The Directors of relevant management companies are responsible for the adoption of the Global Remuneration Policy, for reviewing its general principles at least annually, for overseeing its implementation and for ensuring compliance with the relevant local legislation and regulation. ### Objectives

The broad aim of the Company is to provide investors with revenue and/or capital growth over the medium to long term.

The equity funds will invest primarily in equities in the markets reflected in the title of each individual fund and in companies established outside those markets, but which derive a significant proportion of their earnings from those markets.

The aim of the bond funds is to provide investors with relatively high revenue with the possibility of capital gains.

The investment objective and a review of the investment activities of each fund during the period under review are included within the Fund Manager Reviews.

Market Performance Review

Performance overview – six months ended August 2024

Global equities, as measured by the MSCI World Index, were volatile but generated positive returns over the period. Resilient economic data, upbeat corporate earnings and increased optimism surrounding policy easing amid moderating inflation in developed markets supported investor sentiment. However, political developments in Europe and the Bank of Japan's (BoJ) decision to increase its policy rate, which led to a rapid unwinding of leveraged global trades kept investor sentiment in check.

Against this backdrop, equities in the UK and US gained the most. Emerging markets also edged higher but underperformed developed markets led by weakness in South Korean equities. At a sector level, utilities and financial companies were among the leading gainers, while consumer discretionary names underperformed. Overall, returns in sterling terms were weighed down by its appreciation against the US dollar and euro, but supported by its depreciation against the yen.

European equities rallied over the period. Markets were supported by a strong earnings season and optimism around interest rate cuts, although rising bond yields kept sentiment in check. As anticipated, the European Central Bank (ECB) reduced its three key lending rates by 0.25 percentage points in June, marking the bank's first interest rate cut since 2019. The month of July started on a cautious note as investors awaited the results of the French and UK elections. While the UK result was a widely anticipated landslide victory for the Labour party, the French outcome was a hung parliament with no single party crossing the 289-seat threshold to secure an outright majority, thereby prolonging political uncertainty. In early August, equity markets witnessed big negative moves prompted by the BoJ's decision to increase interest rates by 25 basis points (bps), and the subsequent unwind of 'carry trades' that had relied on cheap Japanese debt to fund investments in global risk assets. Market sentiment was also impacted by weak US economic data. However, European equities, along with other equity markets, recovered through the month, largely on the prospect of lower US interest rates following US Federal Reserve (Fed) Chair Jerome Powell's comments at the Jackson Hole meeting that "the time has come for policy to adjust".

UK equities continued their strong growth over the six-month period, with the FTSE All Share reaching new all-time highs. Initially, strong data in April prompted investors to reduce expectations for central bank rate cuts due to concerns about an overheating US economy. However, as the period progressed, these fears eased, and optimism about a soft landing resurfaced. Persistent inflation, particularly in the services sector, remained a concern, keeping expectations for rate cuts lower than at the start of the year. However, UK inflation held steady at 2.0% in June, matching its lowest level since 2021 and aligning with the Bank of England's (BoE's) target, opening the door to a rate cut by the BoE in early August when the central bank ultimately cut its policy rate by 25 bps to 5.0%. This was the BoE's first rate cut in over four years. The decision was described as "finely balanced," with policymakers voting 5-4 in favour of the reduction. The central bank signalled a cautious approach to further easing, indicating that it would act prudently until there is more definitive evidence of subdued inflation. Political developments were also back in focus with the conclusion of the UK elections in July. The widely anticipated Labour majority had little immediate impact on the market. The newly elected government promises a continuation of fiscal discipline together with a growth program centred around boosting housing and construction output. Time will tell whether they stick to this market friendly agenda in the face of ongoing fiscal pressures but for now the UK stands out as a bastion of political stability compared to several other OECD economies.

US equities advanced over the period. Markets started on a weak note as higher than expected Consumer Price Index (CPI) weighed on investor sentiment. Nevertheless, hopes for interest rate cuts and a strong start to the earnings season drove markets to record highs by the end of the first quarter of 2024. Markets continued to rise in June, as a softer inflation reading buoyed investor sentiment. Narrow market breadth persisted as exuberance around AI led major stock indices to all-time highs. July saw a significant rotation as investors moved away from mega-cap technology companies and into smaller companies, that are more interest rate sensitive. Equities rose in August despite contending with a market sell off at the beginning of the month. Fed Chairman Jerome Powell announced at Jackson Hole that "the time has come for policy to adjust" and helped cement investor expectations of an imminent rate cut. Against this backdrop, all sectors except consumer discretionary advanced, with utilities, information technology, and financials rallying the most.

The Japanese equity market rose during the period with the Nikkei index reaching an all-time closing high, but profit taking and yen strength in the latter part of the review period capped overall market returns. The market was driven primarily by central bank policy expectations, centred on the BoJ and the US Fed. Meanwhile, upbeat earnings results, including from index heavyweights, accompanied by share buyback announcements, also supported market sentiment. In terms of macroeconomic news, the BoJ decided to end its negative interest rate policy and eliminate yield curve control. This marked the central bank's first move to tighten monetary policy in Japan in nearly two decades. From now on, the BoJ's primary policy tool will be short-term interest rates, which it aims to keep at around 0-0.1%. While the yen weakened initially, the currency strengthened towards the latter part of the review period. In terms of style, value stocks generated the strongest returns over the period, outperforming growth names. Among sectors, energy, utilities, real estate and health care led the gainers, while consumer discretionary was the weakest performer.

Market Performance Review

Emerging markets ended in positive territory (in sterling terms) over the period but underperformed developed markets. The period was marked by volatility as markets globally grappled with elevated inflation in the developed world along with the timeline for interest rate cuts, geopolitical tensions and the pace of the economic recovery in China. In addition, volatility persisted in anticipation of election results in three major emerging economies - India, South Africa and Mexico. In recent months, markets were strengthened by encouraging economic trends such as rising commodity prices, China's stimulus measures and the strong performance of technology stocks. The growing likelihood that the US Fed could cut rates as early as September has also been supportive for emerging markets.

Equities in the Pacific ex Japan region advanced over the period driven by strong performance of the communication services and information technology (IT) sectors. Robust performance from the ASEAN region, notably equities in Singapore, was driven by the impressive performance from major banks and real estate investment trusts (REITs). Australian equities also ended the period higher. The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) held its cash rate steady at its August monetary policy meeting, in line with market expectations. Conversely, China and Hong Kong lagged. Subdued macroeconomic data releases and renewed stress on the financials and real estate sectors in China weighed on investor sentiment.

Global fixed income markets posted positive returns over the period, with corporate bonds outperforming government bonds. Sovereign bonds initially struggled as markets reacted to stronger-than-expected inflation data, which delayed expectations for interest rate cuts by a few months. However, sentiment later shifted as weakening global economic data helped reverse losses in sovereign bonds. Geopolitical risks, especially in the Middle East, and uncertainties surrounding French and the UK elections also led to bouts of volatility. On the monetary policy front, the US Fed maintained interest rates and postponed the start of interest rate cuts to later in the year. However, five central banks within the Group of 10 currency bloc (the Swiss National Bank, Riksbank, Bank of Canada, ECB, and the BoE) lowered interest rates during the period. Conversely, the BoJ raised interest rates for the first time in 17 years, ending its negative interest rate policy by setting the key rate between 0 and 0.1%. In this environment, yields on sovereign bonds, including US Treasuries, German bunds and the UK Government bonds (Gilts) fell over the period. Additionally, stable corporate earnings outlook and balanced technical factors led to tighter spreads, supporting corporate bonds. On the economic front, US economic growth in the second quarter was revised upward, driven by consumer spending. However, the S&P Global US manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell to 47.9 in August from 51.9 in March, indicating a decline in business conditions. The US Core Personal Consumption Expenditure (PCE) price index gradually moderated compared to the faster increases seen earlier this year, while the annual inflation rate in the US fell to 2.5% in August, the lowest since February 2021. Elsewhere, the eurozone's composite PMI improved to 51 in August, driven by a quick upturn in the services sector, while the bloc's manufacturing sector remained in contractionary territory at 45.8 in August, reflecting the impact of tighter financial conditions by the ECB and the fallout of energy price spikes earlier in the period.

(Unaudited)

1. Accounting policies

- a) Basis of preparation - The interim financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of certain financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value through profit or loss. The financial statements are also prepared in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (UK GAAP) and the Statement of Recommended Practice (SORP) for Authorised Funds issued by the Investment Association (IA) in May 2014, and as amended in 2017. Fidelity Emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa Fund closed on 24 March 2023. Fidelity Global High Yield Fund closed on 16 October 2023. Fidelity Japan Smaller Companies Fund closed on 8 June 2024. Fidelity Global Property Fund closed on 15 June 2024. Fidelity Sustainable Water & Waste Fund closed on 15 August 2024. Therefore, the financial statements for this fund have been prepared on a basis other than going concern. No adjustments were required in these financial statements to reduce assets to their realised values, to provide for liabilities arising from the decision to cease trading or to reclassify non-current assets and liabilities as current. The comparative financial information for Fidelity Emerging Europe, Middle East and Africa Fund is prepared on a basis other than going concern. The comparative financial information for Fidelity Global High Yield Fund, Fidelity Japan Smaller Companies Fund, Fidelity Global Property Fund and Fidelity Sustainable Water & Waste Fund is prepared on a going concern basis.
- b) All other accounting policies applied in the interim financial statements of the sub-funds have been prepared on the same basis as the audited financial statements for the year ended 29 February 2024.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of US companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the US and those which are listed in the US) and aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of 30-40 securities.

