

Investment Objective: Achieving long term capital growth in real terms and steadily increasing income. Our aim is to achieve a higher rate of total return than the FTSE Actuaries All-Share Index Total Return through investing in a diversified portfolio of stocks.

Fund Managers' Comments

In January the Trust's net asset value (cum income, with debt at fair value) rose 2.6%, underperforming the FTSE All-Share benchmark which rose 5.5%.

During January the largest companies in the UK (listed in the FTSE 100) outperformed small and medium sized companies (in the FTSE 250, FTSE Small Cap and AIM indices). In our view the outperformance of the largest companies, which are often international earners, was due to growing optimism towards the US economy under a Trump presidency. In contrast, small and medium sized companies are, on average, more exposed to the domestic economy where economic data such as GDP figures disappointed. This portfolio holds comparatively more than its FTSE All-Share benchmark in these smaller businesses and therefore this trend weighed on relative performance.

Turning to individual stocks, the best performers during the month included Barclays and Standard Chartered, which rose on the back of a 'higher for longer' interest rate environment as well as strong results from some overseas peers. Among the largest detractors was building materials firm Marshalls, which lowered earnings expectations for the current year as demand in some of their end markets (such as landscaping products) remains subdued. We continue to hold the position as Marshalls remains among the market leaders in what it produces and on a demand recovery we would expect a substantial earnings uplift.

During the month the largest transactions included reducing the position in Flutter Entertainment (for portfolio balance reasons following good performance) and adding to the position in Lloyds Bank (which has underperformed banking peers, leaving it at a valuation discount).

Company specific risks

- This trust is suitable to be used as one component in several in a diversified investment portfolio. Circa 19 per cent. of the net asset value (NAV) of the trust's portfolio is an investment in an independent professional service company. Investors should consider carefully the proportion of their portfolio invested into this trust.
- Active management techniques that have worked well in normal market conditions could prove ineffective or detrimental at other times.
- The trust could lose money if a counterparty with which it trades becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the trust.
- Shares can lose value rapidly, and typically involve higher risks than bonds or money market instruments. The value of your investment may fall as a result.
- The return on your investment is directly related to the prevailing market price of the trust's shares, which will trade at a varying discount (or premium) relative to the value of the underlying assets of the trust. As a result losses (or gains) may be higher or lower than those of the trust's assets.
- The trust holds an investment in the IPS business which are wholly owned subsidiaries and private shares.
- If a trust's portfolio is concentrated towards a particular country or geographical region, the investment carries greater risk than a portfolio diversified across more countries.
- The trust may use gearing as part of its investment strategy. If the trust utilises its ability to gear, the profits and losses incurred by the trust can be greater than those of a trust that does not use gearing.
