to become taxable in another country, Shareholders must be aware and recognise that such a possibility is not totally excluded. The regular income of the SICAV from some of its securities as well as interest earned on cash deposits in certain countries may be liable to withholding taxes at varying rates, which normally cannot be recovered. Withholding and other taxes levied at source, if any, are not recoverable. Whether the SICAV may benefit from a double tax treaty concluded by Luxembourg must be determined on a case-by-case basis.

Investors should consult their professional advisers on the taxation applicable under the laws of their countries of citizenship, residence or domicile.

4 Dividends paid

It is the intention of the Board of Directors of the SICAV to declare an annual distribution on the last business day of June. There are three types of distributions: (ACDiv), (AFDiv), (AIDiv) and (AKDiv) are declared annually; (QCDiv), (QFDiv), (QIDiv) and (QKDiv) are declared on a quarterly basis, on the last business day of March, June, September and December; Distributions classified as (MCDiv), (MFDiv), (MIDiv) and (MKDiv) are declared on a monthly basis, on the last business day of each month.

The dividend policies applicable to the various categories of distributing Classes are set out below:

Classification	Policy
(CDiv)	The Board of Directors expects to recommend distribution of substantially all the net investment income and all of the net realised capital gains earned for each Class for each dividend distribution period.
(FDiv)	The dividend rate will be fixed as a percentage of the net asset value per Share for each Class, as determined by the Board of Directors from time to time. The current dividend rates are available on request from the Register and Transfer Agent. Investors should note that the fixed dividend rates will be determined at the discretion of the Board of Directors taking into account factors including, but not limited to, the relevant Sub-Fund's net income and capital appreciation after the deduction of any applicable fees and expenses during the relevant period. From time to time dividends may be paid out of the capital of the relevant Class. At the sole discretion of the Board of Directors, an additional dividend may be declared annually. The net asset value of such Class may fluctuate more than that of other Classes due to more frequent dividend distributions. The Board of Directors may vary the amount and timing of dividend payments at its sole discretion if it considers it necessary to reflect current market conditions.
(IDiv)	The Board of Directors expects to recommend distribution of substantially all of the net investment income of each Class for each dividend distribution period.
(KDiv)	The Board of Directors expects to recommend distribution of substantially all of the net investment income and all of the net realised capital gains earned for each Class for each relevant dividend distribution period. In cases where the net asset value of a Class falls below its initial offering price at the end of the relevant dividend distribution period, no distribution will be made.

* For details on the dates on which the share classes were launched and closed during the reporting year please refer to Appendix 1 from page 452 to 454.

There are no management and advisory fees payable on Class X, Class Y, Class Z or Class ZR shares.

b) Performance Fees

There are two Performance Fee mechanisms that may be employed in respect of each Sub-Fund, namely 'equalised' performance fees and 'unequalised' performance fees. Under both principles the Management Company can be entitled to receive a Performance Fee from the Net Assets of the relevant Share Class. The calculation methodology varies under two different mechanisms as described below.

The Performance Fee will be deemed to accrue as at each Valuation Day. The Performance Fee effectively due and payable in respect of each Performance Fee-paying Class of each Sub-Fund will be determined on the last Valuation Day in October (the "Crystallisation Day").

For each Calculation Period, the Performance Fee in respect of each shareholding will be equal to a percentage as set out in the prospectus of the appreciation in the Cumulative Relative Performance per Share during that Calculation Period, provided that the Cumulative Relative Performance is positive. The Performance Fee will be calculated at the Class level and will be paid by the Sub-Fund to the Management Company.

At each Crystallisation Day when a Performance Fee is payable, the Cumulative Relative Performance per Share will reset to zero, if applicable by rebalancing the Index to the net asset value per Share and if applicable by resetting the Subscription Adjustment, as at such Crystallisation Day.

A Performance Fee will only be payable in respect of a Calculation Period if the Cumulative Relative Performance, adjusted by the value of the Subscription Adjustment if applicable at the end of the Crystallisation Day marking the end of such Calculation Period is positive.

Appreciation of shareholdings in relative value is measured by the cumulative relative performance which is the cumulative return per Share less, if applicable, the cumulative return of the relevant benchmark or the hurdle rate. The relevant benchmarks or hurdle rates, where applicable, for the purposes of calculating the performance fee can vary between the Sub-Funds and share classes and are set out in the prospectus.

Where no Performance Fee is paid in respect of a Calculation Period, the Cumulative Relative Performance determination will continue without resetting of the Cumulative Relative Performance and if applicable the Subscription adjustment until such time as there is positive Cumulative Relative Performance at a Crystallisation Day.