The fund is actively managed and will invest in a concentrated portfolio of companies the Investment Manager considers will outperform over the period. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the S&P 500 Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also invest into other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive absolute returns over the period. Industrial conglomerate General Electric rallied as robust growth in the commercial equipment segment drove strong revenues that beat market expectations. Insurance company Progressive Corp rose following better than expected second quarter results. Positive momentum for Progressive continued into August, attributable to strong underwriting performance and a robust margin outlook. Shares in Salesforce declined sharply following worse than expected first quarter results. The company reported subdued sales growth figures in a challenging buying environment. Salesforce reported revenue within its guidance range, which disappointed investors, following strong double-digit growth in previous quarters. We bought new holdings in Unitedhealth and Nvidia and sold positions in Applied Materials and IQVIA.

Outlook

Looking ahead, we expect three main themes to be prominent in markets: falling inflation, rate cuts by the US Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) and resilience in the US consumer. If inflation continues to fall faster than expected towards the US Fed's target of 2%, it should give the central bank an opportunity to cut interest rates, while excess savings should ensure that the consumer remains resilient.

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of US companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the US and those which are listed in the US). The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest into other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. The holding in gold miner Agnico Eagles Mines rallied after delivering good first quarter results, beating consensus estimates across the board. Its results were supported by strong quarterly margins and free cash flow, a stabilisation in inflationary pressures and progress on growth initiatives. Shares in discount retailer Dollar Tree fell after peer Dollar General missed second quarter results and reduced its full-year sales forecast. The company cited inflationary pressures as headwinds to sales. We bought new positions in Walt Disney and Samsung Electronics and sold holdings in CVS Health and Constellation Energy.

Outlook

Looking ahead, we expect three main themes to be prominent in markets: falling inflation, rate cuts by the US Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) and resilience in the US consumer. If inflation continues to fall faster than expected towards the US Fed's target of 2%, it should give the central bank an opportunity to cut interest rates, while excess savings should ensure that the consumer remains resilient.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of companies throughout Asia (excluding Japan) (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in Asia (excluding Japan) and those which are listed in the region). This region includes countries considered to be emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion. The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size, industry, or geographical split.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI All Country Asia ex Japan Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also invest into other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Stock selection in China and India contributed positively. On the other hand, some of our conviction holdings in Hong Kong, Taiwan and South Korea detracted amid investor rotation away from these markets. Consequently, our positions in AIA Group, Samsung Electronics and Wiyun Corp were among the largest detractors from returns. On a positive note, positions in quality stocks in China and India supported performance. Holdings in Tencent, Meituan, Bharti Airtel, Shriram Finance and Eicher Motors were among the leading gainers.

I trimmed the position in TSMC to stay within the 10% holding limit. I bought new holdings in Hon Hai Precision and Wiyun Corporation. Hon Hai Precision is a leading provider of electronics manufacturing services (EMS) with Apple among its key clients. As smartphones progress towards incorporating AI features, it could provide a tailwind for the company.

Outlook

Asia remains an attractive market for long-term investors. The region continues to experience structural growth across individual markets where demographics support a growing middle class and offer the scope for penetration of products and services.

There may be less supervision, regulation and less well-defined procedures than in more developed countries. Emerging markets can be sensitive to political instability, which can result in greater volatility and uncertainty, subjecting the fund to the risk of losses.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of companies domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the Asia Pacific (excluding Japan) region and those which are listed in the region and aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of 25-35 securities. The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size, industry, or geographical split which could include investment in countries considered as emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. The position in medical device company ResMed attracted investor interest. Shares in the company had slid sharply in recent months following concerns over competitive pressures. The position was trimmed at share price strength. The holding in precious metals streaming company Wheaton Precious Metals proved rewarding. Wheaton's management emphasised on a good organic growth pipeline from existing assets, with production expected to improve in a couple of years. The exposure to the company was increased over the period. Concerns over China's sluggish economic recovery weighed on consumer stocks including Yum China and Kweichow Moutai. A new position was purchased in Thailand's convenience chain store operator CP All, while the position in SK Hynix was sold for better opportunities elsewhere.

Outlook

The market outlook appears challenging. Overall, the Asia Pacific region more broadly presents some interesting opportunities on a fundamental level, but caution is needed to find those that present an attractive risk-reward profile.

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to deliver an income and to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of companies domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the Asia Pacific (excluding Japan) region and those which are listed in the region and aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of 30-50 securities.

The Investment Manager will choose investments which it believes offer attractive dividend yields in addition to capital growth. It is not restricted in terms of size, industry or geographical split which could include investment in countries considered as emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Selections within Chinese and Hong Kong holdings weighed on returns as investors remained sceptical about the prospects of Chinese economic growth. Consequently, our positions in AIA Group, and China Mengniu Dairy were among the largest detractors from returns. On the other hand, regional semiconductor stocks advanced strongly over the period amid broad-based enthusiasm for AI related demand. Against this backdrop the conviction position in TSMC proved rewarding, while not holding Hon Hai Precision hurt relative performance.

I bought new positions in Anta Sports and Sporton International. These were funded by trimming some of our exposure in IT stocks.

Our positions in automobile dealer China Yongda and in utilities company China Yangtze Power were sold off, as these stocks had reached our target valuations and offered limited upside potential.

Outlook

Positive developments on dividend policies in Asia have led to a robust outlook for dividend growth. I continue to prefer companies with a sustainable dividend stream that are supported by strong balance sheets and predictable cash flows.

W Income Shares	5

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- Liquidity is a measure of how easily an investment can be converted into cash. Under certain market conditions assets may be more difficult to value or sell at a desired price. This could affect the fund's ability to meet redemptions in a timely manner.
- Emerging markets may be more volatile and it could be harder to sell or trade securities. There may be less supervision, regulation and less well-defined procedures than in more developed countries. Emerging markets can be sensitive to political instability, which can result in greater volatility and uncertainty, subjecting the fund to the risk of losses.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to maintain the value of your investment and pay you an income.

The fund will invest at least 70% in a diversified range of sterling denominated money market instruments, other short-term investments and transferable securities. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in, but is not limited to, certificates of deposit, commercial paper, medium-term notes, floating rate notes and treasury bills. The fund will not hold derivative positions.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund's performance was primarily supported by yields as credit risk was kept to a minimum. The weighted average maturity (WAM) position was 51 days, while we continue to adhere to the fund's strict credit quality and liquidity criteria.

The portfolio strategy remains conservative. The focus is on high credit quality, with exposure to issuers rated Aa3 or higher at 57%. The portfolio is also well diversified across regions. A high level of liquidity is maintained, with 47% of net assets maturing in 30 days or less.

Outlook

Inflation is moving in the right direction but sticky services inflation has led to uncertainty around further rate cuts. However, we expect the BoE to ease monetary policy due to a continuous moderation in inflation and weaker economic data across developed markets.

- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- There is a risk that the issuers of bonds may not be able to repay the money they have borrowed or make interest payments. While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall. Investment in a Money Market Fund is different from an investment in deposits, in particular, the principal invested in a Money Market Fund may fluctuate and the risk of loss of the principal is to be borne by the investor.
- The fund is not a guaranteed investment. It does not rely on external support for guaranteeing the liquidity of the fund or stabilising the net asset value of shares in the fund.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of companies domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the Greater China region and those which are listed in the region related to the development, manufacture or sale of goods or services to Chinese consumers and aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of 30-50 securities. The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size or geographical split which could include investment in countries considered as emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI China Capped 10% Index (Net). This is to ensure the Investment Manager selects at least 70% stocks related to the China consumer theme. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated negative returns and underperformed the index over the review period. The position in PDD Holdings declined due to disappointing quarterly earnings and cautious guidance from its executives amid intensified competition in the e-commerce space. Meanwhile, the underweight exposure to Tencent due to adhering to UCITS concentration rules held back gains. Its shares rose after it posted a rise in second-quarter revenue, driven by the launch of a much-awaited mobile game and a likely rebound in the gaming industry. On a positive note, the exposure to Pop Mart International enhanced relative gains. It has been able to forge emotional connections with its customer base to withstand the recent drop in consumer confidence. Elsewhere, a lack of exposure to Baidu added value. Meanwhile, the exposure to Li Auto and Anta Sports was increased while the holding in Tencent and Alibaba was reduced.

Outlook

We believe that the economy is weak, and consumption will be an important driver of growth. The difficult economic environment is leading to an evolution of consumer trends that are creating winners and losers among companies, providing opportunities for active stock pickers.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to deliver an income that is at least 50% more than the income produced by the companies included in the FTSE All Share (Gross Total Return) Index. The fund also has the potential to increase the value of your investment.

The fund will invest at least 50% in equities (and their related securities) of companies domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the UK and those which are listed in the UK. It is not restricted in terms of size or industry. Derivatives, including covered call options, will be used for investment purposes in order to further enhance the income generated by the underlying investments. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. At a sector level, exposure to the health care sector weighed on returns while stock selection in financials proved rewarding. Luxury fashion company Burberry Group came under pressure amid lower demand in China and a weaker macro-economic backdrop. The underweight stance in AstraZeneca weighed on returns as the stock performed well over the period. In contrast, NatWest Group contributed owing to upbeat pre-provision profits and higher net interest margins.

A new holding was purchased in leading advertising company WPP, which holds attractive margin potential. It is well poised to benefit from new output-based pricing and internal efficiency from AI.

Outlook

We are confident that the fund is well positioned to weather any downside risks given our focus on large-cap, liquid, resilient stocks and our continued valuation discipline, which supports the fund during periods of drawdown while acting as a potential source of upside during market recoveries.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more and provide a growing level of income.

