

TEMPLETON EMERGING MARKETS INVESTMENT TRUST (TMIT)

SUMMARY OF INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust (the "Company") seeks long-term capital appreciation through investment in companies in emerging markets or companies which earn a significant amount of their revenues in emerging markets but are domiciled in, or listed on, stock exchanges in developed countries. It is expected that the majority of investments will be in listed equities.

TMIT may borrow up to 20% of its net assets.

As at 31/12/2021. NAV Performance is sourced from Franklin Templeton and calculated NAV-NAV, GBP, net of management fees. Source for share price and index is © Morningstar. Performance is calculated in GBP net of UK basic rate tax. Performance details provided are in sterling, include the reinvested dividends net of basic rate UK tax and are net of management fees. Sales charges and other commissions, taxes and relevant costs paid by the investor are not included in the calculations. Please visit temit.co.uk for current performance. Indices are unmanaged and one cannot invest directly in an index.

Past performance is not an indicator nor a guarantee of future performance.

NOTES:

Net Yield – the yield shown represents the weighted average annual dividend paid by all the companies in which TEMIT invests. Because of share types, fees and other considerations, the dividend yield quoted here should not be used as an indication of the income to be received from this portfolio as it does not consider different share types, fees and other considerations.

Gearing – a term used to describe the process of borrowing money for investment purposes in the expectation that the returns on the investments purchased using the borrowings exceeds the costs of those borrowings. For example, a figure of 5% means that the shareholder funds are 5% geared and indicates the extra amount by which the shareholder funds would rise or fall if the total assets were to rise or fall. A figure of 0% means there is no gearing. The Board has agreed that TEMIT may borrow up to 20% of net assets.

The Ongoing Charges Ratio (OCR) – an amount representing all operating charges and expenses of TEMIT in the prior 12 months as a percentage of TEMIT's average net assets for the period. Where that figure would not be a fair representation of future costs or if 12 months data is not available, an estimated figure will be shown.

MSCI Emerging Markets Index – We build TEMIT's portfolios on a stock-by-stock basis and do not seek to replicate the Index. TEMIT's holdings can differ significantly from the Index and may include non-benchmark stocks and/or non-benchmark countries. The Index is included only as an indicator of the broader emerging markets' allocation and breakdown.

KEY RISKS

The value of shares in the Templeton Emerging Markets Investment Trust PLC (TEMIT) and any income received from it can go down as well as up and investors may not get back the full amount invested. There is no guarantee that TEMIT will meet its objective.

TEMIT invests in the equity securities of emerging markets companies. Emerging markets have historically been subject to significant price movements, often to a greater extent than more established equity markets. As a result, the share price and net asset value of TEMIT can fluctuate significantly over relatively short time periods. Performance may also be affected by currency fluctuations.

TEMIT can borrow to purchase assets for the company; this will magnify any gains or losses made by the company. Shares of TEMIT are bought and sold on stock exchanges, typically, at any given time on any given day, the price you pay for a share will be higher than the price at which you could sell it. In addition, investors should be aware that TEMIT may trade at a discount to its Net Asset Value (NAV) per Share, and such discount may become larger in the future.

TEMIT may take charges from the Company's capital account. While this might allow a larger dividend to be distributed, it may also have the effect of reducing capital.

For more details of all the risks applicable to TEMIT, please refer to the Key Information Document, Investor Disclosure Document and the risk section in TEMIT's Annual Report, which can be downloaded from our website – temit.co.uk.

If you are unsure about TEMIT's suitability for your needs, please contact a professional financial adviser.