The Performance Fee will normally be payable to the Management Company in arrears after the end of each Calculation Period. However, in the case of Shares redeemed during a Calculation Period, the accrued Performance Fee in respect of those Shares will be payable after the date of redemption. In the event of a partial redemption, whether during or at the end of a Calculation Period, Shares will be treated as redeemed out of the Shareholder's pool of Shares.

If the Management Company Services Agreement is terminated before the end of any Calculation Period, the Performance Fee in respect of the then current Calculation Period will be calculated and paid as though the date of termination were the end of the relevant period.

- Equalised performance fees

Where Shareholders have subscribed for Shares in the Performance Fee-paying Classes denoted by "(Perf)", the Management Company will be entitled to receive a Performance Fee calculated on a Shareholder-by-Shareholder basis using an equalised performance fee calculation methodology. This method of calculation ensures that: (i) any Performance Fee due to the Management Company is accrued only to those shareholdings which have appreciated in relative value; (ii) all Shareholders have the same amount of capital per Share at risk in the Sub-Fund; and (iii) all Shares of the relevant Class have the same net asset value per Share.

If a Shareholder subscribes for Shares at a time other than a Crystallisation Day, certain adjustments will be made to reduce inequities that could otherwise result to the Shareholder or to the Management Company.

- Unequalised performance fees

Where Shareholders have subscribed for Shares in the Performance Fee-paying Classes denoted by "(CPerf)", the Management Company will be entitled to receive a Performance Fee calculated at the Class level using an unequalised performance fee calculation methodology. This method of calculation does not apply any form of Performance Fee equalisation at the individual Shareholder level and there are no Equalisation Debits or Equalisation Credits associated with the Class. However, for such Classes, a specific mechanism is implemented (the "Subscription Adjustment"), consisting of removing, from the provision for the Performance Fee calculated on the number of shares outstanding, the Performance Fee related to the shares subscribed in the period prior to the subscription date. Thus, for these newly subscribed shares, no Performance Fee will be provisioned for the performance prior to the subscription date.

b) Performance Fees (continued)

Any Performance Fee due to the Management Company is accrued when the Class has appreciated in relative value.

The Performance Fee charged to the Class on a daily basis is determined by multiplying the Cumulative Relative Performance, if positive, by the number of shares in the Class on that day. This is then multiplied by applicable Performance Fee Rate as set out in the prospectus and adjusted by the value of the Subscription Adjustment on that day.

The performance fees payable during the year, as a percentage of the average net assets of the respective share classes, were as follows:

Each Sub-Fund may utilise financial techniques and instruments for investment purposes, hedging purposes and efficient portfolio management. Such portfolio strategies include transactions in futures contracts and options thereon. The Sub-Funds may also engage in transactions in options, on bond and stock indices and on portfolios of indices. The Sub-Funds may seek to hedge their investments against currency fluctuations which are adverse to the respective currencies in which these Sub-Funds are denominated by utilising currency options, futures contracts and forward foreign exchange contracts.

The Sub-Funds may sell interest rate futures contracts, write call options or purchase put options on interest rates or enter into swap agreements for the purpose of hedging against interest rate fluctuations. The Sub-Funds may hold such ancillary liquid assets as the Investment Manager considers appropriate including, without limitation, cash, cash equivalents and assets linked to repurchase agreements as part of a treasury management strategy. Each Sub-Fund may also engage in securities lending and enter into repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements in compliance with the provisions set out in the CSSF Circular 08/356, CSSF Circular 13/559 and CSSF Circular 11/512.

The types of derivative transactions that each of the Sub-Funds can enter into are outlined in detail in the appendix to the Prospectus. The tables hereafter outline the derivative instruments held by each of the Sub-Funds at year end.

Appendix 2 – Value at Risk and Leverage

The Global Exposure of the Sub-Funds is determined using the Value At Risk (the "VaR") methodology. VaR is a widely used risk measure. It provides an estimate of the maximum potential loss over a specific holding period and at a given interval of confidence. BlueBay uses the Monte-Carlo VAR model based on 1 month holding period, 99% confidence intervals with observation period of at least 250 days. For undertakings for the Collective Investment of Transferable Securities (the "UCITS"), global exposure using the VaR approach can be measured based on an absolute or a relative basis. The global exposure for the year ending 30 June 2019, measured on a relative basis, is as follows:

GLOBAL EXPOSURE – VaR

Date coverage July 2018 - June 2019

Global exposure is the ratio of the SICAV's VaR of its benchmark's VaR