The fund will invest at least 80% in equities (and their related securities) of companies domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in continental Europe and those which are listed in the region.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI Europe ex UK Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also invest into other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. The underweight allocation to industrials and stock selection in the materials sector supported performance. Private equity firm 3i Group outperformed on the back of strong results, led by the performance of its key holding, the budget retailer Action. The fund's exposure to Bankinter also added notable value. Shares gained after the company reported stronger than expected first quarter results in April, with profits driven by higher revenues and lower costs. Meanwhile, the position in luxury conglomerate LVMH and beauty products leader L'Oréal were among the top three detractors, with both the companies warning of a challenging outlook for the year and lower-than-expected growth in China.

We bought new positions in French insurance business AXA and Irish ultra low-cost carrier Ryanair. The holding in Swiss based insurance business Zurich Insurance was sold.

Outlook

The portfolio remains balanced in terms of sector positioning. Our focus is on finding attractively valued companies with good prospects for cash generation and dividend growth over the longer term. Looking ahead into 2024, our strategy will be to identify businesses with strong pricing power and to avoid companies with stretched balance sheets.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to deliver an income with the potential to increase the value of your investment.

The fund will be at least 70% exposed to sterling denominated (or hedged back to sterling) investment grade and high yield debt instruments.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the ICE Bank of America Merrill Lynch Q409 Custom Index (GBP Hedged) which is a custom blend of investment grade and high yield corporate bond indices maintained by Bank of America Merrill Lynch. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may invest in issuers, sectors, countries and security types not included in the index in order to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index

The fund may also obtain exposure to transferable securities, money market instruments, collective investment schemes, cash and near cash and deposits. Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes and may include (but are not limited to) derivatives on exchange rates, interest rates, inflation and credit. The fund may also take positions which enable it to benefit from falling asset prices.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period, primarily driven by higher coupon income. Meanwhile, the fund's interest rate risk positioning added value as sovereign bond yields fell over the period due to major central banks changing their expectations for interest rate cuts in response to lower inflation and slower economic growth.

There are numerous signs that are driving us to de-risk the portfolio and shore up liquidity, including slowing macroeconomic signals, spikes in volatility and stretched valuations. Our key sector positions remain defensive with a bias towards bonds with underlying asset security, such as ABS and utilities. We added new positions in AT&T and Cellnex Telecom while selling positions in Southern Gas Networks and E.ON. On the duration front, we are taking a nimble approach to interest rate positioning.

Outlook

The global economy is slowing, and macroeconomic conditions are indicating a soft-landing scenario. In addition, there has been a shift in regime where markets, went from pushing back and pricing out central bank rate cuts in first half to now front-loading aggressive rate cuts in the second half of the year. We believe this environment is supportive for investment grade bonds, but current valuations warrant a degree of caution. We prefer to be selective in specific parts of the market where we have more conviction.

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- The use of derivatives may result in "leverage" by which we mean a level of exposure which could expose the fund to the potential of greater gains or losses than would otherwise be the case.
- There is a risk that the issuers of bonds may not be able to repay the money they have borrowed or make interest payments. While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall.
- The fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if a counterparty used for derivative instruments subsequently defaults.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment with low volatility versus the MSCI All Country World (Net Total Return) Index. It also seeks to deliver an income that is at least 25% more than the income produced by companies included in the index.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of companies globally. The Investment Manager will choose investments which it believes offer attractive dividend yields in addition to price appreciation. It is not restricted in terms of size, industry, or geographical split. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Strong stock selection in the consumer staples and health care sectors enhanced gains. Consumer goods major Unilever was the most notable contributor to performance, driven by significant operating margin expansion in the first half, supported by increased volumes and lower input costs. This led to solid earnings upgrades. The structural drivers of future margin improvement are promising.

I bought a new position in Finnish capital goods company Kone which operates in an oligopolistic industry with sustainable competitive advantage and has consistently delivered high returns on capital and stable revenues. The position in National Grid was increased on its attractive valuation after it sold off in response to the announcement of a £7bn rights issue to fund a new £60bn capex programme for the next five years. My view is that the plan makes strategic sense. The holding in Intel was closed on lack of confidence in its ability to regain competitiveness in its foundry business. I also sold Japanese telecom company KDDI on a loss of confidence in the capital allocation decisions of its management following the announcement that it was increasing its stake in Lawson, a convenience store franchise.

Outlook

I remain confident in the outlook for portfolio holdings. Their performance is not reliant on the continued momentum in the AI theme nor on a particular macro scenario playing out. I remain focussed on investing in attractively valued stable businesses with strong balance sheets, resilient earnings and higher margins which should drive a significantly better risk-adjusted return than the market, alongside an attractive yield and a growing dividend.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment and deliver an income that is at least 50% more than the income produced by the companies included in the MSCI All Country World Index.

The fund will invest at least 50% in equities (and their related securities) of companies globally, which could include countries considered to be emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion. Derivatives, including covered call options, will be used for investment purposes in order to further enhance the income generated by the underlying investments. The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size, industry, or geographical split. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Robust security selection in financials proved rewarding, while the underweight stance in information technology held back returns. Private equity company 3i Group rallied, as one of its key investments in discount retailer Action continued to perform strongly. NatWest Group added value as it bought back its shares from the UK government in an off-market purchase, reducing the latter's share in the company. In contrast, not owning Nvidia weighed on relative returns as the stock rallied on optimism surrounding AI.

We bought a new position in home appliance manufacturer Haier Smart Home. The company's strong product mix and channel structure help drive higher margins in the long-term. A new position was also added in KBC Groupe, which has competitive advantages from an integrated business model, dominant market position, and strong levels of investment which are durable and underestimated. Meanwhile, the positions in pharmaceutical companies Astellas Pharma and Bristol Myers Squibb were closed.

Outlook

We maintain a high quality, defensive portfolio and will continue to invest in high-quality sustainable companies with strong balance sheets, at attractive valuations and where we have a high level of confidence in the persistence of cash flows across the cycle which can support an attractive, growing dividend.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI All Country World Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Selected positions in the energy and communication services sectors supported performance. US technology hardware company Dell reported strong AI server demand and shipments in the first quarter. The position was closed in May following its strong share price performance. Latin American e-commerce and payments company MercadoLibre advanced on solid second quarter results, with a notable increase in active buyers and items sold, contributing to its overall positive performance.

We bought a new position in NextEra, a leading renewable energy company with an attractive valuation and industry leading returns. Another new position was purchased in chipmaker Nvidia (while still maintaining an underweight) which is uniquely exposed to a number of multi-decade growth themes including gaming, cloud, big data and of course AI, all supported by its industry leading technology. Conversely, the position in Intel was sold on reduced conviction in generating economic returns given immense technological challenges.

Outlook

The team continues to expect stock specific risk to dominate the performance of the fund. However, they are fully aware that the macroeconomic environment plays an important role in defining the shape of how the market moves. With the changing market backdrop, the team expects a more diverse selection of styles, markets and sectors to outperform. With growth weakening and valuations still high versus history, delivery of earnings growth expectations from stocks will be key to outperformance.

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the MSCI Emerging Markets (Net Total Return) Index (before fees and expenses are applied), thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in company shares, the fund will achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. The markets were strengthened by encouraging economic trends such as rising commodity prices, China's stimulus measures, and strong performance of technology stocks. Meanwhile, volatility persisted in anticipation of election results in three major emerging economies - India, South Africa and Mexico. The growing likelihood that the US Fed could cut rates as early as September was also supportive for emerging markets.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time before costs. However, the reported fund and index returns cannot be used to assess how well the fund tracks the index. This is because the fund is priced at midday, while the market index is calculated using closing market prices. To allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 5.06% against the index return of 5.55% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as annual ongoing charges (0.20%), taxation and transaction costs. India Capital Gains Tax, the rate of which also increased in period, was the main negative source of tracking difference.

Please note, the fund's cash position, and investment of cash into a liquidity fund for diversification, does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index. Such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's country and holdings weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

We continue to see broad balance-sheet strength in EM companies. The macroeconomic backdrop remains uncertain, and investors are closely monitoring the trajectory of Fed rate cuts, the run-up to the US election, and the pace of China's economic recovery. Nonetheless, falling interest rates will act as a tailwind for companies and consumers, and should also create a shift in mindset as investors retreat from safe-haven assets and start to consider opportunity costs, including risk assets such as emerging market equities.

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- Liquidity is a measure of how easily an investment can be converted into cash. Under certain market conditions assets may be more difficult to value or sell at a desired price. This could affect the fund's ability to meet redemptions in a timely manner.
- Emerging markets may be more volatile and it could be harder to sell or trade securities. There may be less supervision, regulation and less well-defined procedures than in more developed countries. Emerging markets can be sensitive to political instability, which can result in greater volatility and uncertainty, subjecting the fund to the risk of losses.
- Fidelity International's partial swing pricing policy can cause differences in the fund's performance versus the index.
- A fund's performance tracking may be affected if the times at which a fund and its benchmark index are priced are different. The fund is priced at midday UK time, and the index is priced when the relevant stock markets close. This can cause apparent differences in the fund's performance versus that of the index than if the fund and the index were priced at the same time.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the MSCI Europe ex UK (Gross Total Return) Index (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely because the fund incurs taxes that are not reflected in the index. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in company shares, the fund will achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund posted positive returns over a volatile six-month period. Markets were supported by a strong earnings season and optimism around interest rate cuts, although rising bond yields kept sentiment in check. As anticipated, the ECB reduced its three key lending rates by 0.25 percentage points in June, marking the bank's first interest rate cut since 2019. The month of July started on a cautious note as investors awaited the results of the French and UK elections. While the UK result was a widely anticipated landslide victory for the Labour party, the French outcome was a hung parliament with no single party crossing the 289-seat threshold to secure an outright majority, thereby prolonging political uncertainty. In early August, equity markets witnessed big negative moves prompted by the BoJ's decision to increase interest rates by 25 basis points. Market sentiment was also impacted by weak US economic data. However, European equities, along with other equity markets, recovered through the month, largely on the prospect of lower US interest rates following Fed Chair Jerome Powell's comments at the Jackson Hole meeting that "the time has come for policy to adjust".

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time before costs. However, the reported fund and index returns cannot be used to assess how well the fund tracks the index. This is because the fund is priced at midday, while the market index is calculated using closing market prices. To allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 5.14% against the index return of 5.69% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as ongoing annual charges (0.10%), taxation and transaction costs. In addition, a substantial part of the difference is due to withholding taxes incurred by the fund, but not by the gross total return index, as evidenced by the 4.99% performance of the net total return index over the period.

Please note, the fund's cash position, and investment of cash into a liquidity fund for diversification, does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's country and holdings weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

While markets have rebounded from the volatility experienced in early August, we are likely nearing the conclusion of the tightening cycle that has supported value-driven equities in Europe. Economic growth uncertainties remain elevated across the region, increasing the likelihood of a downward trend in interest rates. This decline in rates is expected to provide a favourable tailwind for both companies and consumers.

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the JP Morgan G7 Government Bond Index, hedged to the British Pound, (before fees and expenses are applied), thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to track the performance of the index. The strategy will utilise sampling techniques of the index for practical reasons (a method by which the fund tracks the performance and exposure of the index and which thereby reduces costs to investors by only partially investing in the securities making up the index) to achieve this goal.

As well as investing directly in global government bonds, the fund may achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund posted returns of 3.89% (gross of fees) for the six-month period as compared to index returns of 3.20%. Curve positioning, particularly in the longer-term maturities of 15 to 25 years, contributed to relative returns.

Global fixed income markets generated positive returns during the review period. During the start of the review period, sovereign bond yields surged on both sides of the Atlantic, reaching their highest levels of the year due to resilient economic data, sparking concerns that interest rates, particularly in the US, may remain elevated for an extended period. However, towards the end of the review period, sovereign bonds exhibited some recovery, owing to volatility amidst heightened geopolitical risks. The US Fed held interest rates steady at its latest meeting in July and adopted a more dovish tone hinting at rate cuts around September. The ECB, after lowering three key interest rates by 0.25 percentage points in June, kept rates unchanged at its July meeting.

Outlook

The market is pricing in four rate cuts this year from the Fed, followed by another four in the first half of 2025. We think this is quite aggressive and would require further deterioration in labour markets and tightening of financial conditions. However, if the Fed is more aggressive in its rate cutting cycle than the market expects, then the US dollar index will weaken even further.

In the Eurozone, inflation was higher than consensus estimates in July, however it is still at a three-year low. Although services inflation did unexpectedly rise in July, the level of services inflation may not be enough to dissuade the ECB from further rate cuts given the weak sentiment data. In the UK, inflation increased slightly in July, but it was lower than expected after the BoE's rate cut in August. This is a reassuring sign and may create more opportunities for future rate cuts.

- There is a risk that the issuers of bonds may not be able to repay the money they have borrowed or make interest payments. While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall. Fidelity International's partial swing pricing policy can cause differences in the fund's performance versus the index.

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the MSCI Japan (Net Total Return) Index (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the review period. The Japanese equity market rose, but profit taking and yen strength in the latter part of the review period capped overall market returns. The market was driven primarily by central bank policy expectations, centred on the BoJ and the US Fed. The BoJ decided to end its negative interest rate policy and eliminate yield curve control in March. This marked the central bank's first move to tighten the monetary policy in Japan in nearly two decades.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time, before costs. However, the reported fund and index returns cannot be used to assess how well the fund tracks the index. This is because the fund is priced at midday, while the market index is calculated using closing market prices. To allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 0.98% against the index return of 0.94% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as annual ongoing charges (0.10%), taxation and transaction costs. Taxation was a positive source of tracking difference, where the fund's withholding tax treatment is more favourable versus the net total return index.

Please note, the fund's cash position does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's country and holdings weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

A transition to mild inflation and the normalisation of monetary policy in Japan is positive for both the domestic economy and the stock market. Japanese companies are raising prices across the board and the latest spring wage negotiations are delivering higher levels of income growth, which will provide reassurance on the consumer side. Meanwhile, TSE-led governance reforms are gaining momentum and we are seeing progress in the rationalisation of cross shareholdings. While signs of further weakness in China's recovery and the risk of a US recession represent potential headwinds, the accumulation of positive factors is supportive of the mid-to-long-term outlook for the Japanese market.

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the MSCI Pacific ex Japan (Net Total Return Index) (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in company shares, the fund will achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Equities were supported by a rally in artificial-intelligence (AI)-led technology stocks. Communication services and the financials sector also boosted returns. Notably Singapore reported robust performance and led gains.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time before costs. However, the reported fund and index returns cannot be used to assess how well the fund tracks the index. This is because the fund is priced at midday, while the market index is calculated using closing market prices. To allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 6.21% against the index return of 6.30% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as annual ongoing charges (0.13%), taxation and transaction costs.

Please note, the fund's cash position does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account the exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's country and holdings weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

We anticipate an improvement in earnings in the Pacific ex Japan region as China's economy stabilises. The outlook for China is cautiously optimistic although more supportive government policy is still required for the economy to show improvement. Overall, the near-term outlook for global markets remains challenging as they continue to grapple with inflation, high interest rates and currency fluctuations. Despite pockets of opportunity, we expect the broader challenging macroeconomic environment to continue for now.

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- Fidelity International's partial swing pricing policy can cause differences in the fund's performance versus the index.
- A fund's performance tracking may be affected if the times at which a fund and its benchmark index are priced are different. The fund is priced at midday UK time, and the index is priced when the relevant stock markets close. This can cause apparent differences in the fund's performance versus that of the index than if the fund and the index were priced at the same time.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the Markit iBoxx GBP Liquid Corporates Large Cap Index, with mid-day valuation (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The mid-day index is a customised variant designed and maintained by IHS Markit Benchmark Administration Limited, for alignment with this Fund's UK mid-day valuation point. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every security in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in corporate bonds, the fund may achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the six-month period in-line with the benchmark returns. Term structure positioning, particularly at the longer end of the maturity curve, added to relative returns, whereas the credit component held back gains. The duration of the fund was maintained in line with the benchmark.

The UK investment grade space posted positive returns in the six-month period ending August. During the start of the review period, spreads tightened, underpinned by stable corporate fundamentals and a relatively positive economic outlook. However, later during the period, spreads widened due to bouts of volatility owing to concerns over geopolitical risks, particularly around the Middle East. Meanwhile, inflation in the UK fell to 2.0% in June, the lowest since 2021 before climbing to 2.2% in July but remained in target range. This coupled with concerns about slowing growth in the UK economy, prompted the Bank of England to proceed with a rate cut of 25 basis points in August.

Outlook

Given the historically tight spreads, we remain neutral on sterling investment grade, however, we continue to see value in the securitised part of the market and in the short end of the curve. Indeed, short-dated sterling investment grade is another pocket of relative value with spreads at attractive levels compared to the longer end of the curve.

The BoE is cautiously optimistic on inflation, stating that the second-round inflation effects were smaller than they expected. As a result, we continue to see value in UK real duration and maintain our long position.

While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall.
- Fidelity International's partial swing pricing policy can cause differences in the fund's performance versus the index.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the FTSE All-Share Mid-day (Gross Total Return) Index (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The Mid-day (Gross Total Return) index is a customised variant designed and maintained by FTSE, for alignment with this Fund's UK mid-day valuation point. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in company shares, the fund will achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as Liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the review period. UK equities continued their strong growth over the six-month period, with the FTSE All Share making new all-time highs. Initially, strong data in April prompted investors to reduce expectations for central bank rate cuts due to concerns about an overheating US economy. However, as the period progressed, these fears eased, and optimism about a soft landing resurfaced. Persistent inflation, particularly in the services sector, remained a concern, keeping expectations for rate cuts lower than at the start of the year. However, UK inflation held steady at 2.0% in June, matching its lowest level since 2021 and aligning with the BoE target, opening the door to a rate cut by the BoE in early August. The central bank ultimately decided to cut its policy rate by 25 basis points to 5.0%, marking the first rate cut in over four years.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time, before costs. The fund is priced at midday, while the FTSE All Share TR index is calculated using closing market prices. While there is a comparable noon price in the form of the FTSE All Share Midday TR index, Fidelity International's swing pricing policy can cause differences in the fund's performance versus this midday index. For this reason, in order to allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 12.49% against the index return of 12.56% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as annual ongoing charges (0.06%), taxation and transaction costs.

Please note, the fund's cash position, and investment of cash into a liquidity fund for diversification, does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as any cash is typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's sector and holdings weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

Despite the improved performance of the UK over recent years, UK equities still look cheap relative to other markets, and reasonably valued on an absolute basis. The UK market with its high dividends and low valuations offers a better prospective return than many other asset classes, including global equities.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the FTSE Actuaries UK Gilts All Stocks Index with mid-day valuation (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The mid-day index is a customised variant designed and maintained by FTSE International Limited, for alignment with this Fund's UK mid-day valuation point. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as Liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the six-month period, in-line with the benchmark returns. Sterling curve positioning, particularly in the maturity range of 7-10 years detracted from returns. However, it was largely offset by positive contribution from the longer end of the sterling curve. Duration of the fund was maintained in line with the benchmark.

The review period started on a positive note, amidst hopes that monetary policy tightening may be coming to an end. However, the continuing inflationary headwinds led markets to price in a higher terminal rate, causing UK Gilt yields (which have an inverse relationship with prices) to rise amidst the higher for longer narrative. However, the yields fell in the second half of the review period, as investors dialled up their expectations for interest rate cuts owing to softening inflation and growth concerns. In August, the BoE finally proceeded with a rate cut of 25 basis points, bringing the base rate to 5%.

Outlook

While the BoE was dovish at the recent Jackson Hole Symposium, indicating that the rebound in inflation was smaller than the forecast, the rate cutting cycle cannot be as long or aggressive as what we might expect in the US, given the UK has more of an inherent inflation problem and the recent public sector pay rises are likely to be followed by a private sector response.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the S&P 500 (NUK) Index (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. NUK means Net Total Return (WHT 15%). NUK is a customised index variant, designed and maintained by S&P, which aligns more closely with this Fund's withholding tax treatment. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in company shares, the fund will achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as Liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

US equities advanced over the period. Markets started on a weak note as higher than expected Consumer Price Index (CPI) weighed on investor sentiment. Nevertheless, hopes for interest rate cuts and a strong start to the earnings season drove markets to record highs by the end of the first quarter of 2024. Markets continued to rise in June, as a softer inflation reading spurred investor sentiment. Narrow market breadth persisted as exuberance around AI led major stock indices to all-time highs. July saw significant rotation as investors moved away from mega-cap technology companies and into smaller companies, that are more interest rate sensitive.

Equities rose in August despite contending with a market sell off at the beginning of the month. US Fed Chairman Jerome Powell announced at Jackson Hole that "the time has come for policy to adjust" and helped cement investor expectations of an imminent rate cut. Against this backdrop, all sectors except consumer discretionary advanced, with utilities, information technology, and financials rallying the most.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time, before costs. However, the reported fund and index returns cannot be used to assess how well the fund tracks the index.

This is because the fund is priced at midday, while the market index is calculated using closing market prices. To allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 7.23% against the index return of 7.30% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as annual ongoing charges (0.06%), taxation and transaction costs.

Please note, the fund's cash position, and investment of cash into a liquidity fund for diversification, does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's holdings weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

Looking ahead, we expect three main themes to be prominent in markets: falling inflation, rate cuts by the US Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) and resilience in the US consumer. If inflation continues to fall faster than expected towards the US Fed's target of 2%, it should give the central bank an opportunity to cut interest rates, while excess savings should ensure that the consumer remains resilient.

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- Fidelity International's partial swing pricing policy can cause differences in the fund's performance versus the index.
- A fund's performance tracking may be affected if the times at which a fund and its benchmark index are priced are different. The fund is priced at midday UK time, and the index is priced when the relevant stock markets close. This can cause apparent differences in the fund's performance versus that of the index than if the fund and the index were priced at the same time.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to track the performance of the MSCI World (Net Total Return) Index (before fees and expenses are applied) thereby seeking to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more. The performance of the fund is unlikely to track the performance of the index precisely. Examples of tracking difference are explained in the Prospectus Notes below and the KIID.

The fund uses an 'index tracking' (also known as 'passive') investment management approach whereby it aims to replicate the composition of the index. However, for practical reasons and/or to reduce the dealing costs of the fund, it may not invest in every company share in the index or at its weighting within the index.

As well as investing directly in company shares, the fund will achieve exposure indirectly through the use of derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes, for example, at the time of cash inflows to remain fully invested or to reduce transaction costs. In order to manage the cash position, the fund may invest in collective investment schemes (such as liquidity Funds), including those managed by Fidelity, money market instruments, cash and deposits.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund delivered positive returns over the period. Markets were supported by resilient economic data and hopes for a soft economic landing as decelerating inflation in developed markets supported market sentiment. The performance of the index was primarily dominated by mega-cap US tech companies that benefitted from continued excitement around the artificial intelligence (AI) theme. However, there were signs of a broadening market later in the period as a range of non-tech sectors outperformed the S&P 500.

As a "passive" or "index tracker" fund, the return of the fund and the index should be similar over time, before costs. However, the reported fund and index returns cannot be used to assess how well the fund tracks the index. This is because the fund is priced at midday, while the market index is calculated using closing market prices. To allow a meaningful comparison of tracking difference, we have revalued the primary P accumulation shares using company share prices that make up the index at market close. The revalued P accumulation shares returned 6.53% against the index return of 6.49% over the period. The difference in performance takes into account the effect of factors such as annual ongoing charges (0.12%), taxation and transaction costs. Taxation was a positive source of tracking difference, where the fund's withholding tax treatment is more favourable versus the net total return index.

Please note, the fund's cash position, and investment of cash into a liquidity fund for diversification, does not mean that the fund is under exposed to the index, as such positions are typically equitised with equity index futures contracts. This helps to efficiently manage cashflows in the fund at reduced costs. When taking into account exposure achieved by these futures contracts, the fund's holding weights more closely match the index.

Outlook

Expectations for rate cuts have been brought forward, but rather than being driven by hopes of better inflation data, this is now instead being driven by economic fears, providing a more negative backdrop. It should be noted however that the Q2 earnings reporting season has proved relatively robust, though not entirely leading to fiscal year upgrades. With growth weakening and valuations still high versus history, delivery of earnings growth expectations from stocks will be key to performance.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of Japanese companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in Japan and those which are listed in Japan) and is not restricted in terms of size or industry. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, other collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Stock selection in the electric power & gas sector and an overweight stance in the construction sector contributed to returns, but security selection in the pharmaceutical segment detracted from performance.

The holding in homebuilder Sumitomo Forestry, which generates the majority of its earnings through its US operations, was the standout contributor to returns. With Treasury yields moderating and rising expectations for interest rate cuts by the US Fed, sales of detached houses are expected to accelerate as mortgage rates decline. However, one-time costs related to a data falsification scandal, combined with compliance irregularities within the broader Toyota Group, weighed on the shares of forklift manufacturer Toyota Industries.

Among domestic general contractors, I sold Penta Ocean Construction and added exposure to Obayashi, which is seeing an upturn in gross margins due to an improved project mix. Electrical construction company Kinden, a beneficiary of rising demand for data centres, is another new position in the portfolio. The holding in Toyo Tire was closed for better opportunities elsewhere.

Outlook

A transition to mild inflation and the normalisation of monetary policy in Japan is positive for both the domestic economy and the stock market. While signs of further weakness in China's recovery and the risk of a US recession represent potential headwinds, the accumulation of positive factors, including income growth and governance reforms, is supportive of the mid-to-long-term outlook for the Japanese market.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to achieve an income and to increase value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 80% in a blend of equities (and their related securities) of UK companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in UK and those which are listed in the UK) and sterling denominated (or hedged back to sterling) investment grade debt instruments e.g. bonds, which could include government and corporate bonds. The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size or industry. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

Asset allocation of the fund will be actively managed and is typically allocated as follows: 65% shares and 35% debt instruments. However, the fund's allocation between shares and debt instruments can be tactically adjusted within the following ranges in order to preserve capital or take advantage of market opportunities: 60-70% shares and 30-40% debt instruments.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. At a sector level, exposure to the health care sector weighed on returns while stock selection in financials proved rewarding. Luxury fashion company Burberry Group came under pressure amid lower demand in China and a weaker macro-economic backdrop. The underweight stance in Astrazeneca weighed on returns as the stock performed well over the period. In contrast, NatWest Group contributed owing to upbeat pre-provision profits and higher net interest margins.

We bought a new holding in leading advertising company WPP, which holds attractive margin potential. It is well poised to benefit from new output-based pricing and internal efficiency from AI.

Outlook

We are confident that the fund is well positioned to weather any downside risks given our focus on large-cap, liquid, resilient stocks and our continued valuation discipline, which supports the fund during periods of drawdown while acting as a potential source of upside during market recoveries.

- The use of derivatives may result in "leverage" by which we mean a level of exposure which could expose the fund to the potential of greater gains or losses than would otherwise be the case.
- There is a risk that the issuers of bonds may not be able to repay the money they have borrowed or make interest payments. While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall.
- The fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if a counterparty used for derivative instruments subsequently defaults.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more and deliver an income that is at least 10% more than the income produced by companies in the FTSE All Share Index.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of UK companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in UK and those which are listed in the UK). The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size or industry. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. At a sector level, exposure to the health care sector weighed on performance while stock selection in financials proved rewarding. Luxury fashion company Burberry Group came under pressure amid lower demand in China and a weaker macro-economic backdrop. The underweight stance in AstraZeneca weighed on returns as the stock performed well over the period. In contrast, NatWest Group contributed owing to upbeat pre-provision profits and higher net interest margins.

I bought a new holding in leading advertising company WPP, which holds attractive margin potential. It is well poised to benefit from new output based pricing and internal efficiency from AI.

Outlook

I am confident that the fund is well positioned to weather any downside risks given my focus on large-cap, liquid, resilient stocks and my continued valuation discipline, which supports the fund during periods of drawdown while acting as a potential source of upside during market recoveries.

- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to deliver an income with the potential to increase the value of your investment.

The fund will be at least 70% exposed to sterling-denominated (or hedged back to sterling) investment grade debt instruments, with an effective maturity of less than or equal to 5 years.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the ICE Bank of America Merrill Lynch 1-5 Year Euro-Sterling Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may invest in issuers, sectors, countries and security types not included in the index in order to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also obtain exposure to transferable securities, money market instruments, collective investment schemes, cash and near cash and deposits. Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes and may include (but are not limited to) derivatives on exchange rates, interest rates, inflation and credit. The fund may also take positions which enable it to benefit from falling asset prices.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period, primarily driven by higher coupon income. Meanwhile, the fund's interest rate risk positioning also added value as sovereign bond yields fell over the period due to major central banks changing their expectations for interest rate cuts in response to lower inflation and slower economic growth.

There are numerous signs that are driving us to de-risk the portfolio and shore up liquidity, including slowing macro signals, spikes in volatility and stretched valuations. Our key sector positions remain defensive with a bias to bonds with underlying asset security, such as ABS and utilities. We added new positions in AT&T and Informa while selling positions in EDF and Volvo. On the duration front, we are taking a nimble approach to interest rate positioning.

Outlook

The global economy is slowing, and macroeconomic conditions are indicating a soft-landing scenario. In addition, there has been a shift in regime where markets, went from pushing back and pricing out central bank rate cuts in first half to now front-loading aggressive rate cuts in the second half of the year. We believe this environment is supportive for investment grade bonds, but current valuations warrant a degree of caution. We prefer to be selective in specific parts of the market where we have more conviction.

- The use of derivatives may result in "leverage" by which we mean a level of exposure which could expose the fund to the potential of greater gains or losses than would otherwise be the case.
- There is a risk that the issuers of bonds may not be able to repay the money they have borrowed or make interest payments. While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of UK companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in UK and those which are listed in the UK). The Investment Manager will focus on companies it believes to be undervalued and whose recovery potential is not recognised by the market. It is not restricted in terms of size or industry. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest into other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns during the period. Stock selection in the industrial and financial sectors contributed to returns. At a stock level, the holding in geotechnical engineering company Keller Group was the leading contributor as it reported profits that more than doubled in the half year to end June, while cashflow also rose significantly. The position in Just Group also rose after the provider of retirement-income products and services said it expects to outperform its 2024 guidance due to better-than-expected first-half results. On the downside, the holding in airline operator Ryanair detracted from returns after its quarterly profit fell and the company said fares will be lower than expected in the summer months.

New positions included Tesco, the largest food retailer in the UK, which is expected to benefit from its competitive market positioning, both on price and overall product offering. Genuit, primarily a UK business known for its manufacturing of PVC plastic piping, supported by a cyclical demand recovery, was another new holding. Positions in takeover targets such as Smart Metering Systems, an industrial support services group, and leisure company Ten Entertainment were closed.

Outlook

Despite improved performance over recent years, UK equities look cheap relative to other markets, and reasonable on an absolute basis. We continue to believe that the combination of attractive valuations and the large divergence in performance between different parts of the market create good opportunities for attractive returns from UK stocks on a three-to-five-year view.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to deliver an income with the potential to increase the value of your investment.

The fund will be at least 70% exposed to sterling-denominated (or hedged back to sterling) global debt instruments, which may include (but are not limited to) government bonds, inflation-linked bonds, investment grade and high yield corporate bonds, which could include investment in countries considered as emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion.

The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also obtain exposure to transferable securities, money market instruments, collective investment schemes, cash and near cash and deposits. Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes and may include (but are not limited to) derivatives on exchange rates, interest rates, inflation and credit. The fund may also take positions which enable it to benefit from falling asset prices.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period, primarily driven by its credit strategy amid tighter credit spreads and higher coupon income. The fund also benefited from its interest rate strategy as government bond yields fell over the period due to major central banks changing their expectations for interest rate cuts in response to lower inflation and slower economic growth.

In this environment, we maintained a cautiously optimistic approach to duration and adopted a defensive stance on credit. We used the market volatility to further reduce credit risk while rotating proceeds into pockets of value. Over the period, we participated in new issues of Meta Platforms and Coventry Building Society and sold positions in Solventum and Element Fleet Management.

Outlook

The global economy is slowing, and macroeconomic conditions still generally indicate a soft-landing scenario. Against this backdrop, our neutral to slightly long duration position and a defensive credit stance should help the fund return to its philosophy of delivering positive total returns over the cycle and provide diversification from equities.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in shares of Asian companies, excluding Japan (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in Asia*) and those which are listed in the region which maintain sustainable characteristics.

Companies with sustainable characteristics are those which the Investment Manager believe have effective governance and management of environmental and social issues (sustainable characteristics).

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI AC Asia ex-Japan Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also invest in Asian companies which demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics and may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

The Investment Manager will assess companies using quantitative and qualitative factors and in doing so may use data from proprietary models, local intelligence, undertake company visits and use data provided by external ESG (Environmental, Social and Governance) score providers to form an assessment of their sustainable characteristics.

*as determined by the MSCI AC Asia ex-Japan Emerging Markets Index.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period. Positions in South Korea and Taiwan contributed to returns. Selected information technology (IT) names including Yageo and SK Hynix added value. Conversely, concerns over China's sluggish economic recovery weighed on consumer stocks including China Mengniu Dairy and Galaxy Entertainment Group. I increased the allocation to stocks trading at attractive valuations, such as Alibaba Group and Galaxy Entertainment, while reducing the allocation to Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing at share price strength and exiting the position in SK Hynix for better opportunities elsewhere.

Statement relating to the extent to which environmental or social characteristics are met:

The Fidelity Sustainable Asia Equity Fund (the "Fund") has met the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted in accordance with its investment policy for the period under review.

The Fund invested at least 70% of assets in shares of Asian companies, excluding Japan (those domiciled, incorporated, or having significant business in Asia) and those that are listed in the region that maintain sustainable characteristics in accordance with Fidelity's Sustainable Investing Framework.

The Fund also invested in Asian companies that demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics.

During the period, in respect of its direct investments, the Fund adhered to:

1. a firm-wide exclusions list, which includes cluster munitions and anti-personnel landmines, and,
2. a principle-based screening policy that includes:

- norms-based screening of issuers that the investment manager believes have failed to conduct their business in accordance with international norms, including as set out in the UNGC; and,

- negative screening of certain sectors, companies or practices based on specific ESG criteria where revenue thresholds may be applied.

The investment manager has the discretion to implement additional sustainable requirements and exclusions based on their applicable investment process from time to time.

During the period, additional fund specific exclusions for civilian firearms; weapons components; fossil fuel power generation; unconventional oil & gas production; conventional oil & gas production;; uranium mining; nuclear utilities; nuclear suppliers; palm oil production were adhered to.

Outlook

We anticipate an improvement in earnings in the region as China's economy stabilises. The outlook for China is cautiously optimistic although more supportive government policy is still required for the economy to show improvement. Overall, the near-term outlook for global markets remains challenging as they continue to grapple with inflation, high interest rates and currency fluctuations. Despite pockets of opportunity, we expect the broader challenging macroeconomic environment to continue for now.

Risk and Reward Indicator

W Accumulation Shares SRII 6

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- The use of derivatives may result in "leverage" by which we mean a level of exposure which could expose the fund to the potential of greater gains or losses than would otherwise be the case.
- Liquidity is a measure of how easily an investment can be converted into cash. Under certain market conditions assets may be more difficult to value or sell at a desired price. This could affect the fund's ability to meet redemptions in a timely manner.
- Emerging markets may be more volatile and it could be harder to sell or trade securities. There may be less supervision, regulation and less well-defined procedures than in more developed countries. Emerging markets can be sensitive to political instability, which can result in greater volatility and uncertainty, subjecting the fund to the risk of losses.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund is part of the Fidelity Sustainable Family of funds and adheres to the Fidelity Sustainable Family framework under which at least 70% of the fund's net assets will be invested in companies deemed to maintain sustainable characteristics. The fund will also adhere to the Fidelity Sustainable Family exclusion policy.

Investments with sustainable characteristics are those which the Investment Manager believes have effective governance and management of environmental and social issues.

Fidelity's Sustainable Investing Process which is built on three related elements: integrated environmental, social and governance ('ESG') analysis, engagement, and collaboration.

Sustainable characteristics based on ESG considerations are analysed by Fidelity and assessed based on issues which will include but not be limited to, climate change mitigation and adaptation, water and waste management and biodiversity, product safety, supply chain, health and safety and human rights. The sustainability assessment is applied to the issuer of an investment.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of companies having their head office or exercising a predominant part of their activity in Emerging Markets globally including Asia, Latin America, Europe, Middle East and Africa according to the MSCI Emerging Markets (Net Total Return) Index and which maintain sustainable characteristics.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The fund aims to hold a concentrated portfolio, investing in 30-50 companies or other types of investment.

The Investment Manager may, for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI Emerging Markets (Net Total Return) Index. However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the index.

The fund may also obtain exposure to companies which demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics, and may also invest in transferable securities, money market instruments, collective investment schemes, cash and near cash and deposits. Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes (but not on any significant basis). Such investments will be made to take advantage of investment opportunities consistent with the objectives of the fund.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund delivered negative returns and underperformed the index. From a sector perspective, certain holdings in consumer staples and consumer discretionary detracted from returns, while positioning in information technology (IT) enhanced gains. China-based consumption-driven stocks such as China Mengniu dairy, Li Ning and Zhongsheng Group weighed on the returns. IT names, SK Hynix, Infosys and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co (TSMC) were among the notable contributors to returns.

We sold the position in Chinese e-commerce major Alibaba owing to its continuous loss of market share. We made our China exposure more diversified by adding names such as top sportswear brand Anta Sports and large food condiments company Yihai International and consumer appliance major Haier Smart Home.

The Fidelity Sustainable Emerging Market Equity Fund (the "Fund") has met the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted in accordance with its investment policy for the period under review.

The Fund was repurposed on 27 March 2023. The following statement relates only to the period from 27 March 2024 to 31 August 2024.

The Fund maintained at least 70% exposure to investments in issuers deemed to maintain sustainable characteristics in accordance with Fidelity's Sustainable Investing Framework. The Fund was proactive in dealing with climate change through engagement with issuers.

The Fund obtained exposure to issuers that demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics.

During the period, in respect of its direct investments, the Fund adhered to:

1. a firm-wide exclusions list, which includes cluster munitions and anti-personnel landmines, and,

2. a principle-based screening policy, which includes:

- norms-based screening of issuers that the investment manager believes have failed to conduct their business in accordance with international norms, including as set out in the UNGC; and,

- negative screening of certain sectors, companies or practices based on specific ESG criteria where revenue thresholds may be applied.

The investment manager has the discretion to implement additional sustainable requirements and exclusions based on their applicable investment process from time to time.

During the period, additional fund specific exclusions including weapons, coal mining and power generation, gambling, tobacco, arctic mining, oil sands, in addition to companies with significant environmental or social controversies were adhered to.

Outlook

The medium-to-long term fundamentals in most global emerging markets we invest in are very reasonable compared to the past. Their improved fiscal position, positive real rates and higher foreign reserves stands the asset class in good stead.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in the shares of continental European companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in continental Europe and those which are listed in the region) which maintain sustainable characteristics. Companies with sustainable characteristics are those which the Investment Manager believes have effective governance and management of environmental and social issues (sustainable characteristics).

The portfolio will be made up of a blend of larger, medium and smaller sized companies and aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of 35-50 securities.

The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark. The Investment Manager is not restricted in the choice of company either by size or industry, or in terms of the geographical split of the portfolio, which is largely determined by the availability of investment opportunities rather than the outlook for each market.

The fund may also invest in continental European companies which demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics and may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

The Investment Manager will assess companies using quantitative and qualitative factors and in doing so may use data from proprietary models, local intelligence, undertake company visits and use data provided by external ESG (Environmental, Social and Governance) score providers to form an assessment of their sustainable characteristics.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund delivered positive returns over the period. Gains from the overweight allocation to IT were partially offset by weak stock selection in the sector. Novo Nordisk benefited from higher demand for its weight loss drug Wegovy and diabetes drug Ozempic, while SAP continued to report strong earnings results over the year. Nestlé declined on weaker-than-expected FY 2023 results. Solaria Energia slid along with the wider utilities sector due to falling power prices.

Over the period, new positions were purchased in Biomerieux, a French family-owned diagnostics and BBVA, a Spanish bank. Holdings in EDP Renováveis and Eurofins Scientific were sold given their less attractive risk-reward profile.

Statement relating to the extent to which environmental or social characteristics are met.

The Fidelity Sustainable European Equity Fund (the "Fund") has met the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted in accordance with its investment policy for the period under review.

The Fund invested at least 70% of its assets in the shares of continental European companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in continental Europe and listed in the region) that maintained sustainable characteristics.

The Fund also invested in continental European companies that demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics.

During the period, in respect of its direct investments, the Fund adhered to:

1. a firm-wide exclusions list, which includes cluster munitions and anti-personnel landmines, and,
2. a principle-based screening policy, which includes:
  - norms-based screening of issuers that the investment manager believes have failed to conduct their business in accordance with international norms, including as set out in the UNGC; and,
  - negative screening of certain sectors, companies or practices based on specific ESG criteria where revenue thresholds may be applied.

The investment manager has the discretion to implement additional sustainable requirements and exclusions based on the investment process from time to time.

During the period, additional fund specific exclusions for civilian firearms; weapons components, systems and services; fossil fuel power generation; unconventional oil & gas; conventional oil & gas production; energy producers; nuclear power generation; uranium mining; nuclear utilities; nuclear suppliers; adult entertainment; and gambling were adhered to.

Outlook

European equities have proven remarkably resilient over the year-to-date period. With easing credit conditions, the narrative in financial markets has shifted from "higher for longer" to swift disinflation and speculation on the timing of interest rate cuts, as inflationary pressures continue to ease.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund is part of the Fidelity Sustainable Family of Funds and adheres to the Fidelity Sustainable Family framework under which at least 70% of the fund's net assets will be invested in the shares of companies globally deemed to maintain sustainable characteristics. This could include countries considered to be emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion. The fund will also adhere to the Fidelity Sustainable Family exclusion policy.

Companies with sustainable characteristics are those which the Investment Manager believes consider effective governance and management of environmental and social issues and deliver long-term sustainable outcomes through positive societal impact. Such investments are identified through Fidelity's Sustainable Investing Process which is built on three related elements: integrated environmental, social and governance ("ESG") analysis, engagement, and collaboration.

The fund will consider a wide range of environmental and social characteristics on an ongoing basis. Sustainable characteristics based on environmental, social, and governance considerations are analysed by Fidelity and principally assessed based on criteria such as but not limited to, climate change mitigation and adaptation, water and waste management and biodiversity, product safety, supply chain management, health and safety and human rights. The sustainability assessment is applied to the issuer of an investment.

The fund aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of 40-60 stocks.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable investment opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capability.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the MSCI All Country World Index (the "Index"). However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the Index and may take larger, or smaller, positions in companies, and/or may invest outside the Index, to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the Index. The fund is expected to have a lower carbon footprint compared to that of the Index.

The fund may also obtain exposure to companies which demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics, and may also invest in transferable securities, money market instruments, collective investment schemes, cash and near cash and deposits. Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes (but not on any significant basis). Such investments will be made to take advantage of investment opportunities consistent with the objectives of the fund.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund delivered positive returns over the review period, despite a difficult backdrop for sustainable investing. Markets were dominated by the strong performance of a narrow cohort of expensive growth-oriented mega-cap names. Since some of these stocks, such as NVIDIA and Amazon, do not meet the fund's sustainable investment criteria, the positioning in these mega-caps held back gains.

We purchased a new position in NextEra Energy. It is one of the best-in-class names in the industry, with a premier renewable business offering. The company has a keen focus on SDG 7, while ensuring access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy for all. We also bought new software holdings in Informatica and Salesforce, which are working to integrate artificial intelligence into their product offerings to help improve the productivity of customer workflows. Conversely, Lonza had rerated substantially in response to the Biosecure Act, and we sold the position as we believed there were better opportunities within our universe. Similarly, we sold the holding in Centre Testing due to concerns over the slow pace of economic recovery in China.

The Fidelity Sustainable Global Equity Fund (the "Fund") has met the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted in accordance with its investment policy for the period under review.

The Fund is part of the Fidelity Sustainable Family of Funds and adhered to the Fidelity Sustainable Family framework, under which at least 70% of the Fund's net assets were invested in the shares of companies that are globally deemed to maintain sustainable characteristics in accordance with Fidelity's Sustainable Investing Framework. The Fund also invested in companies globally that demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics.

During the period, in respect of its direct investments, the Fund adhered to:

1. a firm-wide exclusions list, which includes cluster munitions and anti-personnel landmines, and,
2. a principle-based screening policy, which includes:
  - a. norms-based screening of issuers that the investment manager believes have failed to conduct their business in accordance with international norms, including as set out in the UNGC; and,
  - b. negative screening of certain sectors, companies or practices based on specific ESG criteria where revenue thresholds may be applied.

The investment manager has the discretion to implement additional sustainable requirements and exclusions based on the applicable investment process from time to time.

During the period, additional fund specific exclusions for conventional oil & gas production; distribution & retail of services and equipment to support conventional oil & gas; adult entertainment; gambling; cannabis; oil sands extraction; weapons systems, components, and support systems and services were adhered to.

Outlook

We continue to look for companies addressing the greatest environmental and social challenges with positive contribution to UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). These quality franchises have favourable environmental, social and sustainability (ESG) characteristics, attractive financial fundamentals and/or sustainable or improving returns on invested capital, good management with aligned incentives and compelling valuations.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to deliver an income with the potential to increase the value of your investment.

The fund is part of the Fidelity Sustainable Family of Funds and adheres to the Fidelity Sustainable Family framework under which at least 70% of the fund's net assets will be invested in issuers deemed to maintain sustainable characteristics. The fund will also adhere to the Fidelity Sustainable Family exclusion policy.

Investments with sustainable characteristics are those which the Investment Manager believes have effective governance and management of environmental and social issues and deliver long term sustainable outcomes through positive societal impact.

Such investments are identified through Fidelity's Sustainable Investing Process, which is built on three related elements; integrated environmental, social and governance ("ESG") analysis, engagement, and collaboration.

Sustainable characteristics based on ESG considerations are analysed by Fidelity and principally assessed based on criteria such as but not limited to, climate change mitigation and adaptation, water and waste management and biodiversity, product safety, supply chain, health and safety and human rights.

The fund will be at least 70% exposed to sterling-denominated (or hedged back to sterling) investment grade debt instruments (with a bias towards corporate bonds but may also include securitised bonds). The fund may hold investments in countries considered as emerging markets as determined by the Investment Manager at its sole discretion.

The fund is actively managed. The Investment Manager identifies suitable opportunities for the fund utilising in-house research and investment capabilities.

The Investment Manager will, when selecting investments for the fund and for the purposes of monitoring risk, consider the ICE BofA Euro-Sterling Index (the "Index"). However, the Investment Manager has a wide degree of freedom relative to the Index and may invest in issuers, sectors, countries and security types not included in the Index in order to take advantage of investment opportunities. This means the fund's investments and therefore performance may vary significantly from the Index.

The fund may also invest in issuers which demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics and may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and near cash deposits. Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes and may include (but are not limited to) derivatives on exchange rates, interest rates, inflation and credit. Such investments will be made to take advantage of investment opportunities consistent with the income and growth objectives of the fund. The fund may also take positions which enable it to benefit from falling asset prices.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns over the period, primarily driven by its credit strategy amid tighter credit spreads and higher coupon income. Meanwhile, the fund's interest rate strategy added value as government bond yields fell over the period due to major central banks changing their expectations for interest rate cuts in response to lower inflation and slower economic growth.

There are numerous signs that are driving us to de-risk the portfolio and shore up liquidity, including slowing macroeconomic signals, spikes in volatility and stretched valuations. Our key sector positions remain defensive with a bias towards bonds with underlying asset security, such as asset backed securities (ABS) and utilities. We added new positions in AT&T and Informa while selling positions in Southern Gas Networks and Anglian Water Services. On the duration front, we are taking a nimble approach to interest rate positioning.

The Fidelity Sustainable MoneyBuilder Income Fund (the "Fund") has met the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted in accordance with its investment policy for the period under review.

The Fund invested at least 70% of its net assets in issuers deemed to maintained sustainable characteristics in accordance with Fidelity's Sustainable Investing.

The Fund also invested in issuers that demonstrate improving sustainable characteristics.

During the period, in respect of its direct investments, the Fund adhered to:

1. a firm-wide exclusions list, which includes cluster munitions and anti-personnel landmines, and,

2. a principle-based screening policy, which includes:

- a. norms-based screening of issuers that the investment manager believes have failed to conduct their business in accordance with international norms, including as set out in the UNGC; and,

- b. negative screening of certain sectors, companies or practices based on specific ESG criteria where revenue thresholds may be applied.

The investment manager has the discretion to implement additional sustainable requirements and exclusions having based on the applicable investment process from time to time.

During the period, additional fund specific exclusions for adult entertainment and gambling were adhered to.

Outlook

The global economy is slowing, and macroeconomic conditions are indicating a soft-landing scenario. In addition, there has been a shift in regime where markets, went from pushing back and pricing out central bank rate cuts in first half to now front-loading aggressive rate cuts in the second half of the year. We believe this environment is supportive for investment grade bonds, but current valuations warrant a degree of caution. We prefer to be selective in specific parts of the market where we have more conviction.

The risk category was calculated using historical volatility data, based upon the methods set by European Union rules. Volatility is influenced by changes in the stock market prices, currencies and interest rates which can be affected unpredictably by diverse factors including political and economic events.

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment.
- The risk and reward profile is classified by the level of historical fluctuation of the Net Asset Values of the share class, and within this classification, categories 1-2 indicate a low level of historical fluctuations, 3-5 a medium level and 6-7 a high level.
- The value of your investment may fall as well as rise and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The fund may invest in instruments denominated in currencies other than the fund base currency. Changes in currency exchange rates can therefore affect the value of your investment.
- The use of derivatives may result in "leverage" by which we mean a level of exposure which could expose the fund to the potential of greater gains or losses than would otherwise be the case.
- There is a risk that the issuers of bonds may not be able to repay the money they have borrowed or make interest payments. While we seek to mitigate this, the fund may be exposed to the risk of financial loss if it invests into an instrument issued by an entity that subsequently defaults on its borrowings. Losses may also be realised if an entity that the fund is exposed to ceases to make interest payments over a period of time or indefinitely. Bond prices have an inverse relationship with interest rates such that when interest rates rise, bonds may fall in value. Rising interest rates may cause the value of your investment to fall.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 70% in equities (and their related securities) of UK companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the UK). The fund may also invest a proportion of its assets in global companies listed in the UK. It aims to hold a concentrated portfolio of less than 50 securities. The Investment Manager will focus on companies which it believes have sustainable long-term earnings potential. The Investment Manager is not restricted in terms of size or industry. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund delivered strong returns but failed to keep pace with its benchmark. A good run for value proved to be a headwind for the fund which has a quality/growth bias. For instance, our software & computer services sector holdings, including Sage, declined despite what we considered a reasonable trading update. Bytes Technology also underperformed after the company reported slightly softer growth over the period. On a positive note, banks were strong contributors with both Lloyds and NatWest rising after reporting robust second-quarter results.

During the period, we initiated new positions to capitalise on recent market weakness in names such as National Grid, an electricity and gas business; Haleon, a leading consumer healthcare brand; and Standard Chartered, following a positive meeting with their CFO. These positions were partly funded by reducing exposure to recent outperformers in more cyclical areas of the market, such as Shell and the housebuilder Redrow. We also trimmed other strongly performing holdings like Novo Nordisk and RELX, which now offer less upside potential, and Reckitt, due to ongoing litigation risk.

Outlook

With most economists and strategists agreeing that a soft landing is the most likely economic scenario and markets no longer pricing in a significant probability of a worse outcome, we believe it is prudent to be more discerning in our exposure to cyclical and economically sensitive areas. The fund is positioned neither for recovery nor recession, maintaining a fairly macro-neutral stance. Typically, quality and growth stocks outperform if GDP growth slows and interest rates decline, which should provide a hedge to performance if the outlook becomes more challenging.

Fund Manager's Review

Investment Objective and Policy

The fund aims to increase the value of your investment over a period of 5 years or more.

The fund will invest at least 60% in equities (and their related securities) of smaller sized (companies which form the smallest 10% of UK listed companies by market capitalisation) UK companies (those domiciled, incorporated or having significant business in the UK). The fund may also invest a proportion of its assets in global companies listed in the UK. The Investment Manager will focus on companies it believes to be undervalued and whose recovery potential is not recognised by the market but is not restricted in terms of industry. The fund is actively managed without reference to a benchmark.

The fund may also invest in other transferable securities, collective investment schemes, money market instruments, cash and deposits and is also able to use derivatives for efficient portfolio management and investment purposes.

Performance and Portfolio Activity

The fund generated positive returns during the period. Stock selection in the consumer staples and health care sectors contributed to returns. The holding in food manufacturer Greencore contributed to returns after it unveiled plans for a share buyback. The company also raised its annual profit forecast on the back of strong demand for its 'food-to-go' products. The position in Just Group also added value after it reported better-than-expected first-half results. The holding in SSP Group, an operator of food and beverage outlets in travel locations worldwide, fell after it reported weaker-than-expected first half earnings from Continental Europe due to increased levels of investment. However, the company reiterated its earnings expectations for 2024.

New positions included Renewi, a leading waste management company, which is expected to see higher long-term earnings growth, supported by favourable regulation driving demand for improved waste sorting and treatment. Housebuilder Barratt Developments, which has a higher quality and a more attractive market footprint relative to its peers, was another new addition to the portfolio. Positions in takeover targets telecommunications group Spirent Communications and Tyman, a company that makes door and window components, were closed.

Outlook

There are some optimistic signals in terms of lead indicators, and risk appetite has improved at the same time as there is increasing confidence in the inflation outlook. However, the range of potential outcomes remains wide. We therefore try to keep an open mind about the various scenarios, focus on valuations and have found several interesting cyclical ideas.

- Liquidity is a measure of how easily an investment can be converted into cash. Under certain market conditions assets may be more difficult to value or sell at a desired price. This could affect the fund's ability to meet redemptions in a timely manner.

Securities Financing Transaction Regulation

The Securities Financing Transaction Regulation (SFTR) requires further transparency to address perceived risks in the use of securities financing transactions.

A fund may use Total Return Swaps or other financial derivative instruments with similar characteristics to meet the investment objective of a fund and in accordance with the provisions on the use of financial derivative instruments. The following type of assets can be subject to Total Return Swaps (TRS) or other financial derivative instruments with similar characteristics: equity stocks, equity indices, commodity indices and credit indices.

Counterparties to such transactions must be subject to prudential supervision rules considered by the FCA as equivalent to those prescribed by EU law and specialised in these types of transactions. The counterparties to such transactions will generally be financial institutions based in an OECD member state and have an investment grade credit rating. At present only Contracts For Difference (CFDs) are used in relation to the funds.

Further Information

- All Fidelity employees are subject to a Code of Ethics which, among other things, sets out procedures for personal account dealings in securities. These procedures, which are rigorously monitored, are designed to ensure that there is no conflict between personal account dealing by Fidelity staff and the interests of Fidelity's customers.

The two basics of the Code of Ethics require that deals must be pre-authorised before an individual may undertake them, and they must afterwards be reported to the Compliance Department. Individuals are required to use specified brokers which enable this process to be checked on a continual basis.

In addition, there are specific provisions to ensure that any investment idea is first acted upon by the funds Fidelity manages, and that fund managers may not deal within a defined period either side of a fund (for which they are responsible) dealing in that stock.

- The Report and Financial Statements of the Company, Instrument of Incorporation and the Value Assessment Report may be inspected free of charge between 9.00 a.m. and 5.00 p.m. on every business day at the offices of the Authorised Corporate Director (ACD) at Beech Gate, Millfield Lane, Lower Kingswood, Tadworth, Surrey KT20 6RP, United Kingdom

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. The value of investments may go down as well as up and an investor may not get back the original amount invested. Unless otherwise stated all products are provided by Fidelity International, and all views expressed are those of Fidelity International.

In certain countries, and for certain types of investments, transaction costs are higher, and liquidity is lower than elsewhere. There may also be limited opportunities to find alternative ways of managing cash flows especially where the focus of investment is on small and medium sized firms. For funds specialising in such countries and investment types, transactions, particularly those large in size, are likely to have a greater impact on the costs of running a fund than similar transactions in larger funds. Prospective investors should bear this in mind in selecting funds.
